MAY DAY OBSERVED WITH REGAL MARCH AND IRISH FOLK PLAY

Hazel Bearss, Senior, Crowned in Traditional Manner at Annual Fete.

The annual May Day Festival sponsored by the Christian Associations of York College was held on the college campus the afternoon of May 9.

To the music played by the orchestra, the May Queen, Hazel Bearss, ascended her flower-decked throne. The Maid of Honor, Margaret Yust, was seated at her right. Her attendants were: Opal Mitchell, senior; Lois Overmiller, junior; Ermina Hoyle, sophomore; Genevieve Rystrom, freshman; and Dorothea Hintz, from the business college. The flower girls were Margaret Hughes and Jane Armand. The queen's train was carried by small Natalie Newcomer and Harold Nordlund.

The crown of roses was presented by Ethel Dixon, a senior, and placed upon the queen's head by her maid of honor. The junior sceptre was presented by Mildred Dann, the sophomore flower orb by Martha Evans, the freshman footstool by Evelyn McKain, and the basket of flowers from the business college by Neli Vaughn.

This ceremony was followed by the May Pole dance, given under the direction of Miss Muriel Thomas. The girls taking part in the winding of the May Pole were: Jo Spore, Helen Oliver, Wilma Heers, Marporie Mohler, Eleanor Zike, Mabel Tracy, Bessie James, Goldie Waldron, Marion Shambaugh, Violette Taylor, Helen McCoy and Marie Stream.

After the winding of the May Pole, the Histrionic Club, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Reid Loreman, presented "The Twig of Thorn," an Irish folk play in three acts. The scene was laid near Kyleberg, Ireland, in the cottage of Nessa Teig, during the year of the great famine.

REPRESENTATIVE MAN AND WOMAN STUDENT CHOSEN BY COLLEGE

Scholarship, Athletic Ability, Character and Service Considered.

The 1930 Sandburr staff presents in this issue the representative woman and the representative man student of York College.

The qualities considered in making the selection were scholarship, athletic ability, character and service to the college. By popular vote of the student body, Margaret Yust, '31, of Sylvia, Kansas, and Ray Ruppel, '31, of Sargent, Nebraska, were chosen as best representing those qualities. Martha Evans, '32, of LaPorte, Indiana, and Manuel Martinez, '30, of Antonito, Colorado, ranked second.

PIANIST AND BARITONE PRESENTED IN RECITAL

Conservatory Students Give Program at College Church May 5.

The conservatory of music presented Margaret Yust, pianist, and Brighton Houston, baritone, in a joint recital at the United Brethren church on the evening of May 5.

Margaret is a member of the junior class in the collegiate course and has studied under the direction of Miss Eda Rankin, of the conservatory, during her college course.

Throughout all of her renditions conspicuous ability was displayed from the dainty Gluck-Brahms number to the dramatic and stormy "Rhapsody in G Minor." Margaret's playing was done with vigor and perfect serenity.

Brighton, a special music student, has studied with Dean Amadon for two years and he gives proof of the Dean's excellent training.

Brighton has a voice of exceptional strength, a voice warm in quality, and in excellence of diction and thoughtful interpretation. The singing was smooth and characterized by sincerity.

FIRST CLASS HONOR RATING RECEIVED IN NATIONAL CONTEST

"The Sandburr" Places High in Tenth Annual All-American Critical Service.

THE SANDBURR scored a high honor rating in a national press association contest, receiving a First Class Honor, or Excellent, rating in the Tenth Annual All-American Critical Service conducted by the National Scholastic Press Association with headquarters at the University of Minnesota. This honor places THE SANDBURR among the best of college publications in America.

An increase in the number of papers entered from 38 last year to 644 this year meant stiffer competition in every class. In receiving a higher honor rating than last year THE SANDBURR proves itself to be better from a journalistic standpoint. Recently the score book was received and out of a possible 1000 points, the local paper scored 805. It was awarded a First Class Honor Rating. The only rating higher than this is the All-American Honor Rating which is usually captured by university publications or papers in metropolitan cities.

The summary of the score book was as follows: Out of a possible 230 points in news values and sources, THE SANDBURR received 190. In news writing and editing, out of a possible 300 it received 200. Out of a possible 180 points in editorials and entertaining matter it received 140, and out of 290 points in headlines, typography and make-up, 240 points were added, bringing the total number of points to 805 out of a possible 1000.

There are five different ratings: (1) All-American Honor Rating; (2) First Class Honor Rating; (3) Second Class Honor Rating; (4) Third Class Honor Rating; (5) Fourth Class, no honors.

Every paper entered receives a rating. The ratings are like grades in a college or university. All-American, or A; First Class, or B; Second Class, or C; Third Class, or D; Fourth Class, or Failure. Entries are divided into two main groups: (1) The Senior Division, which consists of university, college, teachers' college, normal school, and junior college papers, and (2) the Junior Division, which consists of high school and junior high school papers.

Senior Division or college papers are again divided into groups according to the kind of college and the frequency of publication. Junior Division papers are divided again according to the kind of school and enrollment. Thus each paper is judged in a group of papers of its own class, which insures equality of opportunity.

York College—York College!

OUR THANKS.

The editor and the staff wish to thank all those who have helped in any way towards publishing this paper. It has been possible only with the cooperation of students, faculty and staff. We hope to have the same response next year.

CONGRATULATIONS, FRESHMEN!

We wish to give due honor to the freshman class for the fine paper they put out. They have reason to be proud of their achievement. Members of this class have been unusually active this year in various lines of endeavor.

Y. C.

WHY WRITE A THESIS?

Why should a senior be required to write a thesis? This is a question that has been puzzling the seniors for the past months. Knowing that the instructors do not expect them to make any new discovery, and being assured that no one will ever read it but the head of the department, the busy senior does not find much inspiration in the task.

As to the fate of the theses written by the seniors this year, there is not much doubt that they will be added to the collection already stored away in the archives of the college. At least, they should be placed where undergraduates might secure some idea of what a thesis is before they write one.

Y. C.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Our Panther Club is not efficient. It has not aroused sufficient school spirit this year in boosting athletics, forensics or any other school activity. What it has done is commendable, but it has stopped far short of its purpose.

If you argue that the Panther Club can not do everything, you are right. However, if it is to function in the proper way, is it not responsible for the stimulation of school spirit? This year our booster programs have failed and our school spirit has diminished. Who is responsible?

Y. C.

WORTHWHILE FRIENDSHIPS.

This is a season of autograph albums, snapshots and similar institutions. All collegians can be divided into two classes, those who are ransacking their brains in attempts to recall something in the line of verse and those who are requesting someone to "write in my book."

Who says this is a materialistic age? Let him hibernate until Commencement is well past, because all of the aforementioned evidences of friendship are proofs of the reality of abstract things.

There is necessarily a close association among students on a campus. Few people are able to spend a year in college without making many friends. Such friendships can not be analyzed in the laboratory, can not be produced synthetically, and can not be controlled mechanically; yet they are real, they are undoubted, and they are worthwhile.

Some of our number will soon be leaving us. We trust that the ties formed at York College will bind them to the best things in life. We hope that the names and pictures that they carry away in their albums will be symbols of many well-wishing friends at York.

The President's Message

By Pres. J. R. Overmiller

We are thinking these days concerning a greater York College. Our ideas are not visionary and we are not thinking of institutions such as Yale College or Chicago University or any other large institution but we are thinking of York College as we believe it possible to make it, an institution similarly established with not only a well equipped faculty but a well paid faculty, with endowment sufficient to assure its security. As we think of this greater York College at the present time we are moving forward in a very earnest effort toward the liquidation of the present debt on the institution and the establishment of a $500,000.00 endowment.

When I think of the future of York College I am convinced that the institution will be very greatly in need of the continued church loyalty and support of all her former students. We are at this time issuing an invitation to all former students of the institution to attend the Commencement program. We have hundreds of men and women scattered over the country who spent from one to four years in York College and we believe that this group of men and women should be banded together with a desire to establish the institution on a secure financial foundation.

I wish to say at the present time that our campaign for finances is moving forward very satisfactorily. The churches which have been solicited have been responding in very fine order and we believe that victory is very possible. Again I would say that it will require whole hearted cooperation on the part of our pastors and people throughout the entire constituency and I have confidence that said cooperation is to be willingly granted. A much brighter day is ahead for our beloved institution just as soon as the debt is liquidated and some reasonable endowment is secured.

Y. C.

COMMENCEMENT

During the school days that have passed, we have heard strange names so frequently that they have become familiar. We have seen these names written in the records of our Alma Mater, in the columns of THE SANDBURR, in the history of the growth of York College, and in the news of world progress. We have also heard these names spoken by those familiar with the past of our college. Naturally, we should like to meet the bearers of these names.

We are approaching another Commencement season. Custom decrees that all alumni return to their Alma Mater at this time, if possible. So we, who now are students of York, look forward to Commencement for an opportunity of seeing, and perhaps speaking with those who were so prominent in the earlier days of the college.

Commencement is to alumni as the country store was to the pioneers. It is an opportunity to renew acquaintance with the friends of yesterday. And with those friends were spent from five to seven days each week, thirty-six weeks of the year, for four years.

IT ISN'T YOUR SCHOOL, IT'S YOU.

If you want to go to the kind of school
That's the kind of school you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.

You'll find elsewhere what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school,
It isn't your school, it's you.

Real schools aren't made by students afraid
Lest somebody else get ahead;
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a school from the dead.

And if while you earn the honors you crave,
Your neighbor may win some too,
Your school will be what you want to see,
It isn't your school, it's you.

DO COLLEGE STUDENTS SELL THEIR TEXT BOOKS?

Do college students sell their text books? This is a timely question concerning an unfortunate custom which seizes many undergraduates in January and June. Thomas Arkle Clark, Dean of Men of the University of Illinois, gives two reasons for these seasonal outbreaks, first, the student's indifference or lack of interest in his work, and second, his need to get out of a financial difficulty. Dean Clark's further statements that "a college student is always broke" and "anything that will immediately add to his bank account seems to him justifiable" will not be challenged.

But immediate cash is not always forthcoming from the sale of text books, and the sums obtained are negligible in comparison with the value of the books. The rush to dispose of text books at less than their real value is swelled by the thought that now, examinations being over, those old books will never be needed again! Perhaps they'll not be needed for classroom work; but how often graduates moan that they wish they had kept their text books, to brush up on a language, to find a certain formula, to locate that line of poetry! The reasons for missing books hastily disposed of are many, but the regret is recurrent that the books are gone, with all the precious notes that added value to them, at least in sentiment.

Again, where will you ever get accepted authorities so economically? The truth is that once you have sold a text book, you will never replace it, you will even tramp to a library for the required information. Which is not quite as clever as keeping the books in the first place, and gradually acquiring a personal reference library that may save much time and money for you in the future.

It is a recognized fact that text books on technical or professional subjects constitute the basis of a professional library. In many cases these professional books are very expensive, and to resell them at the popular low rates would not augur well for a technical career. In general, text book formats are becoming more attractive yearly, and do not detract in the least from the charm of well filled bookcases.

Who would have a library composed only of novels? A choice as limited as that would indicate an uninteresting owner; even a calculus text book on your bookshelves would catch the eye and hint of a many sided character!

These are points in passing, for consensus of opinion suggests that you keep your text books for sentimental reasons. President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton University, suggests "Every undergraduate leaving college should take his text books with him as a reminder and record of a past chapter in his life and as a nucleus of a library." Perhaps it isn't fashionable to be sentimental. Yet books have become a recognized budget item; and now in many colleges is heard the cry of "Keep Your Text Books."

There is no library or reference book as handy as the worn and scribbled text book, which has been your companion, on and off campus. Can you think of anything which would be as graphic a commentary on your college life as the notes and

GRADUATING CLASS MAKES PLEDGE ON COLLEGE DEBT

A $500 pledge on the college debt is to be the gift of the senior class to York College.

The class of 1930 are sharing the enthusiasm generally displayed by all interested in York College in helping to decrease the college debt. The $500 pledge is to be paid by the twenty-one members of the class by March, 1931.

It is customary for each senior class to leave a gift to the school. Among the most useful gifts presented is that of the class of 1929, the electric bell system.

CLASS OF 1930

FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN OPENS WITH DRIVE

York County Commercial Club Endorses Campaign.

The York College campaign for funds in York County to clear the institution of debt will open its "rapid fire" Tuesday morning after a "kick-off" meeting Monday night at the McCloud Hotel. Campaign officials believe that if the campaign workers keep up their present enthusiasm, and if the people of the community analyze the situation honestly and stop to think how much the college means to York and York County in a financial, cultural, and character-forming way, the amount needed to free the college from debt will be secured within a very few days.

To add "kick" to the opening of the intensive drive Tuesday morning, the campaign publicity director has arranged for a pursuit type airplane to fly over York and several other towns in the county, scattering campaign handbills among which will be several worth-while prizes if brought to campaign headquarters on the south side of the square. The plane will be sent from Lincoln by the Arrow Flying Service, Inc., a subsidiary of the Arrow Aircraft & Motors corporation, and York College will be charged only for the fuel consumed by the ship and the pilot's time.

Nearly 100 persons attended a meeting called by the York County Commercial Club at the McCloud Thursday evening, when most of the prominent members of the Club pledged themselves to aid in "putting across" the campaign. John Mekote, attorney, and president of the Crete, Nebr., Chamber of Commerce, was the chief speaker of the evening. He told of Crete's experience with Doane College, and declared that the people of Crete did not realize how much the college meant to them until Beatrice attempted to have the institution moved to the Gage county seat. Then the Crete people got busy and raised more money within two weeks for the support of the college than they had raised in the preceding 50 years. They are now highly satisfied with the investment they made, he said.

C. A. McCloud and President J. R. Overmiller also addressed the commercial club and its guests, stressing the fact that York College is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, single assets in the county.

A large group of York College students visited the meeting and injected considerable enthusiasm into the gathering by singing a number of Y. C. songs and giving a few college yells. Leo Anderson was the leader. The program of the evening included a solo by Professor Amadon and several numbers by the Y. C. male quartet.

The campaign organization consists of C. A. McCloud, chairman, with whom is associated as organization committee, J. R. Overmiller, E. A. Levitt, J. R. McCloud, F. C. Middlebrook and W. E. Hille. The organization has been divided into two groups of which J. R. McCloud and E. A. Levitt are the commanders. Captains who will serve under Mr. McCloud include Paul Porter, J. F. Hitchcock, Russ Williams, W. E. Hille, D. D. King and Fred Stilson. Under Mr. Levitt will be the following captains: A. R. Caldwell, L. S. Loomer, J. H. Wright, W. L. Kirkpatrick and F. C. Middlebrook.

The campaign organization also includes W. B. Bland, class of '17, a well-known football star and athlete during his Y. C. days, now in Y. M. C. A. work, who is serving as office manager; and James R. Lowell, publicity director for the Arrow Aircraft & Motors Corporation and the Lincoln Community Chest, who is handling publicity.

A lady was entertaining the small son of a married friend.
 "Are you quite sure you can cut your meat, Willy?" she asked, watching him a moment.
 "Oh, yessum," he replied without looking up. "We often have it as tough as this at home."

Bologna Column

By Theron Maxson

Well, howdy everybody! Oh yes! Track season is now in full swing and as usual Maurice Brookhart is being held up high in the eyes of the student body--this time as a high jumper. Then too, Brookhart enjoys running, that is, at least occasionally, for you know, folks, the other Sunday he tripped clear over to Lushton. The trip, however, was rather strenuous, for his only reward when he arrived in that fair city was a Payne. Keep it up, Brookhart, and you may get in on the Bunion Marathon this summer.

On these nice balmy days the students sit in the library gazing into space, and as the airplanes soar peacefully over those who are committing mental suicide, all thoughts are turned to fairy love castles or to cool summer evenings, and even for once Leo Anderson is not working on psychology, for he is heard to say, "Think I'll be an aviator instead of a college graduate, Genevieve." Miss Cone shakes her head and all is quiet for several minutes when a terrible noise is heard from one of the booths above the main floor as Donald Fisher tries to wrench one of the windows from its casing, for he has been toiling long over his thesis. A strong Nebraska wind just across the border from Iowa strikes his scattered papers and they are soon sailing briskly out of the newly opened window.

"Hey!" shouts Don as he rushes blindly to the scene of distress. But alas, he lost his balance and tumbled head foremost through the window. But don't be alarmed, for he is saved by a light grasp of his right hand on the sill, and besides, this event is only a dream, for Donald had fallen asleep over his thesis. Thesis writing is one of the requirements of the "bored of education."

Do you know that York College has a number of experienced pugnacious people, for "pugnacious," according to Noah Webster, is translated as "disposed to fight." Now I see no reason why this could not mean tongue lashings as well as it might mean physical whippings for what did the old sages say? "The tongue is mightier than the sword." I beg your pardon, I guess it was, "The pen is mightier than the sword." But following out the true chronological order of events, the tongue lashings usually precede the dipping of the pen into the ink, or at least, that is the way it has been in Reno. Well, as I was going to say, do you know that Basso Knolle had his first round of poor English with McKain, the outcome of which McKain was given the count according to latest reports from headquarters. All is well now, however, for Lee believes in practicing what he sings, for one of his favorite songs has a segment in it something like this, "If you can't get along with one or two, you're much better off with three." Blondy Kunkel also scored several hard words to the head of the chemist, but the final outcome has not been learned as the Student's Press Association had fine trouble with the telegraph system as Lawrence Caldwell, accidentally fell into a large waste paper basket in the south hall and broke the sounder which was concealed under it.

-: Estes Calls You :-

June 6-16 will be an epoch-making ten days in the lives of the students who attend the Y. M. C. A. Y. W. C. A. Conference at Estes Park, Colorado.

High up among the mighty Rockies, where merely to glance in any direction thrills one, is a wonderful place to spend ten days, and especially in early June with the meadows golden with their first blossoms and the pale green patches of newly leafed aspens peeping out here and there among the darker background of the pines. Lifting one's eyes toward the heavens one sees the majesty of the snow-capped peaks on every side. The spot in itself makes one feel nearer to God.

Now add to such a setting as this such leaders and thought-provokers as Powers Hapgood, the millionaire's son who, to promote good will among the miners of the world, works as a common laborer in a Colorado coal mine, just as he has in coal mines throughout the world since his graduation from one of the largest and best known universities in the East in 1924; Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," of New York City, (and if you doubt his abilities just pick up a copy of "The World Tomorrow" in our library and read it); and Henry P. Vandusen, of the Union Theological Seminary, of Columbia University, New York City. The Union Theological Seminary in the past has furnished us such leaders as Bruce Curry and Reinhold Niebuhr, who have been among our best Estes leaders, and I have no fear that they will fall down in sending us Mr. Van Dusen for 1930. Dean Gossard, of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, is known to many of you, I am sure, and he will be at Estes again to help anyone on vocational problems.

These ten days at Estes will be ten days in which to think the kind of thoughts you have been wishing you had time for all the year. They will provide a chance to widen your horizon, to see the world as it really is and not merely from the confines of your college world. In these ten days you can really become acquainted with worthwhile students and leaders, have a chance to learn what friendship can really mean, and take long hikes in the snow-capped Rockies where the grandeur of the mountains provides inspiration. You will have ten days in which to find a newer, richer and deeper meaning in life than you have been able to discover in the hurry and rush of your college world, and ten days in which to learn something about the secret of living which Jesus himself discovered.

This year's program will help with such questions as: What is life for, anyway? What are the ideas about life which control many people today? What is really true about the universe? about man- about God? Can the law of love be lived? What can I believe about prayer? and other questions of importance.

Expenses will be about as follows (minimum):

Board .....	$10.00
Lodging .....	10.00
Registration fee (return- able until June 5) .....	7.50
Transportation (if in a car, approximately) .....	15.00
Miscellaneous .....	7.50
Total .....	$50.00

Anyone having a car which he can use to take a load, or anyone interested in attending the conference please see some of the commit-

W. G. BLAND ADDRESSES STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

Former Graduate Helping With Campaign.

Mr. W. G. Bland, '18, of Shelby, gave an inspirational talk in chapel the morning of May 12. Since his graduation from college Mr. Bland has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work but is now assisting with the campaign for funds for York College.

He used as the theme of his talk, "Wells" basing it upon the story of Christ and the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well, and showing how greatly the people of that locality have been benefitted by the well. He compared with it the work of Pasteur, Jane Addams, Williams, the founder of the Y. M. C. A., and others who have made outstanding contributions to the welfare of humanity, and contrasted it with the action of Absalom, who built a monument to himself.

"We are all digging wells", he said, "and we must decide for ourselves whether they are to be of service to others or for our own selfish ends."

The sports were not competitive but were arranged to foster friendliness and good sportsmanship among the girls of the four schools. The afternoon was spent in baseball, Nebraska ball, volley ball, -soccer-baseball, tennis, archery, relays and various stunts, after which the Wesleyan W. A. A. served a delicious picnic supper in the gymnasium.

NEAL GALLANT ELECTED PRESIDENT OF "Y" CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the "Y" club was held in the college cafeteria on the evening of May 7. After the regular business meeting, the election of officers was held. Neal Gallant was elected president; Marvin Creech, vice-president; Gene Duncan, secretary-treasurer; Wilbur Gard, sergeant-at-arms.

May 19 was set as the date for the annual over-night hike and committees were appointed to make all plans for the trip. It was voted that an announcement be made in chapel on the morning of May 19 by the President, that all college men, excepting "Y" Club members, wear hats on the morning of May 20, and remove them when meeting "Y" men. The penalty for disobeying will be three admonishments with the official "Y" Club spatula.

The athletic committee's decision on the election of football captain for 1920 was accepted. A captain will be selected by the coach at the beginning of each game.

ELEANOR ZIKE ELECTED RECRUIT PRESIDENT

At the last regular meeting of the Life Work Recruits, held on the evening of May 5, Eleanor Zike was elected president of the organization for the coming year. Hortense Pointer will carry out the work of secretary and treasurer, while June Crosby will act as devotional chairman.

After the election of officers, Dr. R. E. Harry, of York, spoke to the group on, "The Possibilities of the Medical Profession as a Means of Service." Dr. Harry presented some of the problems to be faced by one who is entering the realm of medicine, and made the field appear very attractive. He pointed out a number of ways by which humanity could be served through physical aid.

A hike was suggested and planned, which is to be held on the evening of May 19.
