

"The Wizard of the Nile" Is Coming

The opera chosen for this year is "The Wizard of the Nile." The Glee club has started working in earnestness on the choruses although the cast of characters has not been announced yet.

This is a beautiful comic opera with an oriental air that will make you enjoy it from start to finish.

"The Wizard of the Nile"

Music—Victor Herbert

Book—Harry B. Smith

Synopsis of Scenes

Act I.—Public square in Alexandria.

Act II.—Terrace roof of the King's Palace.

Act III.—Interior of the King's private pyramid.

Argument

"There's lots of things

A Wizard can do.

There are tricks of the trade

That are new."

Kibosh, a Persian necromancer, and his assistant, Abydos, visit Egypt during the water famine. By the use of the magic power, he supposedly causes the Nile to overflow, and wins the offer Ptolemy has made, that anyone who can conjure up a flood will be rewarded with the hand of his daughter, the beautiful Cleopatra. However, Kibosh has a rival in Cleopatra's handsome music teacher, Ptarmigan, who wins her in the end. Another jealous rival of the Wizard is Cheops, the former Royal Weather Prophet, who has been displaced by Kibosh, and sentenced to have his head cut off. Simoon, the second wife of the King, Ptolemy, is a rather strenuous person who wants to see somebody beheaded at most any stage of the game, and she doesn't care much who it is. Consequently, when the overflowing of the Nile, which Kibosh is supposed to have brought on, turns out to be a very veritable deluge, flooding the entire country, the Royal displeasure turns upon him, and he is sentenced to fifty-seven different varieties of punishment. However, by his ready wit, and characteristic effrontery, Kibosh succeeds in turning the tables, cornering everybody, and bringing about a happy denouement. The story is purely farcical, and the complications abound in ludicrous situations.

"Well, am I a Wiz?"

"You can bet I am."

Lloyd Wells (in Amer. Lit.): "This poem describes a moonlight scene and then a little farther it says that the sky was blue."

Miss Thorp: "Well, haven't you ever noticed the blueness of the sky at night?"

Wells: "No."

Miss Thorp: "Well I guess you had other things to think of and didn't have time to look at the sky."

MISS EDMUNDSON IN RECITAL AT COLLEGE

The Piano Recital given by Miss Laurene Edmundson, student of Miss Eda Rankin, in the College Chapel, February 24th, was an artistic triumph from the dainty little Gavotte of Gluck to the brilliant Concerto by Schuett.

Miss Edmundson has a charming personality and the graceful manner in which she presided at the instrument kept her audience enthusiastic throughout the evening.

She gave to Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 31, No. 3, a masterful interpretation. In the Liszt "Concert Etude," which followed, the audience enjoyed the most beautiful singing quality of tone, as Miss Edmundson brought out the sustained melody of this composition. In the Cyril Scott number "Lotus Land" there was an unusual charm in the melody with an occasional rippling run which added much to the artistic character of the group. Then followed the Golliwogg's Cake Walk, which was Debussy's idea of a jointed wooden doll doing the Cake Walk. Miss Edmundson played this very cleverly and she brought the group to a close with the brilliant Polichinelle or Clown by Romaninoff. The Schuett "Concerto," which closed the program, abounds in beautiful melody and brilliant Appoggio, chord passages, and was given a most excellent rendition by Miss Edmundson and Miss Rankin, who presided very effectively at the second piano.

Miss Rankin and other members of the Conservatory Faculty feel that Miss Edmundson has an abundance of talent and a most successful future in the field of music should she desire to work in this field. Miss Rankin has given generously of her time and ability and Miss Edmundson has worked earnestly and faithfully. The combined efforts of the two made possible the delightful entertainment given the audience.

The large audience and the number of floral tributes were a testimony of the appreciation of the York people for the young lady from Colorado.

THE MARATHON

The Marathon Staff is proud to be able to report that a very beautiful and high quality cover has been selected. The order has been given to The North American Press of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The design on the front cover is very pleasing and we feel sure that such a cover will be greatly admired by all.

Since the staff was chosen, both of the associate editors have dropped from school. So it is with satisfaction that the Editor reports the selection of a new Associate Editor. Mr. Lyle DeMoss is the man chosen. He is quite efficient at operating a typewriter, and no doubt will prove very helpful to the Staff. The Editor, his new Associate, and the Business Manager, met on the evening of March 1, to begin work upon the Marathon dummy. Considerable progress was made, and if as much work, accordingly, is accomplished when the entire Staff is present, we are certain to progress rapidly.

Some copy has been handed to the Editor, but much more is due. Please get it to us at once. It is only a short time until it will be too late.

Under the "single-price" plan which we are using, it is imperative that we have at least fifteen more orders. If you intend to get a copy, please give the Business Managers your name at once.

KINSCELLA DEMONSTRATION PLEASES YORK AUDIENCE

The demonstration of the modern method of playing the piano, put on by sixty children, was most entertaining to the large crowd which greeted their program.

Miss Kinscella who has gained international recognition, because of her new and unique way of teaching children, in classes to play the piano, was the guest of the Children's department, of the York College Conservatory last Tuesday night.

The guest of the evening made a few remarks, and the program was then given by the little folks.

The study of music for children, is no more lacking of interest in any respect. Scales are made to furnish entertainment for the friends. Time drills are worked out, as a game with a lively march played on a victrola. Cliff signs are made in much the same way.

Children transpose melodies, tap out the time and do all the necessary things leading to musicianship, in a thorough yet entertaining manner.

Three pianos were used, two at each piano, all playing together on some of the numbers. There were duets, quartets and other ensembles of interest.

Miss Pearson, who, assisted by Miss Edmundson, has this department in charge, provided a very instructive, as well as an interesting evening.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA GIVES PUBLIC CONCERT

The York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Professor Bohdan Shlanta, gave a public concert Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the York Opera House. This concert was sponsored by the York Commercial Club, and consisted of orchestral and special numbers.

Although the numbers were, for the most part, unfamiliar to the audience, they showed appreciation of the splendid rendition.

- The program was as follows:—
- Aviation Tournament King
 - Fortune Teller Herbert
 - Marimba Solos
 - Zampa Overture Harold
 - Only A Smile Zamecnik
 - Girls Trio
 - Call of Bagdad Doreldien
 - Largo, from New World Symphony Dvorak
 - Canton Aero Club King

BUSINESS COLLEGE ELECTS OFFICERS

The nominating committee chosen by the president selected the nominees for the class officers for the second semester. Vernon Mullig was elected President; Rachel Stouffer, Secretary and Treasurer; Lester Schwass, Social Chairman, and Esther Klein, Reporter.

Mr. Searle is training a new chauffeur, at least that is what Dame Rumor tells us.

Rev. Weber Spends Week on Campus

Each year the College engages in a series of constructive and very helpful religious services. This year we were very fortunate in securing Rev. Geo. Weber of Albuquerque, New Mexico, a former student and graduate of York College.

Rev. Weber spoke at each chapel service and each evening. Every message was vital and challenging.

Some of the themes he used were: Facts of God. Jesus Christ as Son of God. Christianity. Forgiveness. Value of Prayer. Immortality. Thinking Straight. Choices. Lost Rivers.

A few of his clinching sentences were: "Be very sure of God." "Take Jesus more in earnest." "Today we have an over production of things and an under production of character." "Where do you live? Is your world a beautiful place to live in?"

"Let us think of the several factors which caused the downfall of Rome, namely, luxury, divorce, taxation, slaves, and war, and beware unless our fair nation meet the same fate." Two characteristics of the pagan world are pleasure and power. "Students must carry with them high ideals, a love for the best things in life, and always appreciate the beautiful. A student's life must be dynamic."

"Never catch up with your ideals, keep improving and shaping them after the greatest pattern the world has ever had—Jesus Christ." "The world needs a new environment."

"Remember we reap what we sow. It is not enough to hack the weeds. We must sow and cultivate the good seed. Let us sow the seed of love and not hate. The world needs more love and less hate."

"Friendship and achievement are the two worthwhile things in life."

"Never do anything that will cause you regret. Make your life so pure, so fine, so noble and so beautiful that you will be ready at any time to journey to the land from which no traveler returns."

On Friday evening Mr. Weber took supper with the Life Work Recruits and Student Volunteers. His talk to them was very helpful and inspiring. During the meetings five new Recruits were added to the roll.

Conferences were held daily with Mr. Weber and those who took advantage of this great opportunity were greatly blessed and found him to be a true friend to them in helping to solve perplexing problems.

Truly it was a great week and the students on York College Campus feel very grateful to Mr. Weber for his helping us to see the need of putting first things first, and the great joy of giving Christ and his kingdom first place in our daily program.

NORMAL MUSIC

The Normal Music Class is progressing and the students are becoming quite interested. There are twenty-two enrolled. First, Dean Amadon explained rhythm and time. Then they took up the different keys, then different kinds of tempo, and now they are learning rote songs. This week they start reading the syllables of different songs. They have had two records in music appreciation. The first was "In A Clock Store" and the second was "A Hunt in the Black Forest." The pieces were both interesting and entertaining besides being instructive.

A short time ago, we had on our campus for a brief week, a young man, Rev. George J. Weber, who came to help us with college and personal problems. He gave us a series of straight-forward talks about life and living. He showed us some of the worth-while things we might do in life. He showed us some of the things we were missing by not choosing the best in life. He made us to see the barrenness of a life beneath our best. Among other things Rev. Weber said this:—

"In every man there dwells a white-faced coward and a glorious hero. Religion is the force which develops the hero in the man at the expense of the coward."

Shall we fail to develop the glorious hero within us?

This little poem expresses the choice each one of us must make at some time.

THE WAYS

To every man there openeth
 A way, and ways, and a way.

And the high soul climbs the high way,
 And the low soul gropes the low,
 And in between on the misty flats
 The rest drift to and fro.

But to every man there openeth
 A High Way and a low,
 And every man decideth
 The way his soul shall go.

—John Oxenham.

We sincerely hope that Mr. Weber may spend another week with us in the future.

Music has had a prominent place in our campus activities the last few weeks. We have heard the beginners and we have listened to those who were accomplished.

What does music mean to us on our campus? Do we ever stop to think what it would mean if we had no music?

Music adds color to every college activity. What would a rally be without some Pep songs? Music is an inspiration to a chapel period; music begins a Literary meeting in a happy way; love of music is the only reason we have orchestras and glee clubs.

Music not only gives pleasure on the campus but it has true value. It is of material and spiritual power to those who participate in it. Music adds in character building—history has proved that a lover of good music cannot be base. Good music gives social and cultural advantage to its lovers, and refines their taste for fine arts. Music makes for better teamwork and cooperation on the campus.

Though we do not always say it, the music of our campus is an integral and valuable part of our college life and we would not be without it.

ZETA LITERARY SOCIETY

The Zetas have entered upon a new year which we feel will be as successful as the one preceding. Our officers took up their new duties at the last meeting held March 1st, and assure us of splendid work for the coming year. Our program at this meeting centered about our great American essayist Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Sola—Norma Rath.
 Sketch of Emerson's Life—Eleanor Plumb.

Emerson's Prose Works—Camille Pachner.

Emerson's Poetry—Myrtle Beasley.
 At our next meeting to be held March 15, at 7:30 the program will be chiefly musical and the opera will be discussed.

Prelude—Overture, Ada Greene.
 Trio—stringed—Ivan Caldwell, Virginia Edwards, Ruth Huenefeld.

Evolution of Opera—Thelma Dierdorf.

Heroines of Opera—Laura Holm.

Review of some well-known Opera—Francis Harbert.

Your time will be well spent with us, and we invite you. Every member out.

CON-ETTES

Once in a while things happen at the Con. In fact things happen quite often. The trouble is that the Sandburr is not informed.

One of our girls had a recital the other night. Her mother came in the afternoon in order to attend the recital. Laurene appreciated her flowers very much. She thought the Nebraska flowers were fine but of course she thought the California roses were the sweetest ones of all. And why not? We all like things but like some things better than others. We've heard that peaches grow bigger in California than elsewhere. May be roses do, too.

The fire-cracker that was shot off Saturday morning was not a fizzle. However, it is no secret as to who did it. The best part of all was the one that did it told who it was. You've heard that actions sometimes speak louder than words. Sometimes our faces will tell a stranger more than we would like for him to know.

We understand that a couple of girls came home the other night and Miss Fye did not know they were in. You don't suppose she was "sleeping on the job" do you? We never knew her to go to sleep on the job but if she ever does and you don't want to wake her up don't toot tooters, shoot shooters, or squeal.

The Freshman class presidents all seem to reap the rewards of publicity. For further information, ask Ruth Gjerloff.

The Lamplighter

GOOD old Leerie, the lamplighter, worked cheerfully to make the streets bright. And the lamps sputtered a friendly glow into the darkness.

The citizens of the country have taken Leerie's job. They are the lamplighters of today, and they spend 3½ cents of each tax dollar that their streets may be bright.

Good street lighting means more flourishing business sections, safe traffic, convenience, and protection.

Leerie, the faithful, has gone—but streets still need lighting. And in whatever communities college men and women elect to live, they should take a lively interest in civic improvements—including street lighting.

"For we are very lucky, with a lamp before the door,
 And Leerie stops to light it as he lights
 so many more."

the one scored on the York floor but it nevertheless puts York among the first four teams in the state conference.

The Panthers have won eleven games this season and lost five, a good record and one in which the fans of York are jubilating together with the coach, team members and college officials and students. Though the final standings of the teams in the conference will not be compiled until sometime the latter part of this week or first of next week, the Panthers will place about third, in view of the fact that the Hastings team lost two games last weekend, leaving Doane and Peru in the lead.

The Hubka coached quintet opened the season on the home floor with a win over Grand Island and followed up with wins over Cotner and Omaha. Then came the first setback of the season at the hands of Kearney, followed by defeat at Hastings. Incidentally Hastings was "hotter" the night they played York than they have been any time since, barely nosing out victorious over some of the teams that York later defeated by big scores. Doane tasted defeat at the hands of the Panthers, their only loss so far this season, and York followed with wins over Cotner, Grand Island, Wayne, Midland and Omaha. Then came the trip to Doane and Peru, and the return game of the Peruvians and York lost the trio, though the return game with Peru found the latter victors only by virtue of a last minute rally and one point. Saturday night's game finished the season.

The success of the Panthers this season was due to the stellar work of the 7 boys who played regularly. Lead by Captain Louis Helzer the Panthers ran up a total of 473 points during their sixteen games as compared to 413 for their opponents. The floor work of Harold Ashmore, Boyd King, Vernon Moist and Helzer featured in the offense of the Panthers throughout the season, while the guarding of Lloyd Nichols was so consistent that many fans, not only in York but elsewhere who have seen "Nick" play will be disappointed if he doesn't land the guard position on the all-conference team. Nichols' running mates were "Cy" Maurer and Fred Gilbert, who both played games that were consistent and also got into the scoring column on several occasions. Peters got into several games at forward, while on one or two occasions Coach Ladd Hubka sent in his entire list of reserves. But it was the combination of King and Ashmore at forwards, Helzer at center and Nichols and Gilbert at guards that wrought havoc with most of the opposition. These five were the mainstays of the team.

FROM OTHER STATIONS

The Cardinal News from Albion high school reports that they have picked the operetta "Sylvia," to be given in the near future. This music is classed with that of light opera.

A musical appreciation class has been started in Albion high school, for the benefit of the students who wish to compete in the Music Memory contest. They discuss the origin and history of music; pieces are played on the phonograph and their theme discussed so they can be understood.

The Midland from Fremont says they are working on the Messiah Chorus, the biggest thing they have ever attempted. It is a beautiful chorus and we wish them success.

The Antelope from Kearney states that their winter pageant is to be given March 4th. The name has been changed from "The Minstrel's Dream" to "Sonya." The pageant was written by a student in this college, Wendell B. Coon. Their forty piece College orchestra furnishes the music for the entire pageant.

The Antelope also reports that the Riverdale school presented the operetta, "Cinderella," on Valentine's Day.

The Volante from Grand Island says that, "The Maid of Tokyo," was given there recently by two distinguished Japanese actors, an American girl who has been raised in Japan, and the American cast that was chosen from local Athenian talent.

The Tan and Cardinal from Otterbein College states that the Otterbein Music club sponsored a high class concert recently. It was an organ recital given by Professor G. G. Grabill, head of Conservatory of Music. His concert was wholly opera music. The Otterbein Men's Glee Club has been making several week end tours and has been enthusiastically applauded everywhere. This is under direction of Prof. A. R. Spessard.

Kansas City Little Symphony Orchestra has just been at Peru and put on a special program for the children, which they greatly enjoyed, states the Peru Pedagogian.

MR. YORK WINS MISS VICTORY

On Wednesday, Feb. 23rd, a most interesting pantomime forecasting the results of our coming debates was given. Miss Victory (Miriam Bryant) awaited the coming of her suitors. The first to be announced by the maid (Ardu Knight) was Mr. Central City (Everette Samuelson). He was most unsuccessful in his wooing of sweet Miss Victory. Then along came Mr. Cotner (Harlan Moore). He, too, failed to win Miss Victory. Mr. Chadron (Emanuel Hinze) expected to win Miss Victory by his gifts, but was likewise unsuccessful. Mr. Doane (Don Fisher) had no better success than his predecessors. Miss Victory could not be won. She would hold aloof and give no promises. Then along came the renowned Mr. York (Floyd Mann). His plea was successful, sweet Miss Victory succumbed to his wooing and Mr. York walked away with the prize.

WE WONDER:—

If a certain sextet of Con. girls like oyster soup?!

Why Alice C. feels so gay on Sunday mornings? (Is it because of the gymnastics taken late Saturday night?)

Why Miriam likes to throw firecrackers? (This might have proved to be a SAD story!)

Why Lucile sits and looks longingly out of the window every morning about 7:10?

Why Ruth H. was so excited Monday evening?

Why Laurene likes roses from California?

Who is going to win Kay—Pete S. or Kenneth? Last report in favor of Pete.

Why Manuel never gets angry?

Why Elzadie likes ice cream in the reception room? Is it the one who brings it that makes it so enticing?

Its pretty cold to "bill and coo" out on the campus now.

The glee club is quite agog over the arrival of the opera score. From preliminary attempts at rendering the choruses it will undoubtedly be a success of the same magnitude of our endeavors of former years. Indications are that it will be a really clever production, at least we hope as much. The club sang a couple of numbers for the chapel assembly and we hasten to add they were not dirges regardless of their resemblance.

We went to a recital the other day. It was free, also it was pretty good though not one recitation was given. Maybe people don't recite pieces any more. In fact not a word was spoken except by the doorman ejecting some rowdies.

The basketball season has reached a fitting close. Two of the teams finished their careers in a blaze of glory. Following their triumphal conquest things occurred. We know much and say little concerning this. We will vouchsafe for the utter futility of trying to learn anything of the affair.

As this goes to press there will be another recital presented in the local chapel providing it doesn't rain and the victim survives. We are hopeful but advance signs are discouraging.

Due to our constant exposure to the classics we have become sufficiently imbued with same to write a drama.

Scene: Arcopolis at Athens.

Time: Any time B. C.

ACT THE ONETH

Damocles: "What Ho, Socrates, what hast thou in yon cup?"

Socrates: "It's hemlock, good Damocles and what is that hanging over your head?"

Damocles: "Oh it's just a sword."

(Enter Diogenes with lantern.)

Diogenes: "No, I guess he's not here but I'll stay anyway."

(Enter Xantippe with rolling pin.)

Xantippe: "Get out of here you loafers!"

(Loafers exit rear in disorder.)

ACT THE TWOTH

(Damocles, Socrates and Diogenes playing pinochle.)

(Enter Xantippe.)

Xantippe: "What, you loafers back again? Get out!"

Socrates: "In sooth, what's the use I've only two aces anyway (drink hemlock.)"

Damocles: (Says nothing, sword drops.)

Diogenes: (leaves holding lantern and seeking.)

(The end)

LIFE WORK RECRUITS

The last chapter of the book entitled "The Psychology of Leadership" by Tralle was discussed in the meeting of the Recruits Tuesday evening, February twenty-second. We have been led through much constructive thinking in these discussions of leadership. The climax of the series came in the topic "The will to win." This was a summary of the book.

If we have a will to win we will win. This calls for steadfastness and perseverance in whatever we undertake. It means quick decision then act on that decision at once. After the decision is made and our goal is in view we must not lose sight of the goal if we are to attain it. It is necessary to think our way through. Our thinking has much to do with what we do and what we are. Strong character comes through cultivating strong desires.

We will begin the study of a missionary book, "The Christ of the Indian Road" by Jones, at the next meeting on March eighth at seven-fifteen.

PAL LITERARY SOCIETY

The Pal Literary Society met last Tuesday evening at 7:30 to listen to another splendid program:

Extempo — "Scholarship" — Ivan Jenkins.

Male Quartet—Homer Watkins, Ted Peterson, Ivan Jenkins, Grant Sterner.

Reading—Aleta Marlow.

Violin Trio—Dorothy Johns, Ethel Spore, Alice Coffey.

Paper—Famous Painting — Thornton Miller.

Pal Journal—Theodore Thompson, Eleanor Allen.

The new officers are all working hard trying to make the Pal Society a larger and better society. Let us all cooperate and see what a fine society we can make it.

The Pals are going to give a short program in chapel some time soon. Watch for the date and be sure to be there.

Y. W. C. A.

Another good Y. W. meeting was held Tuesday morning, March first. A pretty prelude was played by Onita Stone and Ruth Huenfeld. Fieta Van Curin led the devotions which were appreciated by all. Elberta had us sing our own specials, which were enjoyed by all the girls taking part.

At this meeting the following officers were elected for the new year: Mabel Shelquist, president; Margaret Hill, vice president; Jean Turner, secretary; Alice Peters, treasurer; Miss Cone, faculty adviser; and Mrs. R. E. Caldwell, church adviser.

EATING WITH STICKS

Imagine trying to eat with two sticks held between the thumb and finger. The Chinese do this very nicely, though, and probably would find it very awkward to eat with knives and forks.

It is said that spectacles were used in China many hundreds of years ago, but they were very queer looking things.

Our methods are modern and efficient.
