

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS

Members of the Executive Board of York College held a committee meeting January 9.

Out-of-town members who attended the meeting were: Bishop V. O. Weidler, Kansas City, Missouri; Dr. G. E. MacCanon, Iowa Conference; Rev. A. Moore, Oklahoma; Dr. Maurice Nichols, Colorado; Dr. C. V. Priddle, Kansas; Dr. A. P. Vannice, Nebraska; Dr. O. T. Deever, Dayton; and Dr. S. B. Williams, Kansas City, Missouri.

RICHERT SPEAKS, ILLUSTRATES HYMNS

Floyd Richert, senior, Whitetail, Montana, was the guest speaker at the First Presbyterian church of York Sunday morning, Jan. 5. Wednesday evening, Jan. 8 Mr. Richert illustrated two hymns, "Now the Day Is Over" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross", at the First Methodist church of York. Elwyn Phillips, sophomore, Merna, accompanied him during the drawing.

GUARDS USE GYM

The National Guards used the college gym during the holidays for drill practice, before going to Camp Robinson in Arkansas.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Halls varnished and the kitchen redecorated at Hulitt Conservatory, also new backboards installed in the gymnasium were improvements that were made during the holidays.

Leaming Visits Kansas Churches During Vacation

Vaughn Leaming, senior of Woodward, Iowa, and former student representative to Africa, visited United Brethren churches in Kansas during Christmas vacation.

Following a brief trip to his home in Iowa, Leaming traveled to Independence, Kansas, where he assisted in a United Brethren district meeting and the Sunday morning church service December 29. That evening he spoke in the Toronto church of which Miss Regina Heatherington, a former Y. C. student, is pastor. Leaming was the guest speaker at the LaCrosse District Youth Retreat at Russell, Kansas, January 1. He spoke in two churches on the Smith Center circuit January 5.

Dr. Savery Addresses New Year Y. M. C. A. Meeting

"If we do not make our time count while we are in school, we are not likely to make it count when we are out of school," declared Dr. G. T. Savery, pastor of the college church, who spoke to the men of the college at their Y. M. C. A. meeting on January 7. He emphasized the fact that the new year had many opportunities in store for almost everyone, and yet, no individual has any assurance of another year's time. He did not picture death as lurking on the corner, but said that time is our most valuable possession.

As this scripture text, the speaker quoted the words of Job, "My days are swifter than a weaver's shut-

Sixty-One Alumni Banquet In Mid-Term Affair

Sixty-one York College alumni and guests were served at the semi-annual banquet which was held December 27, in the dining hall of the United Brethren church. Miss Florence Jenkins, '26, of Lincoln, acted as toastmistress.

Linking the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of York College with a well known radio program, Miss Jenkins, aided by Miss Lillian Bearss, '26, Fairbury, conducted a Professor Quiz program bringing out historical incidents in the history of the college. Speakers and musical numbers rounded out the program.

The speakers were Mr. Theodore Thompson, '28, Omaha, and Mr. E. A. Levitt, York, a member of the executive board. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Jeanette Bisset Hoffman, '32, Kiowa, Colorado, and Dean Charles Amadon of Hulitt conservatory.

A short business meeting was held with the secretary, Milton Mauer, '35, of York, acting as presiding officer. One other officer, Miss Minnie Gebbers, '31, treasurer, was present. Mrs. Mary Bucy Cobe, '15, Dawson, president, and Supt. Dean Moomey, '24, Elgin, vice president, were unable to attend. The main item of business was the election of Miss Nell Bearss, '24, York, as secretary

Y. C. Makes Full Use of Vacation In Trips, Visits, Fun

Holiday Exodus Ended January 6

By Larry Smith

All good things must come to an end. Vacation for York college students and faculty members officially terminated Monday, January 6, 1941, at 7:30 a. m. Since that morning the campus conversation has included numerous items concerning where and how vacation days were spent.

Among the faculty members who went out of town for the fortnight were Dean and Mrs. W. E. Bachman, Miss Mary Alice Slee, and Miss Alma Tress Lundman who were in Iowa. Professor and Mrs. E. I. Doty visited relatives in Chicago; Miss Irene Foster went to Indiana; and the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Cook, after a few days in York, visited in Kansas and Missouri. Professor and Mrs. Loyd C. Oleson and Miss Zeldia Wakeelin visited relatives in other sections of Nebraska. President D. E. Weidler and other members of the faculty remained in York.

The choice of states visited by the students was more varied. While Nebraska, Kansas, and Iowa, attracted the largest share of the homeward bound students, Missouri, Oklahoma, Indiana, and Michigan were also included. The record for traveling the most miles goes to Floyd Richert, senior of Whitetail, Mont., who went home by way of Redwood Falls, Minnesota, traveling over 2800 miles.

The unusual and the unexpected are always to be contended with even in vacation. Two Montana misses arrived in Omaha only to find that train connections had been changed. After a ride across town to another station, their cash resources were depleted and, with fourteen cents in their possession, they began a long wait for another train. However, before they reached their destination, someone saw to it that they were fed, and their greatest dis-

INITIATION NEXT FOR Y-CLUB

Committees were appointed and plans were made at the last meeting for the annual Y Club initiation party to be held in the gymnasium February 10, 1941.

The committees chosen were as follows: Vaughn Leaming, senior, Woodward, Iowa; Warren Neal, junior, Brookfield, Missouri; Floyd Taylor, sophomore, of York, on the food committee; and Floyd Gifford, junior, Longmont, Colorado; Harvey Peters, junior, Henderson, and George Shaneyfelt, sophomore, Aurora, on the initiation committee.

Ten new members will be initiated into the club at this time. They are, Raymond "Scrappy" Stevens, senior, Polk; Elmond Holbrook, senior, Orchard; Wesley Sloan, sophomore, York; Donald Porter, junior, Aurora; Lester Auchard, sophomore, Luray, Kansas; Clifford Hartman, freshman, Lecompton, Kansas; Earl Graff, freshman, Shelby; Beryl Graff, freshman, Shelby; Elroy Brugh, freshman, York, and Dearrel Miller, freshman, of Muscatine, Iowa.

BULLETINS SENT OUT

Illustrated bulletins showing the various departments and activities, and giving information concerning the schedule and fees of York College have been sent to the United Brethren churches.

Prof. Von Wicklen

Von Wicklen Replaces Haugan; Assumes Duties Next Semester

Dr. Frederick V. Von Wicklen, B.S., M.S., Ph.D., will join the faculty of York College as head of the physical science department at the beginning of the second semester. He will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Prof. H. W. Haugan.

Dr. Von Wicklen graduated in 1922 from the University of Louisville, Kentucky, and received his M. S. degree in 1923, and a Ph. D. in 1934 from Columbia University, New York City.

He has held positions as teaching fellow in general chemistry and qualitative analysis in University of Louisville; instructor in organic chemistry, qualitative and quantitative analysis in Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama; instructor in qualitative analysis and chemistry in Long Island University, New York; assistant in qualitative analysis and lecture demonstrator in general chemistry in Columbia University, New York; professor and head of chemistry department and head of physics department, College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Arkansas.

Dr. Von Wicklen is leaving a position as consulting chemist, Takamine Laboratory, Clifton, New Jersey, and has held several other positions with industrial concerns. He has also written for publication, including the associate editorship of two books.

Lois Miller Reviews Mission Work At Youth Retreat

Lois Miller, class of '40, reviewed her work as a teacher in a home mission school in New Mexico and gave her impressions of Spanish American life in the Southwest at a United Brethren youth retreat in Russell, Kansas, January 1.

The population of the community in which Miss Miller teaches is overwhelmingly Spanish-American. Many students come to the school who are unacquainted with English.

The Verlarde school consists of two school rooms and a community center. The two teachers in this school, Miss Miller and Miss Georgene McDonald, are responsible for providing recreation for the villagers. Visiting among families included within the mission's circle of influence, teaching in the mission Sunday School, and sponsoring a Christian Endeavor society are other duties of the missionary teacher, Miss Miller pointed out. As there is no resident pastor at Verlarde, religious as well as educational work rests entirely in the hands of the teachers.

Warner To Hold Bible Conference Here In February

Dr. Ira Warner, Pomona, California, bishop of the Pacific area of the United Brethren Church, will be a guest on the York College campus for the first Annual Students' Bible Conference, February 6 to 9, according to an announcement by Floyd N. Richert, president of the Christian Endeavor society of the College Church.

Dr. Warner was a United Brethren minister in Tennessee and Ohio preceding his elevation to the bishopric in 1929. He served a term as pastor of the largest church of the United Brethren denomination in Canton, Ohio. For twelve years he has been bishop in the Far West with a diocese extending from North Dakota to California.

The Bible Conference will include six sessions of Bible study under the teaching of Bishop Warner. There will be two sessions each day Thursday through Saturday. Bishop Warner will address the college chapel and preach in the York United Brethren Church on February 9.

This conference for devotional Bible study will be open to all students, Richert stated. He added that more extended announcement will be made before the Bible Conference next month.

Wygle To Lead IRC Discussion In Meeting Tonight

Lorena Wygle, freshman of Russell, Kansas, will lead a discussion on the Latin-American problem at the International Relations club meeting tonight. The February meeting will be in charge of Floyd Richert, senior of Whitetail, Montana, who will discuss the Oriental problem, according to Edward Auchard, the president.

Mrs. Morgan Emphasizes New Year Thoughts at Y. W. C. A.

"When you go forward into the New Year, be yourself and let the Divine Spirit lead you in your own way to do the things that God planned for you to do", stated Mrs. J. C. Morgan, who spoke at the Y. W. meeting January 7.

The program, which was centered about resolutions for the

New Year was in charge of Alyce Breedlove, freshman of Muscatine, Iowa. Devotions were led by Bette Crum, junior of Des Moines, Iowa, who stated that we should think of ourselves as being watches wound by the Master and having regular windings, timepieces that are open-faced, full of good works, and pure gold.

Chapel Speaker Tells of Hawaiian Life, People

Mrs. Adrian Linthicum, formerly Miss Audrey Black, class of '33, described Hawaiian life, customs, and scenes in a chapel address, January 10.

Mrs. Linthicum has lived in Honolulu, capital of the Hawaiian Islands, since December, 1938. Her husband is a torpedo man on board a United States submarine.

"The people of Hawaii voted four to one in favor of statehood in the last election," Mrs. Linthicum stated. "Whether or not Hawaii is admitted to the Union as the forty-ninth state now rests with Congress."

The population of Hawaii is very cosmopolitan, Mrs. Linthicum said. Not only Hawaiians and whites, but Filipinos, Japanese, Chinese, and thousands from many other countries live on the island. Native Hawaiians are rapidly decreasing, and a mixed race is arising, the speaker added.

"Churches in Hawaii are very much like churches on the mainland," Mrs. Linthicum pointed out. Last year we sent a missionary box to Alaska. Just as American churches send help to Hawaii and the Philippines, the people of the islands think of those still more distant."

"I would be very glad to go back to Hawaii tomorrow," she declared.

Following her address, she showed curios brought from Hawaii.

THE LIMELIGHT

By William White

As the curtain opens on 1941, the first limelighter of the year is Alfred Kamm, senior from Platte Center. "Al" is a major in history and English and plans to attend Colgate-Rochester Theological Seminary and Music School at Rochester, New York, upon graduation from York College in May. Al's interests lie in the field of religion with special stress on music.

Al has had many responsibilities while in college and has handled them very efficiently. These include the positions of president of the junior class, president of the Music "Y" club, treasurer of his class in both his freshman and sophomore year, and business manager of the Sandburr. Because of his excellent vocal work, Al has been in the college quartette for three years and has traveled with them for the past three summers as one of the field representatives of the college.

Al has three hobbies, joy riding, wood working, and mechanics. When asked as to his "pet peeves", Al laughed and remarked quickly in a low voice, "Oh, republicans and salads. They make a good combination so far as I am concerned." When asked his opinion of the conflict between ASCAP and the radio networks, Al replied, "It is all right in one way because it gives younger composers a chance to advance. However, I don't think it is fair for ASCAP to demand such a price for permission to broadcast their music."

Al is a true gentleman. His gift of expression, friendliness, sincerity, and love of music all contribute to his pleasing personality.

Al also stated, "one of the first requisites for a person planning to take up religious work in some form is a thorough understanding of the problems everyone must face in a tremendously complex society. In addition, he must attempt to furnish a solution that will be proffered with tolerance and kindness and one which will be conducive to Christian living." An excellent thought!

Morgan Speaks On Poetry At Recruit Meet

"Anyone who can appreciate beauty is a poet," said Professor J. C. Morgan, as he spoke before the meeting of Life Work Recruits on January 7. Mr. Morgan spoke mostly of religious poetry, stating that there is much of this type of poetry of which we are entirely unaware because it is more or less hidden in hymns. Mr. Morgan asked about twelve students to read good religious poems.

Stine Douglas sang "Invocation", accompanied by Margaret Bollinger. Edward Auchard read the scripture and spoke briefly on the forgiveness of God. Prayer was offered by Fred Carlsen and Everett Tracy.

Helen Lumbus and her gospel team had charge of the meeting on January 14. Bob Hunt gave a talk, and Esther Johnson, Alyce Breedlove, and Vera Matchett were on the program.

Gospel Team Conducts Services At Church

A Gospel team consisting of Margaret Bollinger, freshman, Robinson, Kansas; Lester Boilson, freshman, Cotesfield; Elwyn Phillips, sophomore, Merna; and Stine Douglas, sophomore, Beach, North Dakota, conducted the mid-week prayer service at the York College United Brethren Church Wednesday night, January 8.

Stine Douglas spoke on "Increasing Our Faith in God." Margaret Bollinger, chairman, led the singing and explained the purpose and work of the York College Gospel teams. Elwyn Phillips played the piano, and Lester Boilson led in prayer.

Activities brighten life in the Southwest. However, Miss Miller added that the superstitions back of many quaint customs cast a shadow across the hearts of the Christian teachers who labor among these people.

Miss Miller described the village of Verlarde as lying in a beautiful valley with mountains rising on every hand. These mountains are snow-capped in winter and green in summer. The Rio Grande river rises in these mountains and flows through the valley.

The Verlarde school is one of several day schools supported by the United Brethren home missionary society. Miss Norma Harris, class of '39, teaches at Alcalde.

LUMBER and COAL

They Tramped These Halls

By PROF. J. C. MORGAN

Among those sending greetings to their friends in Nebraska through the columns of the Nebraska State Journal as a special feature at the Christmas season, were Nathan R. Gutschow, '33, of Whittier, California, and Wayne W. Gallant, ex-'34, of Washington, D. C.

The names of those attending the mid-term alumni, banquet appear elsewhere in the Sandburr, but we should like to mention the classes that were represented by more than one member. Of the class of '39, five were present, three each of the classes of '15, '26, and '40, and two each of those of '24, '28, '34, and '35. Several classes had one representative.

Special greetings were sent to the Historian at the Christmas season by Mr. Avalo Caldwell, ex-'41, now of Waxahachie, Texas, and by Mrs. Marian Hill Kreizinger, '34, of Los Angeles, Cal. Her husband, Lloyd, is in school preparing to enter aircraft work soon. Their street address is 924 So. Park-view.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Roberts, former residents of York now living in Los Angeles, warm friends and generous benefactors of the college, send hearty greetings to the college and to all of its friends.

Mrs. Ruth Loomer Gilbert, '13, of Nampa, Idaho, sends information concerning her four children, two of whom are graduates of the Oregon Agricultural College. Also she gives the address of Mr. Ross Ware, '13, as Boise, Idaho, and states that he is employed by an Accident and Insurance Co.

A minister of the Kansas conference who prefers that his name not be disclosed has twice this year sent financial aid to be given to a needy student. Thanks are hereby expressed in this public way, and his good will shown in these helpful acts is deeply appreciated.

The marriage of Mr. Roy Speece, ex-'40, to Miss Catherine Wise, is announced. They are both teaching at Lewis, Iowa.

Mrs. Irving Steen, '35, is principal of schools at Springfield, Nebraska. She writes that Mr. Steen is in better health, and that she greatly enjoys reading the Sandburr.

Miss Imogene Smith, ex-'43, and Mr. Horace Lewis, ex-'43, were campus visitors one day during vacation.

Mr. William Curnutt, '38, is now with Company "A", 29th Engineers located at Oceanside, California. He sends best wishes to the college.

The alumni directory will soon go to press. Notices of change of address should be sent in right away.

Students Give Gospel Team Program In Salina

A group of York College students who were returning to college after vacation organized themselves into a temporary gospel team and conducted a worship service at the United Brethren Church in Salina, Kansas. Clayton Leyman, senior, Woodward, Oklahoma, gave the sermon.

Those who assisted with the worship service were: Mrs. Clayton Leyman, freshman, Woodward, Oklahoma; Vera Blinn, sophomore, Kismet, Kansas; Helen Bundy, freshman, Kismet, Kansas; Lucille Bruce, freshman, Great Falls, Montana; and Lee Johnson, freshman, Woodward, Oklahoma.

Panthers Down Hebron Again In 42-31 Tilt

Hebron Sticks For 3 Quarters; W. Kaeding High With 18

Undefeated was still the term used in describing the Panther cagemen as they emerged from their third game, the second with Hebron Junior College with a 42-31 win last Friday, January 10 on the diminutive Hebron floor.

Hebron, however, appeared to be a different team than that one defeated by the Panthers in the pre-Christmas game. They led the Panthers several times during the first three quarters but were unable to do so in the last period when York pulled away in a final drive for an 11 point margin.

High scoring laurels once again went to Wayne, the eldest of the Kaeding boys, thus keeping said honors in the family except for the division of the high point title between Jim Kaeding and George Shaneyfelt in the Grand Island Business College game. Wayne was responsible for 18 points of the total, while Shaneyfelt was next in the Panther lineup with 10 points.

Hobbs, Hebron center, was Hebron's best bet. He poured in seven field goals and one free shot. Smith, with eight points, was the only other Hebronite who looked impressive against the Panthers.

The game featured a somewhat effective zone defense used by the Hebron cagers, but it was the opinion of many that the success of it was in a large measure due to the size of the Hebron floor. Despite this opinion, the debate still remains as to whether or not the Panthers will be as successful against their conference opponents. Results of the debate will be announced in the box score of next Tuesday's meeting with the Hastings Broncos.

York Offense Swamps Bus. Coll. By 60-27 Score

Panthers Start With Rush; Second Pre-Season Victory

A glance at the ledger revealed that the Grand Island Business college came out in the red by a score of 60-27 on December 19 when they met the York Panthers on the latter's home basketball floor.

Deviating from the fast breaking attack used against the Hebron cagemen the week previously, the Panthers alternated with a slow, penetrating offense used by the first five and a fast break by the reserves.

Both attacks proved equally successful, and the Y. C. boys, led by Jim (the one with the wavy hair) Kaeding and George Shaneyfelt who scored 13 points each to divide high point honors, were never in danger. Diesselhorst, with a total of six points, looked best for the losers.

At the end of the first quarter, the scoreboard read 17-5 in York's favor, whereupon, Coach Tonkin sent in a much improved reserve squad which almost doubled the York score, raising it to 33, and allowed the bookkeepers from down the highway not one tally.

As the game continued, Grand Island seemed to improve offensively and added 22 points before the final gun.

All-Americans . . .

What with everyone else in the country picking All-American football teams, we become victims of mob psychology and offer a few choices of our own. At center we would place Prof. Doty for his showing as center of attention in chapel. Henry Ford takes backfield honors for his efficient but unappreciated blocking of the defense program. Our last nomination is Harold Haberman for his consistently fine play all year. Tom Harmon from Michigan wins honorable mention, just on general principles.

In the Lower Ranks . . .

The Panther Cubs, college B squad, have played and lost one game thus far this season, that being with Concordia Teachers. The average of the C team is .250. It has lost to Osceola, Bradshaw, and Thayer high school teams, and defeated Lushton high.

Mystery etc. . . .

Lyle Hecht from the News-Times relates a mystery story in one part about the York jinx basket which held its position at the west end of the gymnasium about five or six years ago. It seems that no matter who won the game, the team shooting at the west goal trailed in point-making during that half. Accurate checkups of measurements and construction revealed nothing. Later, for no apparent reason, the goal was replaced, and the jinx was broken. Odd, isn't it?

The Winnah . . .

Credit for York's win over Hebron Friday night so far as the Hebron coach was concerned went to Haddie Haberman for his defensive work in robbing Knight passes and just generally getting in their hair.

The Latest . . .

Up to the minute in basketball equipment are the new semi-circular backboards now installed in the York College gymnasium. The new boards, much smaller in size because of their streamlining, are said to open up side court scoring.

Meeting Indicates Active Interest In Air-School

About twenty young men and three young women of York College indicated interest in a Civilian Aviation Course in a meeting called by President D. E. Weidler on Jan. 6. A group of ten acceptable prospective pilots is necessary for the establishment of a training unit in connection with the college here.

President Weidler has announced that whether or not a unit is established on this campus now rests entirely with the U. S. government.

Alpha Psi Omega Holds Banquet; Oswald, Toastmaster

Max Oswald, junior of Aurora, will be toastmaster at the semi-annual banquet of the Eta Kappa chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, in the Mezzanine room of the Hotel McCloud on Saturday, January 18.

The theme for the banquet is "An evening with Shakespeare." Toasts will be given by Frances Bullock, junior of York; Jimmie Koontz, junior of Des Moines, Iowa; Lois Cobe, senior of Dawson; William C. White, junior of Des Moines, Iowa; Miss Alma Tress Lundman, head of the dramatic and public speaking department of York College, and Dr. Walter E. Bachman, dean of the college.

Vera Blinn, sophomore of Kismet, Kansas, will be initiated into the local chapter.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting Features All Musical Numbers

A musical program, with a reading interlude, was presented by the Y. M. C. A. at its regular meeting January 14.

A vocal solo was given by Dean Charles H. Amadon, of Hulitt Conservatory of Music. Bruce Herrick freshman of Topeka, Kansas, played a piano solo. Fred Carlsen, senior of Muscatine, Iowa, sang a solo. Paul Strickler, sophomore of Peru, played on the chimes a solo. A cornet duet was presented by Hal Goodrich, freshman of Philomath, Oregon, and Elwyn Phillips, sophomore of Merna. William C. White, junior of Des Moines, Iowa, gave a reading.

Devotions were led by Ray Thompson, junior of Lushton.

Student Team Holds Services At Harmony

A gospel team including Catherine Woolever, junior of York; Doris Landon, junior of Russell, Kansas; Blanche Leach, sophomore of Clarks; Daryl Severin, sophomore of Imperial; Floyd Richert, senior of Whitetail, Montana; and Stine Douglas, sophomore of Beach, North Dakota, conducted the evening service at the Harmony United Brethren church northwest of York last Sunday evening.

Miss Landon played a violin solo. Daryl Severin sang "Hold Thou My Hand" as a vocal solo accompanied by Miss Woolever, pianist for the team. Richert led the singing and Douglas preached.

I Like A Little Church

By Vaughn Leaming
I like a little church. You will find it on a wind-swept, prairie corner where rough roads meet. It is a dust-eaten white color, and the doors no longer fit. The windows rattle, the pews shake, and the dusty, old piano is always off key. The only varnish is about the base of the pews and along the border of the thin walls. The pine floor is swollen and settled with age and heavy shoes. The farm people who worship in this shabby temple rattle into the church yard in vehicles conspicuous for their mud and trailer-hitches. The worshippers' strong bodies are bundled into ill-fitting, mail-order clothes, and their flushed faces are set with simple purpose. They sing great bursts of song from evangelistic hymnals. They are hungry for the Bread of Life, and the spirit moves them. Their prayers are humble. God seems to be in their midst. I like a little church.

Reporter Compares Life To Our Faith In Tomorrow

This morning dawned cold and gray. Your Sandburr reporter walked to college through a low-hanging mist that enshrouded everything in a cold, gray light.

The year 1941 dawned like that too. The clouds of hate and doubt and fear were hanging low. There was the chill of death in the air.

Dark and dismal days seem to be a necessary part of every year. Black and terrible years are a part of the stuff that history is made of.

It was dark today. But tomorrow may be bright with the rosy glow of a sunny day. This year seems threatening all sorts of evil. But there will be other years. We dream of brighter years, years of peace and prosperity.

This faith makes life worthwhile. It makes life worth living. We find strength for living as we confess our faith in tomorrow.

Of College Students Past and Present

We can recall that when we were at a somewhat tender age the very mention of "college students" filled us with a curious mixture of awe, interest, and a sense of mystery. They seemed to be so far removed from the ordinary realm of living that they did not belong to it at all. We suppose many others shared that view. At least, when someone said impressively, "Oh, he goes to college,"—a respectful silence always ensued. Times have changed since then. For us, situations have reversed. We have not quite recovered, yet, from the time when some young mother pointed us out to her wide-eyed son as a "real college student" (which species the youngster had evidently been seeking for some time) and the little fellow disappointed said, "But, mom, he couldn't be. He's just like us."

Nevertheless, that aura of glamor still clings to the college student. Fond parents will always say proudly that their children are in college now. Students, themselves, feel that they have moved up a notch in the world. Probably, little boys will go on wonderingly waiting for their first glimpse of someone from college.

That air of wonderment, evidenced by the small boy, will remain to some extent after he is disillusioned. His ambition will probably be to attend college. That ambition, if he never attains it, will linger, perhaps, in admiration of the fellow who did make the grade.

So, today, finds college assuming more and more an important part in training for life. Most vocations are better filled by the college-trained. Many of them require the college degree. But the college person no longer stands out, he once did, simply because he is in college. Now, because there are so many seeking college educations, one must prove himself by superior work. It is the challenge of a new and changing world.

The Guy Named Joe And His Philosophy

"This time doesn't count"—Little Joe had picked up his dad's philosophy, and as he lisped the word after breaking another window which he had promised faithfully not to do, indulgent parents smiled, and said, "No, this time doesn't count."

"This time doesn't count"—Joe was in school now. He repeated his favorite expression to excuse himself as he copied from little Susie Smart's paper across the aisle.

"This time doesn't count"—In high school now, Joe showed athletic abilities, but constantly he was dissipating, using as an alibi his old standby.

"This time doesn't count"—It was so easy to pick up that ring he wanted for his best girl when the jeweler's back was turned. That'd be all. He'd never do it again.

"This time doesn't count"—Sure, he'd had to stick up a poor old groceryman to get some spending money, but he'd done it in an emergency. It'd never happen again.

"This time doesn't count"—Yeah, the gang had made him steal this car, but it was the last. He was gettin' out,—and fast.

"This time doesn't count"—They found Joe the next morning, dead, in the wrecked car. Joe still smiled. Maybe a kind fate wouldn't count this either. Hadn't he always had another chance?

comfiture was spending an extra day which consisted mostly of long waits in stations.

One freshman girl left town without her money. Although she could not remember where it was, she notified her roommate and asked her to find it and mail to her home. Later, she left her purse, without the money, in the car and had to write and ask to have it mailed to her. When sending Xmas cards she wrote, "Thanks for the purse" on one and mailed it, only to find out later that she had inserted it in the wrong envelope. Now she wonders who was thanked for the purse she hadn't sent. Did I hear someone say, "just typical of a freshman?"

Suitcases and baggage came in for their share of trouble along two different routes. Five suitcases tied on the front of one car returning to York came loose and the car ran over them before it could be stopped. The suitcases were slightly the worse for wear. The mentionables and unmentionables which had been scattered along the road were all piled on

BOOK REVIEW . . .

A Very Late One, Too . . .
 Read "I Hate to Get Up" by A. Larm Klock. Good detective tale. Night slips by, but does nothing. The bed springs but misses. Victim sleeps on. Consequence: Late to another 7:30.

THE WEATHER . . .

It's sad, but our weather man has his hands chapped, and all he'll say is that it's going to be "glovely weather, isn't it?"

SPORTS SECTION . . .

For Shame . . .
 We don't know what's going to become of some of our basketballers, 'specially such daring ones as Les Auchard who pranced out into the hall of the Hebron gymnasium building with nothing more than a shirt-tail between him and the crowd who started through a door that wasn't supposed to be open. Most confusing!

NEWS SECTION . . .

Maybe Mothballs . . .
 Crusading for the better interests of the college, Butch has done considerable traveling around this week. He reports that the place which needs most attention is the 5,000 odd feet of air space just surrounding the Con which lately has been wearing a rich scent of skunk. Butch says he knows it's a touchy matter, but if one of the girls has the skunk for a mascot, would she please get rid of him?

Civilization, or Is It? . . .

Penelope says she always hates it when things like pigeons come flying into one o'clock French class, 'cause it always gives somebody a chance to remark, "Oh, he probably wants to learn pigeon-French."

Famous Saying No. 22222 .

Comes from the earnest little fellow who kept score on the big board at the Grand Island Business College game. Said the youngster, as York hit a hot pace and he was hard-pressed to keep up his numbers, "Call 'em off, coach, for my sake." Lucretia says he oughta be retired on a pension.

Goodness Sakes . . .

It all happened when Velma Farley was trying to send a birthday telegram to a Denver young man. "Max" Hoover, ever helpful, was pencilling it for her on the blank when Velma shrieked, and said, "You can't. He'll know that's not my handwriting." Yeh, "Con" people again. . .

the back seat and sorted out after the arrival in York. Some ice skates and clothing were lost from the back of another car when a rope broke.

Miss Foster, who arrived at college just a trifle late for her 8:30 English class, has expressed her agreement with the old saying, "Time and trains wait for no woman." A dash across Chicago in a taxi was in vain and she missed her train by eight minutes. In telling how she sat in the back seat of a cab holding her hat while she was driven down the street, over curbs, and through red lights, she said, "If you want a thrill, just tell a cab driver you have to make a train."

Nyle Douglas with his rendition of Scott Heatherington's version of "Little Red Riding Hood" entertained the passengers in the coach in which he was riding; Elwyn Phillips amused a little girl and held her on his lap; and F. Richert brought back a mustache which he got for Christmas. Frances and Harold Windsor saw their home for the first time. Since their entrance at college, their father has taken a pastorate at Morley, Iowa. After waiting several hours for a train that was late, Stine Douglas suddenly discovered that the billfold containing the suitcase checks had been left behind and he had to make a hurried dash just ten minutes before train time. One of our ministerial students, exaggerating the "turn over a new leaf" policy, had an accident and turned over his car. Fortunately no one was injured.

BEASON, WYGLE TALK

The Y. W. C. A. Jan. 14 meeting consisted of two talks on foreign problems by Arlene Beason and Lorena Wygle; a vocal solo by Bertha Riggs; and devotions led by Blanche Leach.
