YORK, NEBRASKA

BASKETBALL TEAM IS PLACING HIGH

YORK PANTHERS ARE MAKING FINE RECORD FOR 1928-29 SEASON

Players Receive Considerable Recognition Over State in Comparisons.

The York College Panthers opened the season with fine prospects of again taking the championship in the N. C. A. C. The first conference game was with Grand Island and York won easily over the Islanders. Midland came next and conquered the Panthers, who were again away from home.

Moist and Batty were then added to the team, and the Panthers celebrated by trouncing Grand Island again. The new gymnasium was dedicated with the victory. They then lost one or two games, but with the victory over Nebraska Wesleyan the jinx was broken. They defeated Hastings on their own floor, and won from Wesleyan here.

Prospects were fine for their finishing second in the conference race, but their second game with Midland, which Midland won, complicates the situation somewhat. Things are not disheartening, however. There are still several games to be played, and it is the general rule that the "dope bucket" gets upset every so often. Who knows but the Panthers may yet get frisky and tip it over as they did a year ago?

The average successful man spends the first half of his life seeking prominence and the last half seeking obscurity.—Channing Pollock.

"Have you ever been pinched in this car?" The youth answered, "No, but I've been slapped."

Louis (Slicker) Helzer

Helzer is now playing his fourth year with the York College Panthers, and has been leading the state in point scoring. He was captain of the championship team last year and was picked as an all-state center. His playing this year merits the same honor.

MARATHON BOARD EXPLAINS ACTION

Board Makes Statement Regarding Letting of Contract to Print Yearbook.

Because we believe in patronizing home industries and home institutions whenever it is possible to do so, we wish to explain why the York College Marathon is being printed out of town this year for the first time. It would, of course, be much more convenient for the Marathon Board to have the work done here, and so for this reason as well as for the principle involved we asked the local newspaper men to submit bids.

Certain new and attractive features are being added to the Marathon this year involving the use of some special equipment. We learned that local printers would be obliged to send part of the work out of town and that they were not prepared to state prices on these portions of the work. Owing to the fact that our budget is limited, we did not feel able to enter into a contract without having a definite statement of the cost. Furthermore, we felt that it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to submit the copy pages in consecutive order rather than in the order of the natural progress of our work. Consequently, we accepted the lowest bid that fully met our specifications and our needs.

We appreciate very much the courtesy that has been accorded the members of our staff in our business relations with the public, and we wish to express our thanks to the advertisers who have so loyally supported us with their assistance. We appreciate this expression of the good will of the business men of York in this, as in other projects of the institution we represent.

MARATHON BOARD.

DANA A CAPELLA CHOIR GIVES SACRED CONCERT

The Dana College A Capella Choir of 30 voices, under the direction of Waldo B. Nieken, gave a very interesting and inspiring program at the United Brethren Church on the evening of Feb. 3.

This program was the first of its kind to be given in York, and it aroused considerable interest on the part of those who heard it. The choir was secured for a program at York largely because of the influence of a member of the choir who lives in York. The choir is also planning a tour of the United States, and later will go to Europe for a number of concerts.

Coach R. B. McCandless

McCandless, a coach of whom any school could be proud, is coaching his first year with York College. After turning out a football team from raw material that would make most coaches feel discouraged, Mac is taking his basketball team through the season with a record that may yet land it in second place in the conference.

DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT HELD AT YORK

The district high school basketball tournament for Nebraska opened last Friday morning with some hotly contested games. Some 27 high schools had teams entered, and all were fighting hard for the chance to go to the state finals. The 27 teams were divided into four classes. The members of the "Y" Club are acting as hosts to the visiting teams.

Captain Fred Gilbert

Gilbert is now playing his third and last year on the York College basketball team. He has handled his team well throughout the season, and has been playing a consistent, commendable game at the guard position.

DEBATERS CONTINUE MAKING GOOD RECORD

Defeat Nebraska Central Twice and Win from Nebraska Wesleyan Here.

The York College affirmative team took a 2-1 decision from Nebraska Wesleyan negative team in a single debate here Feb. 18. Onita Stone, Ual Hanshaw, and Schuyler Phillips upheld the affirmative for York. The judges were Attorney Matske, of Seward; Attorney Charles Gilbert, of York; and Mr. Mehrens, of Stromsburg. Prof. J. C. Morgan presided.

The debaters of Nebraska Central College fell before the wits of the York College debaters in a dual debate held on the evening of Feb. 12. The decision was 2-1 for both York teams. The negative team is composed of Wilhelmina Feemster, Homer Crosby, and Harlie Allen.

The home debate was judged by Supt. Harrison, of Bradshaw; Prof. Epp, of Henderson; and Principal Worthington, of McCool Junction. At Central City Supt. Knape, of Silver Creek; Editor W. H. Pdoard, of Fullerton; and Rev. Rice, of Grand Island gave a 2-1 decision for the York negative team.

The outlook for a possible championship team is very promising, and the teams should be given full support. The next debate will be held here March 4 when the negative team meets Peru Normal's affirmative team.

LIFE WORK RECRUITS AND VOLUNTEERS MEET

The Life Work Recruits and Student Volunteers held a very good meeting in the reception room of the conservatory on the evening of Feb. 11. After the devotions led by Charles Kraft, Leona Robertson led in an interesting discussion on "How the Leader Proceeds With the Group." This study was a second of a group of studies on "The Christian Quest."

Plans were made for the entertainment of the State Student Volunteer Convention which will be held in the United Brethren Church on March 1, 2, and 3. The organizations were appreciative of the presence and helpful suggestions of Pres. and Mrs. J. R. Overmiller at their meeting. The next meeting of the organization will be held on Feb. 25.

Harvard has accused Princeton of using rough tactics on the gridiron, and athletic relations between the two schools have been severed. Next year the Big Three will be Yale, Harvard, and Vassar.—Judge.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION COMING TO YORK MARCH 1-2

Number of Strong Speakers Have Been Secured to Address the Convention.

The Annual Convention of the Student Volunteers of Nebraska will be held in the United Brethren Church on March 1, 2, and 3. A strong list of speakers has been secured to be at the convention.

Mr. John Elder, a traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, a war-time welfare worker in Russia, and in the Near East, now on furlough from Persia where he has been since 1922, will be one of the speakers. Miss Winifred Wygal, acting general secretary of the student division of the Y. W. C. A. will be at the convention also.

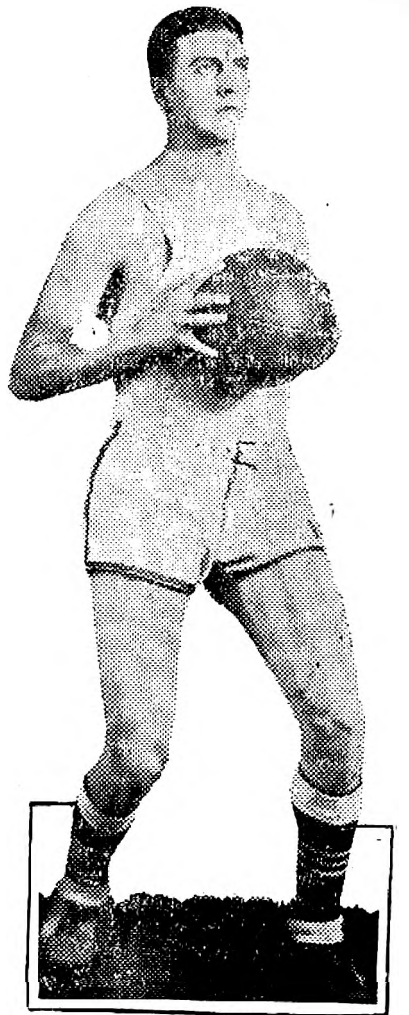

Another strong speaker will be Dr. Vartanian, head of the religious education department of Omaha University. Mr. Arthur Ruzle, secretary of the National Council of Y. M. C. A., who has been in China, will also be present. There will be a Negro leader and an Oriental speaker. Some of the subjects that will be discussed at this convention will be "Pictures of the World's Needs," "Changing Attitudes in Missions," "Message of Non-Christian Religion."

The Student Volunteers of the state realize that today these problems are real, and are attempting to find the purpose of God in the World. In order to study missions of today, they are studying present-day conditions.

He: "My education cost me $8,000."

She: "Money doesn't go far these days, does it?"

Vernon (Tiny) Moist

Moist is now playing his third year with the York College Panthers, and will be a very welcome member of the basketball team next year. Tiny (who stands about six feet and a half) is noted for his scoring ability and his strong defensive playing at forward.

"Well, here's to Y-O-R-K, YORK!"

AN ACTIVITY FOR EVERY STUDENT

The matter of how many offices a student should hold, or rather how few offices a student should hold, has been a topic for discussion in the Student Council. The contention that perhaps some organizations are suffering from lack of proper attention cannot easily be denied.

It could be nothing else but beneficial, both to organizations and also to students, if some system of limiting the number of activities of a student were worked out and put into operation. The Student Council committee which was appointed to try to work out such a system came up with a plan which would be a little difficult to put into operation, and suggested a more simple system.

All activities could be divided into principal and secondary activities. Presidents of any organization, editors of The Sandburr and The Marathon could be classed as having principal activities. Then other officers and staff members could be classed as taking part in secondary activities. The rule could be that one student may hold either one principal office and two secondary ones, or only three secondary ones. Or perhaps the rule might be even more restrictive.

The Student Council has taken no definite action about the matter, but for some time there has been a feeling that something should be done to help the situation. Such a system as is now being discussed and worked out by the Student Council would greatly simplify the problem of electing to offices students who can really devote enough time to the activity to do justice to it. Such a system, we believe, would be worth trying.

THE TRAVELS OF PHILBAD, GEEZZER, AND SCRIBE (By David Braun)

It is one of the daily tasks assigned to Philbad and us that we attend many assemblies of scholars where great men lecture to us. And yesterday we went as usual to the lecture room and there was a great throng assembled, and a learned Doctor was addressing them. "It seemeth to me," saith Philbad after some time, "that this bird knoweth whereof he speaketh."

And we said, "Truly, he putteth out the dope in good shape." And in the midst of the discourse the learned Professor saith, "Life is like an hundred dollar bill, it's no good until you change it." And we saith unto Philbad, "At times life resembleth more a plugged nickel." But he answered us not, and we listened more attentively. And finally the hour ended and we went to our quarters, meditating on the wise cracks of the Doctor.

"Truly," said we, "life resembleth a bill of large denomination, but how shall we change it into coin of the realm so we may spend it wisely?" And Philbad saith, "Hast thou never heard of kind actions and worthy deeds? Hast never read that he who knoweth all knowledge and doeth no good shall be as nothing, but he who doeth righteous acts unto his brother is worthy of living forever?" And we said, "That is one for the book", and we wrote a proverb: That be it truly worthy to change the life into dimes of helpful conduct so that he who spends his substance in kind deeds shall be a noble pauper.

Editor's note: Braun graduated from York College in 1928 and is now attending Yale University. He is The Sandburr's "New York correspondent."

York College ALUMNI

W. H. Morton

One of the number of alumni of York College who have won high honors in the educational world is W. H. Morton, '09. Since leaving York College Mr. Morton secured his A. M. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1912, and from Columbia University in 1923. In 1928 the University of Nebraska conferred on him the degree of Ph. D.

While superintendent of schools in Fairmont, Ashland, Fairbury, and Beatrice, Mr. Morton gained recognition and prominence in educational work. At present he is a member of the faculty of the State Teachers' College of the University of Nebraska. He was called to York to address the alumni in 1928.

Mrs. C. E. Spore

The first class of York College to graduate consisted of only two members, Charles E. Crabb, who is now an editor in Losgatos, Calif., and Mrs. C. E. Spore (Minnie Buswell) who is a homemaker in York. These two, graduated from the College in 1894.

Mrs. Spore had taught seven years in the public schools of Nebraska before she completed the missionary course in Bonebrake Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, in 1902. During the ten years she was in Canton, China, the Miller Seminary for girls was founded at Siu Lam. One of her first pupils there is now the head of the institution.

Since returning from China, Mrs. Spore has spent one year as York College librarian, and was several years the capable assistant of her husband in his pastorates. Although she is frail physically Mrs. Spore is a giant in mental and spiritual powers. Her interest in York College has never waned.

A certain man about campus lets us in on the secret of how to plan for a week end in New York. "Figure out," says he, "your expenses, multiply by two, and add five dollars."

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

Prof. W. H. Morton was on the campus on Feb. 16 on his way to fill engagements in Fairbury and Fullerton. He seemed very much pleased with the program being carried on by the Alumni Association in transforming the old gymnasium into a library. Since operations have begun on the project the Alumni Association has received something in the neighborhood of $450 from its members.

Word comes to York friends that Neil Robson and Miriam Bryan are married. Robson is attending the University of Nebraska.

Ernest Philson, '23, has had the misfortune of losing one eye from infection caused by a piece of steel.

The arrival of many new candidates for the class of 1949 has been announced. At the home of Gladys Reynolds Gotchall, '25, Esther McLaughlin Marshall, '25, and Mrs. Seth Jacobson, '17, boys. At the home of Lucille Folts Walkup, '25, a girl.

Harold Ashmore, '28, was a York rooster at the Hastings game on Feb. 12.

Elden Henry, who attended College last semester, was a spectator at the Hastings game on Feb. 12.

Dean Charles Amadon and several of his pupils went to Lincoln on Feb. 18 to attend the State Music Teachers' convention.

Harvey Casebeer is now teaching school and coaching at High Prairie, Nebr. He brought his team down to the District high school tournament.

MARATHON

Orders for The Marathon, the yearbook of York College, will still be taken, according to Onita Stone, editor of The Marathon. However the annual will go to press within a very short time and any orders must be given at once, if they are to be filled. Orders will be taken by Harlon Moore or any member of The Marathon staff.

If you haven't ordered your copy do so at once. Here are ten reasons why you should:

1. To secure a record of the year so that you may "take the school home with you."
2. For friendship's sake—to remember old classmates.
3. Because of the many new features.
4. To show your folks at home what York College is like.
5. To show to prospective students from your home town.
6. Because this annual is unique and different from preceding ones.
7. For its historical value. Ten years from now you would give two and three times its price to have the copy you neglected to order.
8. Because of its comparatively low price.
9. Because your loyalty to York College should make you feel proud of it.
10. Because it is YOUR book—the record of YOUR college in YOUR day, edited by YOUR classmates.

EXCHANGE NEWS

The history department of the University of Omaha is sponsoring a European tour for students, to take place this summer. The trip will cover all the main points of interest in northwestern Europe. The tourists leave Omaha on June 11, and return to New York the 27th of July. Any student within or without the University of Omaha is eligible to join the touring party. It will be accompanied and directed by the president and some members of the faculty. An especially attractive feature is that $575 covers all the expenses of the tour.

Dr. Robert Marion, a noted organist, gave an organ recital in the Methodist Church at Kearney on the evening of Feb. 10. He also gave an interesting talk in the music history class in the Kearney State Teachers' College just preceding his program. Dr. Marion has spent years of study and practice on the organ and piano, and has worked personally with many of the most renowned masters.

"It won't be long now," according to the Kearney College paper, until regular training for the track program will begin. Almost every evening a few huskies may be seen in heavy athletic suits trotting around the snow covered track, undaunted by the extreme cold.

College students at Hastings who are eligible to vote are being urged to express their opinions on the Sunday movie issue at a special election Feb. 8.

SENIORS HAVE LUNCHEON SENIOR RECOGNITION DAY

The Senior class and their sponsor, Prof. Warren Baler, enjoyed a luncheon at the McCloud Hotel following the Recognition day services. The toast programs were in the shape of a heart and were entitled, "Big Whoopee." Katherine Moore, president of the class, was toastmistress on the following program:

"Heck".....Prof. Baler
"Eats".....Edna Coffey
"And How".....Schuyler Phillips
"Rats".....Harold Jeffers
"Terrible".....Louis Helzer
"Sap".....Everett Samuelson
In the evening the class and their sponsor were entertained at a dinner at the home of Pres. and Mrs. J. R. Overmiller, after which they attended a debate.

WORK REMODELING OLD GYM GOING FAST

College Plans to Move Library
Into New Location During Spring Vacation.

The remodeling of the old gymnasium into a library, a project which has been undertaken by the York College Alumni Association, is progressing rapidly, and the library will soon be ready for occupancy.

The balcony running track has been leveled and the balcony space enlarged. This space has been divided into 20 paneled booths which will be available for the use of students pursuing special research or thesis work. A room has also been built in the balcony which will be used by the debating teams, or for other organizations needing a special meeting place. A commodious stairway has been built leading to the balcony to take the place of the narrow stairways formerly used.

About one-third of the main floor space will be used for bookstacks and the remaining two-thirds will be used for study tables for the students. New tables, chairs, and bookstacks are being ordered to equip this part of the building.

The walls, ceilings, and paneled booths are being decorated in harmonious and restful colors, and an adequate system of electric lighting is planned, all of which will add to the beauty and serviceability of the building for library purposes.

The work will be completed early in March, and the process of moving will be undertaken during the spring vacation.

MORGAN GIVES TALK HONORING WASHINGTON

Coach R. B. McCandless Presents
Trophy to Championship
Team of 1927-1928.

Prof. J. C. Morgan was the principal speaker on the chapel program on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. In beginning his speech Professor Morgan asked the question, "Why do we honor George Washington?" He then impressively disclosed the reasons why Washington is honored to such a great extent. "We honor him mainly because of the marvelous way in which he devoted himself to the welfare of his generation," stated Professor Morgan.

The second feature of the chapel program was Coach R. B. McCandless' presentation of the Nebraska Collegiate Athletic Conference trophy which was won by the championship basketball team of York College during the season of 1927-28. The trophy was presented to Louis Helzer, who captained last year's team, and Helzer accepted it in behalf of the team. Helzer, Gilbert, and Moist were the three honored at the brief ceremony.

In closing the Washington's birthday chapel program the boys' glee club sang two numbers: "The Winter Song," by Bulard, and "We Don't," arranged by Parks.

PROF. AND MRS. BALLER ENTERTAIN SENIOR CLASS

Prof. and Mrs. Baller opened their home to the senior class on Feb. 13 for a party which followed a visit to a local theatre. Their home was decorated profusely with hearts, and the Valentine idea was carried out in the games that were played, as well as in the refreshments. Seventeen members of the class were present at the party.

CORRECTION

In our last issue several of the names of the senior class were omitted because of a typographical error. The class roll is as follows: Raymond Bryant, Alice Coffey, Edna Coffey, Lois Cottrell, Fred Gilbert, Louis Helzer, Margaret Hill, Francis Harbert, Harold Jeffers, Floyd Mann, Anna Marquardt, Virgirie McClatchey, Thornton Miller, Harlon Moore, Margie Murphy, Schuyler Phillips, Daniel Poulson, Everett Samuelson, Katherine Spore, Esther Strickler, and Grant Sterner.

NEBRASKA WESLEYAN WINS SILVER TROPHY

Cecil Stanley Is Judged Winner of Oratorical Contest Held Here.

Mr. Cecil Stanley, representing Nebraska Wesleyan, was the winner of the State Oratorical Contest of the Nebraska Inter-Collegiate Forensic Association, held in the United Brethren Church on the evening of Feb. 21. By winning this contest three times consecutively Nebraska Wesleyan is now the permanent possessor of the silver trophy awarded by the Association. The presentation was made by Harlon Moore, who is president of the Association this year.

The program was opened with an organ prelude by Donald Fisher, after which the following orations were given:

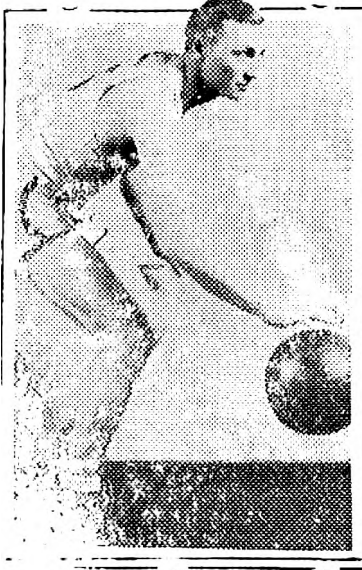

Oration, "Whither Bound, America?"
Charles Sheldon

Oration, "The Endurance Test."
Ruth Bryan

Oration, "The Parrot"
Cecil Stanley

Sheldon was the Doane representative, while Miss Bryan was the Grand Island representative. The judges were Miss Lurline B. Lee, public speaking instructor at York high school; Rev. C. L. Young, pastor of the United Brethren Church of York, and R. D. Hansen, of Lincoln. Light refreshments were served to the out-of-town guests after the contest.

MIDLAND WARRIORS WIN SECOND ENCOUNTER WITH YORK COLLEGE PANTHERS

York Forges Ahead of Hastings by Defeating Bronchos there Feb. 12.

With a week's rest behind them the Panthers met the Midland Warriors on the home floor on Feb. 20 and lost by the score of 38-30. The game was somewhat ragged at times and was marked by a number of fouls.

Midland scored first and were leading 11-0 at the end of the first ten minutes of play. Then Batty scored and Moist tallied another one. The first half ended 19-12. In the last half the Panthers played better basketball, but could not overcome the lead which Midland had piled up.

Nordstrom was high point man with 18 counters. Moist came next with 15 points to his credit. Batty showed up well, gaining 11 points, while Helzer contributed two field goals for his share of the scoring. Gilbert and Gallant played good games at guard positions, but seemed unable to offset the fast attack of the Midland forwards.

York Panthers Beat Hastings
On Feb. 12 the Panthers invaded the Broncho camp at Hastings, coming back with the long end of a 32-26 score. The men were playing real basketball that night, and easily defeated the Bronchos. Hastings was handicapped by the loss of their captain, McGrady, who was not able to play the game because of an injured knee. Because of this victory the Panthers stand a good chance to finish in second place in the conference.

CONCORDIA COLLEGE WINS EXHIBITION GAME FEB. 22

The Concordia Teachers' College, of Seward, beat the York College Panthers last Friday night 32-30. The game was an exhibition one played for the benefit of the high school players and students attending the district tournament.

It was a close game all the way through with many exciting moments. Nobody knew whose game it was until the final gun. York led at the half 16-14. Moist led the scoring for York with 19 points, while Helzer followed with 6. Thalmann, for Seward, netted 11 counters, and the tall forward, Buchholz, scored 8 points. John Calvert (Nebr. Wesleyan) referred the game. Gautzmann was umpire.

"Y" CLUB TO SPONSOR INVITATION TOURNAMENT

The "Y" Club of York College is sponsoring an invitation tournament to be held March 1 and 2. This tournament is open to all who wish to enter. The Club hopes that all of the schools who did not place in the district tournament will return for this tournament.

Suitable rewards for the various classes will be offered. This is an annual activity of the "Y" Club, and with the new gymnasium it will be much better able to entertain the visiting teams than it has been at any time previous.

She: "No, I haven't any comb."

Neal Gallant

Gallant is playing his first year with the Panthers and has proved himself a very capable guard. Although only a freshman his ability compares favorably with that of the best guards in the state.

RAYMOND RUPPEL NAMED WEST POINT CANDIDATE

In the recent examination of candidates for appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, from the fourth congressional district of Nebraska, a York College student was among those named.

From the eleven applicants Raymond Ruppel received the second highest score in the examination and was selected as first alternate. A principal and four alternates are chosen. The entrance examination will be held March 5, 1929. The examination of candidates was conducted by the Hon. J. N. Norton, under the supervision of the United States Civil Service Commission.

Marvin Creech

Creech is another of the freshman members of the basketball squad. He has shown up well in several games and his presence on next year's team will strengthen it considerably.

Y. W. C. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

The election of officers was held February 19 at the regular Y. W. meeting. Following is a list of the new officers:

President.....Hazel Bearss
Vice president.....Margaret Yust
Secretary.....Josephine Spore
Treasurer.....Ardith Kull
Church Adviser.....
.....Mrs. R. B. McCandless
Faculty Adviser.....
.....Miss Edith Cone

Four new members were recognized; Elsie Plant, Amy Turner, Margaret Pape, and Irene Heers.

Mrs. John Calvert of the Mothers Jewel's Home was the speaker at the meeting Feb. 12th. It being Lincoln's birthday, she had chosen as her subject, "Patriotism." Mrs. Calvert told of her trip to Switzerland, where the World W. C. T. U. convention was held. She said that she was really ashamed of the way many of the American people showed their patriotism. She said that many of the people drank on the trip across the ocean, which was not showing patriotism, as the foreigners judge Americans by the actions of a few. If we stop to think that we are judged by our actions, we will realize that our actions do show our patriotism.
