Foreword

---

IN the hope that it will be a veritable treasure chest of memories, of reminiscences of happy days—days of tribulation, and days of care-free joy equally borne with the optimism of College Youth, and that we have faithfully chronicled the spirit and activities of York College, we, the staff, present this number of The Marathon.

PRESIDENT
E. W. EMERY
A. M.

York College has just completed its third year under the efficient administration of President Emery. A constructive, forward-looking program has been initiated and put into operation under his capable leadership.

Pres. Emery has a fine appreciation of student life, and has proven a helpful advisor and friend to students.

DEAN CHARLES BISSET
A. M., B. D.

When the occasion arose for the selection of a new Dean of the College, everyone turned immediately to Dean Bisset. His efficient direction of the college activities has shown it to be a wise choice.

Dean Bisset has an uncommon knowledge of human nature, and applies it most satisfactorily. York College is fortunate in having such a man at the head of the Faculty.

Marathon

MRS. J. A. GIAQUE

Art

Art is the expression of true beauty. Mrs. Giaque sees beauty in everything.

MISS BESSIE RIGGS

A. B.

What is more to be desired than to teach people how to speak correctly?

DR. C. L. YOUNG

A. B., D. D.

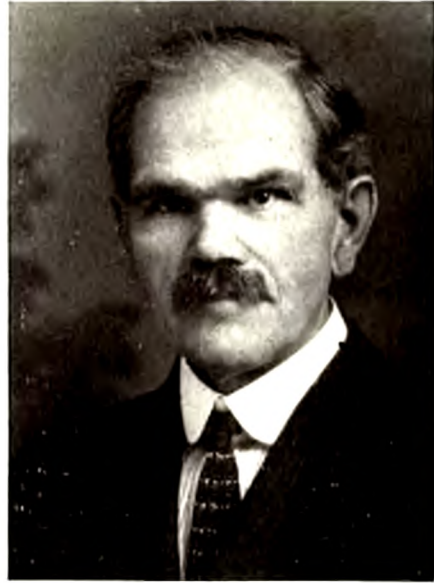

Our best friend, the College pastor. His messages are always interesting and convincing.

Marathon

COACH LAD. HUBKA
LL. B.

One of our former athletes, now the coach who is putting York College Athletics on a par with the best in the State.

MR. H. C. FEEMSTER
A. M.

No problem is too great for him. His philosophy is Service, and he lives the part.

MISS CATHERINE STAUDT
A. B.

A willing booster and a cheerful friend—her motto is thoroughness.

Marathon

EDITH CONE
B. S.

Patience in all things, is Miss Cone's attitude. And she gets results, both in the Library and in her classes.

ESTHER McLAUGHLIN
A. B.

Miss McLaughlin is a very kind teacher, and is admired by all her pupils,

R. E. TOWNSEND
M. Acc't.

A man with positive ideas, and who gives thorough training to his students.

Marathon

MR. DWIGHT L. WARRICK
A. B.

Work comes first with him. He believes in the Golden Rule, and proves his belief by living it.

MR. W. C. NOLL
A. M.

He teaches the facts of life, not the least of which is happiness itself.

MISS MINTA THORP
A. M.

Her hobby is interesting herself in others, and her keenest delight is in noting the improvements of her pupils.

Marathon

MISS EMMA FYE
Dean of Women

Miss Fye takes pride in being mother to all the Con-girls. She also is interested in every girl in college.

MISS ELLEN MANN
Expression

Success is the reward of hard work, and the productions of the year are a good indication of her efforts.

MR. J. C. MORGAN
A. M.

His work is bringing dead languages to life, at which he is most successful.

Marathon

ALBERT H. SEARLE
A. M., Ph D.

A Psychologist of no mean rank.
One who is always of a cheerful disposition.

BOHDAN A. SHLANTA
Graduate of Mansfield, Pa.,
Conservatory

Mr. Shlanta is a true musician, and a real teacher, whose students all succeed.

MISS NAOMIA FISHER
Secretary to the President

Miss Fisher is always busy, yet she is always smiling, and has a cheery word for everyone.

Marathon

MISS EDA RANKIN
Graduate of University School
of Music

Her work is not so easy, although it's teaching others to play.

MISS GLADYS PEARSON
Graduate of University School
of Music

One who takes great pleasure in giving pleasure to others. Her pupils are always happy.

DEAN CHARLES H. AMADON
Graduate of New England
Conservatory of Music

A true genius, happy in all things, and dedicated to a life of making others more efficient in giving happiness.

Senior Class of 1926

TO write the full history of the four years that a class has spent in college, is a task that is impossible in the full sense of the word. To give their history after having been graduated, and at work for a year, is still more impossible. At least we can only hope to record some of the activities and achievements of the class during their college course.

In the fall of 1922, a remarkable class of freshmen appeared upon the college campus. Although the sophomores did not inflict all the punishment upon this class that they wanted to, still they did more than the freshmen thought was their due. In the course of time the members of the class had become sufficiently acclimated to college life that they settled down, and began to accomplish things. Mr. Bisset was chosen for Sponsor, and remained in that relationship to the class throughout their entire four years of college life.

When the year of 1923 came around, it found several of these same students back in their places, but as sophomores this year. By means of the intensive training, given them the year before, they were able to give the new freshmen class some real thrills. They upheld all the college traditions, and gave an especially successful sophomore reception.

During the year 1924-'25, the class was somewhat reduced in numbers, but made up for that in having such distinguished and important members. As is usual, they were very busy as juniors. Both the Editor and the Business Manager of the 1925 Marathon belonged to this class. They also boasted of three members who had crossed the Atlantic.

During the senior year, the class numbered only ten. Two of these, Bruce DeHart and Maurine Parker, had been recruited from Iowa. Georgia Snyder came to us from Indiana, and William Thompson of Gresham, came back to graduate with us. Our school career was completed with the usual ceremony, and we then began life in earnest.

Since that time the class has been widely scattered. Some of the members have entered higher institutions of learning, some are teaching, while others are occupied with other work. Whatever their tasks, we feel sure that our class will be successful.

An Historie of Ye Classe of 1927

CONTAINING divers material relative to the conduct and activities of said class, for the purpose of presenting a colorful and accurate tale to the public perusal.

Prologue

On a day in September in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, just ninety-two years after the return of Napoleon from Elba and exactly seventy-seven years before the opening of the twenty-first century, there occurred an event, trivial enough in itself but destined to shake the very foundations of all preconceived ideas and codes of conduct. This event, long anticipated by a diverse scattering of Nebraska parents, presaged tremendous changes. The event was matchless—supreme! It defied gross materialism; it encouraged an abandonment of liberty and freedom; it thrust aside the shackles of education and, after its demise, stood naked in shameless ignorance! That event was the entrance of the glorious Class of Nineteen Twenty-Seven to the campus of York College, to the fellowship of the upper classmen, to the hearts of the faculty, —yea, even to the doubtful sympathy of the Dean and that shadowy background and refuge, the Hoard!

Chapter I

The first year, 1923-'24, was spent in comparative peace and safety. A young man of the village, one James Sutton Hice, became president. We shall not dwell on this point; that individual has, alas! since sunk to a less talented, a less noble class. May he dwell in peace! Do not suppose, gentle reader, that his loss was not keenly felt. Indeed, if that oft-reiterated phrase may be quoted, 'Our loss has been their gain.' During this phase of the class history, a weiner roast, Christmas party and other joyous occasions occurred.

Chapter II

Two events stand out during this epoch. One is the timely assistance of the Class at a Freshman party; the other, the annual Sophomore Reception. This Reception is historical as being the most extravagantly planned, most gorgeously arranged, and most lavishly decorated in Dennison's Crepe Papers, Nos. 8 and 13. Coach Bob Russell was sponsor, and during the course of the evening he made sundry remarks and exclamations subtly appropriate. The affair was superb, brilliant, cosmopolitan—in a word, THE affair of the year.

Chapter III

Sundry events of intense human interest take place during the next period. Tears, heart-throbs, sighs, joy, sorrow, all the most popular human emotions have their part in the story. Numerous social gatherings occur, among which are a Junior-Senior Banquet and a Hallowe'en party.

Chapter IV and Postlude

The following year several other social functions function, a number of hearts are broken, marriages take place of peculiar interest to those who have followed the narrative thus far; but these events and many others of intense interest will be found in the next volume of this series entitled "The Little Kernel Scattered Abroad" or "Prophecy of the Class of 1927."

Marathon

Historical Synopsis and Bibliographical Note

I. The First Year:

- (1) Roy Larson is honored by election as sponsor.
- (2) Orlan has his first date with Myrtha.
- (3) Elaine continues a High School romance.

II. The Second Year:

- (1) Sophomores Receive (See Chapter on "Crepe Paper and Finance" in Wall-Street Report).
- (2) Reatha meets Lyle.
- (3) Harold Ashmore becomes President.
- (4) David Braun enters the class. (See Dean's "Intimate History of Henderson," chap. 3. This reference is not required; merely suggested as relatively unimportant).

III. The Third Year:

- (1) The Reatha-Lyle alliance is agreed upon.
- (2) There is a steak fry, a party and a Hallowe'en doings.
- (3) Prof. Noll becomes sponsor, and E. Spore, president.
- (4) Bill goes to University. (See "Letters of Elaine", chap. 5).
- (5) Marguerite and Wayne form a friendly and mutual Alliance.
- (6) Camille and Stanley have much in common. (See "The Second Coalition" in any good history text).
- (7) Myrtha meets Harold, and concession or union is inevitable.
- (8) Mrs. Clark and Marie Jeffers join the class.

IV. The Last Year:

- (1) Myrtha marries, Reatha "moves out," and Mrs. Noll moves in.
- (2) There is a steak fry and a theatre party, also commencement week.
- (3) Hazel Smith sells candy. (See "The Sudden Popularity of Cake-Eaters, and the Concomitant Financial Gain" in any prominent brokers' magazine).
- (4) Paul G. and Ivan J. debate; Isabel pulls plugs and Mildred speaks of Lawrence.

Class of 1928

W E began our college career with over one hundred members. The year was full of events for us, in fact we held two parties, and took part in other school activities. We were very proud to be Freshmen. Miss Lovell, our class sponsor suggested that we buy green caps. We did, and besides proving our identity, furnished much sport for the upper classmen who delighted in staging war in the halls and about the campus trying to secure our adornments.

Next we were brilliant Sophomores. The main feature of the year was the annual Sophomore Reception, which was given at Hotel McCloud. It was declared by many to be the best in the history of the school. Among the class parties of the year was a jaunt to the K. P. Camp. There we had a bounteous meal and a general good time. We were proud to have as our sponsor, Dr. Ashcraft, who was always with the class in the spirit of the occasion.

This year we are plucky Juniors. A spirit of cooperation and appreciation has made this year what it has been. We have thus far, held two parties which were full of fun, and rivalry with upper classmen. The Senior Recognition Day is one to be cherished and long remembered by the Juniors.

We have yet to look forward to the Junior-Senior Banquet, which will be held May 6th. in our new United Brethren church.

Our officers for the entire year are as follows:

President.....	Theodore Thompson
Vice President.....	Elberta Parker
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Elanor Allen
Social Chairman	. . . . . Laura Holm
Sponsor.....	Miss Thorp

Many of our Juniors will not be with us next year as Seniors. However, we are certain that the associations of the class of '28 will not be soon forgotten as we advance to greater honor and achievement.

Class of 1929

IN the fall of 1925, there came to the halls of York College a class that received, and we think deservedly, marked and varied attention. The President spoke to us in Chapel. The Dean spoke to us in the halls, and the Dean of Women spoke to us privately when we got home. (We wisely refrain from quotations at this point).

We were the largest class that ever flocked into the York College classrooms. Professor Bisset was always thankful that at least two of us didn't take "Hist. of West Europe." The upperclassmen were also interested in us, but on the occasion of our first Hallowe'en party at the Gym. they viewed our mighty biceps from a safe distance.

This year, as Sophomores, we have done what we could to make the Freshmen's year an enjoyable one. We went to their party, then we invited them to our reception. We ate their sandwiches, then we made them some more, later. The annual Sophomore Reception was given, in the ball room of Hotel McCloud, and was one of the important events of the year.

Watch parties in March may be unusual, but we had one. However we were not watching for a new year!

Our class has been well represented in the various activities of college life during these two years. We joined the literary societies, we debated, we played basketball, football, and tennis. We dated and we did all the other things that make life worth while.

We hope that when we leave the halls of York College, that we can go out knowing that we have both enriched and have been enriched by the ideals for which Our College stands.

Class of 1930

SOON after school started in September of 1926, a call was issued for all Freshmen to meet, and the Freshman class was organized. The members of the class were not very well acquainted, and did not know just whom they should choose to lead them through the gruelling first four months of college but, as always happens, a great man came forward in the crisis. The great man who arose from the ranks, and stood head and shoulders above all competitors, was none other than Lee Clarke. The class knew the genuine thing when they saw it, so Clarke was elected by a large majority. Royald Morgan was chosen as a fitting assistant to President Clarke. Ardith Kull was chosen as Secretary-Treasurer. Professors Warrick and Morgan were chosen as Sponsors.

The class had a membership of one hundred ambitious students who were just beginning to strive for the higher and finer things of life. The first social function was a hike, for those who had paid their dues. THERE WAS NOT A VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE, for most of the boys were practicing football. Those who went had a very enjoyable time, pretending they were eating with Daniel Boone out in the great open spaces.

A few weeks later, the class was at home at the conservatory to all upperclassmen who cared to come. The upperclassmen finally departed with their share of the eats and after much persuasion got President Clarke to go with them.

The class was very well represented on the football team, having seven on the regular team. The freshman only placed one man on the basketball regulars.

The class as a whole took part in every thing that happened and was a great asset to the college. They are hard workers at everything that they undertake, and expect to make an enviable record by 1930. At any rate, the next year's freshman may expect a suitable send off from this class.

Academy

York College Academy

THE Academy stands as an important part of the College group. In spite of the lack of numbers, the Academy is quite an interesting and lively department.

Senior Academy

We began our social functions this year by a hike to a shady nook west of town. On the eve of October 30, the Seniors entertained the lower Academy with a Hallowe'en masquerade party at the home of their president. A "spooky" time was thoroughly enjoyed. Later in the year the entire Academy was entertained at the home of Idah Page. Some of our eats didn't arrive on schedule, but by the famous midnight ride of the Academy bunch, that difficulty was solved.

We feel that our class has quite sufficiently and efficiently upheld the dignity of the Senior Academy. We say this without hesitation, for never has a class worn the robe of dignity as has this one. It is sufficient to say that our class has been a glorious success, truly living up to our motto: "Non Multa sed Multum." The officers for the year were: Pres., Wilhelmina Feemster; V. -Pres., Idah Page; Sec. -Treas., Homer Crosby.

Junior Academy

Although this class is small, only having six members, it certainly is "peppy". Our pep is what helps put life into the school. Only two members of our class were in school last year, but we are very proud of our new members. We hope that many more may come and join the Class of 1928.

"Climb, though the rocks be rugged, " is our class motto. Old Rose and Pearl Gray are our class colors, with the Sweet Pea as our class flower. Miss Riggs has been our Sponsor, and the class officers are as follows:

President..... Anna Samuelson
Vice President..... Milan Lambert
Secretary-Treasurer..... Gertrude Statz

Business College

History of the York Business College

ORK College has always maintained a Commercial Department which, until 1916 was housed in the main building, in the rooms now used for the Library. In that year the United Brethren College bought the Business College down town, and moved the department down there. In the Fall of 1925 the department was again moved to the main building and for the last two years has been conducted there.

Forty-nine students were enrolled at the beginning of the year 1926, and 1927, in the Commercial and Shorthand departments. The assistant teachers were: Irene Bachman, Esther McLaughlin, and Lad Hubka. The officers elected for the first semester were: Genevieve Peterson, president; Evelyn Muche, Secretary-Treasurer; Hazel Hackel, social chairman; and Alene Boren and Doris C. Fitzpatrick, reporters.

The first party held by this class was a wiener roast, in the City park, at which "a good time was had by all". Again in December the students of the department met in the gymnasium for an evening of fun. It was extremely cold, and "hot chile" was appreciated.

The Spelling Class had an interesting time all year. They held a contest during the months of November and December, and the losers royally entertained the winners at the home of their teacher, Miss McLaughlin, just before Christmas.

For the second semester the following officers were elected: Vernon Mulig, president; Rachel Stouffer, secretary-treasurer; Lester Swass, social chairman; and Esther Klein, reporter.

From this department, during the last two years, the following people have been sent out and are holding responsible positions: Amy Turner, Lottie Reed, Anna Strune, Genevieve Peterson, Evelyn Mucke, Dorothy Larkin, and Theron Price. All of these people are employed by York business firms.

Organizations

The Glee Club

HE York College Glee Club is a well known, and well liked organization. The Club in the last two years has accomplished a great deal in the presentation of good music. Last year, in addition to presenting the opera, "King Dodo", several concerts were given in nearby towns.

In the spring of 1926, "The Rose Maiden", a Cantata, was sung in the College Chapel. The Glee Club also spent an evening in Lincoln, broadcasting from radio station KFAB, that spring.

During the present year the Club has been working intensively on the score of the new opera, "The Wizard of the Nile." Some time has been spent learning other beautiful arrangements. Plans have been made for more trips, after the opera has been given.

Dean Amadon is still the same popular, efficient, and business-like director. Under his tutelage, the Club has set its goal of musical attainments high.

Scene from "King Dodo"

HE Glee Club presented "King Dodo" on the sixth of April, nineteen twenty-six, at the Oopera House, to a full house of appreciative spectators.

The synopsis sets forth that King Dodo issues a proclamation setting back the clocks thirty years. Dr. Fizz, court physician, prepares a magical Elixir of Life whereby the King may become young again. Piolo, soldier of fortune, tells him of a wonderful spring a drink from which will make him young, and takes him on a wild goose chase in search of it. He meets the Queen of the Spoopuj people, and is at last given a drink of these magical waters. He at once becomes a boy of ten, but realizing he does not care to be young, he, in great despair, asks for one more drink of water. As the spring has a double power, he is once more restored to his former age.

Synopsis of Scenes

Act I—Public square in Alexandria.
Act II—Terrace roof of the King's Palace.
Act III—Interior of the King's private pyramid.

Argument

"There's lots of things
A Wizard can do

There are tricks of the trade that are new."

Kibosh, a Persian necromancer, and his assistant Abydos visit Egypt during the water famine. By the use of the magic power, he supposedly causes the Nile to overflow, and wins the offer Ptolemy has made, that anyone who can conjure up a flood will be rewarded with the hand of his daughter, the beautiful Cleopatra. However, Kibosh has a rival in Cleopatra's handsome music teacher, Ptarmigan, who wins her in the end. Another jealous rival of the Wizard is Cheops, the former Royal Weather Prophet, who has been displaced by Kibosh, and sentenced to have his head cut off. Simoon, the second wife of the King Ptolemy is a rather strenuous person who wants to see somebody beheaded at most any stage of the game, and she doesn't care much who it is. Consequently, when the overflowing of the Nile, which Kibosh is supposed to have brought on, turns out to be a veritable deluge, flooding the entire country, the Royal displeasure turns upon him and he is sentenced to fifty-seven different varieties of punishment. However, by his ready wit and characteristic effrontery, Kibosh succeeds in turning the tables, cornering everybody, and bringing about a happy denouement. The story is purely farcical and the complications abound in ludicrous situations.

The Orchestra

OR the past two years York College has maintained an orchestra. The organization has been sponsored by the Conservatory, and directed by Professor Bohdan A. Shlanta. Mr. Shlanta deserves much praise for his untiring effort to keep the orchestra permanently organized.

Several short concerts have been given in Chapel by the orchestra. During the year 1925-26, the orchestra made several trips, in company with the Glee Club, to surrounding towns and cities. Various Symphonies were attempted by this organization, with surprisingly good results.

Due to a lack of interest on the part of the students, and other conflicting activities, the orchestra rehearsals were discontinued during the last semester of this year. No doubt a revived interest will be shown again at the beginning of next year. Many of the student musicians play regularly in the York Symphonic Orchestra, also directed by Professor Shlanta.

CONSERVATORY RECITALS

Voice Recital

Dean Chas. Amadon presented Mr. Lyle DeMoss in recital on Tuesday evening, May eleventh. Mr. DeMoss is well known in the community for his willingness to give of his talent whenever asked. His popularity was shown by the number of his friends that filled the college to overflowing. Mr. DeMoss has a baritone voice of unusual quality and resonance. His rendition of the Recitative and Aria from Hayden's Creation deserve special praise for his interpretive ability shown. Dean Amadon can justly be proud of this young artist. Due credit must be given to the teacher who can bring out all the power and beauty of a voice as is possessed by Mr. DeMoss. His next appearance is eagerly awaited by his host of friends.

Piano Recital

The Piano Recital given by Miss Laurene Edmondson, student of Miss Eda Rankin, in the College Chapel, February 24th, 1927, was an artistic triumph from the dainty little Gavotte of Gluck to the brilliant Concerto by Schoute.

The large audience and the number of floral tributes were a testimony of the appreciation of the York people for the young lady from Colorado.

Miss Edmondson has a charming personality, and the graceful manner in which she presided at the instrument kept her audience enthusiastic throughout the evening.

The Art Department

RUE beauty is clearly expressed by art. Students who have taken work in the Art Department have learned both to appreciate and to express beauty. Their first impressions have been carefully guided by an able instructor. This department is one of the permanent and growing features of York College.

It is equipped to give work in various phases of art. Pencil and crayon work, watercolor work, work in oils, and china painting are the more prominent courses given. The Normal Art Class is also an important feature, and some work has been given in penmanship. The classes have all been organized to meet the demand for such work. Instruction in art is also given during the summer sessions.

Many of the students enroll for work in Art purely for its cultural value, while others enroll to meet the State requirements for certificates. Exhibits, given toward the close of each semester's work, are always interesting to the public.

Y. W. C. A.

W. C. A. is fast becoming a world factor in building Christian Character.

The Y. W. C. A. of York College is a live organization and the girls are realizing more and more the beauty of their purpose, "To unite in the determination to live unreservedly Jesus' law of love in every relationship and thus to know God."

The great desire of the association is:

1. To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
2. To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.
3. To promote their growth in Christian faith and character especially through the study of the Bible.
4. To influence them to devote themselves in united efforts with all Christians, to make the will of Christ effective in human society and to extend the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

The Big Sister movement was well planned and a fine fellowship existed between the old and new girl on the campus.

The World Fellowship Committee made the entire Student-body and Faculty feel that life is worth while when giving to others. The World Fellowship Tags proved very useful in doing this.

The membership banquet was wonderful—in fact the entire year has been a great inspiration to all. The girls are realizing the true worth of their motto, "I come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly."

Y. M. C. A.

OR some time York College has set the four-square program before the student body in order to help them construct a foundation upon which they may build a well-balanced life.

For the Physical they have football, basketball, gym., and track, in which the student may develop his body and his eye, and their many branch departments. The Literary Societies, the class functions, and the school activities largely cover the social program offered by the college. Then comes the fourth side, equally as strong and important as any of the others or perhaps more so, is that of the Moral or Religious side of the square. This is taken care of, in the college, by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

In the Y. M. C. A. the young men have the opportunity to bring this fourth side up to its proper place in their lives. Christian students have the opportunity to begin or to further develop themselves in the Christian work. They have a chance to exercise their religious or moral conceptions among Christian fellowship.

About the middle of September last year the Y. M. C. A. held their annual "Mixer Party". This is a strictly social affair in which all the student body may take part. Nearly all of the College crowded under the glowing lights on the campus and indelibly stamped in their memory, a scene that will not easily be forgotten. The Y. M. C. A. surely began its race through the school year with a flying start.

Every Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the Y. M. C. A. held their weekly meeting in the college chapel. The hymns and special numbers would cheer them, the testimonies, scriptures and prayers inspire them, and the talks would always spur them on. This, too, will burn in the memories of the boys when the other activities of school life are but as smoldering coals or long since died out.

From December 28, 1926 to January 1, 1927, the Y. M. C. A. sent two delegates, Miss Evelyn Lorence and Mr. Theodore Thompson to the Student Conference at Milwaukee, Wis. The delegates came home with many helpful messages to the student body. This convention was one of the most important events of the year and will certainly live in the memory of the delegates as an inspiration to establish a still higher aim for not only themselves but with those they may come in contact.

A Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in order to make their influence effective, must inflame the hearts of their cabinet members with unquenching invigoration. This was accomplished by the joint Cabinet Sunday school class which met very Sunday morning at 9:00 a. m. and discussed topics from "Facing Student Problems."

From February 15 to February 22 the two organizations held their annual revival meeting led by Rev. George Weber of Albuquerque, N. M., who gave us some very helpful and inspiring messages. The students will not easily forget the talks he made each day in chapel, and the good it did them could not be measured. In the evening it was open to the public as well, and he never wanted in vain, for a full house of eager listeners.

New officers were elected on March 15th. Mr. Homer Watkins was elected president for the coming year. Ray Bryant, vice president; Arthur Farnum, secretary; Harlen Moore, treasurer; Thornton Miller, devotional chairman; Harold Jeffers, musical chairman, and Dean Bisset, faculty adviser.

We feel that these officers will do a great work during their term of office and we are looking forward to an even better association for the coming year.

Life Work Recruits

OD has a plan for each life. One cannot expect to get the most out of life unless he finds that place. Every young person should ask themselves, "Why Shouldn't I Take Up Christian Service?"

The need should always be a great factor in the call.

A life work undertaken with a willingness to fail, or even die if necessary, to serve God, brings the greatest fruitage. Indeed the spirit of the missionary must possess the heart. A life of service is a great task, but a reward is ahead. God always grants grace and courage equal to the undertaking.

The covenant the recruit takes in making his decision is a beautiful one: "Feeling myself called by the Holy Spirit and trusting in the Lord

Jesus Christ for strength, I promise him that I will from this day forth strive to shape the plans of my life so that I may give myself wholly to the service of Christ and the Church, as my vocation in life."

The fifty Life Work Recruits and Student Volunteers on the campus are real college boosters, and are loyal to the highest and best in life. The officers of the group are:

President.....	Mabel Shelquist
Vice President.....	Albert Murdoch
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Alice Peters

The Histrionic Club

..◆◆◆..

HE members of the Histrionic Club have taken great interest in their class work this year. The study has been in play production, which deals with the stage and the art of make-up. Some very realistic characters have been produced by the class in make-up.

The class has presented the following plays: "Ether or Eyther", a farce in one act; "The Finger of God," by Percival Wilde, a drama in one act; "Old Man Minnick", by Kauffman and Ferber, a comedy-drama in three acts; "Miss Parkington," a farce in one act; "Why the Chimes Rang", a Christmas story in one act; "Golden Hope," a comedy-drama in two acts; "Chums," a farce in one act.

In addition to this several members of the club have assisted in the production of plays in many of the surrounding towns. Among these was, "Brother Josiah," a comedy in three acts, presented by the Alumni of the Bradshaw high school, coached by Miss Mann. Those enrolled in the course are:

Oratory

GREAT deal of interest was taken last year in Oratory. Seven students contested in the annual preliminary contest. Lloyd Wells won first place, and represented us at Grand Island, where he placed fourth.

This year there were fourteen contestants in the preliminary contest. It was necessary to hold two preliminaries. One of the judges made the statement: "This year we witness the best Oratorical Contest, to my mind, that has been held in York College in years." Our representative was Lloyd Wells again. He ably represented us at Wesleyan, but we are in hopes of placing a little higher next year.

The Peace Oratorical is a contest which is held separately from the State Contest. York College has participated in the contest for two years. Miss Florence Jenkins represented us at Cotner, April 17, 1926. We are sorry to say that she did not win, but her message and personality must have contributed wonderfully to the contest, which was beneficial alike to contestants and listeners.

Debate

THE York College debaters under the tutelage of Prof. Morgan successfully completed their schedule of inter-collegiate debates. Eleven debates were scheduled. Two of these were triangular meets with Grand Island and Kearney, decisions to be rendered by the audience. This was our first experience with this plan.

The question for debate as stated: "Resolved, That the McNary-Haugen bill should become a Federal law."

Most of the debaters were new men at York College. In spite of the fact that they had very little experience with the debate material in question, they made a very creditable showing. Most of them will be back again next year and should be able to advance much further in their forensic triumphs. Professor Morgan is a very capable coach who has been handicapped by a lack of experienced debaters. However he should be able to be more successful for the season of 1928.

UR student body has long felt the need of an organization intended solely to produce much needed "pep" at intercollegiate contests. The new Booster Club has tried to fill the need. It has promoted spirit and enthusiasm throughout the school year. It has given new life and zeal to the older students, and given a true impression of college life to new students.

The rallies, games, and banquets sponsored by the club will be remembered as "peppy occasions". Although the club is an innovation in our school, we feel that it will thrive and carry on the true spirit of York College.

Zeta Literary Society

HE purpose of the Zeta literary society is to promote social culture, scholarship, and good fellowship among the students. The members of such an organization learn to appear at ease in any social gathering. When they leave College they are prepared to take part in club work, or in any organization.

Those who have attended the Zeta meetings in the past will all agree that the programs were both very educational and entertaining. The programs have consisted of music, papers, short plays, talks, readings, and parliamentary drill.

As with any other organization, those who wish to get anything out of a literary society, must work hard and put their best efforts into it. However, one has only to mention the picnics, recaptions, annual banquets, and other variedactivities, and the Zetas are reminded that the good times they have had more than repay them for their efforts.

The Zeta Literary Society has a worthy purpose, and deserves a place in the life of every York College student. Come and be a Zeta with us!

Pal Literary Society

IN the month of September, 1891, two literary societies were organized in York College. These societies were the Amphictyon, or the boys' society, and the Philomathyon, or the girls' society. These two societies made up the joint, or Pal Society. Since that early date, the society has undergone few changes in methods. At the present time the separate societies are not functioning except as a joint society.

This year the "Pals" have had very instructive and interesting programs. Everyone who is a member is sometime expected to have some part in at least one program. There are students who object to participation in programs; but it goes without saying that there is no better training for public service to be had by the student. The Pal Society not only gives wonderful training to its members, but prides itself in the most loyal friendships that exists in York College in a filial way. We know a Pal by his or her smile. Our motto is, "Once a Pal, always a Pal."

We always stand ready to welcome new students to York College and to be a "Pal."

The Best by Test.

HE Sandburr, the fortnightly news-sheet of York College, was first issued in 1900 as a monthly magazine. Since that time many students have had a part in publishing it.

The Staff of 1926-27 have tried to make The Sandburr a true mirror of York College life. It has been the purpose of the Editor to uphold the high ideals of the College and to put out a paper which would interest all. The rush for Gard on "Sandburr Tuesdays," indicates to some degree the success of the Staff.

The school is justly proud of its publication. The Staff has enjoyed the work, and feels honored to have been chosen for the position. There is a satisfaction in feeling that we have done our best, although we regret that we could not have done better.

The Y-Club

URING the school-year of 1924-25 the letter-men's club of York College was reorganized, and has been holding regular meetings, once each month ever since. It is an organization which includes only the men of the school who have earned their college letter in some branch of college athletics. Since its reorganization, it has been quite active in furthering the athletic interests of York College.

During the spring of each year, an invitation basketball tournament has been held for the high school teams of the surrounding territory. The high schools have always responded well, and the tournaments are becoming more successful each year.

This year there were twenty-two teams in attendance. These were divided into three classes, and some very interesting games were the result. The members of the Y-club had complete charge of the proceedings, each one carrying out his part in fine shape. This gives them some very good experience in refereeing games, time-keeping, etc. Various members of the Club have also done considerable work as referees of high school games between high schools in the vicinity of York.

Each year the new members of the Club are initiated with appropriate ceremonies. Attendance at the Y-club meetings is compulsory. As a result the Club has, on an average, a better attendance than any other organization on the campus. Following is the list of members who have been in school this year:

Grant Sterner

THE Football season of 1926 proved to be a successful one, when conditions at the opening of the season are taken into account.

With eight conference games on their schedule, the Panthers battled to two ties, two wins, and four losses. The schedule was a heavy one, and included four of the strongest teams in the conference, Chadron, Midland, Doane, and Peru. It was these four games that the Panthers lost, but by small scores as compared to the scores of the same teams a year ago.

Coach Lad Hubka was confronted with a stiff proposition when he took over the coaching reins in the fall. York's season last year was a bad one, and the least said about it the better. Coach Hubka's first task was to ferret out the candidates who had had previous experience. Captain Peters from the last year's team was to lead the Panthers for the year. He and a few other letter-men reported, along with a number of former high school players, and some "green" men.

As the season progressed, the team developed. They played scoreless ties with Central College and Grand Island College in their first encounters. Both games were played away from home as was the Midland game which Midland won, 24 to 0. Then came the first home game with the big Doane gridsters. Doane tallied 28 points against York, while the Panthers failed to tally. Then along came the Kearney Normals, and after a hectic contest, York won 17 to 16. It was the first Panther win since 1924.

Peru handed York a 40 to 0. defeat at Peru, but this defeat was not unexpected, owing to the supremacy of the Pedagogians. Chadron, winners in the conference, played their only game of the season on foreign sod at York, defeating us 26 to 0. York displayed a wonderful defense and held Chadron scoreless the first half. To wind up the season York journeyed to Omaha, where the Omaha University was shut out, 12 to 0.

But this is all history now. Coach Hubka has turned out a fighting team, which though light and somewhat inexperienced, has given York College fans reason to believe that the season of 1927 will find York much further up in the conference standing.

Coach Lad. Hubka

Coach Hubka is filling a long-felt need at York College. He has renewed the enthusiasm and confidence of our students, and the people of York in general, in York College athletics. He is a former York College athlete who has made good at the University both as an athlete and as coach of the freshman squad. The squad picture below shows something of the spirit he has instilled in the boys.

SQUAD OF 1926

FLOYD PETERS, Captain

Weight 155 lbs.

Halfback

Pete captained the team this year and did a good job. He was always on the job, a hard worker and one of the fastest halves in the state. Pete has two more years of football and we expect great things from him next year.

REED GILLAND, Captain elect

Weight 175 lbs.

Center

Reed played his first year of college football but looked like an old veteran.

He is as good a center as there is in the state and a real fighter. He is never beaten. Reed will be a fine captain and with his fight he will lead the team to the top of the ladder next year.

LLOYD NICHOLS

Weight 170 lbs.

Guard

“Nic” was one of the letter men back this year and played his usual strong game. Although he did not star, he was one of the dependable men on the squad. He will be back next year and should be a real factor.

Marathon

JAMES ROBERTS

Weight 145 lbs.

End

Jim did not get started at the first of the year but really got his start at Midland. From then on he was always in the fray. He was light in weight but a very heady player. He was the wise cracker of the team.

ARNOLD MAUER

Weight 150 lbs.

End

He may have been small but he was mighty. He was always on the job and could go through the interference and never let them around him. He is also a first year man who should be heard from later.

IVAN MAUER

Weight 168 lbs.

Fullback

“Cy” is a freshman this year and was a certain ground gainer in the back field. He was a consistent worker and a hard line plunger. He will have three more years to play.

Marathon

CLYDE BOLTON

Weight 168 lbs.
Halfback

Clyde was one of the best ground gainers we had this year. He was a "triple-threat" man as he was a clever runner, a beautiful punter and an accurate passer. This is his first year in school.

HERMAN REGIER

Weight 180 lbs.
Guard

Football is a new game to Regier but he surely takes to it and learns rapidly. He is a fast charger and with his weight makes it tough on the opposing line. He is going to make a valuable man the next three years.

ALBERT MURDOCH

Manager

Murdoch filled this lowly position to a perfection. He was always on hand with the water bottle, the tape or whatever was needed. He kept the equipment in good condition and was a real asset to the squad.

Marathon

ROYALD MORGAN

Weight 176 lbs.

Tackle

'Punk' was always talking and was always in every play. He had lots of football experience in high school and used it to good advantage. He was a threat to all the teams and was known to the team as one of the invincibles.

JOHN FANZ

Weight 155 lbs.

Halfback

While football was strange to Johnny, he fell right into it at first. He is small but a fast starter and a good side-stepper. Next year he should be a very valuable man to the team.

FLOYD MANN

Weight 190 lbs.

Tackle

The big Mann was found very useful at tackle position. He is powerful on offence and is a stonewall on defence. He will cause lots of bruises for back-field men on opposing teams next year. He has two more years to play.

Marathon

DONALD FEASTER

Weight 150 lbs.

Halfback

Don was a fast and shifty halfback and a great open field runner. He is one of the men who loved football. He is a senior and he will be a great loss to the team.

BARTUS BLANC

Weight 158 lbs.

Guard

Bart is a great fighter and a good guard. He uses his powerful legs to a good advantage. We hate to lose him this year but it makes his fourth in athletics.

ROBERT BYRNES

Weight 186 lbs.

Guard

Bob was a man who loved football and could play a real game. While sometimes hard to get started he was a real threat when aroused. As he is but a Freshman he has three more years in which to "do things."

Basketball

HE York College Basketball squad and Coach started the season with the determination to establish a record. They led the conference for a time, then settled down to a steady form of playing, which gave them a very creditable showing. They were the sensation of the conference, and finished the season with a "bang." With seventeen conference games on the schedule the Panthers succeeded in finishing fourth in the conference.

They started the season with wins against Grand Island, Cotner, and Omaha University. This was then followed by defeats at Kearney and at Hastings. The Hastings game was purely a fluke. One of the state papers said that the only good basketball that Hastings played during the season was when they played York. Their unwillingness to play a return game showed that they feared a defeat. The next win was against Kearney, at York. That was when the local fans really began to get interested in the Panther style of play. From that time on, the gymnasium was crammed with spectators at every game. At times the crowd became so great as to interfere with the game, by crowding out onto the floor.

The most thrilling game of the season, on the home floor, was when Doane invaded our camp. They were doped to win, and although they tried their very best, the Panthers carried them off to the tune of 32 to 27. It was a great game, throughout, and the big long boy from Crete could not seem to gain anything by his peculiar brand of playing. This victory was followed by another win from Cotner. Hastings refused to play a return game, and this was followed in quick succession by victories over Grand Island, Wayne, Midland, and Omaha University.

At this time in the season many fans began to expect, and to predict, that York would "upset the dope." However the Panthers ran up against some hard luck when they invaded the strongholds of Doane and Peru. This once more established the conference equilibrium. Then Peru delivered another defeat when they played the return game. The team then journeyed to Midland College where they made a brilliant finish to a season already successful. This gave them fourth place in the conference, which is a very commendable improvement over previous years.

With practically all the squad back again next year, under the capable leadership of Captain Louis Helzer, who was re-elected, the Panthers should make a much better showing next season. Coach Hubka is constantly on the outlook for promising material, and no doubt will be able to recruit some effective players from next year's Freshmen, with which to back up the experienced players. To say the least, York's outlook is exceedingly bright for 1928.

The Players

Louis Helzer, Captain. "Slicker" played a smooth, heady game. He was an inspiring leader, and was given Center position on the "All-state" second team.

Lloyd Nichols, Guard. "Nick" played his usual dependable game at guard. Critics rated him as the best guard in the state, and he was placed on the "All-state" first team.

Harold Ashmore, Forward. "Ashes" played a fast, accurate brand of ball, and received honorable mention on the "All-state" selection.

Fred Gilbert, Guard. Fred's size was a great asset to the team, and he made a good combination with Nichols.

Ivan Maurer, Guard. "Cy" played a fighting game at guard, and made use of every opportunity to sink a basket.

Boyd King, Forward. "King" played like a veteran, and did some very outstanding work in his position.

Floyd Peters, Forward. "Pete" did not get into many games, but played his usual flashy style of game at every opportunity.

Vernon Moist, Center and Forward. "Vern" came in late, but played a beautiful game at either position. He has a natural ability for the game and is a very valuable addition to the squad.

John Franz, Neil Robson, Roy Shall, Maynard Grosshans, Arnold Maurer, Marlyn Diehl, Donald Oliver, and Fred Loreman, also deserve much credit for the way in which they upheld the team, and stayed out for practice. "Bus" Spore is another late comer who should also be credited for his loyalty to the team. The second team played several games and proved themselves on the alert, ready to receive a place on the first team should the occasion arise.

Women's Athletic Association

THE Women's Athletic Association was organized here in the fall of 1924. Since then it has been making a place for itself on the campus by helping to boost all athletics. The girls can always be found on the sidelines cheering the boys to a touchdown, or leaning over the balcony railing yelling themselves hoarse to help the team make another basket.

The girls are very enthusiastic about Soccer, Basketball, Baseball, and Tennis. They win their honors on a point system. Thirty-five points are given for participation in any sport. One hundred points are given for making the first team. Other honors vary between the two. One hundred points are necessary for membership in the association. Class numerals are given for five hundred points earned. A sweater is awarded when one thousand points are earned. Fifteen hundred points wins a varsity blanket.

Hiking is a sport enjoyed by all, especially when the hike begins about five-thirty on a cool autumn or spring morning, and ends with waffles, or bacon and eggs. Of course the girls have to hurry to get to their seven-thirty classes on time, but the whole day is better after a hike.

A hike must consist of at least four continuous miles. A "York" armband is awarded for one hundred miles.

The girls have greatly enjoyed all the athletic activities. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm has been aroused over the interclass contests.

Marathon

The W. A. A. has been of great benefit in developing the physical side of the girls' lives while in College.

MY LAST DUTCHMAN

My last fiasco there,
Not all to blame mayhap, She's gone,
What other course were open?
The chauffeur, perchance his pretty buttons or the blue of his raiment
Her heart aflutter set,
She sank, bubbles bubbled and burst. Sad.
Yon group there, the center one,
The light is better here, perspective there
Is like to reflect and mar perfection.
She smiled once, recall not when,
Untimely end the world said,
She's happy now, admitted.
The curtain there? Distant it note
Or yet, the deed is done. Look!
Faults? Had none that man would not o'erlook
Such paltry transgressions,
Yet again untimely. Bang! Bang!
She had no faults?
And yet she left
—The sink full of dirty dishes.

(Apologies to Browning's "My Last Dutchess".)

HOW TO BEHAVE LIKE HUMAN BEINGS

Berate the dog because it harks at the moon; argue with a tax assessor. Abhor the hog because it enjoys a trough dinner; pretend you enjoy a picnic beside a dusty road.

Mock the ostrich because it believes it is safe with its head hidden; drive faster because you have accident insurance. Sneer at the snake because it doesn't trust anyone; send your bootlegger's stuff to a chemist.

Feel superior to the caged lion because its roars are wasted energy; tell your daughter she must stay home at least two nights a week.

Jeer at the elephant because it fears a mouse; work yourself into a rage over a mosquito in your bedroom.

"DANGEROUS CURVES"

In all this age of hurry
With the speed at which we go,
It almost makes one worry
If by chance the wind should blow.

We see the signs about us:
"Drive Slow"—"Stop"—"Dangerous Curve"
So you will hardly blame us,
If our thoughts should chance to swerve.

By far the greatest danger
That mere man is apt to find,
Is but a common danger
That relieves the daily grind.

'Tis this: Our modern girlies,
Who delight in being free—
Our daring care-free girlies,
Who give man so much to see.

And so we give this warning,
'Twill be useful anywhere, —
"Although the sights are charming.
Of the dangerous curves beware!"

BE DEPENDABLE

Give me the man who keeps his word,
The man with purpose true;
Who from his duty is not lured,
To join the careless crew.

The carefree ones may laugh and jeer,
Because he plods along;
“He is a boob”, they say, “that’s clear,
And his ideals are wrong.”

“Why don’t he free himself from care.
It’s but a simple trick;
Let someone else the troubles bear.
This method sure is slick.”

“What matters if the work is left,
To some dumb one or two?
The main thing is, that we are deft,
In putting such deals through.”

“Why should I worry if the task,
Is left about half done?
No one will ever stop to ask,
About the goals I’ve won.”

"You only live on earth but once.
So why not have some fun;
Just let some other silly dunce.
See that the work is done.”

And so they doubtless have their fun,
In keeping out of work;
But thank the gods there is some one.
Who does not care to shirk.

Some one on whom you can depend,
In both the great and small;
Whose aim is service, to the end,
To everyone, and all.

Give me the man whose word is good,
Regardless of the task, —
And for a better friend, I would,
Not have the heart to ask.

—Theron D. Gard.

"The shades of night were falling fast,
As through the town a young man passed.
One eye was black, the other green;
Hut on his lips a smile serene
Displayed to those who stood about.
That sturdy teeth had fallen out.
One leg was twisted all awry,
Huge bumps festooned his starboard thigh;
But though his battered form was bent,
Still blithely on his way he went—
And fourteen others just like him,
Came limping through the shadows dim—
The football game was over."

Ashmore: "Oh I say, Bart, why are you looking in the mirror so long?"
Bart: "Control yourself there, I'm just counting my mustache."

How to Play a Cello

Never pronounce cello like it was spelled with a k or an s. also one of the l's is silent. So much for the technical part. After you find out that you can't get the thing under your chin you decide to straddle it and subdue it by brute force. This is the right thing to do. Set the point on the under end get a hammer and tan lightly of the cello on the floor. Then on the top end until the point is firmly embedded, then take a running start and grasp the handle with the strings on it. Slide the bow vigorously over the strings, also wiggle the fingers. This gives a shaky effect but it's beautiful. After you do this about ten years and it doesn't sound any better then you sell your cello and buy a piccolo. Then you bury the piccolo.

INTERVIEWS WITH FAMOUS PERSONAGES

Prof. Spermatomorphization Noll P. D. Q.

When interviewed Prof. Noll was engaged in research work on several specimens of a pale liquid commonly known as coffee at the dining hall. He was very hopeful of finding evidence of coffee ingredients but as yet had found nothing. The Prof. claims to have found traces of milk and butter in the mashed potatoes but his proofs have not been accepted by authorities. Next year the Prof. hopes to have his degree of Doctor of Prerogative. We left these questions for him.

Born? To all appearances, yes.

Childhood? Very brief.

Education? Not enough, still learning.

Salary? Plenty.

Do you like your present position? Yes and no.

Is this enough questions? Yes.

Prof. Andante Sostenuto Shlanta

The Prof. was busy when we first tried to interview him. If you don't think he was busy try putting a bass fiddle under your chin to play it. He said he could play it if he could get it on his chest. He finally conquered it and played for us. He played "A Student's Paradise," by Whatta Life.

EPILEPSY

Half a league, half a league half a league onward!
Into the shadows of co-education.
Rode the staunch hearted.
Men to the right of them;
Men to the left of them;
Freshmen in front of them;
Still they went on.
Under the spreading chestnut tree,
The female students gathered,
Met in indignation, sir,
To heal their hearts so tattered.
One light if by land
Two if by sea,
'Twas the morning of Friday
the 3rd.
The evening before they had waited,
One if by land and two if by sea,
Not a one of them had been dated.
Taxation without representation,
They shouted and started to shoot;
We have come to bury custom
not to praise it,
Any old-man will suit.
But still in the bush of the twilight
In the dawn of the children's hour,
Came the wails of hearts that
are broken,
With all of a co-ed's power.

"Ruth rode in my new cycle car
In the seat in hack of me,
I took a bump at fifty-five
And rode on Ruthlessly."

Miller: Why don't you brush that stuff off your shoulder?

Ashmore: No, I'm going to keep that schoolgirl complexion.

To be able to tell time is convenient to a student but the ability to interpret a calender so that you know when vacations conic is really all that is necessary. To tell time by the chapel clock you attend chapel' every day for two days in succession taking data on the positions of the hands. If the clock shows ten minutes of eight every time you look at it you finally conclude that it must he ten of eight. To get accurate results from the hall clock take the positions at different intervals and divide by any irrational. The result will he wrong but so is the clock. Pay no attention to the library clock. It is intended only for the librarian and its usefulness depends on her interpretation.

SOME PROBLEMS

If ten problems are assigned to a class of twelve students what is the probability that some of the problems will be solved? Here at last is foundation for an absolute. An absolute zero.

If pigs is pigs and jello is nervous how much is more.

If you could conceive of such a sum, how much would all the college students in the world owe? Rather staggering what?

How much of this will be paid?

Not so staggering is it?

Why is is?

MODERN EVANGELINE

Then the Matron looked at the clock which hung in the hall,
Looked, as it pointed to ten, to ten P. M. on a Friday night;
Night of nights, that was hailed with delight by the inmates of
" the "Con. "—

While from his pocket a youth then drew forth a circlet of gold,
Placed it with steady hand upon the fair hand of his sweetheart,
Binding himself to be true to her in all things whatsoever.

Orderly all things proceeded, and duly and well were completed,
And the promise of their love was freely bestowed by each other.
Then from his place on the couch, the youth arose to depart;
Three times he whispered his love, three times resolved to leave her, —

And the Matron knocking, then addressed the maid and her lover,
Stating aloud the time of the night, (a hint that he should go. )
Whispering a fond farewell, he solemnly bowed and departed,
While in silence the others sat and mused by the roadside,
'Till the matron rang the curfew bell in all its shrillness.

Then the fun began. In quite friendly farewells the couples Laughed at each happy joke, or unsuccessful attempt, —
Laughed when a kiss was stolen, or a trial attempt was foiled.

Meanwhile apart, from her vantage place, in her room with open door

Sat the Matron, and thought of what-might-have-been, watching the girls ascend

Up the broad stairway, to the dreamy delights of their bedrooms.
Lovingly, one by one, from their maidens fair at the doorway,
Departed our big strong he-men, the forget-me-nots of the "Con-girls."

Thus was the evening passed.....

—With Apologies to Longfellow.
