Tonkin To Instruct at Grand Island

Will Continue to Coach Y. C. Squad

Coach R. E. Tonkin revealed last week that he has accepted a position as physical instructor at the Grand Island ordnance plant. Included in his duties will be the supervision of recreation and recreational grounds.

Coach Tonkin will continue to direct the track squad during this semester, as his work in Grand Island will be only on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. However, during the summer he will do full-time work. Next fall he will again direct physical education for men in York College on a part-time basis.

Guests Are "Backward" At C. E. Party

After a hearty left-handed handshake at the back door of the college church by Ethel Brooks, freshman of Cedar Rapids, Ia., guests at the Christian Endeavor party Apr. 9, were asked to register, writing their names backward and with their left hands.

Following this introduction to the "backward" party, the guests were labeled on their backs with the names of animals and were compelled to guess what they represented by asking leading questions.

Other features of the evening's entertainment were a treasure hunt conducted by Ruth Wiren, freshman of Woodston, Kans.; a questionnaire delving into the past, present, and future lives of several notable guests; and stunts representing the states by the guests from those states.

A prayer circle and benediction closed the evening after refreshments were served.

Shadow of a Cross Is Worship Center For Cross Theme

A shadow of a cross provided a worship center for the theme of the cross at Life Work Recruits, Mar. 31, with Ethel Brooks, freshman of Cedar Rapids, Ia., in charge.

Lester Boilesen, junior of Cotesfield, talked on "My Cross and Christ's Cross". Ethel Brooks told a short story of how a cedar tree came to be chosen for the cross on Calvary.

Martha Cox, freshman of Espanola, N. Mex., led devotions.

"Life Is Short," Says Prof. Noll

"In a discussion of what life means, it has been suggested that life is as short and as fleeting as the flight of a bird," stated Professor W. C. Noll, head of the Biology Department, in his chapel talk, Apr. 8.

Christianity received its start in the British Empire because people there thought the missionaries could tell them the meaning of life.

Pres. Weidler Attends Meet

"There was a fine interest in the college, and appreciation was shown of the recent financial victories," said Pres. D. E. Weidler after attending district meetings of United Brethren churches in Kearney, Elba, Pleasant Valley, Julian, and Pickrell, during the week of April 5-9.

Accompanying Pres. Weidler were Bishop V. O. Weidler, Supt. A. P. Vannice, the Rev. W. P. Watkins, youth director, and Mrs. Vannice and Mrs. E. H. Galbraith, representatives of the Women's Missionary Society.

Both Pres. Weidler and Bishop V. O. Weidler attended services in Strang and Harmony on April 4 and 11, respectively.

Winifred Smith To Represent Y. W.

Winifred Smith, junior of Enid, Okla., was recently elected District Council Representative of the Y. W. C. A., and will attend the district meeting at Omaha, April 17.

Daisy Million, junior of Noel, Mo., president of Y. W. C. A., and Miss Anna Thompson, sponsor of the organization, also plan to attend.

District meetings are being held instead of state meetings because of the transportation problem.

May 28 is Date For May Fete

The annual May Day Fete will be held this year on Friday, May 28, according to Daisy Million, junior of Noel, Mo., president of Y. W. C. A. Balloting for the May Queen began yesterday, but the results will not be revealed until the day of the festival.

Margaret Trout, junior of Culbertson, and Ralph Hines, senior of Yuma, Colo., are co-chairmen of the program committee, representing the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., respectively.

Honor Roll Dedicated At College Church

Pledges to the flags of Christianity and the United States opened a dedicatory service for the Service Flag and Honor Roll of Servicemen at the College Church on Sunday, April 4.

The 23 stars on the Service Flag represent the regular members of the church who have been inducted into the armed forces, while the 46 names on the Honor Roll include both the regular and affiliated members. Those represented in this memorial service who were, previous to their induction, enrolled in York college include:

William Feemster, Donald Hammar, and Glen Ulrich, regular members; Richard Foulk, Marvin Herrick, Warren Noble, Elwyn Phillips, Paul Reger, Larry Smith, and Edwin Seward, affiliated members. Following the flag salutes and display of the Service Flag and Honor Roll, the roll call of the service men represented there was read by Dr. Charles Bisset. Scripture of the Christian soldiers, sailors, and airmen was read by Professor J. C. Morgan.

The hymns of the soldier and the sailor, "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me" were sung by the audience; and the hymn of the airmen, as yet not set to music, was read by the pastor, Dr. G. T. Savery.

The service was closed with a solo, "Behold, What Manner of Love" by Richard Riggs and a short meditation, "These Things They Do for Me" by Dr. Savery.

Dr. Savery Will Conduct Pre-Easter Services

A series of pre-Easter services beginning on the evening of Palm Sunday and extending through the week to Easter are to be conducted in the college church by the pastor, the Rev. G. T. Savery.

The theme of the evening meditations will be the seven last words of the cross. On Maundy Thursday a candle-light Holy Communion service will be held, according to Dr. Savery.

Forgiving Enemies Is Recruits Theme In Recent Meeting

Forgiving our enemies was the supreme thought in "The Lord's Prayer" by Francois Copper, read by Miss Anna J. Thompson, York College Registrar, at the Life Work Recruits' meeting April 7.

Devotions were led by Elizabeth Miller, freshman, Dumont, Ia., and Richard Riggs, freshman, Menville, Ia., sang "Behold, What Manner of Love" by MacDermid.

The reading portrayed a young woman, an orphan, striving with the hatred in her heart for the murderers of her brother and finally forgiving them.

Annual Reception Held Tuesday

Once again the York College faculty put classroom assignments in the background for an evening as they entertained students at the annual Faculty Reception in the college church last Tuesday.

Dean W. E. Bachman gave the opening address of welcome, and Pres. D. E. Weidler talked about "People I've Known—" said people not being "great" individuals. The musical portion of the program was presented vocally by Dean Charles Amadon, accompanied by Miss Eda Rankin.

"The Florist Shop," a play by Winifred Hawkrige, had the following cast: Maude, the florist's bookkeeper, Miss Doris Gilmore; Henry, an ordinary tough office boy, about sixteen, Coach R. E. Tonkin; Slovisky, the middle-aged proprietor of the shop, Prof. E. I. Doty; Miss Wells, a timid, talkative spinster, Miss Mary Alice Slec; and Mr. Jackson, solemn and somewhat pompous, Dr. Charles Bisset.

Ices and cakes were served by the refreshment committee including Mrs. Lucille Williams Bachman, Prof. J. C. Morgan, Mrs. John Riddell, Miss Mary Alice Slec, and Dr. G. T. Savery.

Members of the receiving line were Dean and Mrs. W. E. Bachman, Pres. and Mrs. D. E. Weidler, and Dean and Mrs. Chas. Amadon.

Ushers were Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Morgan, Coach and Mrs. R. E. Tonkin, and Misses Gladys Pearson, Edith M. Callender, Eda Rankin, and Zelda Wakelin.

Decorations were in charge of Professors Edith Callender, E. I. Doty, W. C. Noll, and H. C. Feemster. Prof. R. E. Townsend was responsible for invitations.

Mother of Prof. Von Wicklen Dies

Mrs. Elinor Von Wicklen, mother of Dr. F. C. Von Wicklen, head of the physical sciences department, died Sunday evening, April 4, following a short illness of three days. Funeral services and burial were held Wednesday, April 7, at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, which was her home until two years ago when she came to York to live with Prof. and Mrs. Von Wicklen.

College students will remember Mrs. Von Wicklen for her faithful attendance at the services of the college church.

PALS Plan Projects

Service Flag, Redecorations; and Newly Printed Constitution Are Forthcoming

Bachman, Weidler Attend Meeting

Dean Walter E. Bachman and Pres. D. E. Weidler attended a meeting regarding co-operation among Nebraska Protestant colleges held in the Y. M. C. A. in Lincoln on Monday. The meeting was called by Chancellor B. F. Schwartz, Wesleyan, president of the N. A. C. C.

Auchard Is Youth Director

The Rev. Edward D. Auchard, '41, pastor of the United Brethren church in Riverdale, California, was recently selected as Young People's Director of the California Conference.

Director Auchard graduated from York College with the A.B. degree, and when in college was active in Y. M. C. A., Life Work Recruits, and International Relations club. He served as a student pastor in several charges.

A service flag and honor roll, redecorations for PALS' hall, and newly printed constitutions are three projects PALS are working on according to Virginia Hinkel, senior of Cambridge, Ia., and president of the organization.

Winifred Smith, junior of Enid, Okla., Elizabeth Miller, freshman of Dumont, Ia., and Bruce Herrick, junior of Dayton, O., are making plans for the service flag.

The committee on redecorating the hall are Frances Hickey, sophomore of Spokane, Wash., Ruth King, sophomore of Topeka, Kans., and Bruce Herrick.

Ethel Brooks, freshman of Cedar Rapids, Ia., has announced that the new constitutions are now being printed and will be ready for members at their next meeting.

Prof. Bisset Speaks of "Noisy Minorities"

"The person who makes the most noise is not always the wisest; he may be only camouflaging ignorance," stated Professor Charles Bisset, head of the History Department, in his chapel talk Mar. 29, as he spoke on the subject of "Noisy Minorities."

"If there was as much true religion at a Negro revival as there is noise, the whole world would soon be evangelized," he continued.

OUR MEN IN SERVICE

Pvt. Jake Sandavol, '43, who is stationed at Camp Sibert, Alabama, tells of his final basic training tests.

"My basic training period ends the middle of next week. As yet I have no idea what the army intends to do with me. Nothing has been said or done about the Specialist Training Schools.

Our basic training ends with a three day bivouac. We eat, but we don't get to sleep. It is our final test, and although I am looking forward to a lot of fun, I dread going."

Pvt. Earl Parris, ex-'46, writes from the A. A. F. Technical School in Chicago:

"I was recently moved from St. Petersburg to Chicago. I am training for radio operator and aerial gunner. We receive only our basic training in Florida. Our school here will last until about the middle of the summer.

"I happened to meet Earl Ferguson while I was in St. Petersburg. He arrived in Florida about two days before I left, so we didn't have much of a chance to see each other. It certainly was good to see someone from home. So far he is the only Y. C. man I have seen."

Pvt. Burdell L. Lower, ex-'45, writes from Washington University at St. Louis, Mo.:

"Now about Washington U.—it's a swell place. One of the most beautiful campuses I've ever seen, beautiful buildings, wonderful architecture. There are approximately twenty-five such buildings, halls, and "dorms" on the campus. Washington U. is one of the outstanding medical and engineering schools in the country. It is located in the western part of the city. From the campus you can look across Forest Park and see the tall buildings of downtown St. Louis. I don't think there is a better school in the 7th corps area.

War Affects Floral Business Says Mr. May

"The war has its effect on the floral business as well as on other businesses," said Mr. Grover May, owner of the York Floral company. "Foil for plants and other commodities are very slow in coming, and it is difficult to get help."

Mr. May has operated his floral shop in York for twenty-six years. He has been in his present location for four years. The shop was located on the north side of the square for eighteen years; then it was moved to West Sixth street, and finally to its present location.

"May flowers" are not the only things sold by the Mays. "Cards for all occasions", pottery, plaques, goldfish, stationery, and many other gifts may be found in the shop.

The Mays' two sons, Howard and Robert, attended York College. Robert graduated in 1939. He is now an ensign in the U. S. Navy and is located at Ithaca, N. Y. Howard is a Pharmacist's Mate, 3/c of the U. S. Coast Guards and is with the hospital corps stationed at Manhattan Beach, N. Y.

"The small colleges can fit the high school youngsters for life better than the large institutions," said Mr. May, in speaking of York College and small colleges in general, "because they can give students more personal attention. York college has had a stabilizing influence on the moral and spiritual life of this town", he added.

Second War Loan . . .

Our country is calling for thirteen billion dollars in the Second War Loan. As students, we are perhaps unable to buy bonds, but each of us can buy stamps, and the stamps we buy will soon become bonds. The men in service buy bonds and stamps, as well as offer their lives for their country and the ideals for which it stands. Can we do less than our share? Buy war stamps! Help in the Second War Loan!

We May Not Win . . .

Have you ever considered that we may not win this war? Such a thing is possible, whether we realize it or not.

All the news reports are not optimistic. Because of victories achieved in one sector, we must not feel certain that the entire victory is assured sometime in the near future.

Each and every one of us must do our best for Victory, even if we are not members of the armed forces. Our part means not only buying bonds and stamps, but obeying ration rules, keeping physically fit, being cheerful, and, above all, doing our best at each task we attempt, including lesson assignments and organization responsibilities.

If we do our best, we can help make Victory become a reality.

AXIOM FOR TOMORROW

WASHINGTON—(ACP)—"In the post-war period, no youth should be barred by economic circumstances from carrying his education as far as he profitably can."

In that axiom for tomorrow, the National Resources Planning Board expresses its opinion that society owed education to the able and should stand ready to foot the bill for youth if youth cannot.

This is how NRPB evaluates shortcomings of today's education to be remedied tomorrow:

Nine-tenths of the children of high-school age should be in high school and eight-tenths of them should finish high school. In 1940, American high schools had about 7 million pupils. They should have had 1,700,000 more.

Four-tenths of junior college age youth should continue their education beyond high school. In 1940, about 870,000 were in freshman and sophomore classes at college or in technical schools. That number should be increased 130 per cent.

In 1940, about 687,000 students were beyond the second year of college work. In the best interests of society, enrollment in such advanced classes should be increased about 25 per cent.

Says the NRPB report: "Fewer than half of the nation's youth who are able to do acceptable college work now continue their education beyond high school."

There's no immediate prospect that this blue print of post-war education will soon grind through the mill of controversy to take shape in legislation. President Roosevelt isn't pressing Congress for prompt action.

But the report is being quietly absorbed by those who will fight for a better tomorrow when the time comes. Chances are there will be a stiff struggle to make views of the report prevail. Realization of the aims suggested by NRPB depend on much more federal aid to education than in the past. And such aid has had strong opposition in the past.

"During the years immediately following the war," NRPB observes, "it does not appear probable that the total revenue available for education from state and local sources can be greatly increased. . . . It also appears improbable that any great increase will occur in governmental funds available for education. It is therefore evident that most of the increase in expenditures for education in the post-war period must be financed almost if not entirely by federal funds."

Shaneyfelt and Kaedings' Make All-State Team

George Shaneyfelt

Wayne Kaeding

James Kaeding

York's state champion cagers placed three players on the 1943 All-State team. Gregg McBride, World-Herald sports editor, chose Shaneyfelt and both Kaedings for what is believed to be the most powerful all-state team ever assembled in Nebraska.

Wayne and Jim Kaeding, who finished first and fifth respectively in the state scoring, merited the two forward spots. Wayne, the older of the two, was a natural sharp-shooter from any angle and was never stopped this year, his lowest total being the 9 points he scored against Wesleyan.

Jim, although smaller than most opponents, could easily out-maneuver them for close-in shots or for short penetrating passes to teammates. At the Kansas City National tournament, Jim's spectacular shooting and passing won the admiration of the spectators and sports scribes.

George Shaneyfelt, outstanding defensive man for the Panthers, was chosen as a guard on the mythical "dream team". "Shaney", who was the balance wheel of York's attack, was invaluable as a defensive rebounder and a team player. George, playing his first year as guard, averaged 9 points a game and displayed excellent ball-handling throughout the season.

The Kaedings and Shaneyfelt are only juniors and this marks the second year that each one was selected on the All-State team.

Doane's Wayne Weber, one of Nebraska's best all-round athletes, landed the other guard position. Throughout the season, Weber shouldered the big end of Doane's attack, both defensively and offensively.

Barrel chested Lloyd McCullough of Kearney was selected at center to finish out the all-state quintet. He was undoubtedly the best center in the state, and his looping hook shot from the post position was unequalled.

Trackmen Place Third In First Meet at Kearney

Panthers Look Best In Field Events

An inexperienced squad of York College trackmen bowed to Kearney and Hastings in a triangular meet Friday, April 9. York scored two firsts and tied for another, but Kearney's superiority in the track events was decisive. The scoring went as follows: Kearney 94½, Hastings 44, and York 32½.

George Shaneyfelt led the Panthers by capturing 8 points. "Shaney" took first in the discus with a throw of 125' 7", and second in the javelin with a throw of 163' 4". Cleo Campbell took first in the javelin with a heave of 164' 9". Niles Shoff tied for first in the pole vault at 10' 6".

Our advice to that fellow is to get in shape.

Besides being a threat in the discus toss, large and muscular George Shaneyfelt was seen teaching a class of admirers the manly art of plate throwing. How much are those girls paying you, Shay?

We have quite a contrast in our high jumping field with lanky James F. and short "Jug" Speece both competing for high honors. Both are skimming the bar at heights that should bring in some points for the bacon as we now

An almost unprocurable drinking fountain has recently been obtained in Lincoln, and will be installed on second floor in the corner by Miss Callender's class room where the dictionary now reposes. Weidler Speaks Concerning Religious Growth

Many people make a good start in their religious growth, and then come to a standstill, according to President D. E. Weidler who spoke in chapel Apr. 1. "We ought to grow, not remain as children. We should seek a maturing and growth that would be a greater achievement in spiritual things," he said. "We should examine ourselves," concluded Dr. Weidler, "To see if we are living up to the privilege of being branches of the vine. We should bring forth much fruit."

ONE FRIEND

I think I'm very fortunate, Because I have a friend. I know one person who is true— On whom I can depend. We speak so glibly of our friends, But I think friends are rare; I mean the ones who cling when we're Disgraced—or in despair. A person who would sympathize If others—all—forsake you; The one who'd understand your acts Though all the rest mistake you. If any one knows all your faults, And still is loyal—true, You're blest indeed, for friends are scarce; And Fate's been kind to you! —Lyla Myers.

A. F. Test, Former Y. C. Student, Dies

A. F. Test of Mitchell, South Dakota, a former York college student, passed away on August 19, 1942. Mr. Test is recognized as an outstanding dairyman by residents of South Dakota, and a year ago was honored at the Little International Livestock Show in Mitchell.

From Mitchell newspapers come the following excerpts:

"Albert Fawcett Test was born March 19, 1881, at Salem, Ohio. When he was two and one-half years of age he went with his parents to York, Nebr., where he grew to manhood and attended York College. He came to Mitchell in 1905 and attended Dakota Wesleyan University.

"In 1906, he was united in marriage to Maude Elizabeth Propst of Plattsmouth, Nebr. They have lived in Mitchell all of their married life.

"A devout Methodist, he has never allowed his obligations to his church to be neglected. In addition to being one of its most faithful members, he has been chairman of the official board for ten years. A firm believer in Christian education, he has been a strong supporter of Christian institutions, and has acted as vice chairman of the board of directors of Dakota Wesleyan University for two years, and has been on the board for four years.

"Respected by his fellow dairymen, neighbors and friends from all over the state, Mr. Test has never been known to be too busy to assist wherever it is needed. Whether it be in the organization of a jack-rabbit hunt, or the contribution of the milk for a church supper, A. F. Test was always willing to do more than his share. "A life of service, dedicated to his fellowmen, his family, and his church. A man who is continually striving to advance the dairy industry and promote the development of the Holstein breed. To Alfred F. Test, State college agricultural students are proud to dedicate their 1942 Little International."

Two songs belonging essentially to York College are now available in printed form. Both words and music for these songs, "On the Hill of the Rising Sun" and "Panther Salute" were written especially for York College, and are not simply new words to old tunes.

The song of the college on the hill was written by Miss Ruby Carol Rickert, a blind musician, and the pep song of the Panthers was composed by Larry Smith, ex-'44, who is now in the Army Air Force.

Pres. D. E. Weidler states that music critics have praised both of the compositions, and comments have been made specifically concerning the unusual rhythm of the pep song. He also says that he has never heard a song with more pep, and believes it is worthy of comparison with such famous songs as "On Wisconsin."

The words and music for both songs are on one sheet, priced at fifteen cents. Miss Anna J. Thompson, registrar, states that mail orders will be accepted with no extra charge for postage.

The trend this year is to Russ Williams—the store that's going places on its style and value appeal.
