'TIS A GREAT FOOTBALL SQUAD

Forty Men report for Pigskin Practice

A squad of forty huskies are hard at work every evening under Coach "Bob" Russell getting in shape for the first scrap with Grand Island on October 10. The general attitude about the Panther camp seems to be one of optimism. No one is over confident. No man can work under Coach Russell and long remain over confident.

Just now all energies are being bent towards the Grand Island struggle. It is no secret that the Islanders will have a powerful scrappy eleven in the field this year. Coach "Ernie" Frank always turns out winning teams. Last year the Islanders were the only conference team to best Midland. And the Zebras handed them a decisive trouncing on the Midlander's home field. So talk it up students. Let everyone back our team and get ready to root for a real bunch of scrappers on the Grand Island date. Coach Russell has only one thing to say, "I would be foolish to make any prophecy now—but I'll promise one thing, whether we win or whether we lose, we're gonna' fight from first to last and the Zebras will know they have been through the mill."

Ten letter men are reporting regularly. They with thirty new aspirants form the squad of this year. The following old men are back in mole skins — Capt. Osborne, Hale, Hice, Fusby, Loreman, Blanc, Tewell, Newton and Ashmore.

Among the new men who are showing up well are—"Ted" Burnham, Peterson and Holmes of Broken Bow, "Jinks" Jenkins of York, "Stan" Green, Vannice and Morgan of last year's York high team. Among the later arrivals on the squad are Ferguson, Sterner, Best, Gibbs, Nickols and Ensign Jack Muir joined the squad a few days ago. Jack was on the squad in '21 and was picked as all state fullback.

Coach Russell is giving every man a round of calisthenics, a shot at tackling the dummy and lots of running and conditioning exercises every evening. Lots of "zip" and "pep" are being put into every minutes work and it is a safe bet that every man will be there all the time with the old fight and determination.

JUNIOR

The Junior class regrets the loss of several of its former members but is glad to have such a splendid group of new folks to fill the vacant places.

The following officers have been chosen to superintend the Junior activities for the year.

President—George Snyder.
Vice President—Betty Robson.
Secretary—Florence Jenkins.
Treasurer—George Jenkins.
Social Chairman—Lillian Bearss.
Sponsor—Professor Bisset.
Let's go Juniors.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

York plays a very hard schedule this fall. Eight games are scheduled. Five of the strongest teams of the conference are coming to York. The team travels completely across the state in one week to meet out-state teams.

The schedule follows:
Grand Island at York.....Oct. 10
Wayne at York.....Oct. 17
Chadron at Chadron.....Oct. 24
Kearney at York.....Nov. 1
Doane at York.....Nov. 7
Peru at Peru.....Nov. 14
Omaha "U" at York.....Oct. 21
Central City at Central City.....Oct. 27

NEW MAN NOW AT HEAD OF YORK COLLEGE

PRESIDENT EMERY

President Emery comes to York with a back ground of fourteen years of work along educational lines. Five years of this time was spent with Indiana Central College and three years in the Sierra Leone province in West Africa.

Mr. Emery received his A. B. degree at Indiana Central. He took his Master's degree at Indiana State specializing in administrative work in education.

In the short time that Mr. Emery has worked as the head of the school he has accomplished much. We predict a rosy future for our school under his able direction. Needless to say Mr. Emery has the entire confidence of the student body, faculty, alumni and York business men.

OPENING CHAPEL

Chapel! Chapel! The first word we hear when school begins and the last when it closes. But it isn't such an unpleasant word after all, for there we get acquainted, there we develop a finer school spirit, and there, sometimes, we are even allowed to make an announcement.

If first impressions are lasting, however, every one will attend chapel. The school year opened Tuesday morning, September the ninth, with a splendid chapel program, given to a large appreciative audience of students and friends.

Miss Rankin began the program with a piano solo. She played an Irish medley.

After cordially welcoming the student body, President Emery delivered a stirring address on leadership.

Miss Lovell, the head of the expression department, read several numbers. In the selection Circus at Old Saint Anns by Amsbury, she impersonated an early Canadian settler. She also read Fidgets by Strickland Gilliland, Pets by Weaver, and an inspirational selection.

Dean Ashcraft devoted a part of the hour to the introduction of the faculty members. Several responded with short talks, particularly Prof. Noll who couldn't resist the opportunity of spilling a few secrets concerning other faculty members. Dean Amadon is saving his speech until he gets a little better line on the "inside news."

The students were glad to see the new faces among the faculty, although they still appreciate the old.

The program was concluded with a solo by Dean Amadon. He sang "Arm! Arm Ye Brave!" from Handel's Judas Maccabeus.

The enrollment for this year is reported larger than any other in the history of the school, so we should look forward to many interesting and peppy chapel programs.

If you want to attend the kind of a chapel

The kind of a chapel you like, You needn't brag as you pack your bag to go off on a long, long hike, You'll only find, what you've left behind,

There is nothing that's ever new A knock at the chapels' A knock at yourself.

It isn't the chapel—it's you.

Y. W. C. A. JOLLY-UP RECEPTION

After being postponed because of the rain, the Y. W. C. A. Jolly-up was held at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon. A gypsy hike had been planned but on account of the weather the girls were able to hike only as far as the gym. About seventy-five girls with a number of the older friends of the Y. W. were present.

As chairs were at a premium, most of the guests found seats upon rugs which had been provided for that purpose. When the piano had been drawn up, the circle seemed quite cozy.

A conversational game broke the ice, after which Reka Blanc, the president, led in the singing of a number of jolly songs. The Ransom of Little Red Chief by O. Henry was delightfully related by Miss Young. Miss Lovell pleased the girls with two short readings. Mrs. Morgan talked for a few minutes on "Traditions," emphasizing the Y. W. motto, "To be a friend, that makes a friend, that passes friendship on." The short program was closed with a tragedy. Pearle Shipman took the part of the hero, Deario; Florence Jenkins, the hero, Can-o-soupie; Lillian Bearss, Motheria; and Elizabeth Robson, Villainia. It was a gruesomely tragic tragedy, as at its conclusion, all four characters lay dead upon the floor.

After a regular gypsy supper of weiners, buns and like eatables the girls joined hands and sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and "Tap3."

It is hoped that the eighty-five girls who were present will, with other, come to the regular meetings of Y. W. to enjoy the same spirit of good fellowship. Meetings are held on Monday at four-fifteen.

STUDENTS ELECT ATHLETIC BOARD

During the chapel hour on last Wednesday the following were elected to the athletic board:

Don Hale of the Seniors.
Florence Jenkins of the Juniors.
Purl Gibbs of the Sophomores.
Lloyd Nickols of the Freshman.
Albert Mueller and Homer Gadeke of the Academy.

The athletic board has full charge of all teams and expenses. Their task is a large and important one in turning out successful teams.

COLLEGE GYMNASIUM FIRE

Considerable excitement prevailed on the college campus last Wednesday evening when a fire was discovered in the dressing rooms of the gymnasium. Although the fire was gaining headway when discovered, there was no serious damage done.

The fire started from a defective flue leading from the heater which had recently been installed in the gym for the purpose of heating water for the showers. The end of a beam extending over a window reached into the hole cut in the brick wall for the flue. It was this beam that caught fire and burned until the window sill had also ignited.

The fire was discovered by Levi Loreman who saw the blaze from the street west of the gym. Finding the gym locked he ran over to the conservatory to report the fire and carried water from there to put out the blaze.

Dean Ashcraft was called to the scene and also Wimmer and Lambert while a group of girls from the conservatory gathered around to watch the excitement.

The men broke into the building through the burnt window and with the use of some plumber's tools that had been left lying in the shower room, pryed the smouldering sill loose from the window. The shower room and dressing rooms were filled with smoke but this was cleared out by opening the windows and doors and letting the building air.

No serious damage was done but if the fire had not been discovered when it was, it would not have taken long for the flames to spread to the floor of gymnasium above, and had this happened the entire interior of the gymnasium would have gone up in smoke.

PALS!!!

The Pals Literary Society was organized in 1890 as two separate societies, the Philomatheon and Ampliations, and reigned supreme for a number of years. These two societies held a very prominent place in the life of a school then—he who wasn't a Philo or Amphy was nothing! The rivalry that now exists between the Pals and Zetas was devoted then to a friendly rivalry between the girls and boys as to number of members and excellence of programs. An occasional joint meeting served to speed things up a bit. The meetings were conducted differently in those first days of York College, too. A giggling Philo who carelessly carried her handkerchief to the platform with her was severely censured, and the Amphyctions found Roberts' Rules of Order very much in demand as a text for interesting debates.

The Pals have had a number of rather prominent men and women in their societies. Senator Sandall, of this city, was a Pal, as was also Mrs. Sandall. Miss Edith Callender, for a number of years Principal of the Academy, was a loyal Pal, J. M. Johnson, a local photographer, and Mrs. Johnson also belonged to the society. Prof. Buswell, now professor in Chicago University, used to vent his efforts on the Amphyctions, and our own Prof. Noll doubtless got his elocutionary training in the Literary Society!

In 1922 the two societies joined forces as the Pals, and since that time all the meetings have been held together. Besides the regular meetings with interesting debates, extempus and stunts, there is an annual Banquet and Picnic.

What is a College without Lit? And how much better is a College with two Lits! We want every student to join some Literary Society, and we hope every student joins the Pals!

The trouble with the peace of Europe is that no nation will stay in its piece. —Cleveland Times.

ROTARIANS HONOR OUR FOOTBALL MEN

On Friday evening September 12 the men of the football squad were the guests of honor at a Business Men's banquet staged by the local Rotarians. The affair was held at the Y. M. C. A. and its object was to advertise York College and her football men.

The hall was decorated with flags, college pennants and college colors. Two hundred business men were present and over thirty-five men of the college squad. Twenty girls of the woman's dormitory volunteered to serve the banquet.

Much pep and enthusiasm was shown. The older men gave the squad men to understand that they knew football and, that they were with York's squad from beginning to end. And there was no lack of sincerity. Coming as it did at the opening of the season it means a great deal to the college men. They all appreciated the fine interest of the Rotarians, and they are all determined that York College shall have a team that every student and every citizen can well be proud of.

Many short and snappy responses were given to toasts during the evening. Coach Russell gave a short talk thanking the Rotarians and explaining what he was trying to accomplish.

The whole affair was made more enjoyable by the fine group singing led by Mr. Parks. The York Rotarians can out-sing any college glee club in America—bar none.

After the program the Rotarians held an auction sale of Season Tickets to the college games. Over six hundred dollars worth were sold in a few moments. Some men paid as high as twenty-five dollars for the privilege of seeing our team in action five times. If the students show half as much loyalty we are sure to have a great season and a great team.

The following men purchased tickets: Congressman McLaughlin, Messrs. E. B. Woods, Loomer, Read, Metz, Grosshans, Holdeman, Levitt, McCloud, Wells, Wycoff, Crane, Hanna, Hildebrand, J. A. Parks, Stewart, Fisher, Hitchcock, Furman, Newbold, Meredith, Freeman, Kildow, Earl Williams, Brugh, B. Smith, Joe Alden, O. C. Jones, S. Dean, McCoy, R. Alden, J. Smith, S. S. Partlow, C. Beaver, Archie Morgan, Bob Gale, Meehan, J. Black, Hoover, Prof Morgan, W. Dean Raeside, J. Meredith, C. A. McCloud, Gene Bemis, Hannis, Rogers, and Ed. Otto.

SENIORS

Wednesday morning, Sept 10 the Seniors met for the purpose of electing the class president. This bit of honor was bestowed upon Myron Holm. The next action to be taken was the choice of the class sponsor which fell unanimously to Prof. Noll.

Mrs. Edna Schneider extended an invitation to the class to hold a social function at her home the following morning. The class gladly accepted and generously partook of a waffle feed. The morning was dark and dreary but the rain added keenness to the appetites.

Following the social affair the other class officers were elected as follows:

Vice-President—Lyle Newton
Sec'y and Treas.—Gladys Hitchcock
Social Chairman—Pauline Hensley

OUR POLICY

We of the new editorial staff believe that a news publication exists only to serve a part of society. Accordingly our college paper exists to serve the student body.

But the students of any college have widely different ideals and interests. Consequently any publication to serve them all impartially and thoroughly must cover a rather wide field and cover it well.

This is what we hope to do. Only by doing this can we hope to justify our existence and continue to ask the support of our student body. We want every issue of this paper to be read and to be of interest to every student from the newest Freshman to the oldest Senior. We hope to serve every organization on the campus by giving information concerning its activities. And we most heartily pledge our support to the further growth of every class, every club, every organization of which our school boasts.

OUR TEAM

Every night some forty of our huskies are out hard at work trying to form a football team. Out of this group of men Coach Russell will pick a group of fifteen or eighteen men to represent the school in the gridiron battles. But remember this, students, every man on the entire squad, from the greenest Freshman to the old "heads," is doing his level best. No man can do more. And every man deserves equal credit whether he makes the team or not.

Remember also, that York College is playing a very hard schedule this fall. Coach Russel wants to win all the games. The team wants to. Certainly the student body wants to see them all won. But if our team is defeated in any encounter—it is still our team, the only team we have. Victorious or defeated it is still the beet team in the state.

After all any team is only a half of a team. The student body is the rest. When a team plays hard, fights fair and lives clean and has a solid enthusiastic student body behind it, that team is always the winner even if it loses every game. The business men of York have shown conclusively that they believe in and are behind our men and we of the student body can do no less.

It takes sixty-nine muscles to frown, but only sixteen to smile. Don't overwork your face.

THIS IS PETE

This is a picture of Pete Hesler, the better-looking member (so he thinks) of the firm of Wilken & Hesler, proprietors of the Wilken Cleaning Works. Pete wouldn't need any introduction to York College students of a dozen years or more ago, since he was well known to all of them. Pete has always been a good booster for York College, but this business announcement more particularly calls your attention to the excellent dry cleaning work and service his firm has always given the college students. Pete and his partner, Fred Wilken, cater especially to York College trade—they appreciate the business you give them and are as careful as possible to give you the best work, at reasonable prices, in return. Try the firm out and see if business relations won't prove mutually agreeable and helpful, just as they have been year after year since the two institutions were established.

JOLLY UP RECEPTION

On last Friday evening the Y. M. and Y. W. entertained the faculty and students in an informal reception. This is an annual affair and is always one of the most pleasing and popular affairs of the school year. Because of the large number of their guests the associations held the reception in the gymnasium. The building was decorated with the blue and white of the college colors and with pennants of the associations.

After an hour spent in discovering "who was who" the following program was given.

Piano Solo ..... Franc Whitney
Reading ..... Florence Jenkins
Vocal Solo ..... Joe Hanna
Talk ..... Dean Ashcraft
Violin Solo ..... Ivan Caldwell
Trio from the Bohemian Girl, Dean Amadon, Pauline Hensley, and Purl Gibbs.

Every number on the program was very well rendered. Mr. Hanna in particular seemed to be the ladies' idol. His charming voice seemed to suit them exactly. Dean Ashcraft complimented the associations very highly for the fine type of work they always do.

At the close of the very delightful evening dainty refreshments were served by the Y. W. girls.

Y. M. C. A.

On Tuesday night, Sept. 16, the Y. M. C. A. held its annual "stag party" in the gymnasium. Some thirty-five or forty fellows gathered about eight o'clock. From the way in which Prof. Bisset and Dr. Emery went after each other, one would judge that they had a lasting grudge. We all had a good laugh at Mr. Murdock's expense when he failed to find out who swatted him. The centipede and wheelbarrow races caused a great deal of mirth. If any one wishes to know how much he weighs, ask Mohler. Wilbur Lard can tell anybody how to lift seven men. Casiano is still lamenting the fact that he has a sore nose as a remembrance of the blind boxing match.

At the close of the games, all gathered around the piano and sang, Mr. Lambert at the piano, watermelon was then served.

Some of the fellows still had enough ambition to box and a few rounds furnished very good entertainment.

The regular Y. M. C. A. meetings start next Tuesday morning at the regular chapel hour. A very cordial invitation is extended to every man in school to attend. The "Y" is just what we make it. Let's all get behind it and push.

MISS VINZANT HEADS MODERN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

Miss Vinzant, the new head of the modern language department is with President Emery a product of Indiana. Miss Vinzant's home is at Lena, Indiana. She has taken her degrees at De Paw University.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Prof Moore head of the department reports a larger enrollment than that of a year ago. He also expects a steady increase through-out the fall.

Due to the co-operation of President Emery the department has a fine new office. The old room was rearranged and more space added.

HISTRIONIC CLUB

Last week the Histrionic club began their work for the year. The club has been re-organized and a new system of credits introduced.

The club presents several plays each year. The members are given practical work in interpreting parts and in directing plays. Several leading plays will be studied this semester. Miss Lovell has charge of the work.

The following officers have been elected:

Pres.—Mae Turner.
Vice-Pres—Florence Jenkins.
Sec.—Betty Robson.
Treas.—Leona Stafford.
Advertising Manager—Pearl Shipman.
Property Manager—Levi Loreman
Stage Manager—Sutton Hice.

The Dutch intend to erect a dike from the North Holland Coast to Wieringen, thence to Friesland—a total length of eighteen and three-fourths miles, which will facilitate the reclamation of nearly 500,000 acres of good loamy soil.

The Sandalwood tree of Burma is one of the most valuable and beautiful timbers in the world. Only the fragrant-scented heartwood has any commercial value. The trees are stripped of branches and the logs allowed to lie where they have fallen. Billions of ants devour the soft sappy wood, which is useless in commerce leaving the hard heartwood of the tree stripped of its worthless integument, thus saving labor for the owner of the timber.

One of the dogmas of the Arabian Akhwans is the sinfulness of tobacco smoking. Men have paid the supreme penalty for smoking in Wahabiland. Murder, Adultery and theft are trifles compared with tobacco smoking in the opinion of these people.

HAPPENINGS in the BIG CITIES

Embryo Mining Engineers' Odd School

BETHLEHEM, PA.—Seven auto-mobile loads of embryo mining engineers, folding cots, cooking utensils and spare tires are rolling over the country, a veritable university on wheels. The party consists of 30 students of mining engineering from Lehigh university who left Bethlehem last month and are "roughing it" over a 3,000-mile route through the United States and Canada, stopping in all the important mining and industrial regions. Saturated with the theoretical aspects of their course in mining, the young men have set out to become familiar with its practical phases and are stopping in every important mining district long enough to "get down in the dirt," and wield picks, shovels and drills alongside veteran miners.

The inspection trip is in charge of Prof. Ralph Bartlett and Howard Eckfeldt of the mining department at Lehigh university. Besides the undergraduate members, the party includes several prominent educators who seized this opportunity to study at first hand the mining operations along the route. They are Prof. Alfred C. Callen who is head of the mining department at the University of Illinois. Prof. Parke B. Fraim, professor of electrical engineering at Brooklyn Polytechnic institute, New York; Lloyd W. Fisher of the mineralogy department at Yale, and Charles E. Lawell, Jr., who is head of the mining department at the University of West Virginia. The party carries complete equipment for camping and cooking.

The route of this novel "university on wheels" leads from Bethlehem through the great anthracite regions of Pennsylvania and the glass plants and salt mines of New York state. Niagara Falls, with its mammoth hydro-electric plants, Toronto, through the wonderful lake country of Ontario, with trips to the famous Nipissing silver mine and the Porcupine gold mining district; thence west to the nickel district of Sudbury, Ontario, the iron regions of Lake Superior and Marquette, and the copper mines of Keweenaw peninsula. Striking south their trail leads through Wisconsin and the zinc and lead districts of the northern Mississippi valley, the coal mining regions of northern Illinois, Chicago, Urbana, Terre Haute, the enormous quarrying operations near Bloomington Ind., Ohio, with its well-known geological horizons and oil "sands." Wheeling, W. Va, and thence to Pittsburgh, Pa., where opportunity will be given to study manufacture of coke and steel until the opening of the school year necessitates the party's hastening east over the Alleghenies to Harrisburg, and back to Bethlehem for another year of study.

Each evening, after camp is made, a short time is spent in getting notes taken during the day in order and discussing things observed. A regular roster of daily duties is in force for each member of the party, so that every man, be he professor or sophomore, gets his share of potato peeling and dish washing.

Kellogg at the International Conference

United State Ambassador Kellogg undoubtedly played a large part in the international conference at London for the purpose of putting into effect the plan of the Dawes commission. To be sure, he was not officially a part of that conference. And it is also apparent that the result of the conference was largely brought about by the American banking interests which will furnish a large part of the necessary loan. Nevertheless, reading between the lines, it is easy to see that Ambassador Kellogg's influence was large; it looks, in fact, as if his unofficial position was a help rather than a hindrance and Ambassador Kellogg seems quite hopeful as to the results. He says:

"I believe this settlement is the dawning of a new day, the hope of millions of people, the revival of industry and prosperity so necessary to the happiness and progress of mankind. Antimosties engendered by the war cannot live in amity, and this conference is the beginning of the harmony which pre-sages the brighter future."

Frank Billings Kellogg was born in 1856 at Potsdam, N. Y., and went to Minnesota with his parents in 1865. He was admitted to the bar in 1877 and married Clara M. Cook of Rochester, Minn., in 1896. He moved to St. Paul in 1887. He served in the United States senate, 1917-23. He was president of the American Bar association, 1912-13. He was appointed ambassador to the Court of St. James in 1924.

continue. Nations, as individuals, must begin the harmony which pre-sages the brighter future."

Walton's Come-Back Shames Fiction

If you read it in fiction you'd say "Bosh!"—a career like that of John Calloway Walton. For he was ousted from the governorship of Oklahoma by legislative impeachment and now he has been nominated at the very next primary election—for the United States senatorship. Where is there anything like it in American politics.

Walton was impeached and removed from office last November, the charges against him involving corruption in office, willful neglect of duty, incompetency and moral turpitude. Undismayed, he started his effort at a political comeback. He announced his candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination and carried his cause directly to the voters, charging that his impeachment had been "framed" and was largely the result of the bitter fight he had waged against the Ku Klux klan. In his campaign he said he recognized the klan as "the only issue" and denounced it in all his speeches. His Republican opponent in the November election will be W. B. Pine, Okmulgee oil millionaire, who had the endorsement of the klan, and in the coming campaign the klan is expected to be the predominant issue, with party lines relegated to the background.

Walton was inaugurated January 8, 1922. A gigantic barbecue at the state fair grounds, attended by approximately 100,000 persons, was one feature of the inaugural.

MISS LOVELL TO HEAD EXPRESSION DEPARTMENT

Miss Harriett Lovell has come to York College to extend our Expression Department. Her home is in Greene, Iowa. She has taken post graduate work at the Northwestern University School of Speech. She is highly recommended as an excellent reader and interpreter of literature. Miss Lovell has taught one year in the Northwestern University.

She is able to teach Expression, Reading, Public Speaking, Dramatic work, Debating, Physical Culture, Playground and Folk Dancing.

Miss Lovell has given a number of readings at different college functions and has easily won her way into the hearts of those in attendance at York College.

She expects to teach in the Junior Department of the United Brethren Sunday school.

Miss Lovell is very interested in all of the student activities and we feel sure that the ensuing year will be a promising one.

EIGHT WEEKS CLUB

The Eight Weeks club had a very successful and enjoyable time during the eight weeks of summer school. The club organized with fifty members and elected its officers the first week of school. The officers were as follows: President, Mae Turner; vice president, Lucy May (Davidson) Coffee; secretary and treasurer, Eleanor Allen.

The first week's meeting was a reception given for all summer school students on the College campus. A good program was furnished and all reported a good time.

Numerous types of other meetings were held. The members made several trips to the country where much home-made ice cream and strawberries were enjoyed, had literary meetings and a service meeting held at the Odd Fellows Home. Perhaps the biggest feature of the season was a gypsy hike. All gathered at the Con costumed as gypsies and after visiting several back doors found their way to the City park where they roasted their wienies over a big bon fire.

But you never can tell what may happen in a football game. And we are certain that all the state conference schools are pulling for the Wesleyites in this game.

JUNIOR ACADEMY ELECTS

The first and second year Academy, after holding their class meeting, elected the following officers:

President—Ardith Hull.
Vice President—Milan Lambert.
Secretary and Treasurer—Wilhelmina Feemster.
Class Sponsor—Miss Riggs.

COACH RUSSELL

Coach "Bob" Russell is an old Nebraska star. He played quarterback in 1921 and 1922 for the Huskers and was responsible for much of the scoring of those two great elevens.

Coach Russell is an all-round man. He holds Nebraska letters for football, basketball, baseball and tennis. He believes in fighting teams, clean athletics and good scholarship. He is going to be mighty popular with the student body. He also has charge of classes in the theory of athletics.

More than two billion dollar's worth of crops in the United States are destroyed annually by insect pests. There are more than one hundred different kinds of these pests, most of them being immigrants from foreign countries where control measures are not rigidly enforced.

Due to hygienic conditions and the trades taught in Sing Sing prison, prisoners are showing a disinclination to escape. The superintendent of industries at the penitentiary has suggested a reduction in the number of guards and an increase in the number of instructors.

"Coolie" is from the Hindu word "kuli," meaning laborer.

Seniors may come and Seniors go. But the Freshman goes on forever.

Some co-eds come to college to get P. B. K. pins, and others come to get M-E-N.

Freshman—"Can you tell me where Prof. Feemster is?"

Don. T.—"He has gone out to infinity. He will come back on the other side and complete the hyperbole."

Max—"Who is that woman?"

Doc Bell—"Don't know her name but she sleeps next to me in chapel."

We have it on good authority that when Suds Hice calls on his lady on Seventh street he hangs his hat in the hall and calls up the stairs, "Yoo-hoo! Baby's here."

A skinny little Sophomore looked over the Freshman huskies, shook his head sadly and remarked, "It looks like a long hard winter."

Frosh—"You poor ham. What do you mean by washing the silver in your finger bowl."

Soph.—"Don't think I'm gonna get egg all over my pocket do you?"

First Lady—"Where is your boy?"

Second Lady—"In Harvard."

First Lady—"My boy went bad too He's in Leavenworth."

Dumb—"When I kissed her last night she began to cry."

Bell—"Didn't she like it?"

Dumb—"Oh yes. She was crying for more."

"Son" Miller calls his car opportunity because she knocks.

Gibbs—"We owe a great deal to chemistry."

Green—"What for instance?"

Gibbs—"Most of our blondes."

Her lips said "No."

Her eyes said "yes."

Now one of them lied.

Which, do you guess?

Room—"Let's go to the show?"

Mate—"How do you do-it?"

Room—"Well Germany, isn't the only one who can borrow money."

Junior—"She's quite a little doll."

Senior—"Yeah. And when you squeeze her she yells, Pa-pa or Ma-na."

Ashmore swears he has insomnia. Says that he woke up twice during one of Prof. Bisset's lectures last week.

FACULTY VACATIONS

During the summer months the faculty as well as the students were having a pleasant or unpleasant time according to the nature of their occupations. We have been able to obtain a somewhat brief summary of their various experiences through information gleaned from the student body and friends.

Prof. Noli, the daring and unsophisticated member of the faculty reports he had an easy time teaching summer school by making the pupils do the work. This is characteristic of Prof. Noll every day in the week. Later in the season he and Prof. Bisset, took a trip to Yellowstone Park. He seems quite proud of the fact that he made the trip in his Ford in 12 days.

Prof. Bisset was a busy man as registrar this summer, and because of declining health the other members of the faculty voted that he should take a rest and they arranged chat he should go with Prof. Noll to Yellowstone. However upon returning he says about all he can see he gained from the trip is a few more grey hairs.

We are told that Professor. Feemster spent a profitable summer by staying at home and working. He enjoyed his leisure moments by reading the "Saturday Evening Post."

Miss Young, Miss Riggs, and President Emery accompanied Dean Ashcraft on a trip to Iowa. The trip must have been very tedious as they were forced to stop about every twenty miles on account of car trouble. However, Miss Young and Miss Riggs feel that they gained a great deal from the trip as they learned from Dean that the tongue is a valuable aid in assisting the mind in understanding the intricate mechanical draw-backs of a car.

Later in the season Dean Ashcraft and his family motored to Colorado. It seems as if Dean is rather inexperienced in the art of changing tires and we are wondering if he has found a psychological solution for it.

Miss Fye, different from most Dean of Women, did not relax her vigilance. She studied the "Proper Etiquette for Young Ladies." She means to be well informed this winter.

Prof. Morgan worked out a schedule of alternation between home life and school life this summer. It proved quite successful, and we are wondering if more of the faculty wives will teach next summer. We hope so if they are all like Mrs. Morgan.

Prof. Warrick said he spent a very uneventful summer. It is not to be wondered at if he did nothing but go to school and study science, but you cannot always tell about these quiet people.

Miss Eveland declared she worked most diligently for a master's degree this summer, and found much pleasure in doing so. We are told that great minds are never idle.

Miss Vinzant is a new instructor with us whom everyone loves. She spent her summer at her home in Lena, Indiana.

The teachers of the Fine Arts Department spent a very busy summer teaching.

President Emery spent most of his time on the road, recruiting new students and fighting mosquitoes. If he was as successful in killing them as he was with the students, he has released many of us from future torture.

Judging from the way Coach Russell spent his summer, athletics at York will take a great boom this year.

Miss Lovell says she had a wonderful trip to New York, but that she is ready for work now.

ZETA

"Tell me not in mournful numbers, School is but a weary round, With new lessons yet unstudied Names and faces still unknown."

No indeed! Not with Zeta on the map! Those who have been here before are looking forward with much pleasure to the meetings of Zeta Literary. To enlighten the uninitiated, we will briefly sketch the evolution of Zeta.

When Literary began in Y. C. there were two societies, one for men, one for girls. We hear them called Pals. After a few years, it seemed that greater interest would be shown and better literary work done, if there were other societies on the campus.

Accordingly in the fall of 1914 a small group of courageous, energetic students effected the organization of Zeta. The men's society is called Zetagathean, the girls Zetaethean.

At the beginning the membership was small; but good work has been done in these ten years. The hall has been completely furnished at a large expense. There have been good leaders and a high grade of literary work has been accomplished. Our membership has grown greatly.

The purposes of Zeta are to promote good fellowship, stimulate scholarship, and social culture. This involves hard work occasionally but is not without it's fun.

The societies meet in joint session on alternate Tuesday evenings. There are varied programs to suit differences in taste and ability. Certainly one who has never been called upon for an extempore has missed some of the thrills of school life. If there are any such, they probably have also failed to develop some of their powers of speaking. Parliamentary drill is also used occasionally to add spice to the programs. There will be something that each one will enjoy.

Among the good times we anticipate are the annual reception for new students each semester, a few picnics and the banquet in the spring.

If you are longing for a good time, enjoy programs of musical and literary productions, and are willing to work and to boost—you will get much from Zeta. Zeta welcomes you.

Zetaethean, Zetagathean, Zetaethean, Zetagathean, Here's to you! Rah! Rah!

ALUMNI

The last class which graduated from York College is naturally of most interest to the student body. The majority are teaching. They are in the following schools:

- Nell Bearss—Exeter
- Ralph Frazier—Central City
- Irvin Caldwell—Shelby
- Dean Moomey—Walback
- Floyd Laws—Clayton Kansas
- Mabel Meeker—Bradshaw
- Evelyn Hunt—Ft. Collins, Colo.

The other members of the class have met with various experiences.

Ralph Sawyer is taking advanced work in medicine in Omaha after a summer spent in camping (and with the Harrison Nursery Co.)

H. L. Wimmer plans to take a pastorate in Kansas.

Last, hut most interesting, Lucy Davidson has taken a school of one consisting of Clarence Coffey '23, who is teaching in Morrill, Nebraska.

Three of the preachers in the class of 1923 namely, Walter Henry, Marion Mulvaney, and Paul Riggs, retain the same addresses as they had last year, 'Marquette and Aurora, Nebr., and Dayton Ohio, respectively. Warren Baller will occupy the pulpit in Cheney.

Lynn Dankle will wield the birch rod at New Albin, Iowa.

Myrvan Canon and Dorothy Feaster return to Hampton, Vesta Ludwick to Callaway, and Bessie Riggs to her former position in York College.

Rowena Stevens is busily plying her needle at home.

Earl Thom is located in a general store in Kansas.

Fae Culbertson is engaged as a teacher in the Lincoln schools.

Mildred Young has been secured as the head of the English department in York College.

John Davidson is teaching in Ponca Nebraska.

Of course Veda Ludwick Riggs is with Paul.

Raymond Newton the last of the class of '23 with Elvin Conner '22, Hugo Lucie '22, and Ralph Schroeder and Robert Stevens who were once students in Y. C. are all attending the Medical College at Omaha.

Lloyd Cottrell '22 joined the ranks of the benedicts early during the summer when he took to himself a wife from Iowa. He is now located at Goodwin, South Dakota.

Dara Mohler '21 had set the example for Cottrell by his marriage to Miss Meinholdt of Stromsburg. These two had a pretty little wedding in the U. B. church of York with the local pastor, Dr. C. L. Young, officiating. Dara is Superintendent of Schools at Ansley.

Florine Townsend '22 and Eva Kerr '21 are teaching in the public schools of York. Miss Kerr is filling a new position in York, that of school nurse.

Myrtle Hunt '20 is attending the University of Nebraska this year and will also assist in one of the Science departments.

Estelle Hughes Anderson '18 is teaching near Antioch.

Miss Edith Callendar '15 former instructor of English in York College Academy has gone to Lincoln to take graduate work in the University of Nebraska.

NEW HEAD OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Miss Ruth Eveland, the new instructor in Physical Culture, is taking an active interest in her work here in the College. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

She is now nearing the completion of a Master of Arts degree in Northwestern University in Religious Education. Miss Eveland is prepared to teach Domestic Science, Religious Education, Sociology, Community Civics, and History. She has been highly recommended by her former instructors.

Miss Eveland is planning to organize a Girls' Athletic club which will give letters to girls who receive the highest honors in athletics. This is a new project at York College and has been met with much enthusiasm.
