Foreword

As Omar Khayyam, Persian astronomer-poet of the twelfth century, roamed his own element recording in ageless verse the activities of his neighbors, so has our own 20th century counterpart, Omar Athon toured the Y. C. campus during the past year. Omar has been journeying, unknown, in the personage of any one of thirteen of your schoolmates, through every activity and organization. He has observed parties, athletics, students and faculty alike during his sojourn, and he has recorded through the modern medium of photography the highlights of the year. Throughout the student section he has accented the organization heads which you as students elected to head your campus activities.

At times, he has thought Khayyam had the right words and so quoted him. At all times, he has tried to portray events and people symbolic of this year.

Without Apologies to Omár Kháyyám

Roommates Harriet and Wicky relax in comfort in their tastefully colorful room at the Annex.

A class of freshmen find that even orientation can be interesting when under the sage instruction of Dr. Weidler.

Mudge maneuvers a turban on the noble brow of Johnny Holm, who really takes this Persian trend seriously.

*Think, in this batter'd Caravanserai
Whose Doorways are alternate Night and Day,
How Sultan after Sultan with his Pomp Abode his Hour or two, and went his way.*

*The Moving Finger writes: and, having writ, Moves on: Nor all thy Piety nor Wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line,
Nor all thy Tears wash out a Word of it.*

Lo! some we loved, the loveliest and best
That Time and Fate of all their Vintage prest.
Have drunk their Cup a Round or two before.
And one by one crept silently to Rest.

Then to the rolling Heav'n itself I cried, Asking, "What Lamp had Destiny to guide
"Her little Children stumbling in the Dark? "
And—"A blind Understanding! " Heav'n replied

Head of the York College
Music Department
1914-1948

Charles H. Amadon

This volume chronicles one year of a rushed, collegiate existence whose completion, in reality, has not been reached. Its effects will be noted in our lives next year, and the next, and so on into infinity.

This volume is a tribute to a man whose life has passed beyond tangible realms. But he has gained immortality in the lives of those who remember him; his influence will ramify till it is lost in the dimness of years.

Because we have these memories of his kindness and courage, because we have been awed by the strength of which his whole life gave evidence, because we have had our own mistakes converted into stepping stones for improvement by the reflection of his own dignity; for these, and all our private, unuttered reasons, we dedicate this Marathon of 1949 to our DEAN AMADON

The Pot and Potter

My self when young did eagerly frequent
Doctor and Saint, and heard great Argument
With them the Seed of Wisdom did I sow,
And with my own hand labour'd it to grow.

They talk of some strict testing of us—Pish!
He's a Good Fellow, and 'twill all be well.
Of Your Base Metal may be filed a Key,
That shall unlock the Door that waits without.

President presents Dr. Bisset with diploma for his 50 years of ordination.

How oft hereafter rising look for us

The Magic Shadow Show

For in and out, above about, below.
'Tis nothing but a Magic Shadow-show,
Alike for those who for To-day prepare.
And those that after a To-morrow stare.

What, without asking, hither hurried whence?
And, without asking, whither hurried hence!
"At once the silken Tassel of my Purse
"Tear, and its Treasure, on the Garden throw."

To be brief in this matter our football team really took a beating this year! Our boys started the season by journeying to Buena Vista with a determined attitude only to have their hopes for a good season shattered more than somewhat by a 26-0 defeat. This defeat seemed to lower the morale a bit, and the boys were waxed in their first home game by Chadron State. York traveled to Doane to dedicate their new concrete stadium only to receive one of the roughest games of the year with a good many York boys receiving blows that drew blood. Coach Tonkin's boys bounced back to win their game with Nebraska Central, the first win of the season. This rallied the team a bit and with higher spirits, the boys headed for Wayne. With a little bus trouble and letter writing to break the monotony, the fellows weathered the trip none the worse for wear.

Mark Fahring moves in on a Chadron man as the latter attempts to catch a pass. The other identifiable player is J. Karutz, number 54.

Cliff Rhoades stretches all he has, endeavoring to snag the extra point for the Peru game. The pass was a little high of its mark.

Meeting the Wildcats on their cold, frozen field, the Panthers were trounced to the Nth. degree, by a 53 to 0 score. Tonkin's pep talk rallied the boys again, and they returned home to become the victor of their homecoming game with Sterling. York bowed to Wesleyan and Peru in the following games and their final game with Hastings was cancelled. York's Cubs, although turning in a season with no victories, produced a good deal of talent and experience that cannot be gained without a "B" team. Coach Auchard's boys proved to be quite cagey with some of their plays.

As a result of injuries on both the "A" and "B" teams, the cubs were handicapped by a lack of men which undoubtedly prevented a better showing.

The right idea, but the wrong angle. This one didn't go in.

Whenever two persons get together and discuss sports, invariably one or the other will say, "How was your season this year, good or bad?"

This year in answer to this question we believe we would ask a question in return. "Do you think that winning the York College Invitational Basket-

Caching away their hard earned pennies for a snowy day, Bob and Claude choose the York State Bank to guard their treasure.

After looking over the thick steel walls which enclose her safety deposit box, George is convinced that her savings bonds will indeed be safe in the First National Bank.

Musically inclined Janet employs the advice of Maxine in Reed & Krebs concerning the enlargement of her record collection while newly betrothed "Fingers" Holton ogles the birdie.

Doing its own small part in the installation of wisdom in the minds of Y. C. students is the College Bookstore, whose patient manager Hope Howland here listens to the request of George Epp.

Grover and Howard May show some of their exquisite flowers to Wayne Gardner, who is quite a connoisseur in the field of corsage selection and knows that he can't go wrong at the York Floral Co.

Looking over some of the many fine plants in his green house is Edwin Roberts, whose congenial service encourages even the shyest of freshman Casanovas to buy at Robert's Floral.

Frances and Norma would be delighted if they knew that Jean Fusby was showing Glen and George an electric dish washer featured by the Consumers Light and Rower Co.

Bruce aids the sales lady at the Gas Co. in convincing O. J. and Mickey that this beautiful stove would be an asset in any kitchen—and think of the fudge you could make.

Dick typifies the friendly service of the J. M. McDonald Co. as he compliments Frank and Carol on their selection of twin sweaters from the large variety offered in this extensive department store.

"The modern girl must be pretty from head to toe!" Jim Campbell assures Lucy and Ivalee as he shows them some of the more glamorous late styles at the Roger's Shoe Co.

Leroy Smith shows Paul and Dale that the white shirt and black tie combinations which will be immortalized on the chorus trip can be of unexcelled quality when purchased from the stock of Russ Williams.

Fred and Jim look over some snappy shirts and ties of new and colorful design displayed by Charles Johnson, who handles a wide variety of clothes for men at Johnson's Clothing.

"May we look at that?" inquire Becky and Helen of smiling Gerry Gardner as they inspect the unique variety of costume jewels at Chapman's whose stock of clothing is the delight of every college girl.

"That will be super for the spring banquet" Norma assures Bert, who is trying on one of the attractive spring models found in the dress department of the J. C. Penney Co.

Glenna smiles her approval of the coat recommended by Emma Ferguson of the New Vogue, while practical Gwen examines the tag on what is bound to be a garment of superior quality.

"I can't even find where the spot was." Ernie exclaims to Merl, while "Hub" Foster stands by, confident that no spot has endured the efficient methods of Foster's Dry Cleaners.

Cliff and Ken listen attentively to the expert advice of the Geis Motor mechanic. All car owners know that better driving can be theirs through regular visits to Geis Motors.

Merwin bids a cheerful farewell to the attendant at Rakeshaw's Service Station, knowing that his car has received the kind of service that will give him peace while driving.

One of the newest of the downtown stores is the Hick Implement Company which stretches out of the reach of the camera. It maintains an enviable reputation for service.

Betty stops at the local Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and twists the dial of a unique radio while Al looks and listens. This product needs no advertising among collegiates, to whom coke is a tradition.

Jim stops at the Squirt Bottling Company for a thirst quenching sample of their refreshing product.

Lavona and Bernice give their order for candy to the workers at Dresden's Candy Company, where many "refreshment committees" have solved their problem.

Smiles of delight light the faces of Herb and John as they are confronted with the trays of the delicious baked goods found at the Kincaid Bakery.

It takes deep concentration on the part of Al and Cecil among the delicious concoctions on Gerhardt's menu. Even small Kathy finds the decision difficult.

Betty and Rachel find a period of pleasure at Fletcher Drug Company. Many students find relaxation here after a hard day in classes.

"Will there be anything else?" says Jim and Paul, Helen, Norma, and Mary. Nothing. Jim, except the usual conversation with a coke at Meradith's, a favorite hangout of the College crowd.

"M-m-m, " breathes Elizabeth, when Mudge shows her just one of the vast selections of cologne and perfumes at the A & T Drug Co. Elizabeth will buy it, for every girl knows what a dash of cologne does for morale.

Auliy treats Joyce and small Dence to dinner out. and to make the evening perfect, he chooses Hob's Cafe for food and service which will please all three.

The way to a man's heart is obvious from the expressions on the faces of Gene and George who know good food when they taste it. And its always good if you order it at Cornhusker Cafe.

Coffee-time is time to go to the College Inn. Bob, John and Keith prove that anytime is coffee-time when Lee and Arline brew the Java.

"Home, James! " is the most popular request of the Yellow Cab Co. whose ready service even in the great blizzards of '48-'49 was the only link that some people had with civilization.

The attractive furniture displayed in the windows of Osborne's Furniture Co. is only a sample of the charming but practical values which will contribute to the graciousness of your living room.

Alas, that Spring should vanish with the Rose!

That Youth's sweet-scented Manuscript should close!

The Nightingale that in the Branches sang,

*Ah, whence, and whither flown again,
who knows!*

*Ah, Moon of my Delight who know'st no
wane,*

The Moon of Heav'n is rising once again:

How oft hereafter rising shall she look

Through this same Garden after us — in vain!
