Goodwill Aim As Project Renewed

"An improved spirit of fellowship and cooperation in York College and between York College and the community of York", is the slogan of the Goodwill Committee that was reorganized last week as a continuation of a project started in 1934. The committee is composed of leaders of the principal campus organizations and two faculty members.

In 1934, soon after the committee was organized, it sponsored a goodwill delegation to eighteen towns in the vicinity of York. This year's committee will begin its work in the city and widen its territory as it progresses.

The committee is now engaged in securing expressions from York business men as to the importance and functions of such a group. The president and executive secretary of the York Chamber of Commerce have extended their support to the group.

The Goodwill Committee has set itself up as a clearing house for requests and suggestions from either side of the college-city relationship.

—Parents' Day—
Investigate Field of Sound Projectors

To investigate the field of moving picture machines with sound projectors, a faculty committee has been appointed consisting of Pres. Weidler, Prof. Doty, and Prof. Haugan. The committee has seen demonstrations of four machines, Ampro, Bell-Howell, DeVry, and Victor.

Bob Russell, former York College coach was on the campus last Thursday demonstrating the Victor machine for the Lawlor Company of Lincoln. Today, Mr. Kretschner of Omaha will be here to give a demonstration in chapel of the Bell-Howell machine.

Club Will Present Two Major Plays

"Campus Quarantine" by Robert Ray is the play chosen by the Histrionic Club for its first production, the date of which has been announced as December 9, and the place, the York High School Auditorium. Tryouts for parts in this three act comedy took place last Monday and a tentative cast has been announced.

Two three act plays have been scheduled for the student body and the public this semester for the Histrionic Club is forsaking tradition in presenting two, instead of the customary one major play per semester. An increased membership makes possible this new plan.

The cast of the second play to be produced in January will also be selected from the Histrionic Club. The Alpha Sigma Phi forensic fraternity, will sponsor the play financially, and the Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity, will direct its production. The proceeds will be used by the speech department to augment funds already available for the expenses of the debate teams.

—Parents' Day—

Out of town members of the board present were Bishop V. O. Weidler, Kansas City, Mo.; Stanley B. Williams, associate secretary of the Home Mission and Church Erection Board of Dayton, O.; Supt. Claude H. Crandall, Mo. conference; Supt. G. E. MacCanon, Ia. conference; Supt. A. E. Moore, Okla. conference; Supt. Maurice Nichols, Colo.-N. Mex. conference; Supt. C. V. ADVERTISING IS LIMITED

The recently revived Goodwill Committee at the college made its first step toward establishing goodwill between York College and the business men of York by obtaining for the business manager of the Sandburr a blue card permit from the Chamber of Commerce. This permit identifies him as the only person soliciting advertising in the interests of York College. Business men may protect themselves by asking to see the blue card.

COME AND GET IT

Say, Mom! Can you spare a minute, Dad? And you, Mr. Alumnus, we have something important to say to you that we're sure you'll be interested in. We're speaking to you in particular, even if you do have to lean over someone's shoulder to read it.

When Parents' Day was initiated in 1936, there were 175 of you here on the campus. Last year when Homecoming and Parents' Day were observed on the same day, about the same number accepted our invitation. On both occasions you got a taste of the enthusiastic college life that is common here. You attended entertaining programs, luncheons, contests, football games and other features designed for your enjoyment.

If you were here you will be back. To make progress from year to year, however, is to be expected. So this year we can accommodate twice as many. Conservatively, we will look for 300. If you don't turn up, it won't mean merely that the other 299 will miss you and will struggle along without you but it will mean that you will miss seeing them and having the time of your life as they will be having. We don't mean to rub it in if you can't come, but we would like to have you pat yourself on the back next Friday night for having accepted our invitation.

There's great fun for you here if you'll come and get it, but that isn't half of what you'll carry away with you when you leave the campus. And that doesn't refer only to the luncheon.

GOODWILL IS ASSET TO ANY COLLEGE

With a wider scope than any other college group, the recently reorganized Goodwill Committee will function in college and city relationships, and it will extend the friendship of the campus to the city, and to the constituent area. Most campus organizations confine themselves to college activities, creating a distinct field in the community for a committee such as this.

The group first of all placed itself at the disposal of the Chamber of Commerce to be of any possible service. Immediately it was asked to aid in securing music for a Commercial Club program. Thus the Goodwill committee is already a definite go-between for the city and college. The committee will not seek primarily to push York College to the front but as it loses its identity in service and cooperation, the college will reap the reciprocal good effects. Already this, too, is being realized. As the Committee concluded its visit with the Chamber of Commerce, a blue card permit was issued by the Chamber to the Sandburr business manager to aid him as he approaches York business men. This is one of the first steps in which the city and college activities are working together.

Goodwill is the keynote of the campaign. As an end, goodwill alone is worth much effort. The committee will work with goodwill as the end, knowing full well that it will become a means to greater ends.

One Freshman Tells Another Of His Rise to Fame

Morris Wright

One of the most talented newcomers to York College this year is Jack Miller, a freshman from Johnstown, Colorado. Miller's primary reason for going to college is to obtain the background and knowledge that the modern topnotch cartoonists and illustrators must have in order to obtain jobs with the leading publications of the country.

Miller says that he has been drawing "Ever since I could tie my own shoes." And he has his pictures to prove this fact. Miller has had steady employment as cartoonist and illustrator for the Denver C. E. News, The Colorado Endeavor, and for the Anti-Saloon League's publication—The Backbone. In addition he has also done free lance drawings for handbills, circulars, and small publications. But the Johnstown's pride wishes to advance higher in his trade and be on the payrolls of larger papers; therefore he is getting prepared at York College.

Miller, who has had experience in sign painting, card writing, and display work, will pay his college expenses with work given to him by local firms, as he did in Johnstown High School.

"I suppose," says Jack, "that to the onlooker, drawing seems only a matter of skilled fingers, but that is only a small part of it." He goes on from there to tell one of his personal experiences. "Once when I was working in Denver, I drew a prospecting scene for a stock promotion concern; and the picture

MAYO WAS BITTEN

At a York college second team scrimmage with the York high school squad, the usual pile-up occurred, with J. Mayo Statz in the pile. There was a little commotion. Suddenly Mayo emerged and walked over to Ted Peterson, the high school second team coach. "Say," Mr. Statz demanded heatedly, "do you allow your boys to bite?"

DUNLOP EXONERATED .

When he heard them calling him "Dead-end" Dunlop, Leviticus was a little puzzled as to what this appellation meant, until it was partly cleared by the statement that Russ had found all the dead-ends in Omaha during the C. E. convention, which still left a bit of a haze until it was laboriously explained to Leviticus that "dead-end" was nothing but a blind alley.

BOOK REVIEW . . .

Don't read "The Tale of Two Cities". Latest press flashes report that the story is just fiction.

When we saw the new structure going up near the library we were sure the long awaited men's dormitory had become a reality. It turned out to be a new incinerator.

Three girls in the library we noticed recently assured themselves of peace while studying by placing some flypaper in the center of the study table.

Will Primrose and Andy Jordan must like applesauce. They've canned 81 half pints and haven't stopped yet. What if it starts spoiling, fellows?

Have you heard about Bob MacCanon? He gave up his west side heart interest because the W. A. A. wouldn't give him points for hiking.

was accepted, published, and distributed." Shortly after that he received one of the biggest setbacks of his career. He met the president of the stock company on the street. And in answer to Jack's inquiry as to how the drawing was bringing in the customers, the president, in no uncertain terms, told him that the mistake he had made in having the prospector digging in the side of a road for gold had put a stop to all interest in the mine.

Many well known artists should be credited with helping Miller rise in commercial art. Frank Miller, whom Jack knew before the former became a New York syndicate artist, Paul Greg, who holds the position of head cartoonist for The Denver Post, and Fredricson, the originator of Our Curious World, are friends of Jack Miller.

Although Miller believes that every cartoonist should have his own original style, he instinctively shows the same form as that used by J. N. "Ding" Darling, one of our best cartoonists.

When asked how he likes college, Jack replied, "Well, this campus is just like any other campus, and the buildings and equipment are the same old thing. Maybe it's the student body or the faculty that makes the difference." But then he reflected that they are probably just about the same as are found in any church college. So he finished the interview by saying, "I guess that I am just in love with the place."

Recruits Prepare Religious Drama

The Rev. A. V. Howland, former field secretary of York College, spoke to the Life Work Recruits on October 3. Mr. Howland was enroute to Berthoud, Colorado, to assume his pastoral duties.

At this meeting Helen Lumbus led the devotions and Junior Heatherington sang.

On October 10, Dorothy Riggs presided over a program of music and poetry. Those taking part were Ruth Brandstetter, Mary Jean Buttermore, Doris Goodrich, Doris Johnson, Helen Lumbus, Jean Mattingly, and Bertha Riggs. Devotions were in charge of Edith Rabuck, and Marjorie Cook sang a solo.

In this meeting the group voted to prepare a religious drama for presentation in the churches of the area, in promotion of the African Project. Dorothy Riggs, senior, was appointed play director and John Dowd was elected chairman of the African Project committee.

For the past three years the Recruits have presented a religious drama each year, and used the proceeds to help support a teacher in Albert Academy, Sierra Leone, West Africa. New interest is added to the project this year by the fact that Vaughn Leaming, ex-'39, president of the Recruits last year, sailed for Africa last June, and is now teaching in Albert Academy.

Sterling Squad Gets Break To Win

Panthers Display Power But Lose 13-6

By Don Eberhart
The York College Panther is a very strange animal indeed. On October 7 the Doane Tiger gave it a shellacking to be remembered, and it could do no more than lash its tail and growl feebly. Yet roaming afield, far from the familiar haunts of the York College jungles it met and challenged the Sterling warriors and came within a hair of scalping them.

At the outset of the contest it became plain that it was to be a game of breaks, and that the team to get the last break would win. The Sterling gridsters got that last break. Though packed with thrills, the opening half ended without blood having been drawn from either side. Sterling with its powerful offensive threatened several times, but was unable to do any thing more than get tired.

The fire works of the game began when Bud Feaster took the kick-off at the opening of the second half. "Faking" the ball to Thompson, Feaster streaked down the sidelines past the unsuspecting Sterling team and stopped 91 yards later for a touchdown and six points. His kick for extra point went wide. Somewhat angered, the Sterling boys went to work with a will and soon had evened the score by making a touch-down of their own.

In the fourth quarter the game became wide open with numerous passes by both sides. A long march and a pass to John Haberman with a lateral to Feaster put York on the Sterling 5 yard line but a touch-down failed to materialize. Long, lanky Rawlins, Negro halfback for Sterling, picked out a secluded spot on the field, caught a pass and ran 56 yards for a touch-down. The try for point was good, leaving York on the short end of 13-6. York continued to pass with every play a threat but was unable to click for a touch-down. Late in the game, Saindon intercepted a Sterling pass and with some clever running managed to carry the ball a long way toward a score before he was rudely interrupted by a host of Sterling lads. The game ended in another flurry of passes.

The line, heretofore a weak spot in the York football armor, functioned well and looked stronger when it twice held the Sterling team on the 3 yard line. The smooth ball handling and deception of the back field enhanced by the pass snatching abilities of the Haberman cousins at the ends made the team stronger and more dangerous than it has been up to this time.

Bob Spore Is Coach Of Panther B Squad

Bob Spore, junior of York, is aiding Coach Gallant in the athletic department by acting as coach of the B team. Spore is a three year letter man in football and he has also lettered in basketball. He plans to use his last year of competition next year.

The B team dropped its first game of the season to the first squad of Nebraska Central College at Central City. Scoring 25 points the Central eleven showed more offensive punch than the Panther understudies, who, while lacking the drive to score, looked capable defensively.

Bedient, Green, Fredrickson, Porter, and M. Boehr, were the York mainstays.

—Parents' Day—

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM HAS DISTANCE LETTERMEN

With four lettermen in the distance runs, including Barney Rees, the conference two mile champion, Coach Neal Gallant is optimistic about his cross country team. This is the first time in several years that the Panthers have entered such competition.

The lettermen are Barney Rees, Jarvis Cobe, Elmer Buller and Henry Bergen. Other aspirants for the team are Octavio Colon, Maurice Herrick, and Fred Carlson.

The team will start the season against Hastings, October 21. Coach Gallant has not completed the schedule but he wishes to include a few more dual meets for the remainder of the season.

Friendship Is Theme of Two Y. M. Meetings

"College men should be friendly to others in the spirit of love that Jesus Christ lived," said Rev. Albert C. Ramsay in a talk to the Y. M. C. A. at their regular meeting Tuesday, October 4. The Rev. Mr. Ramsay is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of York. His talk was centered around the topic "Christian Fellowship".

Dr. Walter E. Bachman, Dean of York College and faculty advisor of the Y. M. C. A. of the college, discussed college friends in a talk before the group, Tuesday, October 11. Dr. Bachman named various traits necessary to gain and retain friendships in college.

Panthers Bow To Tigers From Doane

H. Haberman Again Is Outstanding In Defeat

For the first time in four years the Doane Tigers scored a touch-down on York. They did not stop with one marker, however, as they collected 20 points to York's 0, on the local field, October 7.

Sloey, Tiger back, went across from the six yard line for the first touch-down in the second quarter. Dutcher recovered a Doane fumble in the end zone for the next six points, and a pass, Sloey to Penney, netted the final touch-down.

Twice the Panthers were within the Doane ten yard line. The half came as Thompson, York, was pulled down on the nine yard line after streaking seventeen yards. Another time a York fumble was recovered by Doane on their own ten yard line to end a Panther scoring threat.

York was out-yarded 269 to 194, and Doane had the edge in earned first downs, 13 to 12.

For York, Harold Haberman played heads up football, while Sloey, Reeves, and Bailey were outstanding for Doane.

Panthers seeing action were: H. Haberman, Neal, Doerr, Peterson, Quick, Eberhart, J. Haberman, Saindon, Ek Dahl, Gifford, Feaster, Hansen, Thompson, Hohnbaum, D. Boehr, Wright, Carlson, M. Boehr, Fredrickson, and Bedient.

PANTHERS ON PARADE

By Henry Hansen

We'll pass the Doane game quickly and revive its sting in 1939. For those among us who get a headache just thinking, don't think about that game or a nightmare will accompany the headache. However, we will pause to say that tea and crumpets would have made the Panther's little party complete that night.

Turning to brighter fields, we find Barney Rees holding the candle in one hand and a polished apple in the other. Barney did want to see the Sterling game, and being an ingenious lad, he managed to travel first class with the team. Besides riding in the bus, he beat Kelly and Dan out of their places by the coach. It seems that B. B. ran the two mile in 10:22 last week thus making his trip to Sterling possible. For the finer details just consult Barney or yours truly.

When someone asked what the team did on the bus to pass the time, one wit responded, "Dan's sleeping and the trio of Dierdorff, Neal and Saindon made so much noise I couldn't hear what the rest were doing." It was evident, however, that "Hummy" lost his shirt before we got to Hebron.

Things we can do without: A bus that runs out of gas in the country.

Except for the records, the score of the York-Sterling game didn't count for much. Sterling had a good team, but the Panthers played football in that game and not "Run, sheep run". For the benefit of those who are inclined to hang their heads when the York college football team is mentioned, you can turn to the Sterling game and say that the Panthers are reinstated, for they did play a bang-up game.

It is reported that there was only one "black" spot on Bud Feaster's 91 yard touchdown return. Bob May was somewhat troubled in his sleep by the game, also. It was hard to catch what he muttered coming home, but everyone did duck his head when Bob came swinging.

Hats off to "Hattie", and Paul McLaughlin Panthers who can whip their weight in Plainsmen, Tigers, and Warriors put together.

They Tramped These Halls

By Prof. J. C. Morgan

Alumni should keep in mind Homecoming and Parents' Day, October 28. This is a convenient and auspicious time to meet old grads and friends. Be sure to come.

William H. Hice '34 who taught in the Superior High School last year, is now teaching English in the Fremont High School. At a recent meeting of the Nebraska High School Press Association he was elected president of that organization to serve during the year 1938-'39. When in college Mr. Hice took part in oratory and debating and was on the Sandburr staff.

Marjory E. Carpenter, ex-31, will teach music this year in the Ainsworth schools.

Rev. J. Peter Wagner, ex-'21, who did practically all of his academic and collegiate work in York College is now pastor of one of the larger Congregational churches in Cincinnati, Ohio.

M. C. Paslay, C.C. '06, is superintendent of schools at LeCompton, Kansas.

The birth of Lyle Wilson Warrick on September 16 has been announced. This youngster's father, Dwight L. Warrick, taught chemistry in the college from 1923 to 1927. His mother when in college was Miss Bernice Wilson, ex-'26. Mr. Warrick is now working for a chemical company at Canton, Ohio.

Don Tewell, '25, is superintendent of schools at Atkinson.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Gounerman, ex-'33 to Ernest R. Heine has been announced.

A very appreciative letter has been received from Melvin Thompson, '34, editor of the Sandburr in '33-'34, and now of Denver, Colorado. Believe it or not, he finds pleasure in reading this column. He mentions having visited recently with Wade Greene, ex-'37, and Bill McConnell, '38.

Mrs. Joyce Cushman Tilden, '20, and her sister, Miss Lois Cushman, '24, were campus visitors last Thursday. Miss Cushman will attend the University of Chicago this year.

PRESS GUILD MEETS FOR GAMES AT CON

Twenty-five members of the Press Guild met in the conservatory dining hall last Thursday night for their first party this semester. The evening was spent playing such games as monopoly, Chinese checkers and jackstraws. Refreshments were served with Norma Harris and Wayne Dahlstedt in charge.

On October 5 in the regular weekly Press Guild meeting, Mary Margaret du Rand concluded a report on "What Sells a Newspaper". Miss Edith Callender offered suggestions for the new reporters, and Helen Lumbus reviewed the style sheet.

At the meeting on October 12, Irene Johnson reported on "Etiquette of Newspaper Writing". Levi Huebert and Bill White were selected as exchange editors, and Miss Callender explained the National Scholastic Press association contest. The Guild voted to enter this year's Sandburr in the competition.

Mrs. Bachman Speaks To Y. W. on Hymns

Mrs. W. E. Bachman spoke to the Y. W. C. A. on "Hymn Friends" on October 11. In closing she stated that the most important factors in choosing from the 400,000 Christian hymns are careful selection, and interest and familiarity to the one who sings them. Jean Mattingly sang "Danny Boy", and Agnes Drake had charge of devotions.

At the meeting on October 4, Esther Thornton spoke on "Girl Friends", and Dorothy Riggs on "Boy Friends". Helen Lumbus was in charge of devotions, and Helen Berkman sang.

"The Relationship of Students to the Church and Town," was the subject Mrs. A. L. Deever chose for her talk on October 18. Bertha Riggs led devotions.

second, could not receive it as their tuition had been cared for by other scholarships, according to one of the officers of the organization.

"To accomplish things one must have the proper point of view," said Mr. Wiltse in his address. "The cause of failure is not lack of intelligence," he said. The greatest cause is fear. Other causes are: hurry, worry, a feeling of futility, loneliness, and homesickness. To summarize them, emotional maladjustment is the cause of failure in college."

He continued: "What one needs in order to succeed, is the ability to analyze propaganda, to gather information rapidly and accurately, to be able to evaluate what one has read, to be able to summarize paragraphs accurately, and to use a large vocabulary. One has to extend, to widen, and to increase his interests in the things about him."
