

NEW MANAGEMENT IS INSTITUTED IN THE Y. C. ADMINISTRATION

Four Departmental Heads Are Elected to Supervise the Student Affairs

A new plan of administration has been instituted at York College by President J. R. Overmiller whereby it is believed that a more beneficial means of adjusting student life can be effected.

Professor Warren Baller, who has been on a furlough during the past year, preparing to take his Doctor's degree, was elected vice-president at the annual meeting of the college board of trustees last spring and will serve as assistant to the president.

The heads of four administrative departments will compose a board of directors headed by President Overmiller.

The department of curricular program is headed by Professor Earl I. Doty. Professor Charles Bisset heads the department of inter-collegiate relations. The department of student guidance is headed by Professor Warren Baller, and the department of student organizations and activities is under the direction of Professor Ray Hill.

DR. ZIEGLER ADDRESSES CHAPEL

Dr. S. S. Ziegler of Dayton, Ohio, General Secretary of Foreign Missions of the U. B. Church for the past eight years, gave the chapel address on Sept. 27.

Dr. Ziegler, in his address, stressed the fact that one cannot live a successful life as an individual unless he learns his relation to the great human family. He cited an example of people living apart from the rest of the world, in telling of a large American city whose school system was nearly broken down because of the lack of interest of the citizens of the town. Dr. Ziegler urged young people to take interest in all missionary work, and commended highly the work of Miss Helen Cole, of Otterbein College, who is now in West Africa.

YORK DEFEATS HASTINGS

The York College Panthers defeated the Hastings Bronchos by a score of 6-6 on the Bronch field on the evening of Oct. 6. The Panthers scored first on a pass, Norwood to Maurer to Thomas who ran 30 yards to score. Hastings scored in the third quarter when Holm slipped thru the line for 15 yards. The tries for extra point failed. The Panthers next game is at Doane when they observe their Homecoming on Oct. 21.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS FIRST MEETINGS OF THE YEAR

John Boren Is Selected for the Program Chairman

The first Y. M. C. A. meeting of the year was held in the chapel on Sept. 19. Welcome talks were given by the president of the organization, Russel Lewis, and Professor Ray Hill, sponsor.

On Sept. 26 a so-called "World's Fair" program was carried out. President Lewis led the group in the singing of two songs. Donald Varcoe led the devotions, using as a text, Daniel 1:1-4. John Boren, program chairman, introduced the speakers. Bob Graham talked on the subject "The World's Fair from a Woman's View-point," and Jack Graham was obliged to tell of "Things I Saw at the Fair that Bob Couldn't Possibly Have Seen."

Floyd Merchant sang a bass solo entitled "Look Down, Dear Lord", by Howard Fisher. The closing prayer was offered by Prof. Keim.

ANNUAL WATERMELON FEED GIVEN BY Y. M. C. A.

The annual "Watermelon Feed", which is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., especially for the benefit of the new men of the college in getting acquainted, was held in the college gym on the evening of Sept. 20.

Several invigorating games were played, the men being divided into two groups. Perhaps the most unusual stunt was that performed by two men of each team, who fed their colleagues cream puffs, while blinded.

The feature of the evening, however, was the disposition of a large number of large watermelons.

HOWARD HILL IS HEAD COACH AT KEARNEY NORMAL

Friends of H. H. Hill, who coached Panther athletic teams for two and one-third seasons, are pleased to learn of his election to the position of Head Football Coach at Kearney State Teachers College.

Mrs. Ethel Hill Is Called to the Greater Reward

Departs This Life After An Illness Covering Nearly Two Years

Mrs. Frances Ethel Hill, wife of Prof. Ray Hill of York College, died at her home in York Sunday morning, October 1, following a long illness.

Mrs. Hill, who was formerly Ethel Dixon, graduated from York College in 1930 with the degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts. At York College she studied voice under Dean Charles Amadon and piano under Miss Eda Rankin. Mrs. Hill had studied music, prior to coming to York, at Nebraska Wesleyan and the University of Nebraska. She was well known in Nebraska musical circles from her appearance in college operettas, broadcasts, and musicals. During her college course she conducted the choir in the York Baptist Church and acted as accompanist for Dean Amadon. The year following her graduation, she held the position of instructor in Music and English in the McCool schools.

On May 31, 1931 she was united in marriage to Prof. Ray Hill, head of the Biology Department of York College. During the summer of 1931 she and Mr. Hill attended the University of Colorado. For the past two years they have made their home in York.

Surviving besides her husband, are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dixon of Fairmont, and her sister Evelyn, who is a student at York College.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the United Brethren Church of York. Burial was at Fairmont. Rev. Paul Porter and President J. R. Overmiller of the college officiated at the services. Dean Charles Amadon sang "Hold Thou My Hand" by Briggs, and a quartet composed of Raymond Wochner, Evelyn McKain, Mrs. Ray Ruppel, and John Boren sang several numbers. Pallbearers were college friends: Russel Smith, James Speece, Russel Lewis, Henry Franz, William Hice, and Tennis Hoffman. The college faculty and the Christian organizations attended the services in a body.

Her charming personality and friendliness, which warmed the hearts of all who knew her, will be missed. Her consideration for others, her tact and sweet ways will be long remembered by every person who was fortunate enough to have associated with her.

HENRY FRANZ IS NEW PRES. OF "Y" CLUB

Renew Practice of Eating Together Every Month

Henry Franz was recently elected President of the York College "Y" Club to fill the vacancy caused by failure of Lawrence Conklin to return to school. Robert Graham was elected vice president. It was voted by members of the club to retain Prof. Chas. Bisset as sponsor.

During former years the "Y" club active members met once each month at the college eating house and dined together after which they held their regular business meeting. Last year this custom was temporarily suspended but has been again resumed and the Club assembled at the "Con" on Oct. 2 for their first get-together.

An amendment was recently added to the "Y" Club Constitution whereby the organization took over the responsibility of taking care of the gate at all York College Athletic events.

MR. GARWOOD WINS PRIZES IN ROTARY CLUB CONTEST

York College should feel very proud of having as caretaker of the campus Mr. Alden Garwood who recently walked off with two first places in the York Rotary Club's Annual Flower and Garden contest.

The one first place was secured on the triangular bed of red roses just south of the administration building and the other on a bed of mixed flowers which is located west of the ad building.

One of the prizes comprised a lawn settee and the other a lawn chair.

YORK COLLEGE OPENS HALLS TO NEW GROUP; IS FORTY-THIRD YEAR

Dr. S. S. Hough of Dayton, Ohio Addresses Students as New Term Opens

York College was officially opened to begin its forty-third year in its present location on the morning of September 12. President Overmiller presided at the opening convocation and welcomed new students and visitors.

Miss Alma Tress Lundman, head of the expression department, read "The Land of Beginning Again" by Tarkington, and "Her Refusal", anonymous. Arthur Amadon, a junior, sang two solos, "Deep River", and "Sunday Every Day."

Dr. S. S. Hough of Dayton, Ohio, general secretary of the board of administration of the United Brethren churches, gave the opening address.

Dr. Hough urged a full spiritual life as a preparation for a life of service and leadership. He pointed out that the personality, mind, and heart of our people have not developed in proportion to material things. He stated that the main thing in life is for us to know how to make our materialistic development balance our spiritual development. The first concern of every man is to know to grow in his personality. Dr. Hough advised the students that a rich, diversified, joyous life is founded on love for living.

RECEPTION GIVEN BY ZETAS ON SEPT. 26

Welcome Address Is Given by Wilmer Maley

The annual Zeta Reception was held Sept. 26, at 8:00 p. m. in the Zeta hall. A large number of new students were in attendance and contributed greatly to the success of the reception.

Wilmer Maley, '35, vice-president, acted as chairman and welcomed the newcomers in an opening address. Donald Hitchcock, '37, responded in behalf of the guests. Devotions were led by Vernie Buttermore, '35, the Zeta Chaplain.

A piano solo, "Venitienne," composed by Godard, was played by Viola Wimmer, '35, Mrs. Frances Kimball, '35, told of the beginning of the Zeta Literary Society. William Cullen Bryant's poem, "Robert of Lincoln", with variations, was read by Miss Alma Tress Lundman, head of the Expression department of York College. The closing number of the formal program was a short talk, "Why Be A Zeta?" given by William Hice, '34.

The informal part of the program was begun by singing the College Song. Hice, as chairman of the social committee, then introduced several relay games. Professor Chris Keim, Head of the Physical Science department, talked extemporaneously on the subject, "If a grass-widow married a grass-widower, would the children be grass-hoppers?"

Partners for lunch were found by matching the first and last names of prominent men of literature. The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, fruit salad, and wafers.

WHAT SHALL I GET OUT OF COLLEGE LIFE?

For what team shall I try? Which literary or engineering society shall I join? In what college organizations shall I be interested? Such questions as these enter the student's mind at this time of the year. Some students find this a turbulent worry. Others have particular interests, and make immediate decisions, with practically no self-questioning. Still others force themselves to make decisions, and follow them with little real pleasure and much strained concentration.

The undecided ones say the problem is perplexing; that one might just as well drift along with the rest. The nonchalant say that this is the best procedure anyway, as it brings peace of mind. Those with strong particular interests frequently go too heavily along one path. They don't permit themselves to be susceptible to other interests. It is likely too that those who force themselves into things said to be "good for them" will not feel entirely satisfied.

No doubt we all feel that the problem is a perplexing one, yet capable of sufficient solution. Certainly the student should neither worry too much nor force himself to an unnatural decision. Concentration on one hobby is concededly narrow, yet he who would throw himself into everything, when he has not the inborn energy or organization, is violating the unspoken maxim, "Put yourself not in a position you cannot fill." College students who work their way and still devote time to the absorption of knowledge, have conceivably little time for more than one social club or society, and a hobby. Certainly the hobby should not be neglected. However, we know, or read, of students who have entirely worked their way, yet engage in several forms of athletics, and are prominent in a number of other school activities. Still, as Percy Marks has said, the attainment of such prominence is wrongly considered as the aim of college, for college is not an end in itself. Such things will be forgotten after one college generation of four years. This is good advice, yet many feel that engagement in "activities", even as an "end in itself," is a valuable lesson in life.

They are all right. Although the athletes do not always stand in actual need of exercise, their experience will be a valuable influence in their lives, especially if their program has been well rounded. For a certainty every college student should take advantage of school social life, if he does no more than cultivate class associates, for in a school one is put in daily contact with a large number of fine people, and the experience should be rich. And as for those organizations, engineering, literary, music, which we can call "hobby societies;" they are permeated by such a strong common interest as to make them genuinely worthwhile.

For the college student then, let us say, "Get your money's worth out of your studies, and while you are at it get into everything that can be worked into your time and capacity."

THE PROBLEMS OF A FRESHMAN

A freshman and his vexations are seldom taken seriously. He is the subject of the jests of upper-classmen who desire to show their superiority in this way rather than by means of sage advice and magnanimity. To leave no doubt as to their purpose, they crown him with cap and bells in the form of the freshman cap. Despite the humor which accompanies them, the problems of the freshman are of a serious nature. They may influence the rest of his college days or even his whole life.

The freshman comes to college with the honors paid him on graduation from high school still ringing in his ears. He is inspired by his success and feels certain of making a mark for himself at which his classmates will gaze in awe. As one writer puts it, he is a small frog trying to fill the whole pool.

Many freshmen devote themselves too much to their studies and take college too seriously. When they leave college, they find that they have not paid enough attention to life itself. They are in a strange world. If they do no more than conceive a sincere philosophy of life, they have gained one of the most important things possible from a college education.

The purposes of a college education are to correct a person's faults and to educate him. To better himself, the freshman must first detect the faults of himself and his family. He is then in a position to correct them and acquire higher ideals and greater culture. He must view himself in a looking glass that allows him to see the stains that life is beginning to place upon him.

It is true that a good teacher makes his subject interesting, but a student must learn for himself. A teacher has been compared to a sort of "go-between" who presents a subject to a student in an interesting way so that he may study it. A person's interest in a thing cannot be aroused until he has made a sincere and earnest attempt to understand it.

Without a doubt the advice, given by others who have traveled the rough and tedious way, can be of great value to the struggling freshman. If he follows it, and if the gods are kind, he may even ascend to the realm of the wise and might—and become an upper classman.

WHY AM I GOING TO COLLEGE?

NEWS BRIEFS

George Keith of Oklahoma who was a York College student during the 1932-33 term was a visitor on the campus Oct. 2.

Mrs. Ual Hanshew, ex '32 of Valdez, Alaska, was a campus visitor on September 30. Mr. Hanshew, '31 is teaching in the public schools of Valdez.

A number of present and former York College students assisted in the presentation of a "Seth Parker" program at the United Brethren church on the evening of Sept. 27. The production was under the direction of Harley Allen, a former student, who filled the role of "Seth". Other participants were Mrs. Lucy Merkel, "Ma Parker"; Floyd Merchants, Captain; William Hice, Dr. Tanner; Evelyn McKain, Jane; Ella Larsen, Mary; Arthur Amadon, Cephus; John Boren, John; Neighbors, Lila Elam, Jane Caldwell, Viola Wimmer, Mrs. Theodore Thompson; Rodney Whittemore, Henry Franz; Miss Anna Thompson, Lizzie.

Miss Carolyn Duncan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Duncan, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, became the bride of Mr. Marvin Hersey on June 30.

Miss Helen Oliver, '32, who is teaching near Hampton visited her brother recently and attended the times you may feel that all your efforts are futile and ask yourself, "Why Am I Going to College?"

To that question each of you will give a different answer. Some of you attend college for the intellectual benefits you will receive. Some of you plan to be the great economic leaders of tomorrow and some will ease the pain of the suffering in the medical world. But how many of you are going just to play football or to join a social organization. Public servants live forever, but football honors die tomorrow and prom queens are soon forgotten.

The question, "Why Am I Going to College?" is a worthy one to ask yourself. It makes you think of things you otherwise would forget.

Perhaps you don't really know why you are going to college. The future may still be black and somber. It may be hard to decide whether your real talent lies in interior decorating or law. You like teaching, yet aviation is a fascinating subject. No matter how sure or undecided you may be, ask yourself this question. If you are certain of your career, it will help you to make the pathway clearer. If the road is still unbroken, you may discover the vocation in which lies your real talent.

If you are going to college to learn mathematics and Greek, study hard and master them, but do not forget that there are also social activities, which are connected with your school. Friendship will give you courage and high standing more easily than "A pluses". Try to catch the spirit of the institution, and learn to love each hall and class room. When your school days are over, you will think of all those once trivial incidents that happened on the library steps and in the upper hallway, and as the years pass, they will enlarge and you will cherish them as dear memories. Put yourself in the spirit of the college, and let all the pep chapels thrill you.

"Why Am I Going to College?" That is one of the most serious questions that has ever been put before you. Answer that question and you will find the key to happiness in college and success in life.

WHAT I EXPECT TO GET OUT OF COLLEGE

When I entered college this fall I did not enter with the idea that I was merely going to play football or to have a good time, but I entered with a determination to gain an education so as to better prepare myself to face the problems that are sure to confront me in future years.

I have often heard people say that one can get no more out of a thing than he puts into it. It is my belief, however, that we may easily get more out of an education than we put into it. I honestly feel that I am putting a very small sum into my education compared with what I expect to derive from it.

I do not expect to go to college for one year or even four years and finish with a thorough knowledge that will carry through my entire life, but I do expect to gain a sound, well planned foundation on which I can build as my study and ability increases. Neither do I feel it is the entire responsibility of my teachers to see that I gain this basis. I feel it is my own special duty to prepare myself in the best manner I know so that I can gain a fuller and sounder education. If I go from college unprepared, then I shall know that I was one of those that are not cut out for a college education.

YOUR PEP

Volumes have been written on college "pep" but it is found never to reach a point where it no longer needs encouragement. In particular should our enthusiasm be at the boiling point at this time of year when our gridiron heroes are out doing or dying for dear old Alma Mater. Are you doing your share? Have you learned the college yells and the college songs? Are you encouraging the team and talking them up at every opportunity or do you merely signify, when asked, that we have a football schedule and will attempt to play it out.

Every day someone is inquiring as to our prospects and as to whether we can win this game or that game. That is the big chance for each and every one of you to put the York College football team on the map. "Surely, we are going to win". No, we are not overconfident, but determined to go places and bring home a conference championship. Talk them up, encourage them, come out and yell your lungs out for them, bring your friends and neighbors and show them that we are all behind them.

THE CHALLENGE OF THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Today, as never before, the nation needs the enlightenment and direction that the college-trained man and woman can give. Leadership is the legitimate heritage of education; the power of knowledge is incalculable. But knowledge, unilluminated by idealism, may be only the means of filling the dreary vacuum of self with materialistic and trivial absorptions. Hope of solution of world-wide problems must come through spiritual awareness and ardor. And in the bright realms of youth these qualities are spontaneous and abundant.

Opportunities for expressing practical idealism abound in the service of our national disaster relief organization. During the last year the willing hands of thousands of young men and women sped on the nationwide task, committed to the Red Cross by Congress, of distributing among the families of 6,000,000 unemployed citizens such stores of food and clothing as have never before been appropriated for our own people. Flour milled from 85,000,000 bushels of wheat; garments to the number of 104,000,000 converted from the 844,000 bales of raw cotton,—both being the surplus of the Federal Farm Board,—made life supportable for some 25,000,000 individuals.

Throughout the depression graduates of former years, involuntarily idle, but undespelled of their vocational enthusiasm, offered their service in leisure-time programs carried on by various relief committees to keep up the morale of the jobless. Among these were many who had qualified themselves by the Red Cross instruction in first aid and life-saving, to teach others these courses. Young women who had majored in home economics and domestic science devoted themselves to volunteer work in Red Cross Chapters where budget-planning, food selection and nutrition were subjects acutely needed in order to stretch relief funds to their utmost capacity. Graduates with social service equipment were particularly in demand as volunteers to ease the heavy burdens imposed upon Red Cross workers by the abnormal demands of the depression.

In the months that lie ahead responsibilities of varying kind and degree await the continuing ministrations of the Red Cross. Due to drastic changes in legislation affecting Federal benefits to veterans, it is inevitable that the organization which by the terms of its charter is charged with the duty of serving those who wear or have worn the uniform of Uncle Sam should find its tasks greatly augmented. Disaster relief is the foremost obligation of the American Red Cross. Last year, it took the helm in 96 disasters ranging the breadth of the country.

The Volunteer Service of the Red Cross offers a wide scope of opportunities for helpfulness in its production, surgical dressing, canteen and motor corps divisions. Those who have served apprenticeship in any of these fields of usefulness find a ready place in time of major disasters when every resource in the stricken area is channeled through the Red Cross. For those who desire to qualify by special preparation for work rich in human appeal, there is Braille transcribing for the blind, hospital service, staff assistance and duty as health aides.

With every contact made by those who labor under the red and white emblem of the Greatest Mother far more than material succor is made possible. Not only are the physical necessities of life supplied to those who have been broken by disaster, disease or despair, but values intangible beyond estimate in their revitalizing potency are contributed. Stamina of soul is strengthened, morale restored; the Good Samaritan offices of the Red Cross have rekindled the will to survive and the spiritual optimism that makes survival an accomplished fact.

Such is the service of the Red Cross, in which the youth of the college world are invited to participate, for in announcing its annual Roll Call to the colleges of the country, the American Red Cross is assured of a cooperation not limited to the contribution of funds for the continuance of its activities, but inclusive of a self-dedication as well.

Old Grads, don't miss Homecoming on Nov. 11.

KAMPUS KAPERS

(By Mrs. Nothing)

Mrs. Nothing is with you again. After quite extensive travel and study this summer, she is better qualified to give to the readers the whole truth. She sees all, hears all, knows all, yet she is unknown.

There has been another good fruit crop this year. Mrs. Nothing finds that the best crop is in "pairs". Many variations of pairs may be observed about the campus. The following crop report is subject to change without notice: McKain vs. Wochner; Elam vs. Maurer; Coufal vs. Stephenson; Leona Craig vs. Walt Speece; Howard Wright vs. Irene Thompson; Fellman vs. Buttermore; Whittemore vs. Hilda Jean.

Mrs. Nothing has been led to believe that a certain senior, Russel Lewis by name, has something wrong with him in regards to the fairer sex. Some fair day Louie is going to hit his old stride again and then little girls, beware. At present he is specializing on Rodd's.

Paul Myer's primary interest seems to be in Bonds. He claims that the Bonds have a sound financial value and a stable foundation. They, of course, are preferred Bonds and are redeemable on Friday nights in particular.

Doesn't it seem strange that one whistle recently sent the upper Conservatory into an uproar and some misleading alarm sent four of the convicts scurrying down the fire escape into the dark unknown.

'Tis said that the Con quarantine seems to affect no one except Miss P'ye.

We have pro and con to each question but the thing that has Mrs. Nothing guessing is the problem of a short man and a tall and beautiful girl. Hawley was heard to remark after a date with Geraldine Johnson, "What a date that wouldn't have been if it hadn't been for that chair on the Con steps?????"

After months of careful research and study Mrs. Nothing, at last finds the measuring stick for the ideal man as depicted by Miss Frances Ramsey.

"The ideal man is a mythical creature. However, his characteristics can be clearly described.

Personality and character, since they are the most important, should be named first.

He must be blond, he must be sweet-tempered, but not meek. He must be a little cave-mannish in his love-making. He must be intelligent but not necessarily making good grades. He must be fond of people in general. He must not be narrow-minded.

WELCOME

Again we have the privilege thru this "Sandburr" to welcome the new students of York College to our city and the coming back of others who have shared with us, living in one of the most home-like, well regulated cities in the state of Nebraska. We have been granted this privilege for more than 30 years, feeling that the students and faculty of York College has been loyal to us in other ways than commercial, for which we return the compliment by sending our young men, sons, daughters and grand sons and daughters to this seat of learning. A certain professional man told this writer the other day that York College has the best looking students to be found in any college anywhere. It was a fine compliment by a doctor who should know.

Panthers Win Over Hebronites Sept 22 in Season's Opener

York Pulls Away in 2nd Half to Score Two Touchdowns to Opponents' None

The 1933 edition of the York College gridiron aspirants made their initial debut by taking Hebron College for a 20-7 count on the York High School field on Sep. 22. Though Coach Ordway's pupils had but one evening's scrimmage thus far, they displayed possibilities of developing into a machine that will thrill the heart of more than one old grad.

The York line, though playing raggedly at times, was easily superior to that of their opponents. This was very evident on several occasions when Hebron was found in possession of the ball on the Panther's own back step, but the York boys squelched every scoring threat through the line. Lewis, Ayers, Ender, and Walker proved to be mainstays while Hoffman came through with some fine defensive work in the second half.

Moore and Moline's line plunging featured the backfield's ground-gaining tactics while Maurer's blocking stood out. Norwood and Thomas brought the stands to their feet on spectacular plays.

Coach Ordway's men scored first when Moline crashed off tackle to score after Thomas had set up the pins with a 36 yard scamper off right tackle. Moline added the extra point by the same route.

The second quarter found Hebron threatening to score but several times the York line rose to the occasion and refused admittance for a coveted counter. However, just before the half ended, the boys from down south began flipping passes one of which connected for six points. They converted the extra point via the drop kick.

The second half opened with Hebron kicking to York. Norwood who entered the fray at this juncture took the kick and returned about 40 yards to the Hebron 35 yard line. Moline picked up yards off tackle and on the second play, Norwood flipped a bullet pass to Ayers for a touchdown. The pass for extra point was incomplete. The remainder of the quarter was uneventful though York's passes threatened.

The fourth quarter was resorted to punting by both teams in an effort to gain an advantage until late in the period the Hebron safety fumbled a kick and Smith, York end, pounced on the ball on the Hebron 9 yard line. In two plays the Panthers scored, Moore crossing the goal on a short plunge. Norwood passed to Thomas for the extra point, thus making the final score 20-7.

Y. C. HOLD ANNUAL "JOLLY-UP"

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. held their annual "Jolly-Up" at the York College gym on September 15.

This is an annual affair given by the Young People's Christian associations for the purpose of acquainting the old and new students. An informal program was presented which was interrupted by the lights being flashed out by a thunderstorm. However a substitute was resurrected in the form of candles and automobile headlights by which refreshments were served.

YORK DEFEATED BY SOUTH DAKOTA UNI.

Y. C. Lose a 19-0 Tilt Marked by a Hard Battle

The York College Panthers were repelled by a 19-0 score in their invasion of the lair of the University of South Dakota Coyotes at Vermillion on Sept. 30. Outweighed and outclassed in reserve material, Coach Ordway's men stubbornly resisted the slashing on-slaughts of the men from up north.

Although they were outdowning their opponents, the Dakotans held but a 6-0 advantage at half time. In the third quarter the Panthers held the Bachmen outfit for four times within the three yard line but saw their great stand go glimmering when a Coyote slipped through to block a punt which resulted in a touchdown. They made their final score in the fourth quarter.

The Panthers displayed offensive power by fliriting within the South Dakota 15 yard line on several occasions.

Although defeated, the home team came through without injury and are bent on causing no end of worry for N. C. A. C. teams.

FOOTBALL TEAM TO BATTLE HASTINGS

Coach Ordway and his York College Panthers are set on making history in York College grid annals when they take the field tonight to square off in a game that will have an important bearing on deciding the N. C. A. C. champion.

Though dropping last week's tilt to South Dakota, the boys are not in the least downcast and if they can produce the fight with which the Coyotes had to contend, the Bronchs from Hastings are going to find claws ripping up their backs throughout a long, long hour of football this evening.

Everyone is planning to migrate to Hastings if possible and give the boys their best in rooting and if the Panthers don't return with victory in the bag, it won't be because they haven't put a great battle.

No one was injured in the South Dakota game and everyone is scholastically eligible so full strength will be available when the whistle blows for the opening kick-off.

Y. C. BIG SQUAD OUT FOR FOOTBALL
