Special Chapel Services Mark Holy Week

Local Clergymen Are Guest Speakers

Three local clergymen, the Rev. Isaac Cassel of the Baptist-Congregational Church, the Rev. Blaine Simon of the United Lutheran Church, and the Rev. A. C. Ramsay of the Presbyterian Church, and three college students were speakers at a series of special chapel services held in observance of Holy Week.

"The passion of Jesus Christ is a striking example of redeeming love in action," stated the Rev. Isaac Cassel. Mr. Cassel addressed the college chapel March 19 as a guest speaker of the Y. M. C. A. Alfred Kamm sang, "Consider and Hear Me" by Wooler.

"The Trials of Christ and Christ's Trials" was the theme of a devotional chapel sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. the preceding day. Doris Landon played a medley of hymns as a violin solo. Short talks were given by Doris Holliday on "The Trial of Christ" and Amy Speece on "The Trials of Christ." Gertrude Lindstrom sang, "O Son of Man, Our Hero" by Frank Fletcher.

Lyle Anderson, senior, spoke March 20 stating that "Christianity is the religion of the burning heart. Gethsemane, the cross, and the resurrection are alike fundamental in Christian faith, experience, and living," Anderson said. He emphasized that the

"Selling Important" Says Karraker At Recruit Meet

"All persons have three major interests, security, freedom, and social approval, and types of each may be found in Christianity," said Professor W. J. Karraker in speaking on "Salesmanship" at the meeting of the Life Work Recruits on March 18.

Karraker further declared that everyone is a salesman, but in order to be a good salesman, he must have something to sell, know exactly what he has, know his customers, prove the necessity of his product, know its uses, convince the buyer of its wearing qualities, and explain its positive instead of its negative values.

Margaret Taylor read the Scripture and spoke of the appropriateness of individual differences in personality, worship, and ambitions. She read the poem "Discovery" by Toyohiko Kagawa.

The group voted to meet at 7:00 instead of 7:30 p. m. on March 25 to accommodate the chorus which practiced at 8:30.

Curtis Sponsors Forensic Contest For Underclassmen

Five Schools Compete In District Meet; Constitution Is Theme

A new forensic activity for York College is announced by Miss Alma Tress Lundman, chairman of the speech department, with the enrollment of contestants in the Curtis Oratorical contest. Eligible to compete in this new activity are first and second year students who may be interested in expounding the virtues of the Constitution of the United States and erstwhile to compete for cash prizes.

This contest is sponsored by the Hon. Carl T. Curtis, representative in congress from this district of Nebraska. He will be remembered as a visitor to York College just prior to his leaving to attend the present session of congress.

This contest will offer to all eligible students the opportunity to study the world's greatest guarantee of democracy and in so doing will refute the allegation that American youth is leaning toward the various "isms."

The Curtis contest is open to all freshmen and sophomores in York College who are interested in the fundamental laws of our land. The two judged as best will compete with first and second year students of Doane and Hastings colleges and students from He-

PRESIDENT WEIDLER SERVES AS GOOD FRIDAY SPEAKER AT GENEVA

President D. E. Weidler was speaker at a union community Good Friday service at Geneva March 22. The subject of his address was "The Suffering Christ."

Three churches cooperated in this service which was sponsored by the Geneva Ministerial Alliance.

Arrangements were made with the public schools of Geneva for the York College chorus to make its first appearance in the Geneva high school auditorium March 29, President Weidler announced.

Of Critics . . .

Critics, like the poor, we seem to have always with us. Almost all persons are, in some sense and on some occasions, critics, and some critics are more or less human in their judgments.

Among us there always seem to be some who are quite sure that society in general is deteriorating and that everyone else is lacking in goodness. Such a person may complain that he alone has not bowed before Baal. He wraps his robe of righteousness about him and thanks his Lord that he is not a sinner like other men.

We are also irritated by those who are bitter in their denunciation of the conventions to which society insists that they conform. To such as these a positive religious faith or exacting moral discipline are a thorn in the flesh. They would dash traditions to the ground little realizing that that which they destroy is cherished by other men for its beauty and its utility.

A third species of critic seems to criticize for the sheer joy of it. He preaches against everything. To these the referee is never honest, the cheer leaders never have enough pep (of course the critic does not cooperate), the weather is never satisfactory, and the administration is never right. To the unfortunate critic of this class, truly the times are out of joint.

The knocker generally succeeds only in making himself disagreeable to all concerned. To say that men are generally most inclined to criticize severely when they are least qualified to do so is trite but too often true.

Criticism is not mere condemnation. Essentially, criticism is evaluation. The critic may rightly claim our attention and our time only insofar as his judgment gives evidence of being intelligent, fair, and cautious. While the worthwhile critic may embarrass us, we cannot, in all fair mindedness, fail to appreciate his pertinent comments.

Education is to a large extent the acquisition of skills. A skill that we do well to develop is the skill of constructive criticism. We are in college to get wisdom, but with all our getting of wisdom, we can hardly lay claim to any great understanding unless we have acquired that understanding that makes us trustworthy critics.

Outside Talent Featured By PALS

The PALS sponsored a program of outside talent on Tuesday, March 19 to prove that all talent is not yet in the PALS organization.

The program consisted of a violin solo, "Berceuse" by Margaret Davis, who is employed in the court house; Mrs. W. E. Bachman entertained with a "hash talk" consisting of limericks, miss-quotes and unfinished quotes such as "all work and no play makes Jack . . ." A vocal solo, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms", by Bob Seigel, a York high school senior; and a tap dance by Elaine McAllister and Harley Lautenschlager, grade school pupils.

A short business meeting preceded the program. Refreshments of grape juice and cookies were served following the program.

Gospel Teams Visit Shut-Ins Easter

Four Gospel teams composed of twenty-four York College students visited shut-ins in twelve homes on the afternoon of Easter Sunday. Captains of the teams were Vernon Overturf, Dumont, Iowa; Stine Douglas, Beach, North Dakota; Grace Shirk, Circle, Montana; and Amy Speece, York.

The Christian Endeavor society of the local United Brethren Church sponsored these teams. Short devotional services were held in the homes of those visited. Marlin Bedient, Bradshaw, was chairman of the committee in charge of this effort.

Y. C. Representative Tells of Trip "Up-Country"

(Ed. Note—Mr. Vaughn Leaming, ex-'39, a product of York College and the representative of all United Brethren colleges as an instructor in the Albert Academy for boys, Sierra Leone, W. Africa, again sends greetings to all his friends and the readers of The Sandburr. In this article he relates a few of the incidents encountered recently on a trip into the Vaughn Leaming interior of Africa.)

AFRICA

Now with your permission, let me take you rapidly along the 307 miles that I traversed during my recent vacation in the "Up-country". You would not enjoy the dirty, and bruisingly rough railroad journey, and for need of space I will omit the less interesting and "no da wase wuds".

First of all I will list the various means of transportation I employed: I joggled over 110 miles by train, puffed over 62 miles by bicycle, putted over 60 miles by motor launch, plodded over 20 miles by foot, dozed over 35 miles by row-boat, roared over 18 miles by truck, and glided over two miles by sailing vessel. How is that for spicy travel?

The three outstanding experiences are hunting monkeys, itinerating in sleepy little villages, and being the guest of Richard, the Academy principal, deep in Caulker country. In several forays by dugout on the Taia River, I had a great time bagging four monkeys and four birds. With some misgivings, I ate three small pieces of fried monkey, and it tasted very much like squirrel. On various bicycle trips we paused in wayside villages to call the people together for little gospel services. The little children were ready to run from us, but their curiosity would get the better of them, and they would stand about all eyes and nakedness. A native friend and I at Tiama went itinerating by moonlight one night. For an account of my sojourn in Sherbro land, I will omit the beautiful river scenery, the pelicans and the other numerous water birds, the visit in Richard's home at Mambo, the all-night ride by row-boat,—and I will tell you of Shenge.

Lonely Shenge is located on the point of a small peninsula where the breath of the mighty Atlantic whispers through the sturdy palms, and where life is leisure. Here at Shenge our first United Brethren missionaries made their home. One afternoon, as the sun was sinking into the sea, I sat on the beach in front of the decaying mission house, alone, and thought long thoughts of those who had gone before. I looked across the few miles to Plaintain island and thought of the black slaves once chained inside the now ruined fort; of John Newton, once a merchant of human flesh, of his subsequent conversion, and of his courageous fight to liberate the race he had wronged. In the hush of the twilight, I could almost see the Presence of the One who came to confound men in their sin, and to claim all races as His children.

After three glorious days of exploring the treasures of Shenge, which included an actual visit to Plaintain Island with its slave pens, its half-buried guarding cannon, now a priceless but immovable relic, and several other historical landmarks, Richard and I boarded a motor launch, heavily laden with bonga fish, and started our return journey. The sun was scarcely high enough to shine through the thick palms along the shore when we waved good-bye, and started across the bay toward the mouth of the Bompa river,—and home.

"Hot-Shots" Still Undefeated; Win Over "Sure-Shots"

Barely squeezing past a determined Sure Shot team, 18-15, last week, Lois Miller's Hot Shots kept their undefeated status in the girls' intramural league. It was the closest game on the intramural schedule this week.

Amy Speece, almost single handed, beat the Sure Shots getting all but six of the Hot Shot total. Beason accounted for nine to pace the Sure Shots.

The Hot Shots are now far ahead in the league with seven straight victories. Nearest competitors are the Zippers and Leaping Lenas who have both won two and lost four.

Scores of the other contests were: Sure Shots 22, Zippers, 16; Hot Shots 35, Leaping Lenas, 19; Leaping Lenas 13, Zippers, 9.

Standings of the teams are:

Zeta Men Barely Win, 19-18; PALS Threat Falls Short

By Bob Oswald

Proving their superiority as gymnasts, the Zeta boys' basketball team tumbled, rolled, and twisted their way to a 19-18 victory over the PALS in a return game, played Wednesday, March 13.

Although leading 2-1 at the end of the first quarter, the Zetas failed to keep that margin of safety and the halftime score was 6-6.

The PALS, who lacked substitutes, slowed down and permitted the Zetas to forge ahead. With a few minutes yet to play, the tired PALS went on a scoring spree. Don Davis' goal in the last twenty-four seconds almost tied the score.

Leland Widga, Zeta, was high point man with 8. Don Davis, PALS, was second with six.

Both teams showed improvement. Referee Saindon called 15 fouls as compared with the 29 he levied the preceding week.

Carter, Gallant Get Four Easy Wins To Take Tourney

Bill Carter, York College senior from Denver, Colorado, won the Nebraska Y. M. C. A. badminton tournament in the singles division last Saturday when he defeated the Lincoln representative in straight games 15-12, 15-13. The tournament was held in the York College gymnasium.

Carter collaborated with Coach Neal Gallant in the doubles to also give York the doubles crown. Carter and Gallant won easily, taking the first game 15-8, and the second 15-6.

Only the Lincoln and York associations had teams in the tournament. Omaha and Beatrice had previously signified that they would enter, but they failed to appear.

As Lincoln did not bring a woman player, the women's singles championship was not decided.

Zeta Women's Puppy-Like Precision Beats PALS Again

Working with the delicate precision of a three months old puppy, the Zeta women romped over the PALS, 11-9, to garner a second victory in the intermural basketball tilt in the college gym Wednesday night, March 13.

The first quarter was momentous. Gladys Mohler, PALS forward, made a free throw. The Zetas failed to score although they shot fourteen times.

In the first few seconds of play of the second quarter, however, Bette Crum, Zeta forward, took Cobe's free shot off the bank-board and sank it for two points. Cobe and Crum ran up six points together while Speece and Mohler gained only three.

The Zeta women made five more points the third quarter, while the PALS tallied only one, another free toss from Mohler.

During the fourth period the PALS came back with blood in their eyes to score two baskets to the Zeta's none.

High point woman of the fray was Miss Crum with nine. Miss Speece of the PALS was next with six.

The game was highlighted with the vociferous encouragement of "Hank" Hansen from the sidelines.

Wintery Weather Slows Down Conditioning of 31 Candidates

Gloomy weather cast a shadow over early track drills at York College last week, threatening to hold up the conditioning process, as 31 candidates for the Panther team started preparation for a dual meet at Midland, April 16.

Heading the 31 aspirants are five lettermen from the 1939 team, Max Quick, Bud Feaster, Paul McLaughlin, Harold Haberman, and John Haberman. Bob Spore and Kelly Saindon, who lettered in '38, are also available.

The strength of the squad is indeterminate as yet. Some first-class freshmen reinforcements are on hand to aid the lettermen, Shaneyfelt, Yager, Webb, and Auchard all showing good potentialities as point-getters. The inter-class meet April 10, 11, and 12 may reveal other talent.

Coach Gallant has two assistants working under him this year, Jarvis Cobe assisting with the distance men and Walter Ekdahl aiding with the sprinters. Both are seniors, former members of York track teams.

Squadmen reporting besides lettermen include the following: Auchard, Chenoweth, Colon, Dahlstedt, Edsel, Garnant, Gifford, Godown, Harris, Herrick, Holbrook, Huenefeld, Maxson, Merryman, Miller, Norton, Pursell, Shaneyfelt, Taylor, Throckmorton, Willits, Witt, and Yager.

PAL-Zeta Stars

Despite the prejudices of such contemporaries as Romeo Dahlstedt, who, when we gullibly asked for his wise counsel in selecting an all-star PALS-Zeta girl's team, replied, "Crum, Crum, Crum, Crum, Crum, and on second thought Crum," we finally succeeded in picking our all-stars, and here they are:

Girls: Crum, Zeta; Miller, Zeta; Cobe, Zeta; Speece, PALS; Mohler, PALS, and Beason, PALS. (P. S. Dahlstedt influenced us one-sixth).

Boys: Widga, Zeta; Shickells, PALS; Dierdorff, PALS; Bedient, Zeta; Carlson, Zeta.

One of Coach's Stories

Coach Gallant tells this one on Octavio Colon, diminutive Porto Rican, who claims he is some shakes as a football player. When the Panther Cubs played a game at Dana last fall, Tavio was sent into the game with definite instructions to "take out that guard" who had been messing York plays. By the time Tavio got into the game, Dana had the ball, and on the next play threw a pass. Tavio waded right in, anyhow, tackled the guard, and threw him hard. Asked about the guard's reaction, Tavio said, "He just look so funny."

The Lesser Spring Sports

York's tennis and golf teams will start practice as soon as the weather permits. Men interested in tennis have already had one meeting with Prof. Bisset who has charge of the team. Practice will begin when the courts are ready. Golf enthusiasts have not yet started organizing.

This "Swing-Ball" Business

We admit that everything seems to have a purpose, and we thought we were pretty tolerant, but this new addition to the gym's equipment has us going. "Swing-ball", it is called. If you wish to try some of its recreative powers, arm yourself with a partner and a tennis racquet, and march up to the crazy thing. (You can't miss it. It looks like a dilapidated Maypole with one streamer left which has a tennis ball tied to the end.) Whack the ball hard towards your partner, and the battle's on. The ball does about ten loops, winds around the pole, curves, drops, hesitates tantalizingly just outside a lusty swing, and then may hit you in the face. If you hit it once in an afternoon, you're a marvel. Inventor Spore claims the gadget is good for the gizzard, but all we can get out of using it is sore muscles.

They Tramped These Halls

By PROF. J. C. MORGAN

All alumni are keeping in mind no doubt, the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the college which will be observed this year. It will be an important anniversary also for various classes such as those of 1900, 1910, 1915, and 1920. It would not be a bad idea for these classes as well as others to plan reunions for commencement time. May we not hear from some class or classes who are thus planning?

Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Epley, (Mina Hall Epley, '15) have retired from the active work of the ministry and are now living at Puento, California.

Word is received of the death of Prof. Silas C. Feemster at Reno, Nevada, on March 9. He was a member of the faculty of the University of Nevada from 1912 until the time of his death. He taught in York College from 1907 to 1910. He specialized in social science and had almost completed the required work for the Ph. D. degree.

Paul Goudy, '28, suffered a badly fractured arm recently in a serious tractor accident, his arm being caught in the belt of the tractor, according to the latest reports. However, he will not have to lose his arm and is recovering satisfactorily.

No doubt many alumni have read of the drowning of Mr. Harold Von Bergen while he was on flood patrol duty near Sacramento, California, during the recent flood disaster in that state. He attended York College 1922-23, played on the football team. He was at the time of the accident assistant state hydraulic engineer.

Mr. Walter Speece, '35, who has been teaching at Bennett, has recently been promoted to the superintendency of schools.

The alumni banquet will be held May 29 at the United Brethren Church.

Cone, Callender Attend D. A. R. Meet

Miss Edith M. Cone, York College librarian, was absent three days last week while she attended the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution which convened at Lincoln. The librarian's student assistants had charge of the library in Miss Cone's absence.

Miss Cone is regent of the David Bryant chapter of York and served on a nominating committee while attending the conference. Miss Edith M. Callender, head of the English department, and ex-regent of David Bryant chapter, attended the conference on Wednesday.

Y. M. Holds Open-House For College Men

Fifty Y. M. C. A. members of York College took part in the open house at the city Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening March 21.

Ping pong, chess, checkers, swimming, and volley ball proved to be the favorite activities for the fellows. After the games, a lunch was prepared and served by Floyd Chenoweth, social chairman, and Elmond Holbrook, treasurer.

privilege of walking with the Risen Christ is open to every Christian. Bertha Riggs sang "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Mrs. Joseph S. Knapp as a solo. The meeting was in charge of the Life Work Recruits.

The Rev. Blaine Simon spoke March 22. "Do you feel that there is power in your life as a Christian?" he asked. "The Word of God and the sacraments are connections between the power of God and the need of man," Mr. Simon said.

"Good Friday is our celebration of the decisive victory of the greatest of all wars," pointed out the Rev. A. C. Ramsay. "An apparent defeat was transformed into a real victory for both God and man," he said.

THE LIMELIGHT

By Bill White

Leaning comfortably on the counter with arms folded stood "Hank" Hansen hashlinging at Jack's Cafe. This serious-minded, friendly, and ambitious lad who hails from Des Moines, Iowa, is one of Y. C.'s most outstanding juniors.

Besides blondes, brunettes, red heads, and meat loaf, our limelighter likes nature and a good discussion, "if it is an intelligent one."

Henry Hansen When asked by the reporter if he had any "pet peeves", he chuckled and said, "Yes, spinach and shallow-minded people who are facetious."

Hansen's name spells popularity on the campus. He has been treasurer of the junior class, vice president of the sophomore class, treasurer of the "Y" club, former sports editor of the Sandburr, member of Alpha Sigma Phi, and a three letter man in football. He recently represented York College in the Old-Line oratorical contest at Omaha in which he placed fourth.

"Hank" is quite an actor too. Some will remember his fine piece of work as the aristocratic lawyer in last spring's histrionic play, "Behold the Truth." He also displayed further talent in a May Day play and a minstrel show presented when he was a freshman.

"I think these latest Confucius sayings are absolutely 'silly.' There's no point to them," declared "Hank" with an emphatic voice inflection. "I like good literature, especially Gray, Goldsmith, and Mark Twain. Music by Beethoven and Schubert is very uplifting."

After receiving his degree from York College, "Hank" plans to do graduate work at Iowa State College in his major field, biological science. Because of his competence and reliability in Prof. Noll's "lab," we can feel assured that Hank will be a success in the vocation he has chosen.

bron and McCook junior colleges. The district contest is scheduled for May 15 and will be held at Hastings. Judging will be done by a competent board of critic judges who will award the first prize of $25, a second of $10, and three prizes of $5 each to the five best orators.

Because of the nature of the subject, this contest should draw large and interested audiences, and will probably prove a great incentive to students to study the Constitution and its importance to is a gift of the Young Ladies Atheneum of Leander Clark College to which Mrs. Cain belonged.

Mary Mutch graduated from Elroy Institute, Elroy, Wisc., and in 1892 from Leander Clark College, then known as Western College, in Toledo, Iowa. Miss Mutch married the Rev. I. N. Cain, also an alumnus of Western College. In 1894 they went to Africa as missionaries. During the Tax War, five United Brethren missionaries including Mr. and Mrs. Cain were massacred at Rotifunk on May 3, 1898.

The fund which makes possible the annual Mary Mutch Cain Award is a memorial to this martyr.
