Ralph Schmidt Is New Head of Student Council

Student Body Selects Junior From Bradshaw To Succeed Cobe

Ralph Schmidt, junior from Bradshaw, was elected by the student body last week to succeed Jarvis Cobe, graduating senior, as president of the York College Student Council.

Schmidt, who is now the president of the junior class, has been a leader in campus activities for three years. As well as heading his class, he has held responsible positions in the Panther club, the Zeta literary society, and the Histrionic Club. Known for his congenial, friendly manner, he has been a popular figure on the campus. He is a math major.

The other officers of next year's student governing-board will be elected in the fall.

Last Rites Are Held For Long-Time Supporter of College

Funeral services for James F. Hitchcock, were held at the United Brethren church, Wednesday afternoon, May 8. The Rev. A. L. Deever conducted the services. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery, York.

Several classes at the college were dismissed so that friends of the deceased, both faculty and students, might attend the funeral. Mr. Hitchcock had been a resident of York county for the past 58 years, during which time he has been an active supporter of both the college and the college church.

A brief memorial service was held in chapel on Wednesday morning, May 8, in memory of Mr. Hitchcock who had been a friend of the college from the time it was organized fifty years ago.

During that time he has assisted a number of students. His daughters, Mrs. Bert Pennings, '25, Ghent, New York, and Mrs. Wayne Soper, '16, Albany, New York, were called home by his serious illness.

DAHLSTEDT, CHAMBERS RECEIVE GRADUATE STUDY AWARDS

Two awards to aid in graduate study have been made to men of this year's senior class for scholastic achievement; one to Wayne Dahlstedt, York, a journalistic student and the other to George Chambers, Belle Plain, Iowa, a science major.

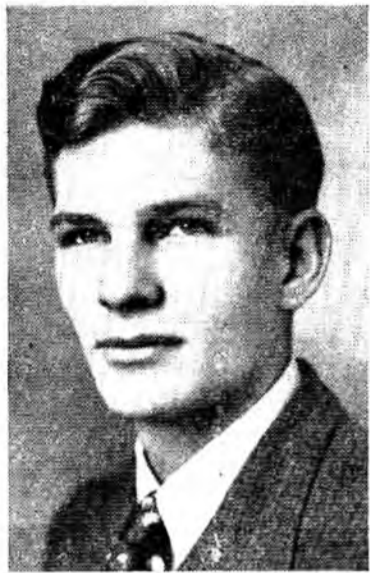

Dahlstedt's scholarship entitles him to work in graduate study at the University of Nebraska. In his four years on the York College campus he has been active in composition, feature-writing, and other forms of a literary nature, and is now editor-in-chief of the Marathon. He is also feature writer for the Sandburr and a one-time business manager of this publication.

Chambers' award is a quarter-time teaching assistantship at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, in the zoological department. For the past year he has been assistant to Professor W. C. Noll in the college zoology laboratory.

CONE CHANGES RESIDENCE

Miss Edith Cone, librarian, and her mother have recently moved into the residence formerly occupied by ex-President J. R. Overmiller and family on east Eighth street.

Grimes, Crum New Sandburr Heads

DUWAYNE GRIMES

Election of Soph. Ed., Woman Mgr. Breaks Precedent

The election of DuWayne Grimes as editor-in-chief and Bette Crum as business manager of the Sandburr breaks two precedents established in the last decade of Sandburr history. Never in that time has the editor been an underclassman, nor the business manager a woman.

Grimes, a freshman from Harlan, Kansas, has been sports editor of the Sandburr this year, and leads the journalism class with over three-hundred fifty inches of printed Sandburr copy. He is secretary of Y. M. C. A., and also of the freshman class. He was editor of his high school paper for two years, and served in several positions on the annual staff. Last summer he attended a short institute conducted by Northwestern University for high school journalists. After a few years, Grimes expects to enter the field of professional journalism.

Miss Crum, sophomore of Des Moines, Iowa, has been secretary of both Zeta and Histrionic club, and a member of Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., girl's tennis, and the chorus. She was an attendant to the May Queen and Homecoming Queen last year. Miss Crum has held various positions similar to this of business manager on her high school paper staff in Des Moines, Iowa. She has received various awards in contests for advertisement make-up and solicitation. Both will help with the last two editions of this year.

BETTE CRUM

Dean of Women Tells of New York Community House

Mrs. W. E. Bachman, dean of women, spoke at the Y. M. C. A. meeting May 7, and explained what the New York Community House is. The freshman male quartet sang "Keep on a Keeping On", by Marion Moore.

The Community House is run in connection with the Biblical Interdenominational Seminary which offers degrees in religious education according to Mrs. Bachman. The students have charge of clubs. These clubs are organized for the benefit of the East Side children of New York City. By directing club work the students have the opportunity of using the theory of the class room and also offering useful service to the community.

Bob McCannon, senior, Des Moines, Iowa, led devotions and Pres. D. E. Wiedler closed the meeting with prayer.

The freshman quartet is composed of Elywn Phillips, Merna, first tenor; Deane Tack, Harlan, Kansas, second tenor; Leonard Godown, Merna, baritone, and Bob Oswald, Aurora, bass. They were accompanied by Imogene Ogden, York.

DAN CUPID ANNOUNCES COLLEGE TO HAVE NEW HEAD COACH

The engagement of Miss Jean Haner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Haner of York, to Neal Gallant, coach at York College has been announced.

Miss Haner is a graduate of York College and of the School of Nursing at Northwestern University. At present she is teaching nurses' training at Bloomington, Ill.

The wedding will take place after the close of the school year.

Sophs Present Trees To College

In keeping with the annual Arbor Day tradition of York College, Andy Jordan, sophomore president from Beloit, Kansas, presented, as a representative of his class, two silver cedar trees to the college, April 30.

President Weidler received the gift and stated that the north-east corner, where the trees were planted, would be the beauty spot of the college campus.

This plan of devoting a certain day of each year to public planting of trees was started by J. Sterling Morton a Nebraska pioneer who later became secretary of agriculture. Arbor Day was first introduced into York College in the year 1915.

Members Speak As Y. W.'s Stress Missionary Spirit

Instead of asking outsiders to speak for the meeting of May 7, the Y. W. C. A. had three of its own members as speakers. The talks were all given to increase the missionary spirit among the group.

Florence Deever was in charge of the program and introduced the speakers. Gladys Mohler, junior from Puerto Rico, and daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. I. Mohler, told of her native land. She said that the public school system was very good, but not all children have an opportunity to attend. Imogene Smith, freshman of York, gave a brief outline of life in Bolivia where her father, the Rev. J. N. Smith, started the first protestant co-educational school. The last speaker, Margaret Taylor, freshman from Denver, pointed out the United Brethren and the Methodist missions. She stated that there are 177 Methodist Mission stations in the United States and that there are United Brethren Home Mission churches in fifteen states. In conclusion she said, "It is up to us to help the home mission spirit grow."

Grace Shirk led the devotional program at this meeting.

On Tuesday, May 14, the Y. W. C. A. had its annual Secret Chum picnic which was held in the city park. Gifts were exchanged and the identity of chums was revealed.

Oswald Awarded Radio Guild Scholarship

Max Oswald, sophomore of Aurora, was awarded a scholarship by the Radio Drama Guild in cooperation with the National Little Theatre Movement which entitles him to four weeks' training from June 24 to July 19, in the Radio Drama Workshop of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Oswald, who was recommended by Miss Alma Tress Lundman, head of the expression department, is one of twenty-five students to be awarded these scholarships for this summer. He was accepted upon the basis of dramatic and scholarship achievements in York College.

The Radio Drama Workshop offers radio dramatic experience to drama students interested in a radio career. Summer courses include training in radio technique, script writing, acting, producing, and microphone experience. Opportunity for professional auditions will be given.

Lunch Pailers Have Remedy For Indigestion

By Wayne Dahlstedt
The "autocrats of the lunch pail" gather every noon at meal time on the library steps to spread crumbs and a few laughs.

The "autocrats" are formally known as the Bedient brothers, Herrick brothers, Jack "Sex-Appeal" Miller, Walter Christianity, Curtis Bristol, Otis Mattox, Charles Scott, and Floyd Taylor.

Sometimes Betty Jordan, Phyllis Foster, and Yvonne Hendricks eat there too, but they are only tolerated, not recognized as full-blown "autocrats."

The society was organized when the members realized that it was cheaper and handier to carry lunches in sack and pail and eat them on the library steps in the warm sunshine or gentle shade than to trot home and prepare meals.

Masterpieces are the lunches they prepare, especially those made by the "Bachelors of Art," a unit within a unit composed of the Bedients, Herricks, and Miller.

Every night one is designated from their fraternity to prepare something. "S. A." Miller has evaded this task successfully except once, for which there is mutual thanksgiving.

Eggs, flopped, peanut butter, and "oleo" between bread are the usual sandwiches. A can of beans opened with a blunt knife comprises the staples. Rolls of every variety, according to "Grocery Boy" Marlin's whim, are the desert.

One day "S. A." broke down for the second time and revealed his culinary art by concocting a salad

York Is Second In NCAC Finale At Hastings

Hastings Retains Title; Quick Sets New Broad Jump Record

York College with a total of 47 points captured second place in the annual N. C. A. C. meet held this year at Hastings, while Hastings College won first place with 61 1/2 points. Doane, Nebraska Wesleyan, and Midland trailed far behind.

Star among the York men was Max Quick, Hordville, who took first honors in three events, broad jump, shot put, and discus throw. Quick established a new broad jump record of 22 feet, 7 3/8 inches. He set the previous record last year. He came within one half inch of the shot put record in each of three successive attempts. The shot put record is the oldest in the conference having been established by Oscar Wiberg, Nebraska Wesleyan, in 1927.

Other York men taking firsts were Harold Haberman, York, in the low hurdles, and Paul McLaughlin, York, in the high jump. In addition to five first places, York received five second places, three thirds, and four fourth places.

Barton, Hastings, set a new record of 10:02.2 for the two mile

Alpha Psi Omega Initiates Three, Celebrates Birthday

"Histrionic Art" will be revealed at the Alpha Psi Omega initiation and second birthday banquet Friday evening May 17, at six o'clock in the Mezzanine room of the McCloud Hotel. William White, sophomore of Des Moines, will be toastmaster.

The process of artistic play production will be told in the following program: "Lights", by Anna J. Thompson, honorary member; "Camera", by Warren Neal, sophomore of Brookfield, Missouri; "Action", by Irene Shipley, charter member, of McCool; "Development", by Milton Maurer, '34, charter member, of York; and "Final Production", by Helen Lumbus, junior of Waterloo, Iowa.

This local Eta Kappa chapter received its charter in May, 1938, and sixteen charter members were initiated.

Miss Alma Tress Lundman, head of the expression department and a member of National Alpha Cast, is sponsor of this organization. Helen Lumbus, is president, and William White is the vice president. Max Oswald, sophomore, of Aurora, is secretary-treasurer.

These three new members will be initiated: Frances Bullock, sophomore of York, James E. Koontz, sophomore of Des Moines, Iowa, and Eloise Tabor, freshman, of Glendive, Montana. Officers for next year will be elected.

NEW EDITOR, BUS, MGR. ASSUME DUTIES

This issue marks the appearance of next year's Sandburr editor and business manager in their newly appointed posts. DuWayne Grimes and Bette Crum have both displayed evidence of real capability for handling their new jobs, and a custom started in recent years permits them to "learn the new ropes" on this issue and to publish the last one while the former editor and business manager are still on the campus to offer assistance. —G. How's Your Outlook?

Unlike the two weights Galileo dropped from Pisa's leaning tower which astounded everyone by reaching the ground at the same time, two students confronting for the first time the multiplicity of situations that is college may end up entirely differently. Say, for instance, that we have at our disposal two students of about the same caliber physically and mentally that we may place for six weeks in the testing tube of college life, observing the results.

For the first week or so our Galileo-like experiment may perhaps show few results. Cast into an entirely new environment, both feel their way carefully, putting on their best fronts. Both are accepted at face-value during that time, making contacts and engaging in work and play on that basis. There is little differentiation between them. But soon, lad A, a cheery young fellow with a grouchless disposition that lasts, occasions a little different reception, a little different greeting, from his mates than his inclined-to-be-surly friend B. How do we analyze it?

Our explanation: In our acquaintance was an old codger of eighty odd years with white whiskers and numerous ailments, who, without a cent in the world and with few comforts, always had the same answer for your "How are you?" query. "Fat and sassy as a spring chicken," was his constant reply, and you went your way feeling more assured of the goodness of the world, even with a whistle on your lips. Applying this case to our experiment,—people are influenced by our happiness, our encouragements. So, fellow, wipe your rose-colored glasses clean and brighten your out-look on life. There's no better way of dealing with people in college or in the world.

—DuWayne Grimes.

To The Faculty . . .

Someone once said that a college is first of all a community of men and women, individuals united by a common interest and a common goal. The late President Harper of the University of Chicago used to say that buildings and equipment could wait, but that a college must have men—men to teach and men to learn. All of this is just another way of saying that human factors compose the educational equation.

The intellectual, social, moral, and religious atmosphere of an educational institution depends largely upon the faculty and student body. Of these two factors, both indispensable, the faculty is the more constant. Thus a college depends upon its faculty for the preservation of its ideals and the school spirit as well as for the transmission of learning.

Not only the college as an institution, but also the students who toil with them, owe to the college faculty a debt of appreciation that money cannot repay. We who are students in York College are aware of our deep indebtedness to our professors and the administrative officers of the college. We would do well to express our gratitude in concrete ways now rather than wait, and finally "say it with flowers."

And incidentally—why not an annual Faculty Appreciation Day? When a professor leaves York College to teach elsewhere, or when a veteran faculty member retires, or when some of those who teach make an unusual contribution to student life, the students of York College would like an opportunity to publicly express the appreciation they feel.

—Ed. Auchard.

THE LIMELIGHT

By Bill White

Since our last limelighter was a young lady, it is only fair that we give the men the center of attention this issue, so I present for your approval Ralph Schmidt, junior from Bradshaw.

Tall, well-built, blonde, with wavy hair, twinkling blue eyes, and a flashy smile, — that's a picture of "Schmidty."

Sitting at ease in a chair, his feet propped high, "Schmidty" spoke in that interesting German style, "I enjoy picnics . . . and sleep, when I can get it." Like many "batchers" he craves some real cooking now and then. His favorite dish is strawberry short-cake soaked with rich cream.

When asked if there was anything that he objected to, he speedily remarked, "Fickle women." A pause, a low chuckle, then "Schmidty" stood up and leaned on the window casing, his pencil cocked in "Joe-College" style, and his hands in pockets, and finished his statement with,—"and washing dishes. I hate math tests,—or any tests as far as that is concerned."

The talk switched to sports, and "Schmidty" opined, "As for observing . . . basketball is my favorite, but when it comes to actual participation, I like track, ping pong, and roller skating."

Since Ralph has been in college he has belonged to the Panther Club, Historic Club, and Zetas. Offices held are treasurer of his class and present president of the juniors. He is the newly elected head of the student council.

Ralph plans to be a math teacher, and he will make a good one, too. His radiant personality and willingness to offer service whenever asked proves that for us. He is interested in his subject, which is, of course, a great asset to successful teaching. "Math is plenty tough, but yet fascinating," remarked "Schmidty" in a sincere manner.

"Schmidty" finds this little quip conducive to the pursuit of happiness. "Why worry about the past, you can't change it, and why spoil the present by worrying about the future." These were his parting words and they are Ralph all over again.

The Rev. Isaac Cassel, pastor of the Baptist-Congregational church who heard T. C. Koo, a Chinese statesman, speak at Doane last week, reviewed his speech in chapel May 10.

CUPID GOING STRONG

Another little bird came around and made an authentic announcement that "Cassanova" Wesley Fredrickson, senior, popped the question to Irene Gilliland, St. Paul, on April 29 and she accepted! Congratulations, Wes.

M. C. M. (McGillianty, Cohen, McGillianty) is experimenting on a new type of movie. It is a Western and the cowboy star doesn't sing or win the girl. SPORTS REVIEW . . .

Place: York Bowling Alleys.

Who: Craig and Witham who were trying for the first time to get dainty fingers out of big black finger holes before they were jerked down the alley in snowball-rolling style.

Butch, who was in the gallery, says this proves that not everyone profits by others' mistakes. He says Witham, who shot first, started running from the back line to the throw line practically dragging the heavy ball between her shins the entire distance, stopped, gave a mighty heave and a mightier grunt and executed a perfect back swing. At the wrong end of the swing, the ball escaped and rolled backwards. Verlene, who had prepared herself for a terrific throw, took off and landed, one-point style, on her face ¼ the way down the alley. The gallery roared. The king pin quivered. Joke No. 2: the power of suggestion was so great that Craig did the same thing on her turn 'cept that she lit on the other end. The gallery roared again.

No real harm was done and after a brief examination of the premises, the manager let the girls go.

Panther Sports

Gallantmen Third In Invitational At Peru

Though Max Quick was again the star of the meet with 11 points, the York College Panthers could do no better than third in the Peru Invitational May 3, placing behind Peru and Tarkio, Mo.

Peru's crack N. I. A. A. aggregation ran off with high honors capturing eight first places. Tarkio and York followed with Doane and Wesleyan far back.

Quick had an undisputed first in the shot put, and a tie for first in the discus throw.

In a two-man tennis team conflict between York and Peru, the Bob-Cats triumphed 2-1. Dierdorff beat Halliday 6-4, 4-6, 7-5 for the lone victory. Saindon lost to Sommers 4-6, 3-6. In the doubles Halliday and Sommers won 6-5, 4-6, 6-3.

York's golfers also came out second-best, 4 1/2—1 1/2. Peterson, York, tied Floyd even up, but Cain beat Feaster, York, 4-3.

Conference Fray Ends Season For Tennis, Golfers

The York tennis and golf teams ended their 1940 season at Fremont last Saturday when three netsters and one mashie wielder entered the fray of the annual N. C. A. C. show-down. The group was accompanied by Coach Neal Gallant.

Ray Peterson, senior Panther, with a score of 88, finished in sixth place in the individual scoring of a field of fifteen golfers.

Jerry Dierdorff, York singles man in tennis, reached the semi-finals after drawing a bye, then defeating Greenwood of Hastings 7-5, 7-5. In the "semi's, Souders of Wesleyan put Dierdorff out of the running with a slamming 6-1, 6-3 victory. Souders then met DeFreese in the finals and again duelled his way—this time to a 6-2, 1-6, 6-4 victory and the conference championship.

The tennis doubles team, Scott Heatherington and Paul Strickler, were eliminated in their first match after drawing a bye for the first round. They were defeated by Rump and Peterson of Midland, 6-4, 6-3.

Nutzman and Mayer of Doane are the new doubles champs after defeating the former title holders, Hastings' Dowling brothers, in the semi-finals and then beating out Peterson and Rump of Midland in the finale with a 6-1, 7-5 score.

Jaurez of Doane won the individual golf championship with a score of 76, one under par for the Fremont course. Doane squeezed one stroke under Hastings to win team honors with a score of 341.

on the library steps, solemnly whittling marshmallows into a wax-covered box filled with explosive vegetables.

Years of "batching" have proved to all that laughter is the best sauce for digestion. Subjects of conversation thus amusingly range from complaints of too much sleep from "Tom Cat" Herrick to the dirty tricks Hitler is playing on some people.

Some of the suggested problems are too deep even for these astute minds. For example a bitter battle waged for three days on this one: "Could we think if we didn't have a language?" "No," said Jack, and proved it by attempting to speak.

Every member of the society has a unique personality. Maurice is the analyst who during arguments breaks things down into microscopic units until all that is known is "buzzing energy." The others disagree on minor points, but agree that all that they know is that they don't know. That is, except "Tom Cat"; he didn't know it was to be known.

Perhaps these "autocrats" make light of sacred issues, and perhaps they will never offer any great solutions to problems. But they have learned to laugh good-naturedly at themselves and their environment.

Thus they will never lose their perspective, and they will aid their digestion.

"Sports Shorts"

Grimey

... A Tribute
"Sports Shorts" pays tribute this week to a game fellow who kept plugging until he reached his goal. Three years Waldo Dahlstedt worked for his letter in track,—three years in which he couldn't quite make the grade. This year Waldo determinedly went again after the elusive "Y". He ran the 100, he ran the 220, and he ran the 440. Always there was someone just a little better. Points were few. Came the conference meet last Friday and with it Waldo's last chance at a letter. Waldo ran a race entirely foreign to him, the mile. He ran it courageously and was third to finish, gaining his "Y". Story-book ending, yes, and well-deserved it was.

... '39-'40 Sports End

With the conference meets over in track, tennis, and golf, another chapter of Panther sports ends. In brief review, we see: A potentially great team of footballers have an off and on season, climaxed by a thrilling victory over St. Regis. A polished basketball crew drift through an unimpressive season, though finishing higher in the conference than York has for some time. A track squad strong in field events but weak in the races again subdued by Hastings. Tennis men and golfers hanging up no signal victories. In most ways an uneventful chapter, but with promise for next year.

... One Last Complaint

If you have ever played tennis and had a ball hit a rough spot on the court, sidle into the handle of your wildly-swinging racquet, meanwhile making a spectacle of you as you try to dodge, we are sure you will sign the petition we are soon going to start. We realize that a few hazards make the game more fun, but when the courts are dug up carelessly, we lose our patience. So we are going to demand that Business Manager Kamm either quit playing tennis barefoot or trim his toenails.

... Our "Swan-Song"

With this issue "Sports Shorts" terminates. We think they were getting somewhat Grimey anyhow, so while we toss them out for rejuvenation, good-bye for this year. We have enjoyed presenting some of the side lights from the sports field, and we hope you have enjoyed reading them.

Lundman Entertains Histrionic Club At Spring Party

Miss Alma Tress Lundman entertained the Histrionic club at her home on the evening of May 9. The several rooms were filled with tulips and sweet peas, and spring was the general atmosphere and theme.

The name of a flower was pinned to the back of each guest, who found it necessary to question his neighbors until he guessed the name of his flower. Fortunes were told by punch board, and a flower contest was held. Bob Oswald and Vera Blinn won the prizes in the games.

Continuing the idea of spring, May basket cakes and ice cream were served.

WHITE HONORED WITH PRE-NUPTIAL AFFAIR

June 22 was announced as the date for the wedding of Doris White, senior of Waco, and George Carlson, Bradshaw, at a shower given by Amy Speece at her home on May 13.

By bursting balloons in which were notes telling where to look for gifts, Miss White found many lovely surprises. About twenty college girls and Mrs. Irene White, Doris' mother, attended. In capsules concealed in the refreshments of ice cream and cake, each guest discovered the announcement of the date of the wedding. The color scheme carried out was pink, yellow, and white.

Miss White has been attending York College the past four years, and Carlson is working at the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Company in York. They will live in north York.
