DEDICATION

To

Alden Garwood

Who in his fourteen years of faithful service as caretaker of the York College campus and buildings has made hosts of friends because of his willingness to cheerfully help others, and because of his fine, Christian character, we respectfully dedicate this 1936 Marathon.

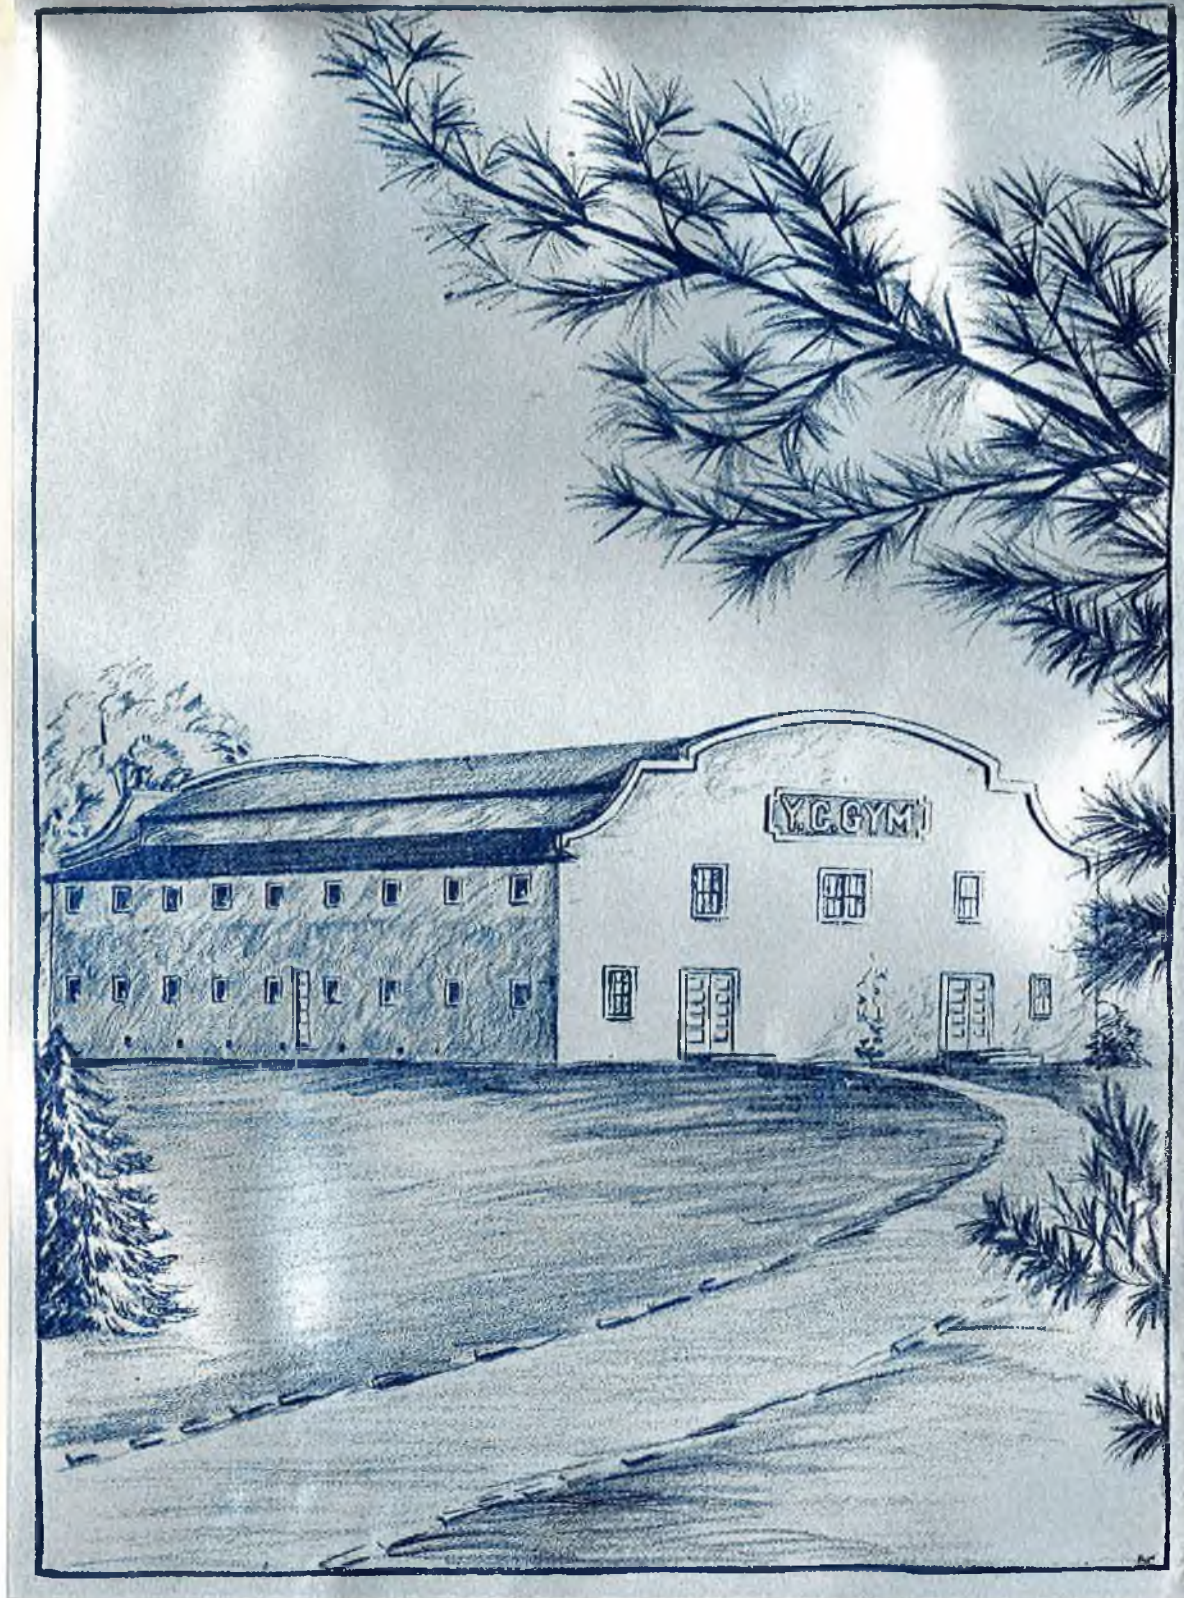

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

The administration building is the background for all the scenes of college life. Studying in the classroom, convening in the chapel, or chatting in the halls, the "Ad" building observes the development of our personality and character and it watches us absorb the knowledge of the past and, perhaps, add something worthwhile for posterity. When we recollect our happy carefree days, and our serious, thoughtful moments, a vision of the old red brick "Ad" building on the hill will return to us, to hover in the background of our memories.

HULITT CONSERVATORY

From here, harmony was wafted upon the breezes to soothe our turbulent souls with peace and calm.

GYMNASIUM

Strong bodies and keen, clean minds ingrained with fair play and sportsmanship are developed within such walls as these.

ALUMNI LIBRARY

We whispered here and studied some. The library was our haven after many an intellectual storm.

COLLEGE CHURCH

We have dreamed our dreams, we have sung our songs, we have worked and we have played; now, we gather here
for quiet, peace, and communion with our God.

Miss Ruby Carol Rickard, of Washington, Kansas, the author and composer of our college song, "On the Hill of the Rising Sun", presented a chapel program of her own composition this spring. Miss Rickard stated that when she was on the campus five years ago a friend said that York College needed a song so she proceeded to write one. She said it was a hobby of hers "to think that people should sing a lot." She has written an entire concert program of original songs, which have not yet been published. Although she has lost her eyesight, she not only sings, plays, and composes, but she also whistles beautifully and speaks in several languages.

College Song

On the hill of the rising sun,
 Stands the college we hold so dear.
Rooted deep is our loyalty;
 Grounded firm is our faith sincere.

In our hearts will ever, ever be
 Blue and white a blessed memory,
Through the years our voices raise in praise to thee,
 All Hail! Hail! York!

Looking down on the busy town
 Stands the college with aims so high;
For the best in our work and sport
 We are glad we can sound the cry.

ADMINISTRATION

President J. R. Overmiller

A. B., Kansas City University.

B. D., Bonebrake Seminary.

D. D., Honorary Degree, York College.

Mr. Overmiller has devoted the past eight years to the work of Christian Education as president of York College. He has done his utmost to make York College an outstanding school for modern young people. Because of his friendly attitude and his willingness to understand and sympathize with students and their problems, and because of his untiring efforts for his chosen work, he has been able to again build up and maintain the student enrollment. Although he has been forced to work under critical financial difficulties the past few years, he has directed York College successfully through them to a favorable outlook for the future.

It was voted by the College Board of Trustees to confer the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity on President Overmiller on May 27, 1936, at Commencement.

Student Council

The Student Council of York College was organized in 1928. Its purpose is to further the interests of the student body; to act as mediator between students and students and between students and faculty; to aid in the regulation of student activities; and to investigate and pass on any problem presented to them in a petition signed by ten members of the student body and faculty.

Everett Green, a senior, was elected this year's president by a student vote in May, 1935. At the opening meeting this year Lawrence Casebeer was chosen vice-president, and Virgie Clayton was elected secretary-treasurer.

In addition to its constitutional duties the Council enforces freshman rules, controls the number of offices held by one student, sponsors the spring election of Representative Man and Woman of the College, and Editor and Business Manager of the Sandburr, and selects appropriate freshman caps for the ensuing year. This year it also sponsored the all-student election and inauguration of a Homecoming Queen who reigned over the affairs on Homecoming Day. This year members were admitted to the Council from the Life Work Recruits and Alpha Sigma Phi.

For the year, 1934-1935, Milton Maurer was president of the Council, Virgil Walker was vice-president, and Irene Thompson was secretary-treasurer. During this term the Council revised the freshman rules, developed a point system of controlling offices held by each student, and re-published the handbook regulations for students. Changing conditions in student affairs made such revisions seem very beneficial.

York College Scholars

All graduates of York College who have attended the institution at least two years, and whose grades for the time enrolled average from 90 per cent to 92 per cent inclusive, are awarded the honor MAGNA CUM LAUDE. Those whose average is 93 per cent or above are awarded the honor SUMMA CUM LAUDE. The members of these two groups are designated as York College Scholars and are entitled to wear a scholarship key bearing the proper wording. The object of this Society is to promote scholarship and the development of the highest type of character among the students of York College.

This group was organized in 1931. Dr. A. P. Vannice, '15, was the first president, and Dr. R. C. Shupe, '05, the second president. William Hice, '34, was elected third president in the spring of '35; Mrs. A. L. Deever, Campbell College, was elected vice-president and Mrs. Ardith Kull Fast, '30, was chosen secretary-treasurer. Scholarship students of the colleges merged with York College have been admitted to membership in this Society. Although no definite action has been taken, this group is at present making plans to award a scholarship of $25.00 each semester to either a Sophomore or a Junior to be used during the following year at York College.

A bit of history attached to a picture, a poem, a song, or any cherished possession adds greatly to its worth. The following song was written by an alumnus in 1905 for the college song and later resurrected by another alumnus and called the Alumni Song. It was used many years in its original capacity but was gradually discarded in favor of one with more "pep." It was felt by the resurrector that it should not be forgotten because of its historical interest. This song changed the college colors. They were formally navy blue and white but from an interpretation of the song royal blue and white banners and supplies were ordered and their attractiveness appealed to students and the change resulted.

Alumni Song

Come, let us sing together
A glad triumphant song
To our own Alma Mater
With praises loud and long;
The pansy is her emblem
Of every tint and hue
Her banner floating o'er us
Is the Royal White and Blue.

Chorus

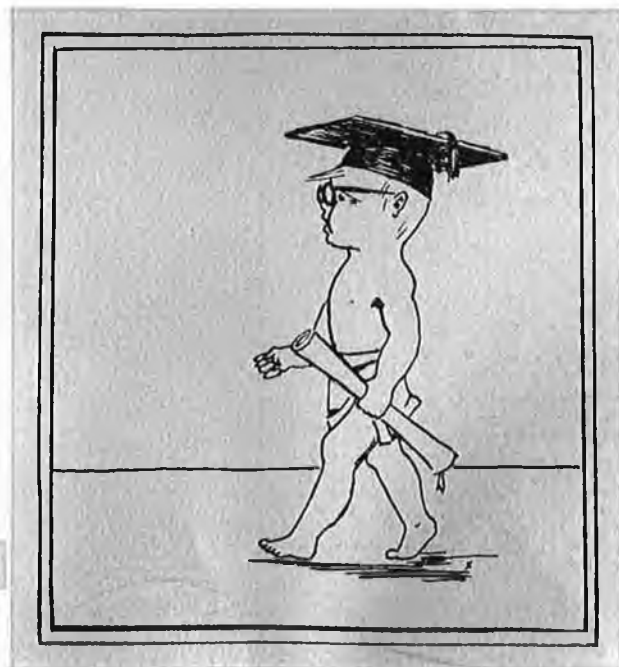

The pansy is her emblem
Of every tint and hue
Her banner floating o'er us
Is the Royal White and Blue.

Her halls so high and lofty
Give glory to her name;
The fight for greater wisdom
Adds luster to her fame;
When you grow sad and weary
Of life and all else too;
Just think of old York College
And the Royal White and Blue.

When we have left to others
The toils of college life
And out upon life's billows
Have met with many a strife;
And when with cares unnumbered,
Our eyes are wet with dew,
We'll lift our voice in triumph
For the Royal White and Blue.

—C. W. Gwinn, '05.

Senior Memories

In the fall of 1932 approximately one hundred students matriculated at York College to make up the freshman class. Since then, with numerous withdrawals and a few additions the class passed four years in York, and in the spring of 1936 eighteen were granted their degrees.

During the first year the class was headed by Lucille Dierdorff and Wayne Norwood; in the second year by Irene Thompson; in the third year by Donald Varcoe and Irene Thompson; and in the fourth year by Sam Lee.

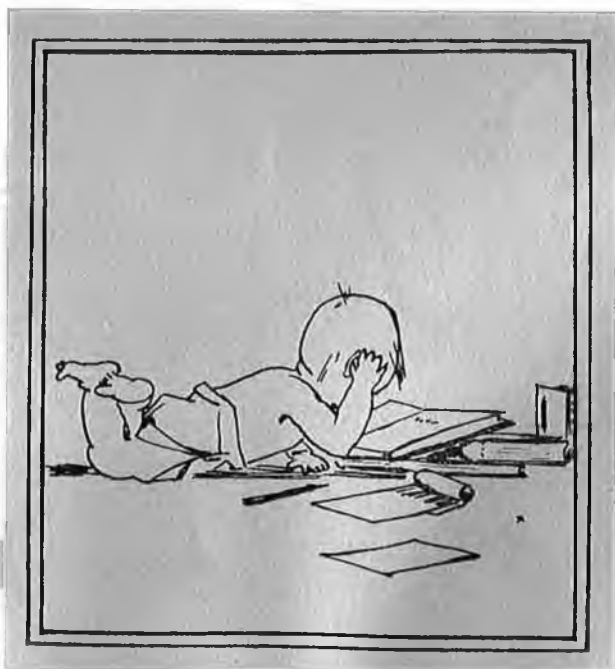

In their freshman year this class of 1936 succeeded in enjoying two class parties, so well planned as to be unmolested by upper classmen. Many of the members enjoyed the refreshments cleverly procured from the Junior-Senior Hallowe'en party. A picture, "Christ on the Mount of Olives," by Giovanni, was presented to the college. Professor J. C. Morgan and Miss Alma Tress Lundman were sponsors.

While sophomores, the giving of the Sophomore Reception and the presentation of shrubbery to the college on Arbor Day were the main accomplishments. This shrubbery was planted at the west end of the walk leading from the Administration Building. For their junior year they will remember the Junior-Senior banquet they planned for the seniors at the Country Club, carrying out the appearance of a Palm Beach resort.

The fourth and last year is the most important in a student's college life. This year on Recognition Day, the class breakfasted together, attended the Recognition Service given them by the juniors, lunched together, went to a show, then to the York-Doane basketball game, and completed the day by being entertained by Professor and Mrs. Keim. The seniors gave the juniors an April-Fool's Party at the Y. M. C. A., and later in April were given the Junior-Senior banquet by the juniors. The selection of announcements, of class rings and pins, and various activities of Commencement week all added to the pleasures of the graduates. As a parting gift to the college the class chose indirect lighting reading lamps to be placed on each table of the library.

Professor Chris Keim was sponsor of this class for the last three years. To him and Mrs. Keim the class wishes to express its gratitude and appreciation for their many kindnesses.

Story of the Chapel Flag

Hanging on the south wall of the chapel is a large wooden frame with a plate glass front. Protected in this frame is a flag, a picture, some gold and blue stars, a letter, and a list of names. At first glance this is all that is seen, and to most students and alumni this is all that is known concerning the memorial presented to the college by the class of 1924. But behind this flag, this picture, these gold and blue stars, this letter, and this list of names, is a story, and a story that should be known by every student, alumnus and friend of York College.

One evening in 1919, the late M. O. McLaughlin, a former president of York College, then a member of the house of representatives, attended a banquet of the Methodist Brotherhood in Washington. It so happened that the flag hanging in the banquet room was the one which had flown over the democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1912 and in St. Louis in 1916 at which President Wilson had been nominated as a candidate for the presidency of the United States. This flag was given to Representative McLaughlin to present to the small denominational college in Nebraska of which he had been president. Mr. McLaughlin accepted the gift and dedicated it to the York college football team of 1919.

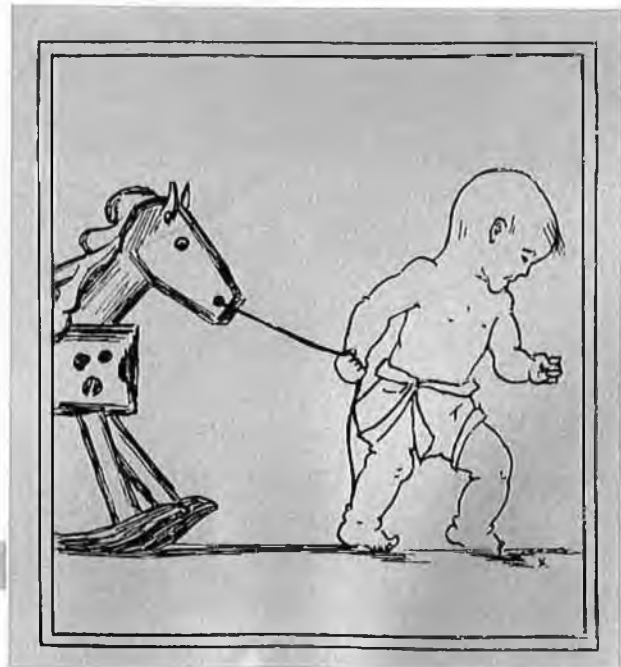

In 1924 the senior class was seeking for a fitting memorial to leave the college. Various suggestions were made and finally on senior class day in 1924 the senior class made a valuable and a memorable gift to the college. "Old Glory" was draped around a picture of President Wilson which he had purposely autographed for this gift, the flag bearing the gold and blue stars for the men who had served "Over There" for "Old Glory," the college honor roll, and the letter from President Wilson's secretary to the class of 1924 were all placed in a wooden frame with a plate glass front and presented to the college. The gold stars represent former students of York college who died during the period of army service, some in training camp and some at the battle front. Their names are: Lester Kettering, '18, of Kansas; Arthur Wolfe, ex-'21 of Ericson; Raymond White, ex-'21 of Lincoln; Ross Gudgel, (commercial) of Gresham; William A. Steven, (Academy) and Elmer Bolton, (Academy) both of York.

Long has the story of this gift been forgotten. But now it has been revived. The college is the owner of a picture of President Wilson which he purposely autographed to be presented to the college with the flag which had flown over both of the conventions at which he had been nominated. The college is also the possessor of a tradition which should not be allowed to die.

Hanging on the south wall of the chapel there may be a large wooden frame with a plate glass front. Protected by this frame there may be a flag, a picture, some gold and blue stars, a letter, and a list of names. But also hanging on the south wall of the chapel there is a memorial to our country, to an idealistic president, and to "our boys over there." And represented by this memorial is a valuable tradition which the college cannot afford to lose.

We Freshmen

Under the shedding walnut tree
The college Freshman struts,
The Frosh, a witty man is he,
The wisest of the nuts.

His cap is green, his face is 'red,
Frosh rules have just begun;
With the upper-class, he's way ahead,
They've got him on the run.

Week in, week out, from morn till night
You can hear those fellows blow;
You can hear them tell of all the things
They did long years ago.

These children going home from school,
Look back at the awful bore;
They hate to leave the raving Prof.,
Who gave poor grades galore.

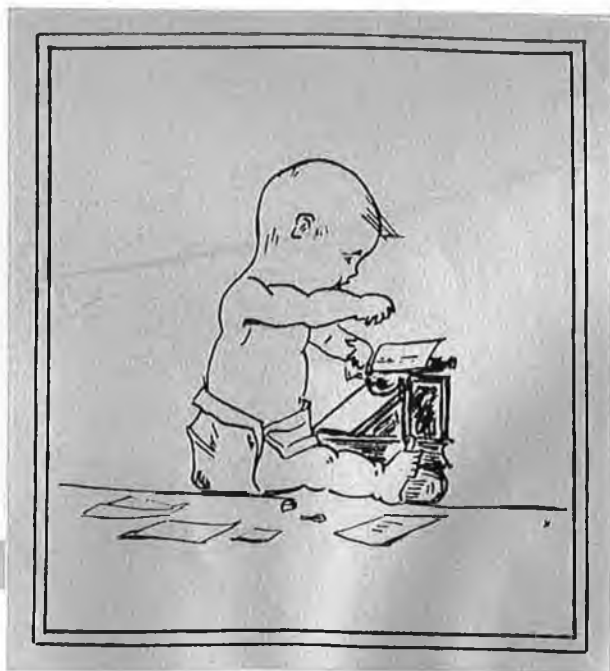

They go on Sunday to the church,
And sit upon the pews;
They hear the parson pray and preach,
And listen while he stews.

It sounds so much like their father's voice,
Calling them from their sleep;
They needs must think of him once more
For they've mowed not what they reap.

Higgling,—wiggling,—fiddling,—
Onward through life he goes—
Each morning sees some class begin,
Each evening sees it close.

Thanks, thanks to thee my worthy friend
For the lesson thou has taught,
Thus in this hectic college life,
A sprouting Freshman's wrought.

ACTIVITIES

The Goodwill Committee

The Goodwill Committee is a group which was organized in the fall of 1934 through the enthusiasm of Jack Graham and Professor Chris Keim. Its purpose, as intended by the originators, is to promote goodwill and a better understanding between the townspeople and the college, this program to be promoted by students and faculty.

The members of the group the first year were Jack Graham, Ruth Spore, Everett Green, Milton Maurer, Lyndle Moore, Irene Hofgard, and Howard Wright, with Miss Anna Thompson and Professor Keim as sponsors. Those who formed the group this past year were Everett Green, Dulcie Hoofnagle, Irene Thompson, Rosa Swezey, Irvin Lewis, Cecil Smith, Edith Goodban, Glen McPherson, and Dean Charles Bisset, sponsor. It was decided that those who were to form a permanent committee were the leaders of the following organizations: Student Council, Sandburr Staff, Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A., "Y" Club, W. A. A., Panther Club, and Marathon Board. The chairman of the committee and the faculty member is chosen by the members themselves at the opening of each school year.

One college function which this group has made definitely its own is the sponsoring of the Spring Banquet. Their one idea is to have a banquet during the lull of activities in March with less formality than usually is found at college functions. Both banquets have been unusually successful. Last year Jack Graham acted as toastmaster and original poetry was featured on the toasts. This year the leap year theme was used in the following program: Toastmaster, Lawrence Casebeer; The Science of Spring, Merle Wittmeyer; Cutting Up, Barney Rees; Leap Year Versus Women, Norma Harris; Men Versus Leap Year, Robert Spore; Spring is Such a Lovely Season, Nina Brisbin. The Revelers, the Harmoniers, and the Girls' Trio each gave musical numbers. The program was concluded by singing the college song.

Along the northern edge of the campus of York College lies a grove of elm trees which has been, and still is, known as Marathon Park. Because of numerous gatherings which were held there, the junior class in 1917, in publishing the first year book decided to call it "The Marathon." Since then each successive annual board, except one, has retained the name of Marathon for the year book.

The junior and senior classes have tried to make of this Marathon the best yet produced. By profiting from the experience of other boards and by gaining the loyal support of the student body the members of the Marathon Board of 1936 in preparing this book have hoped to make of it a treasured keepsake for each possessor.

"The Sandburr," although it was first published in 1900 as a monthly magazine, became later a fortnightly newspaper. Its name was appropriate in that there was a profusion of those prickly plants on the campus at that time. The motto of the paper was, "Don't Step on Me."

This year the paper has inaugurated a new headline style which involves the use of the capital and small letter headlines on all lead stories. Further than that, a concrete front page make-up policy was established. These and other changes were in accord with the best newspaper style as outlined by the Associated Collegiate Press, of which "The Sandburr" is a member.

The establishment of a newswriting class which offers college credit and practical experience to students, was a forward step taken this year. Miss Edith M. Callender conducts this class.

Young Women's Christian Association

The purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association is to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God. The three sides of life, spiritual, mental and physical are stressed. To carry out this purpose, weekly meetings are held at which musical programs, discussions on pertinent questions, devotional services, and various types of programs are planned which will in any way help the college woman to grow and adjust herself to college life and to every day living. Guest speakers on subjects of literature, art, and nature were very much appreciated.

The official business of the organization is done by the cabinet, which consists of the officers and standing committee chairmen. The big-little sister plan was again carried out this year. Each new girl was assigned to one who had already been on the campus, then she was invited by her big sister to a tea in the college reception room and later to a picnic. The purpose of this plan is to hasten friendships among the women on the campus.

During the year the members of the Y. W. C. A. participate in various social activities. They cooperate with the Y. M. C. A. in giving the Jolly-up each semester, and in presenting the May Day fete the latter part of May. This year the annual banquet was held in the college dining room, at which time Dulcie Hoofnagle took up her duties as the new president. The candle lighting ceremony was used to induct the new officers. The new cabinet was informally entertained and initiated at a slumber party given by the retiring cabinet.

Helen Cole, first representative of the United Brethren schools to go to West Africa; Barbara Lutz, traveling secretary for the Rocky Mountain Region of the Student Christian Movement; and Jean Hastings, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteers, visited our Y. W. C. A. during the past two years. Members of the Y. W. C. A. have been urged to attend the Association Conference held each spring at Estes Park.

Young Men's Christian Association

The student Young Men's Christian Association is a part of a national and international youth movement. Having originated in the civic Y. M. C. A. it has gradually adjusted its program to the particular needs of the college student. By this adjustment this organization has taken upon itself a definite task of helping to mold analytical student minds with Christian attitudes. The ultimate goal of the group is a four-square development in the realm of mental, spiritual, social, and physical life.

Regular meetings are held in the college chapel every Tuesday morning. Musical numbers, vocational and educational talks, and discussions of peace, moral, and student problems furnish much of the program material. Most of the programs are given by students in an effort to develop talent and leadership. Several professional men have given very interesting talks to the Y. M. C. A. this year.

The first social function of this organization is the watermelon "feed" held early in the fall, at which time all college men have an opportunity to become well acquainted. The Jolly-up, held at the gymnasium, is sponsored jointly with the Y. W. C. A. during the first week of each semester for all college students and faculty. Many picnics, dinners, and programs are planned with the Y. W. C. A. and its cabinet. The May Day fete is the outstanding social production of their combined efforts.

The Association this year sponsored an all-college basketball tournament, which provided an outlet for the physical side of the organization goals. They invited a group of Y. M. C. A. presidents and sponsors to our campus in March, at which time problems, ideas, and aims were discussed. During the past two years the worth of the Young People's Association Conference at Estes Park has been stressed. The two Christian Associations created a joint fund and sent Everett Green as their delegate to the Student Volunteer Convention in Indianapolis, Indiana in December. The organization is financed by pledges from its members and from May Day receipts.

PALS

The year 1935-1936 marked a change in the functions of the PALS Literary Society. The constitution was amended so that this organization is no longer a literary society but a social club. Meetings and programs are held on alternate Tuesday evenings in the PALS hall as previously, but emphasis is laid on the social aspect of college life and not on literary exercise. Although the importance of parliamentary order and forensic exercises is recognized, the development of social consciousness is considered of primary value. Such a conversion is still in the embryonic stage; its success or failure will be determined in the future. But to the present members of the society such a change seemed essential to the life of the organization.

The programs included talks on entertaining subjects, readings, musical numbers, impromptu addresses, and debates. The fall reception, occasional parties, the spring picnic, and the annual spring banquet are the outstanding social functions of the PALS.

The PALS Literary Society was formed in 1914-15 when the Philomathean Society for women and the Amphictyon Society for men were merged into one organization.

Zeta Literary Society

The Zeta Literary Society, formed in 1914 by the union of the Zetaethlean Society for women and the Zetagathean Society for men, meets on alternate Tuesday evenings in the Zeta Hall. It is an organization of students who are interested in promoting intellectual advancement, social culture, and mutual improvement among its members.

Early in the first semester a reception was held for the faculty and non-members, and was well attended. During the year about twenty-five members were admitted into the society, most of whom were initiated during the Fall Festival meeting with Dorothy Alexander reigning as Queen.

Due to the feeling among members that social activities were needed on the campus, this phase was stressed throughout the year, and many outstanding social events resulted. Formality was dispersed with throughout all of the meetings. As interest in travel proved to be quite general among the members, entertaining programs were developed about this subject. Both speakers from the faculty and society members gave accounts of their travels. The year will be closed with the annual picnic and banquet.

The Panther Club

P-A-N-T-H-E-R, Panthers! Yeh, Blue! Yeh, White! Yeh, Team! Fight, Fight, Fight! These are some of the echoes of the college spirit, the loyalty, and the "pep" created on the York College campus. It is the purpose of the Panther Club to arouse this enthusiasm, to circulate it throughout the student body, then to maintain it at a high point.

The Panther Club was organized in 1926 as the "Booster Club." Later it was named after the teams for which it boosted. Two members are selected from each class and from the faculty to constitute this club. Its "pep chapels" and "pep bands" have been popular mediums for the carrying out of its purpose. Early this year at chapel try-outs, Irene Hofgard and Lawrence Casebeer were elected cheer leaders. Their cheering sections created at the Midland and Wesleyan football games were spectacular.

The Panther Club plans and supervises the annual banquet honoring the football men. "A Stratosphere Flight" was the theme of the 1935 banquet on December 6. The identity of the Panther Sweetheart, the Representative Football Man, and the 1936 Captain, previously elected by the squad, was revealed. The following program was given: "The Ripcord Lets Out the Air", Toastmaster Rosa Swezey; "We Honor the Choice of the Crew", Representative Football Man, Harry Stephenson; "The Flight Would Fail Without Ballast", Kenneth Elmore; "On Wings of Song", Male Quartette; "The Commander Reviews the Flight", Coach Neal Gallant; "Every Flight Has its Loyal Admirers", Panther Sweetheart, Irene Thompson; "There's Music in the Air", String Trio; "The Explorer", Mr. John Riddell; "The Pilot Makes a Successful Landing", Captain Harry Stephenson. Interest was added to this occasion when friends and alumni were introduced.

Life Work Recruits

On every college campus one will find a group of young men and women desirous of developing their spiritual lives to the fullest extent, of discovering Truth as it can be applied to life. Some of this group go even further in desiring to devote their lives to Christian Service. The purpose of the Life Work Recruits is to meet the needs of just such a group.

The organization has increased this year over other years in membership and also in deeper religious feeling. Gospel teams have gone out to neighboring churches to hold meetings many Sundays. Both they and the churches visited profited by the programs given.

A special project taken up by the group this year was the presentation of the missionary play, "Ba Thane". It is a drama dealing with the conflict of the missionary and commercial forces in Burma, India. The purpose of the presentation was to collect funds for the African project carried on by all the United Brethren colleges. It is a plan by which each college has the privilege of sending a representative to Sierra Leone, West Africa for a period of two years, the support of whom all the colleges cooperate. The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. also work on this project. The organization this year also sent a delegate, Vaughn Leaming, to the Student Volunteer Convention in Indianapolis, Indiana.

To President J. R. Overmiller and Professor J. C. Morgan the group owes much of its success. The Life Work Recruits as well as the student body as a whole, have benefited greatly by such religious leaders as Bishop Ira D. Warner, Dean C. E. Ashcraft, Dr. J. Stuart Innerst, Dr. S. G. Zeigler and others.

The Art Department

A liberal arts college attempts to take care of all phases of a student's life. Among those phases, art and its appreciation stands high. The purpose of the Art Department of York College is to satisfy needs along that line.

This department is composed of three classes of students, those who are taking it with a view to teaching it, those who are planning to make some practical use of it, and those who are taking it as an elective. Because their interests are similar much can be accomplished by the department as a whole as well as by the individual artists. The Normal Art class scheduled for the second semester is especially helpful to grade school teachers in their work with youngsters.

A "feed" was held in the spring to help develop the social life of the students as well as the educational and appreciation sides. This, with other informal gatherings, brought the students together in a way they could not have been brought together in the classroom.

Because of its purpose—that of fostering an appreciation of the work of others and to develop along with that, the student's own ability to express himself—Mrs. Giauque holds an art exhibit each year which is a part of the commencement week program. These exhibits have always been of unusual and particular interest to students, faculty, and towns people. Because of all this the art department should hold a place of ever increasing importance in the college curriculum.

Miss Alma Tress Lundman

Director

Expression Department

The Expression Department of York College, under the able direction of Miss Alma Tress Lundman, is becoming increasingly important to college students and the community. Students are finding it very beneficial to be able to express their thoughts to an audience with clarity and ease.

The Histrionic Club is one of the major divisions of this department. Its members study and present the better types of plays, both classical and modern. While memorizing their own parts in these plays they analyze them and evaluate them as to their dramatic qualities and literary values. Members also are shown how to apply makeup and arrange the scenery.

By participation in debate, public speaking, and private expression lessons, students get practical experience in constructing and presenting their own material before an audience, as well as in memorizing readings for dramatic presentation. This year Vera Thamer and Helen Frieze were presented in a joint recital by this department. Many other public appearances have been given by individuals from this group; several of these were on radio programs.

This spring Miss Lundman was honored by membership in the National Dramatic Fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, which has headquarters in Hamilton, New York. The Membership is conferred on the basis of merit in dramatic production.

On the evening of November 13, the Histrionic Club opened its 1935-1936 season by presenting David Gray and Avery Hopwood's three-act comedy, "The Best People," in the high school auditorium.

The theme of the brilliant and amusing comedy centers on the question, "Are young people being reared for real life or merely for superficial society?" The plot is developed around the wealthy Lenox family, "The Best People", as they consider themselves, and the efforts of the son and the daughter to free themselves from the world into which they were born in order to become useful citizens.

Debate

With four debate lettermen and a number of bright prospects signifying their intention to concentrate long and loud on the question, debate stock soared high this past year. Lettermen included Marven Hess, William Curnutt, Robert Marple, and Irvin Lewis. Outstanding recruits were Erwin Branson, forensic letter winner of 1935, Keith Adamson, who had received experience the past year, Robert Ferris, Lawrence Deever, Harold Wochner, Charlene Hurley, and Dorothy Alexander.

The national Pi Kappa Delta question on the advisability of giving to Congress the power to override Supreme Court decisions was used in all debates. York entered a team in the national Alpha Sigma Phi invitational meet held at Dana College but was eliminated by Nebraska Wesleyan University. The next tournament was of the practice nature and was sponsored by Kearney State Teachers College. A York team composed of Lewis and Branson turned in victories over teams from Kearney and Midland, while another team of Ferris and Deever won from Chadron and Wesleyan. The debates of the B team made up of Hess and Wochner were not judged.

The series of debates with Nebraska Central College were included in the preparation for the annual tournament of the Nebraska Inter-collegiate Forensic Association, of which York College is a member. Teams selected by the coaches, Miss Lundman and Prof. Morgan, to represent York in this tournament consisted of Erwin Branson, sophomore, first speaker, and Irvin Lewis, two year letterman, second speaker, as the A team. The B 1 team members were Lawrence Deever, freshman, and Robert Ferris, sophomore. The B 2 team consisted of Keith Adamson, sophomore, and Harold Wochner, freshman. In the A tournament Lewis and Branson won victories over Doane College, Dana College, and Nebraska Central College, but failed to place in the tournament. In the B tournament Ferris and Deever tied for third place among eleven schools with ten victories and four defeats. Wochner and Adamson won four debates.

Alpha Sigma Phi

The Theta chapter of the Alpha Sigma Phi was the first Greek letter honor society on the York College campus. These Greek letters, Alpha, Sigma, and Phi are the initial letters of the Greek words meaning Truth, Wisdom, and Eloquence. Inasmuch as the organization is national in character its place on the campus elevates the forensic standing of the college. The Alpha Sigma Phi, under the direction of Miss Alma Tress Lundman and Prof. J. C. Morgan, has furthered and sponsored all forensic activities of the past year.

Membership in the organization is divided into three classifications. Resident membership comes from active participation in inter-collegiate debate or oratorical contests with the resultant winning of a forensic letter. This membership also requires the maintenance of a high scholastic standing and the carrying of a full college course. Associate membership includes those actively preparing for participation in inter-collegiate forensics. These may be voted into the organizations by a three-fourths majority vote of the resident members, as may honorary members. This class includes instructors and others interested in the work.

At the beginning of this term, there were five resident members in the local chapter. These were Irvin Lewis, president, Erwin Branson, vice-president, William Curnutt, secretary-treasurer, Marven Hess, Student Council representative, and Robert Marple. Miss Lundman and Prof. Morgan are honorary members. During the progress of the forensic season, Deever, Ferris, Adamson, and Wochner won their right to resident membership by their participation in approximately twenty-five inter-collegiate debates each.

Jack Graham placed third in the state after-dinner speaking contest in 1935, and Erwin Branson placed second in 1936. Local elimination contests determined the entrant in the annual Peace Oratorical contest. Lawrence Deever was York's entrant in 1936.

Charles H. Amadon

Dean

Conservatory of Music

The Music Department, under the direction of Dean Charles Amadon, is a vital part of college life. No program is complete without the representation of this department in some manner. In fact those who have not even a small place in this section are very few.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Muriel Clarke, violin instructor, and Miss Eda Rankin and Miss Gladys Pearson, piano instructors, is a class of solo pupils. The purpose of this group is to help students to gain experience and ease in appearing before the public.

A very outstanding outgrowth of the Music Department, of comparatively recent date, is the Music "Y" Club. The group is composed of those who have earned a "Y" in musical competition. Before earning a letter a student must have given at least ten public performances. The emblem, as differing from the athletic "Y", is a lyre with an old English "Y" in it.

Another important regular feature of this department has been its Sunday radio programs. Beginning early in this school year, regular programs under the direction of Dean Amadon have been presented from 4:30 to 5:00 o'clock. These have been of much general interest and have helped the college in many ways, as well as the students participating.

Choir and Glee Club

In December the United Brethren Church Choir and the York College Glee Club invited any others who desired to help, and presented an afternoon concert consisting of the best known arias, recitatives, and choruses of Handel's great oratorio, "The Messiah". The solo numbers were sung by Irene Hofgard, Janice Brown, Edith Goodban, Ormal Tack, Raymond Wochner, '34, Hester Whitmore, and Bernice Peterson. Although this was the largest joint production of these two groups, they practice together every week for the regular services at the college church. This is one of the many instances in which the splendid cooperation between the college and its church proves to be to their mutual benefit. For many years the choir has been under the direction of Dean Charles Amadon, with Miss Eda Rankin, also of the Music Department, assisting as organist.

The glee club has a one hour class period each Tuesday, at which time it studies selections to be presented in public. In 1934-1935 the glee club presented the operetta, "In Old Louisiana", by Dodge, at the annual May Day fete. This year their major production was the opera, "Martha", by Frederick von Flotow. Both of these performances drew large audiences and were greatly enjoyed.

Lambda Phi

An innovation in the Music Department of York College was the organization, in the fall of 1935, of an honorary society for piano scholarship, to be called Lambda Phi. It has as its purpose that of benefiting advanced piano students by their association and cooperation and of increasing the appreciation of piano among its own members and in the community. The members are chosen by the piano faculty and the student must have had at least one semester of piano in York College. In order to be a member one must be of recital calibre. Before the piano student can become a permanent member, he must fulfill for three consecutive semesters certain requirements as to the amount of practice and the number of public appearances. He must attend all musical recitals of York College.

Olive King and Betty Perry were admitted as pledge members. Alumni members are those who were outstanding in the piano department when they were in college. This group includes Jeanette Bisset, Doris Moomey, and Milan Lambert.

A special feature this year was the Lambda Phi recital given on April 20. Each member played one number. It is planned to make this an annual affair. Lambda Phi sponsored Milan Lambert's concert given on the evening of May 7, the proceeds of which began an organ fund.

The Band

The York College Band is a comparatively young organization, having been organized just three years ago. Anyone who plays any sort of musical instrument may become a member and then increase his own skill and enjoyment of music as well as develop ease in appearing before student and other groups.

This year the band has appeared several times in chapel, played for all the home football and basketball games, and even made a cold trip to Doane in the back of a truck to play for the football game here. Whenever they have appeared they have furnished the necessary air to fan the smouldering coals of passive interest into the flame of school spirit and enthusiasm that forms the backing of all athletic combats.

The band this year has been under the direction of Ormal Tack, with Harold Phillips acting as assistant director.

The Orchestra

The fall of 1934 marked the beginning of an organized orchestra, and it has proved to be a successful venture. It is natural that it should make a marked improvement in the second year.

This group, under the able direction of Mrs. Muriel Thomas Clarke, has made several public appearances, among them being a chapel program in December, a radio program in March, and part of a program at the United Brethren Church in May.

The music chosen has been of the highest type and has been received with interest and appreciation. Some of the selections chosen were "The Magic Flute Overture" by Mozart, "The Atlantis Suite" by Safranek, "The Coronation March" from The Prophet by Meyerbeer, and "Country Gardens" by Grainger.

Of this group, two are seniors, nine have previously lettered in music and seven are taking music as their major.

Ormal Tack; Alden Marvel; Jean Brown, accompanist; Harold Phillips; Robert Gale.

Revelers

Of this group, two members have been on varsity quartettes in previous years. Harold Phillips was accompanist for last year's quartette. This is Ormal Tack's third year as first tenor for the varsity four. This group has made several trips into western Nebraska and Kansas, and has always been popular with program committees for all sorts of occasions.

Harold Friesen; Creston Klingman; Paul Main; De Wimmer.

Harmoniers

This quartette sang together for the first time this year. Already they have made many public appearances including two radio programs and several church programs. They have made one short trip in Nebraska and a four-hundred mile trip into Kansas. On this last trip of two days ten programs were given in high schools and two in churches. Harold Wochner took Paul Main's place this semester.

Janice Brown; Jean Brown, accompanist; Jane Caldwell; Edith Goodban.

Girls' Trio

This musical group has been one of the most popular on the campus. They have given regular radio programs this year, and have entertained at many college and community functions, oftentimes singing their original compositions. They also have made trips to high schools and churches for advertising purposes. This year Jean Brown, as well as being pianist, took the place of Jane Caldwell as second soprano. Jane was in last year's trio.

Bernice Strickler; Dorothy Yost; Lorena Estey; Lois Brown, accompanist.

String Trio

This trio has made no very long trips but has given nineteen programs at surrounding high schools and churches, the farthest being Alexandria. Of these four, including the pianist, two were in last year's trio. Doris Johnson has been with the group only the second semester, having taken the place left vacant by Dorothy Yost. It seems quite probable that this trio will be kept intact for next year.

ATHLETICS

Neal Gallant

Athletic Director and Coach

Beginning in the fall of 1935 the entire athletic program of York College was placed under the supervision of Neal Gallant.

Neal is a graduate of York College. While a student, he had an enviable record in nearly every division of inter-collegiate athletics and has the distinction of winning twelve honor "Y's" in his four years of competition in Football, Basketball, and Golf. He also had a brilliant record for his three years of high school coaching at Polk, Nebraska.

Coach Gallant is respected as a coach and a leader. He is always ready to help a student and do more than his share for York College.

Of the stiff ten game schedule, the 1936 Panthers won six games and lost four. There were twenty-six letters earned this year.

With less than three weeks of practice Coach Gallant took the team to Hebron and they were victorious by a score of 21 to 0. Under the new lights installed by the college, a group of huskies from Fort Dodge, Iowa, administered the first defeat for the Panthers by a score of 20 to 12. On Homecoming, they scored a thrilling victory over the highly touted Midland Warriors. It was the first victory over the Midland aggregation since 1921 and also the first conference victory for the Panthers this season. For the final game of the season the Panthers journeyed to Doane College to settle third and last places in the N. C. A. C. Conference. With breaks that occur in football, the Tigers scored a 2 to 0 victory to end the season for the Blue and White. The season's summary:

Harry Stephenson Ht. 6' Wt. 203 Lbs. Tackle

"Steve" was captain of the team this year. He played his first year at Doane College and was rated an All-Conference tackle in 1932. The past two seasons he has played for York College. In 1934 he was rated on the second All-Conference selection for center. This year he was shifted to tackle and his offensive and defensive ability was outstanding. He was chosen 1935 All-Conference selection at tackle. He will be the only regular lost this season by graduation.

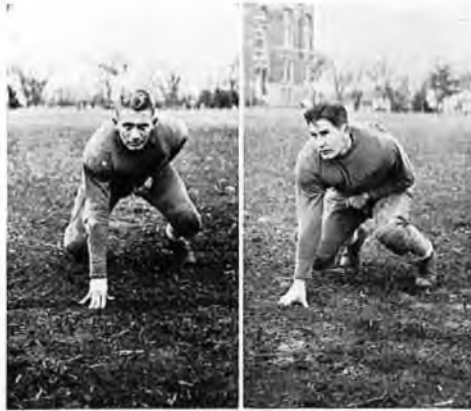

Donald Varcoe Ht. 5' 10" Wt. 175 Lbs. Guard

Don, who will captain the 1936 Panther squad, was one of the best blockers on the squad. He played an excellent defensive game and has been rated high in the N.C.A.C. conference. This is Don's second year on the Panther squad and he will make a splendid leader for the 1936 machine.

Gilbert Fellers Guard

Height 6' 1"; Weight 175 lbs.

"Bert" had no previous football experience before coming to York College but he displayed an unusual brand of football for a freshman. He received recognition on the 1935 N.C.A.C. Honorable Mention list.

Walter Ekdahl Guard

Height 5' 9"; Weight 150 lbs.

"Eck", a watch charm guard, could hold his own against a great weight advantage and has shown great promise. He was fast enough to lead the offense and was a good blocker.

Carroll Wages

Quarterback

Height 5' 9"; Weight 150 lbs.

"Wags" was one of the finest quarters of the conference this year. His passes were a constant threat to opponents. Besides being able to pass he could lug and kick the pigskin. We predict that he can develop into one of the finest field generals on the grid-iron.

Donald Jackson End

Height 5' 11"; Weight 150 lbs.

"Shadow" developed into the most aggressive and consistent end on the Panther squad. Within the next three years he should be known throughout the conference for his defensive ability, a sample of which was shown this year in the Doane game.

Kenneth Elmore Guard

Height 5' 9"; Weight 180 lbs.

"King" had no previous grid-iron experience before coming to York College, but he will make a strong bid for a regular berth next year. He is a hard-charging guard. He showed great promise in the Dana game.

Eugene Worley Tackle

Height 6'; Weight 160 lbs.

"Gene", although he had no football experience before entering York College, proved that he could play either tackle or guard with the best of them.

William McConnell

Guard

Height 5' 8"; Weight 150 lbs.

"Bill" found himself and displayed lots of scrap toward the end of the season. Although light he is going to figure in the fight for a regular guard next fall. He is a good defensive guard.

Wade Greene Tackle

Height 6'; Weight 156 lbs.

Greene is a solid, rugged guard who is willing to mix into every play. He is a hard worker and with a little more experience will make a dependable lineman.

Basketball

The 1936 Panther basketball team was developed from an inexperienced group that performed well at times and compiled a record of four victories out of an eighteen game schedule.

Starting the season with only six lettermen in suit and a fine crop of new material, Coach Gallant developed a team that exhibited fine basketball even if the victories were few. This team was built around men who will be playing two or three years and should develop into a strong contender in the conference. They climaxed this year's schedule by defeating the Doane Tigers on their own floor 39 to 25 and then ended the basketball season in a novelty game with the well known Harlem Globe Trotters.

Track

In 1935, the N. C. A. C. meet was held at the University of Nebraska stadium. The Panthers placed fourth with 20 1-3 points. Smith was the star performer for them, capturing the 220 low hurdle honors by defeating the Shuman twins of Wesleyan. He also took third in the 120 high hurdles. James Speece, 1935 track captain, placed second in the two mile run. Lutz placed third in the shot put and fourth in the century. He also ran anchor for the relay team, placing third. Adamson, bettering all his previous performances, by leaping 5 feet 11 inches, figured in a three way tie for second place. Merchant placed third in the 220 yard dash; Feaster figured in a three way tie for fourth place in the pole vault. The summary of this meet was: Hastings, 70 points; Doane, 36 2-3; Wesleyan, 22; York, 20 1-3; and Midland, 16 points.

In the 1936 interclass track meet the freshmen proved their superiority by defeating the other classes and exposed some fine track material for next year. Captain Cecil Smith was the outstanding individual of the meet by scoring the entire 38 points for the juniors. Cobe and Blinn showed up well in the distance runs and Fellers swept everything in the weight events. The summary: Freshmen, 68 1-2 points; Sophomores, 50 1-4; Juniors, 38; and Seniors, 2 points. Tonkin and Lutz figured well to the top with individual scorings.

Cecil Smith, 1936 track captain, hails from California. He is a four letter man in track, basketball, and football. His favorite track events are the hurdles; he rates as one of the best hurdlers in the conference. He also scores in the pole vault, high jump, and broad jump, and runs anchor on the relay team.

Pussywillows

The Pussywillows won the trophy in the intramural basketball tournament sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. Five other teams, the Rosebuds, the Stooges, the Busy Bees, the Odds and Ends, and the Tornadoes, were all in the race. The Busy Bees handed the champions their only defeat in a five game schedule. Thompson, with 47 points, and Lutz, with 32 points, both of the Pussywillows, were high scorers of the tournament.

"Y" Club

The "Y" Club is an active organization on the campus. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in athletics and maintain an organized association for those who are interested in York College athletics.

The membership of the club is limited to those men who have earned an official "Y" by meeting the requirements in at least one of the inter-collegiate sports, and by completing at least twelve hours of college work. Although membership in the "Y" Club is for life, only those men who are enrolled in college are considered active members.

The regular monthly dinners held at the college dining room afford opportunity to discuss athletic plans and club business. This year the club sponsored its sixth annual high school track and field meet. New rules concerning sweaters were formulated recently. It was planned that those men who earned a "Y" this year, and who return to York College next fall, may receive a sweater, one half of which will be paid by the college and "Y" Club, the other half to be paid by the man who receives the sweater. Upon graduation, if he has made at least two letters, one of which has been earned in the senior year, he will receive a sweater and a medallion which will admit him to all York College athletic events. These will be presented to him by the college and "Y" Club. The ruling heretofore, that any man who had earned one "Y" could secure a life pass medal, has been thought unwise in the light of this new provision.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association is composed of those college women who are interested in and desire to participate in athletic contests. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in women's athletics and to provide opportunity for women to develop the physical side of their lives.

Basketball, baseball, and tennis were the activities which occupied the major interests this year. Points are given for attendance at regular meetings held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, as well as for participation in swimming, sledding, tennis, skating, hiking, and bicycling. Points are granted on a basis determined by the group and awards are given. For one hundred points a member receives a W. A. A. letter; for five hundred points, a pin; for one thousand points, a sweater; and for one thousand five hundred points, a heavy blue blanket with a large white "Y" in the center of it.

The W. A. A. sponsored a waffle supper at the college dining room last year, the proceeds of which they used to buy a sun-lamp to be used at the gym for injuries. This lamp has been very helpful to the athletic department.

This year several basketball games were scheduled with the high school girls. Later an interclass tournament was played between the freshman, Sophomore and combined junior-senior teams. Picnics and roller skating parties added variety to the regular meetings.

GUESS WHO?

For Your Enlightenment

Since the purpose of such a book as the MARATHON is to retain in permanent form all the activities and associations of the college days of the students, the editors of this section of the MARATHON believe that such a record would be incomplete without the mention of certain prominent features of this year's term. For this reason the following synonyms and examples are included here.

Webster's New International Dictionary—Fellowship (n)—partnership, alliance, casual intercourse; companionship of persons on equal and friendly terms, friendliness, comradeship, companionship, association, community of interest, company. (v.i.) to be in communion.

The New National Webster Dictionary for School, Home, and Office—Fellowship (n)—association, communion, intimacy, society, joint interest or feeling. The York College Vocabulary—Fellowship (n, adj., adv., interj., or v) or obsolete).

E. G., Come and fellowship with us. York College fellowships are lasting.

The fellowshipping of our students is admirable.

Fellowship! or, preferred, FELLOWSHIP!!*!

Webster's New International Dictionary—Set-up (n)—carriage of the body; a machine for upsetting the bloom that has been lengthened by the squeezer; an iron bolt or rod upset at one end; a position of the balls from which it is easy to score; a treat.

The New National Webster Dictionary for School, Home and Office—Set-up—(not given).

The York College Vocabulary—Set-up (n,v.)—(colloquialism)—E. G., The set-up here at York is splendid. Feaster, you certainly missed a wonderful set-up. Mirandy had a headache, so I set-up with her last night. And so on, ad infinitum.

'Round the Register

"Heaven, I'm in Heaven", it is only Keith rounding the corner to join the group 'Round the Register. Irene, Bud, Flora, Grosshans, Casebeer, and a few other odds and ends are gathered there. The talk goes on and on, round and round. Others approach and others leave. The hall fills and empties, and fills again. Laughter echoes through the corridors and student life throbs 'Round the Register.

One o'clock. There are Jordan, Imogene, and Mary Alice standing 'Round the Register. Izzy's laugh and Irene's reprimand float from the office door. Shadow and Popo come and go like ghosts in the night. The outside door squeaks rustily, a giggle, and a hearty laugh are heard. It is only Norma and Sease entering the Ad building. From somewhere a familiar noise is heard,—is it from upstairs or down?—the high tinkling sound of ice in a glass, the shrill siren of the Fire Chief, mingled with a silly, pleasing suggestion of mirth,—yes, just Vera addressing Sandburrs in the workroom. But all is echoed and re-echoed 'Round the Register.

The talk goes on, about German, Psych. and English Lit., about dates and parties, about puns and pranks, and on and on—. Gaily, seriously, laughingly, quietly (?), students engage in gossip and silly slang, puns and occasional witticisms, "griping" and serious philosophizing. And thus it goes on, as it has gone on, and as it will continue to go on as long as students are young and gay and foolish and wise. As long as the 'ol register will endure, life will throb 'Round the Register.

Chapel Chumps

(The following are accounts of chapel programs presented during the year which were thought to be so outstanding that a permanent record of them was deemed advisable to prolong their existence in the minds and hearts of the students of Pork College.)

Released through the courtesy of the Quote Right Press. September 16 (QR)—President J. R. Mullover today welcomed the many students to the fellowship of the Pork College halls of learning for the coming session of pure, Christian education. "The set-up is extremely friendly to a year of pleasant fellowshiping", said the president.

"This past summer we have had our representatives in the fields seeing the good people of our constituency in order that they might be urged to give their all for their college", he continued. "My communications with these good people have urged them to raise an extra swine in their sty for Pork College. Also, I asked them to pierce a pig for dear old Pork", the prexy said.

"And so, I gladly extend the hand of fellowship to each of you new Kansas students and other outstate students. I hope that when you become acquainted with our entire set-up here, you will enjoy nine months of pleasant fellowshiping", were his concluding remarks.

November 13 (QR)—Dr. W. W. Tweezey in his regularly scheduled chapel address to the students of Pork College thundered on—"Generally speaking, a man is a man regardless of his origin, but genetically speaking, a man is only a man after he has been an amoeba, a worm, a tarantula, a beetle, a squirrel, a chicken, and a chimpanzee. You may doubt the veracity of that statement, but experiments have been worked out in Burma, Tahiti, Baltimore, and Wahoo which prove conclusively that a man is not what he apes."

Dr. Tweezey concluded by citing several of his experiences with chimpanzees and gorillas whose reactions confirmed his belief in this genetic development.

December 21 (QR)—A group of students from the Expression Department of Pork College presented a short drama in two scenes, "The Green Petticoat", by Frederick Lisbon. Miss Balmey Dress Lungman of that department directed the play.

March 31 (QR)—In the half hour allotted to the students for group meetings Dean C. H. Randomon announced that he would like to meet the Devillers and Muleteers for a brief moment after dismissal.

April 3 (QR)—Professor Hard C. Stampster reread a paper before the student body which he had prepared originally as an assignment in Advanced Composition back in '89. The title of this discourse was "Few and Few Make More." "Many young upstarts contend that Sampson was not killed by a seedy pedagogue," said Mr. Stampster, "But, nevertheless, few and few make more."

"Zacharias had two sons, one of whom made 70's in all of his subjects except English, math., science, and a few other miscellany which he flunked, the other son made 60 in all of his courses. This was not because his locks were clipped by various women. Nevertheless, few and few, if friction is not counted, do not always make more", concluded Mr. Stampster with a final thrust of flooding oratory.
