Students Prepare To Welcome Alumni and Parents

Homecoming Queen Is Chosen To Reign October 22

Election of a queen to reign over the festivities of the combined Homecoming Day and Parent's Day on October 22, was conducted by the Panther Club last week but the results have not been announced. They were, in fact, placed under lock and key, uncounted. The identity of the queen will be kept secret to everyone until the votes are recorded only long enough before the crowning ceremony that final preparations may be made.

Parents and alumni who visit the campus on October 22 will be invited first to the chapel in the administration building for a general opening convocation at 10:00 a. m. The principal speaker will be Mr. John Riddell, local attorney, who will discuss "College-City Relations." The program will also include musical numbers by the Glee Club and college quartet, readings, welcoming talks and responses, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, and will close with a pep rally in charge of the Panther Club.

At noon the visitors will be guests of the college at a luncheon in the college church. "Sharing Responsibilities" will be the theme and Bernard Cook will be toastmaster. Toasts will be given by a parent, a student, a faculty member, and an alumnus. The afternoon schedule of events will include directed tours of the campus and the annual Freshman-Upperclass Olympics under the direction of the Student Council.

The Panthers will meet the Sterling (Kansas) College football team at 8:00 p. m. in the climactic event of the day. During the game the Homecoming Queen will be recognized with appropriate ceremony.

Pals Hold Reception In Moonlit Garden

Freshmen and other new students were honored at a formal reception in a miniature moonlit garden by the PALS members at the PALS' hall on Tuesday evening, September 29.

Miss Dorothy Riggs, president of the society, welcomed the guests. Group singing led by Irvin Wall opened the program. Readings were presented by Miss Alma Tress Lundman, Miss Vera Thamer, Miss Doris Johnson. Persons making musical contributions to the program included Mr. Wall, Bernice Strickler, Doris White and a male quartet composed of Creston Klingman, Irvin Wall, Wilbur Overmiller and Alfred Kamm. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Group Attends Estes Conference

Seven representatives of the York College Christian associations travelled to Association Camp, Estes Park, Colorado, soon after the close of college last June to attend the Y. M.—Y. W. camp conference held there annually. For ten days the group participated in quest groups directed by such leaders as Allen Hunter and Kirby Page, took part in dramatics, music, and other activities as part of the conference curriculum, hiked over snow fields and followed mountain streams and ranger trails in the heart of the Rocky Mountains.

Rev. A. V. Howland Fills Field Post

Gives Up Ministry In Kansas Conference

The Rev. A. V. Howland, native of Ohio but resident of Kansas for the past seventeen years, fills the vacancy as field man left by Mr. Guy Ordway, who resigned to assist his brother, Mr. Victor Ordway, former York College student, in the operation of a grocery store in Hebron, Nebraska.

Mr. Howland, who is thirty-three years of age, has received his A. B. degree and Bachelor of Oratory degree from Kansas City University. He attended Bonebrake Theological Seminary. During the past eleven years he has been the director of Christian Education boards in the Kansas U. B. conference and the pastor of churches in Chanute, Iola, and Coffeyville, Kansas.

Mr. Howland is a medium-built dark-complexioned man with a wisp of a mustache. He has been married for twelve years.

Commercial Schedule Running Smoothly

After some confusion about the schedule, the students of the Commercial Department, half of whom are former York high school pupils, have now settled down to routine work.

According to Prof. R. E. Townsend, who is in charge of the department, the schedule is difficult to arrange at the beginning of the year because a number of students work part time and some are enrolled for regular college work which they must fit into their programs.

Three new typewriters have arrived for the use of the students who are enrolled in this course. The typewriters now in use are being replaced three at a time by new ones.

Creston Klingman, a senior who is majoring in English, is teaching the Business English class.

New Boiler Sends Heat Through Campus Buildings

To replace the heating plant of former years, a new boiler has recently been installed in the basement of the library building. The boiler surmounts a brick furnace which is fed by a new stoker of the latest design.

"The new heating plant will be more economical and efficient in operation than the old one", explained Mr. Glenn Cain, the janitor. "The boiler uses more of the hot air and smoke, the stoker uses a cheaper coal, and the furnace has a three way draft."

Mr. Gallant of the York Plumbing & Heating Company and father of Neal Gallant, college athletic director, has charge of the installation of the boiler. The concrete ash box was built by Mr. Cain with student help. The first box is built of brick with the walls eighteen inches thick. The bricklayers worked at night to hasten installation. The boiler has been fired, tried, and is now being insulated.

Sponsored by the Alumni Association, the boiler project has cost about $1425. Of this amount, the alumni has contributed three hundred and thirty dollars, and friends have contributed about five hundred and twenty dollars.

"We still need approximately five hundred and seventy-five dollars", said President J. R. Overmiller.

Veterans Ready for Forensic Season

Eleven members of the Alpha Sigma Phi and veterans in forensics have returned this fall and are preparing for a busy year as the debate season approaches. Miss Alma Tress Lundman, coach of forensics, reports that besides the lettermen and experienced speakers, there is promising material among the many interested new students.

Plans are now being made to send York representatives to the annual Interstate Practice Debate Tournament which will be held in Winfield, Kansas, on November 26, 27. Try-outs for debate teams will be held early in November. Two teams and the coach will probably make the trip. On the way to and from Winfield the group plans to stop at colleges and universities for practice debates. Last year Friends University of Wichita and Kansas Wesleyan University at Salina were engaged in practice debates when two teams made the trip to Winfield for the tournament.

The debate question selected for this season is: Resolved, that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes.

Prospective debaters have begun research on the subject in preparation for the local try-outs. After the try-outs Coach Lundman plans to arrange debates with nearby Nebraska colleges to groom the selected teams for the interstate tourney.

RECRUITS DIRECT SERVICE AT CHURCH

"Real Things in Life" was the theme of discussion when the Life Work Recruit organization presented the evening program at the college church in the absence of the pastor on Sunday, October 3.

Speakers of the evening were Russel Dunlop, Helen Lumbus, and Bernard Cook. Special musical numbers were a piano solo by Lucille Haug, a duet by Bertha Riggs and Gerald Dierdorff, and a quartet by Dorothy Riggs, Helen Lumbus, Bernice Strickler, and Bertha Riggs.

W. J. Karraker Added to Faculty

Taught Here During Summer Session

Professor W. J. Karraker is a new faculty member to all students starting the fall term. Coming to the campus last May, Professor Karraker has headed the education department for the summer term in the absence of Miss Mary Alice Slee who spent the summer in Alaska.

Prof. Karraker came to York from Lexington, Kentucky. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and he received his B. S. and M. A. degrees from that university. He has also attended the Southern Normal School in Illinois and the University of Illinois.

Prof. Karraker taught in the Dongola, Illinois High School from 1932 to 1935. He came here last spring directly from Kentucky U. where he had been taking graduate work.

Allied Youth Head Addresses Y. M. - Y. W.

"The greatly neglected part of the liquor problem has been education. As soon as we had passed the eighteenth amendment we thought that all was done and we stopped our education of the youth," stated Mr. Roy Breg, the executive secretary of the Allied Youth Movement, to a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

"Allied Youth directs its efforts toward the education of youth. When youth make their choice they should be given all the facts that science has," he continued.

Mr. Breg gave several examples of looseness in the use of alcoholic beverages of those in high places. He also told of the relation of the increase of crime to the new strong drink situation.

WILL YOU BE HERE?

To the Alumni and Parents: If you have not received a personal invitation to be on our campus on October 22 you may consider this as such. Homecoming Day for alumni, and the Parents' Day inaugurated last year are being combined and an all day program has been arranged for the entertainment of visitors. For our convenience will you please reply to the committee in charge.

Chairman.

Journalists Organize As New Club Adopts Constitution

System of Awards Is Incentive For Contributions

With the creation of a new extracurricular organization journalism has taken its place alongside dramatics, forensics, music, and athletics, as a regular campus activity. In the first meeting on October 1 at the home of the adviser, Miss Edith Callender, the Sandburr staff, members of the class in newswriting, and other journalists accepted a constitution and elected officers to launch the program of the club. At the close of the business session games and refreshments were provided by the hosts.

A name has not been definitely chosen but Quill Club, Inkanquill Club, Pi Epsilon Nu, and other names are under consideration. With the specific object of promoting interest in writing for publication on the campus, the club is arranging a system of awards for outstanding contributions of the year. A board of judges has been chosen from the staff of the York Republican. Awarding of letters for journalistic activity is also being contemplated. Other tentative plans include the annual publication of a magazine of poetry, fiction, and other literary efforts of club members.

Regular bi-monthly social meetings are provided for in the newly adopted constitution. An active and an associate list will comprise the membership of the club. Active membership may be earned by a specified amount of material printed in the Sandburr. Associates are as other interested contributors and they have full standing in social and other functions.

The editor and business manager of the Sandburr were elected president and vice president respectively and Hazel Emma Morgan was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Balloons Pop At Zeta Reception

Guests of the Zeta Literary Society at its annual reception held last Tuesday evening ended the festivities with a rush to obtain the balloons used to decorate the Zeta Hall. About one hundred faculty members, Zetas, and freshmen filled the hall at the invitation of the society.

Marjorie Cook, Zeta president, was in charge of the program which included two clarinet solos by Glenn Graham, a piccolo solo by Wayne Dahlstedt, a humorous reading by Edith Rabuck, two vocal solos by Jane Caldwell, and popular music played by Glenn Graham and Dan Wright on the clarinet and guitar.

Refreshments were served following the program. The letter Z was used in the decorations of the room and also was the design for the sandwiches served during the social period.

Wanieta Sullivan, sophomore from Baldwin, Kansas, was elected president of the Glee Club when it met on Tuesday, September 27. Lois Miller, sophomore from Russell, Kansas, was chosen secretary. Majorie Cook was elected to the student council by the entire group of music students.

York Panthers Battle Doane Eleven To Scoreless Draw in Sea Of Mud

Blue and White Threaten Early but Cannot Score In Game at Crete Friday: Penalty Is Costly

Football was presented as an aquatic sport at Crete last Friday night. Through four tedious periods twenty-two earthy figures plowed through the chilly haze of an autumn downpour. Blue York jerseys became a murky gray; orange Doane jerseys attained a similar hue. Names and numbers were forgotten as shadowy forms surged back and forth on the swampy turf. Only the soggy goal lines seemed unperturbed by the hectic proceedings. Neither was crossed.

Perhaps a kindly dispensation of Fate would have provided a happier ending for the York cause. A blocked Doane punt late in the first quarter skidded into the hands of John Haberman, Panther left end, on the Doane 22-yard line. Panther supporters were jubilant when, on the first play, John McLaughlin churned through center for eight yards. On two succeeding plays, however, the York fullback was able to pick up only one yard, and on fourth down Thompson was selected to try the Tiger right end. For eight slippery yards, to the five yard line, "Tommy" picked his way. Then, with the prospect of a first down in the shadow of the Doane goal, Dame Fate decided to take a hand in affairs. An over-eager Panther had been offside on the play. Five long yards were added to the York offensive burden, and a futility pass that oozed through the outstretched hands of "Popo" Spore was the last threatening gesture in the Tigers' end of the field.

Midway in the second half a short punt and several Doane line plays gave the Crete team the ball on the Panther eight-yard stripe. A splattered Tiger halfback hurled himself at the center of the line. Ready hands were waiting to bring him down, and, as he tumbled to earth, the slippery ball glided out of his arms. The long form of "Slim" Overmiller came to rest over the fumbled pigskin, and the touchdown scare was over. For the rest of the ordeal Thompson stood off the home team's challenges with a courageous exhibition of punting. The game ended with the Tigers holding covetously to the ball, deep in their own territory.

Even through a coating of mud, certain figures were able to distinguish themselves. Overmiller, with the deadly work on defense and excellent passing of the muddy ball, was outstanding; John and Harold Haberman, tackling ball-carriers all over the field, were indispensable; Spore and McLaughlin in the backfield were bulwarks of defense; and Thompson was a constant threat to the Doane cause.

On the other side of the scrimmage line there were equally good performances. Howard, 205-

Panther Passes Stop Dana By 20-7 Score

Thompson Throws Two To Score Margin of Victory

The unerring right arm of Maurice "Bus" Thompson spelled doom for the Dana college Vikings when the Panther football team journeyed to Blair on Friday, October 1. Completing passes almost at will, York had little difficulty in coming out on the long end of a 20 to 7 count.

Hardly had echoes of the opening whistle died away when Thompson began his thorn-in-the-side activities. Sweeping around end, he dashed 35 yards before he was finally brought to earth on the Dana three-yard line. A fumble on the ensuing play was recovered by a Dana man and the possibility of an early score was nullified.

Keeping the play in the Viking's end of the field, the Panthers found their next opportunity to score in the closing minutes of the half. A pass, Thompson to Paul McLaughlin, was complete for 30 yards to the 37-yard line. Another flick of the Thompson arm and J. Haberman was galloping to the two yard line for a 35-yard completion. John McLaughlin negotiated the remaining two yards for the first tally. Haberman's kick was good and the half ended 7 to 0.

Early in the third quarter the Blue and White passing combination began to function again. Thompson stepped back and rifled a beautiful 35-yard toss to Harold Haberman, freshman end, who caught it in stride and raced the remaining 20 yards to the goal unmolested. The try for point failed.

Less than five minutes later a well-executed forward-lateral pass brought the third York touchdown. Thompson shot the ball across the line to Saindon, who pivoted and threw sidewise to Center "Slim" Overmiller. After carrying the ball 25 yards, Over-

Injury to Captain Lutz Cripples York Line

Panther football hopes received a shock last week when it was announced that the hand injury that kept Captain Rex Lutz out of the Dana and Doane games may not permit him to play again until near the end of the season.

Loss of the speedy veteran guard, coupled with Don Eberhart's recent hand infection, will seriously affect the York chances in this week's encounter with the Kansans from Sterling College.

Little is known of the strength of the team from the south, but Coach Neal Gallant is expecting a lively battle on the local gridiron Friday night. The game begins a three-week home stand for the Blue and White.

Cherry and Reeves, were doughty opposition. Sloey, with one fine 33-yard run and many shorter gains, was the Tiger offensive star, while Buok and Clark furnished worthy support for him.

First downs in the fray totaled only four, Doane earning three and the Panthers one. Quarters were shortened to 12 minutes because of the heavy going. Eleven men played most of the game for York, Ekdahl's replacement of Spore being Coach Gallant's only substitution.

The starting lineups:

Miller found his path blocked by Dana tacklers, so he in turn lateraled to H. Haberman, and the wingman scored his second touchdown without feeling the touch of Viking hands. Saindon plunged for the extra point.

The Dana touchdown came in the final minute of the game after several frantic passes had put the ball deep in York territory. Svendsen drove through the line for the final two yards.

Coach Neal Gallant was forced to make the trip without Captain Rex Lutz, out with a broken bone in his hand, and Ekdahl, who sustained a thigh injury in the McCook game. Overmiller, all-conference pivot man, was used sparingly, as were several other outstanding regulars. J. Haberman, Tonkin, McConnell and Peterson turned in fine performances. Thompson was the backfield star, with steady assistance from J. McLaughlin. Phipps, Svendsen, and Nielson looked best in the Dana lineup.

Behind the Pigskin

By Half-back Harry

This article is dedicated to the charging, blocking, line-plunging fellows wearing the blue and white as they line up their winged helmets "Behind the Pigskin." You see them in action the night of the game but only when one bucks with them does he really know them.

Underneath the mud-smeared jersey of each man on the field last Friday night, was a heart inspired, and not a little of it was due to our students who had braved the rain and cold to cheer them on. Back again in the warm dressing room, there were muddy smiles and slaps on dripping backs. Even though the team took the first shower fully dressed, washing so much off that the drains were plugged and the black water flowed into both dressing rooms and out upon a corner of the gym-floor—they were still happy. Seconds who hadn't seen action, gladly packed the soaking suits as they were thrown from the shower room.

Till we line up again "behind the pigskin", root your best for a real fighting team and its coach.

They Tramped These Halls

By Prof. J. C. Morgan

Among the prospective freshmen for 1955 are Warren Speece, born to Mr. and Mrs. James Speece, '35, and David Wilcox Lee, a new arrival in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lee, '36.

Miss Bertha Lawson, '30, of Washington, D. C., former secretary to the president, was a campus visitor at the opening week of the college.

Mrs. W. W. Soper, '16, and Mrs. Gladys Pennings, '25, of New York State, were in York recently to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hitchcock, at the celebration of their diamond wedding anniversary.

Miss Wilhelmina Feemster, '31, will attend the University of Chicago this year and do work for her Doctor's degree. Her work will be in the department of history and Latin.

Recent marriages are those of Mr. Kenneth Jenkins, '33, and Miss Helen Price, '34, and Mr. Paul Mohler, ex-'36 and Miss Velma Niedergerke, ex-'38.

Mrs. Lloyd Eller, '15, with her husband and family of three children, visited in York the latter part of August. They had travelled by automobile from their mission station at Balasore, Orissa, India, across Asia and Europe, then shipped their car from Great Britain to New York City, and drove from there to York. They told of many interesting experiences on their trip. While in York they visited Mrs. Eller's father, A. W. Stevens, and other relatives. They will spend the winter in Southern California.

Mr. Charles L. Wray died at his home in York on Friday, October 1. He was a graduate of York College with the class of 1907. He had taught in the York, Salt Lake City, and Denver high schools. Mr. Wray was an instructor in his alma mater during the summer session of 1915. He was outstanding as a teacher and will be remembered for his cheerful and happy disposition.

Miss Nelle R. Simpkins, '29, of David City, Nebraska, passed away at Lincoln, Nebraska on September 22, 1937. Burial took place at David City on the following day. Miss Simpkins did some teaching in the education department of York College and in the York Public Schools.

Jack Graham, '35, has again broken into print with an article in the August number of the "Nebraska Farmer." The title of the article is "Diary of a Bone Digger." Graham spent last summer and the previous summer digging in the fossil beds of western Nebraska.

CHAPEL HIGH LIGHTS

"The common people of Japan want peace. They want peace with China. The Militaristic party has so confused the people of Japan with the propaganda that Russia is coming through China that they do not know what to think," was the most striking statement of Dr. Charles T. Leber, executive secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church, who spoke in chapel on Monday, September 27.

"Side Stepping One's Duties," was the subject of Dr. Charles B. Hankins', pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who spoke to the students recently.

"We should face life and face it courageously. One is a coward to shun the battle that God has for him daily," he stated. "The Psalmist wanted to get away from the falsity and the cruelties of society. Today we would escape from the monotones of life, the responsibilities, the duties, and the difficulties that are ours. We need the wings of faith," he continued.

The Rev. Mr. A. V. Howland, field representative, used "Followers of the Gleam" as the topic of his speech to the student body on October 7.

"We cannot all be leaders. Some must be followers. Christ has the gleam. We should be willing to follow the gleam that Christ has. The way marked by Christ is the way for us," said he.

"It isn't what we would do with a million when we get it, but what we are doing with the fifteen cents that we have," he continued.

Two Faculty Members Vacation in Alaska

A trip to Alaska was the main event in the summer vacation of two faculty members, Misses Mary Alice Slee and Zaida Wake-lin.

Icebergs, their missing the view of the only whale which appeared during their trip, the towns visited along the way, the food served, and a visit to a canning factory were among the things Miss Slee described to the students in a recent chapel talk.

"This was probably the best trip I will ever take," said Miss Wake-lin in recounting the events of her voyage to the reporter.
