Commencement Is Wednesday, June 2

Dr. R. L. Cortner, pastor of the First United Brethren Church in Wichita, Kans., has chosen as his subject, "The World Awaits You," when he will speak at the commencement service to be held in the college church on Wednesday, June 2, at 10:00 A. M.

Twenty-four seniors will take part in the exercises which will open with a processional played by Miss Eda Rankin, "Pomp and Circumstance." Following the invocation by Bishop V. O. Weidler, there will be a piano solo by Bruce Herrick, and then Dr. Cortner will deliver the address.

After the address, Dick Riggs will sing, and honors will be presented by Dr. E. I. Doty. Dean Bachman will present the candidates for degrees, and the conferring of the degrees will be by President D. E. Weidler. Dr. G. T. Savery will pronounce the benediction.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday evening at 8:00 in the city auditorium, with the Rt. Rev. Howard Rasmus Brinker, D. D., bishop of the Nebraska Protestant Episcopal church, as speaker.

In the processional will be the senior class, the faculty of York College, the members of the York Ministerial Alliance, and the York College Chorus. The chorus will sing while marching, "Choral Processional," by Kountz.

The invocation will be by Bishop Ira D. Warner, the scripture will be read by the Rev. Wm. J. Hage, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, and the benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Paul L. Philipp, pastor of the Methodist church; Martha Tucker, contralto, will sing a solo, accompanied by a string quartette. The speaker will be introduced by the Rev. Eric B. Asboe, pastor of the Episcopal church.

Alpha Psi Omega Initiates Four

Four neophytes were initiated into the Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity immediately preceding the annual banquet held in the dining room of Hultitt Conservatory, on Saturday evening, May 22. Ralph C. Hines was toastmaster at the banquet which had as its theme, "The Play's The Thing."

The neophytes were Margaret Trout, Margaret Gaston, Thelma Rockhold, and Donald Hines, each of whom was elected to fill an office in the Eta Kappa Cast during the coming year: president, Donald Hines; vice president, Thelma Rockhold; secretary, Margaret Gaston; Student Council representative, Margaret Trout.

The subjects for the toasts were names of plays which have been presented in York College. Included were: "Sun Up," Arline Beason; "The King's Messenger," Virginia Hinkel; "Strangers at Home," Eloise Tabor; "When Stars Shine," William C. White; and "Through the Night," Jean Mattingly.

The initiatory degree team was composed of the following: Grand Director, Miss Anna J. Thompson; Honorable Prompter, Dr. Walter E. Bachman; Inner Guard, Virginia Hinkel; Worthy Business Manager, Eloise Tabor; Worthy Playwright, Ralph C. Hines; Keeper of Records, William C. White.

Guests at the banquet were the husbands and wives of members, and some of those who have participated in the dramatic productions of the York College Players this year.

158 Names On Service Roll

One hundred fifty-eight names of former students and graduates of York College now in the armed forces have been placed on an Honor Roll which has been hung on the south wall of the lower corridor in the Administration building.

The roll is in the form of a shield which is four by five feet in size. The top of the shield is blue with white stars, and bears the name, YORK COLLEGE HONOR ROLL. Alternating red and white stripes run vertically to the bottom of the shield, and the names are on the white stripes.

Only the initials are used with the surname. There is additional space for 60 names. The first two men on the roll were York College students about twenty-five years ago. Most of the names, however, are of students of the past five years.

The list of names on the roll appears in another column of this paper.

Journalists Hold Picnic

With ration books in hand, the food committee for the Press Guild picnic rushed frantically from one store to another to find such necessary items as meat, potato chips, and beans. All was in preparation for the annual spring picnic of the Y. C. journalism students and their guests, which was held on Monday evening, May 24.

The picnic was said to be pleasantly relaxing after a year of

Prof. Noll Receives Degree Of Doctor of Philosophy

Professor W. C. Noll, who has been the head of the Biological Science department of York College since 1936, received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Nebraska on Monday morning, May 24.

Dr. Noll's major field of research for his doctorate was in botany, with a minor in zoology. His dissertation, "Environment and Physiological Activities of Winter Wheat and Prairie During Extreme Drought", was based on an intensive study of conditions of wheat and prairie in a sixty acre tract near Lincoln. This dissertation, in a brief form, was published in Ecology in October, 1939. Other publications of Doctor Noll are "Measurement of Run-off and Soil Erosion by a Single Investigator", joint authorship with J. E. Weaver, and "Response of the Prairie to the Great Drought of 1934", with J. E. Weaver and L. A. Stoddart, both published in Ecology during the year 1935; and "Comparison of Run-off and Erosion in Prairie, Pasture, and Cultivated Land," with J. E. Weaver, in bulletin form published by the Conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Noll received his A. B. degree from York College, and his M. A. from the University of Nebraska. He held the position of instructor in Biology in Leander

Dr. W. C. Noll

Clark College, Toiedo, Iowa, a previous period of service in York College, and a professorship in the College of Emporia, Kansas. He holds membership in the Ecological Society of America; the American Microscopical Society; the Sigma Xi, which is an honor science fraternity; and the Pi Gamma Mu, a social science fraternity.

The department of Biological Science of York College, which is directed by Dr. Noll, shows its strength from the records of students who go out from York College into medicine and related fields. The department is well equipped with microscopes, zoological, and botanical models and specimens, incubation and refrigeration facilities for materials for bacteriology and physiology.

Lieut. Bedient was graduated from the officers' candidate course in the infantry school at Ft. Benning in the parachute division on May 6. In telling of his experiences, he stated that assignment to the parachute division is wholly voluntary. The men make only five actual jumps, to qualify, the most of the time being spent in learning how to jump.

2nd Lieut. Ralph Doremus, '40, of Polk, recently visited the college campus. Lieut. Doremus received his commission on May 6 in the field artillery at Fort Sill, Okla. On May 9 he was married at Polk to Miss Jean Bates of that town.

The Rev. David Braun, '27, was the official representative of York College at the One Hundredth Anniversary Convocation of Villanova College, May 3, 1943. Some two hundred delegates from colleges, universities, and learned societies were present for this occasion. Rev. Braun is pastor of the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church, Swarthmore, Penn.

A Guest Register has been purchased by the Alumni Association and placed in the college office. This should prove a great convenience in keeping a record of all alumni visiting the campus.

Mrs. Gwendalyn (Sease) Tymczyszyn, ex-'39, of Sacramento, Calif., writes an appreciative letter of the Sandburr and expresses her great interest in the affairs of the college. Her address is 1301 57th Street.

Flight Officer Alfred Kamm, '41, will be stationed at the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center.

Everett Green, '36, of Polk, is in the Navy and is stationed at Corpus Christi, Texas.

A/C Evan Pickrel, ex-'42, completed his primary flight training on May 7 at the naval air station at Pasco, Wash., and has been transferred to Corpus Christi, Texas, for advanced flight training.

Flight Officer Alfred Kamm, '41, visited the campus recently while on leave from South Plains Army Flying School at Lubbock, Texas, where he is an instructor in glider flying.

Charles Hurley, ex-'44, has the rank of corporal and is with the Marines in the Pacific area.

Calvin Crouse, ex-'46, after taking his basic training work at Keesler Field, Miss., is now stationed at the International House, Chicago, doing work preparatory to a course in meteorology at the University of Chicago to begin May 31.

Pvt. Lora R. Holbrook, ex-'44, was a visitor on the campus recently. Holbrook is in the coast artillery, stationed at Washington, D. C.

Paul Reger, who was a freshman pre-ministerial student before being called into the army, is stationed at another United Brethren College, Indiana Central, Indianapolis, Indiana. He writes:

"We are now on a fairly rigid program here. I have an hour each of history, geography, mathematics, and medical aid; two hours of physical training or drill and three hours of study each day. This leaves us only from 7:00 to 8:30 P. M. each day for ourselves.

I often think of Y. C. and the friends there. I wish to send everyone there my greetings and a prayer that everyone may have the best of luck."

A/C Howard DeBoer, recently stationed in Decatur, Illinois, where he attended James Millikin University, writes from "Somewhere in Arkansas," as he was being transferred:

"We had a two-hour layover in St. Louis, but we were already in cars, so nearly everyone was asleep by the time we left there. Our progress so far has been rather slow. Due to the floods, we are going through Little Rock and Texarkana instead of the regular route through Kansas City. All along the way the train has had to stop at frequent intervals because of the high water. I have seen more water today than I have ever seen before. For a long time this morning there was water standing on all the land on both sides of the track. At times it was impossible to see the ground anywhere. Nothing but water everywhere."

Britain's prime minister reports that he and Roosevelt are well ahead of the allied armies and moving swiftly. Just like the Germans.

Cupid Progresses This Year On College Campus

Cupid was running through his files the other day and discovered that he has been doing well on the York College campus this year.

All the senior men remaining on the campus are either engaged or married. Didn't you know? Why, Cupid says that at least two of the senior men who are engaged are going to add another ring to the fingers of their fiancées within a short time.

Walter Brant of Robinson, Kans., will be married to Euna Vaye Ukena, also of Robinson; and Harold Jensen of Cawker City, Kans., to Arline Brown of Yuma, Colo.

Senior girls have a share, too. Edwin Bohhof of Wichita, Kans., and Harvey Klick, ex-'44, will speak their vows on June 12. Marjorie Reibick of York, expects to marry Gerald Denton of the Army Air Force sometime during the summer, perhaps August. Virginia Hinkel of Cambridge, Ia., who received a diamond from Don Koenig, freshman of Yuma, Colo., on May 15, will be married in September.

The only other future marriage of which Cupid is sure, is that of Elizabeth Miller, freshman of Dumont, Ia., to Floyd Piper, a flight instructor formerly of Dumont, sometime in June.

Flash! Another item has just come in. Daisy Million, junior of Noel, Mo., will be married this summer, probably in June, to Staff Sergeant Everette Berry, '41, of Camp Howze, Texas.

Cupid stated that this is not a complete record of all that may come, but since this is wartime, there seems to be an extra amount for him to do, and his records are a little in arrears.

Editor Speaking

Until We Meet Again . . .

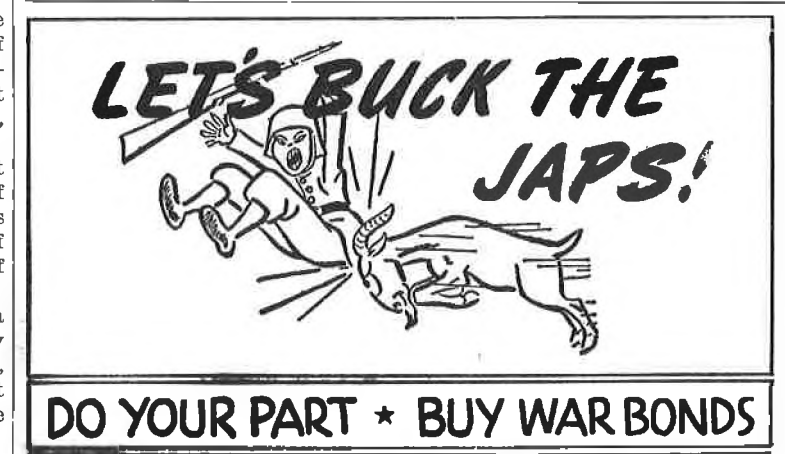

"Until we meet again." At the close of a year of college we say these words rather than a final "goodbye." But this year we are less sure of meeting soon than we have been in previous springs. Few of us may look toward a definite future and say "I'll see you next fall," or "We'll at least see each other during teachers' convention."

This year many students who have somewhat definite plans will find those plans going awry. Perhaps the foundations of their world will seem to crumble. When such a thing occurs, it is time to remember that as the phrase of parting was indefinite in the element of time, so life is indefinite in its activities. As we cannot be sure when we shall see our friends once more, so we cannot be sure of what life will bring to us.

Our plans may be interrupted, but that need not mean "goodbye" to those plans. We may say "until we meet again," and still keep our goals before us. Interruptions may make the struggle longer, but if our plans are worthwhile, their fulfillment is worth waiting for.

Let us strive to do our best, regardless of what may come, "Until we meet again."

A Message to All

As we close the fifty-third year of York College history in the midst of a devastating war, we have a fine record of achievement to share with our Sandburr readers. Our numbers were seriously reduced by the demands of the war effort, but since a number of our men were in the enlisted reserves of the army and navy, we have been able to keep most of our activities intact until the end of the year. On our honor roll are 158 names of men in the armed forces. We have had an outstanding achievement in our basketball record this year as the champions of Nebraska and co-champions of the NCAC. All Yorkers know that our team was invited to the National Tournament at Kansas City where we defeated the Akron (Ohio) University in the first round and were in turn eliminated by a two point margin in the second round by North Texas College.

The financial victory which reduced our liabilities by $35,000.00 and leaves the debt at the lowest point in a dozen years has been announced before through these columns. The debt is now only $30,000.00 and is underwritten by $24,000.00 in good new pledges and real estate. It is confidently expected that within the coming fiscal year York

College will be freed entirely from debt.

While doing the best work of which we are capable under the present handicaps, we must be planning for the future—a future in which we may be sure the church-related liberal arts college will have an important part. From many sources come predictions that the post-war period will see a tidal wave of young people flowing into the colleges of the land. To help meet this challenge, the United Brethren Church has said through its official policy-forming body that in the years just ahead, following the completion of the Ministerial Pension Endowment Fund, the whole church shall give herself to the work of providing adequately for her youth and raising funds to secure the future efficiency of her several colleges. To this end a campaign for $350,000.00 for York College was authorized by the Board of Administration at the February meeting.

A Greater York College will arise from the stress of war. The challenge is to every son and daughter of York College to share in the glorious victory which will crown our efforts.

PANTHER PATER

By Gypsie

At this writing, the softball league is in full swing, (at least some players have found it that way) and by all indications there will be a close race for the title. The kittenball clubs have unearthed some hefty hitters and a few fleet fielders. Don Hines has signed his contract with the "Lincoln Creek Bullheads" and "Jake" Kaeding is proving himself a valuable twirler for the same club. LeRoy Bott's "Kimona Klub" has organized and is making all the other teams hustle to earn their runs.

George Shaneyfelt's "Ben Blue Bombers" got off to a slow start by dropping their first contest to the "Kimona Klub". But with "Shabby Shay", formerly of an unknown Pacific Coast Team, "steaming 'em in", the team ought to give him some support and win a few encounters. "Wirey Walter" has been using his willow stick to lead his team in batting average. He led off in the first game with a homer, a three bagger, and a safety.

Blind-Man-in-College

Les "Umpire" Auchard nonchalantly entered the Jenkins home and "Doc" Hartman inquired as to how he got home without his seeing-eye dog. "Doc" claimed Auchard must have lost his eyesight to have called so many strikes on his team. Auchard's eyesight is fundamentally "O. K."—Look where he left his ring while he goes to the Navy.

Outlook is O. K.

This is a farewell message to the athletes who will be called into active service in a few weeks. With these athletes, York, the midget of the N. C. A. C. and State Conferences, had begun a climb up the athletic ladder in Nebraska. But just when they appeared to be coming out at the top, they found large holes torn out of the backbone of their teams, and discouragement at every turn. It will be a hard knock for "Coach Tonk" and the Y. C. fans to discontinue the climb to the top of collegiate competition, but Uncle Sam needs our men much more than York needs winning teams.

Those who have left, and those of you who will leave, remember this: York College, although hampered by the war in their struggle for championship teams, will look for you to come back after the big battle is over and finish that victory drive. You will find a welcome hand at Y. C. after the war; so come back and prove yourselves the champions that you are.

Thanks for the fine patronage college students—Russ Williams.

THE SANDBURR

FIVE

Summary of 1942-43 Sports

By Galen Munsinger

When Coach R. E. Tonkin gave the call for football players last fall, eleven returning lettermen and a number of prospective players reported for practice.

After looking over the material, "Tonk" believed he had a better chance of tutoring a winning team than at any other time since he became physical education director at York College. But Uncle Sam hindered the chance of winning by taking York's star end before the season started, big six and a half foot Abe Dick.

Season's record was three wins and four losses. The Panthers tied for third place in conference play with Hastings and Midland with one win and three losses apiece. Doane finished on top with four wins and no setbacks, followed by Wesleyan with three wins and one loss.

On November 18, fifty-five men reported for basketball practice. Six were lettermen returning from last year, and George Shaneyfelt, who had been all state center in his sophomore year, had come back after a year's absence. With these men, Coach Tonkin gave York College fans a team which played unforgettable ball throughout the season.

The five iron men who played tireless ball were as follows: Cleo "Tank" Campbell, guard, who showed good defensive and rebounding work; DuWayne Grimes, forward, who proved that small size can be overcome by the determination to win; Wayne and Jake Kaeding, two big offensive cogs, forward and center, respectively, who by ranking first and fifth in state scoring became the meal ticket for Coach Tonkin's team; and finally, a man who did not receive his share of publicity throughout the season, but who proved valuable to the team's success, George Shaneyfelt, a consistent all-round player at his guard position. The last three players mentioned were chosen on the all-state team, by Greg McBride, sports editor of the Omaha World-Herald.

One of the greatest thrills of the season was to be chosen to enter the Kansas City National tournament. Panthers were feeling good after knocking off highly touted University of Akron, Akron, O., in the first game, but they could not stop North Texas State in the second game. Both games were decided in the final minute of play, the latter in the last 15 seconds.

Track season had a few bright spots, but was far below the par of recent teams produced by York College. Two star sprinters, Louis Webb, and Floyd Taylor, were called to the army air force, prior to the track season, leaving York with hardly any returning lettermen. Ross Speece and LeRoy Bott took their places and ran the sprints in good fashion. George Shaneyfelt garnered from 6 to 8 points every meet by throwing the discus and javelin. Niles Shoff, promising freshman pole vaulter, was a consistent point-getter in that event. Other thinclads who helped out were Les Auchard, high hurdler, Gene and Daryl Severin, distance runners, and Cleo Campbell, the javelin tosser.

Because of track and tennis seasons coming at the same time, tennis took the back seat in importance and therefore did not receive the merited attention usually shown. Hal Goodrich was the only tennis man to attend the NCAC tournament held at Midland. Hal was defeated by Zimmerman of Doane in the semifinals, 6-2 and 7-5. This was the only event of this kind Hal had entered and because of bad weather and faulty courts for practice, his tennis eye was not up to par.

These four sports have been the highlights of the sports seasons. Basketball and football have been the two major sports. Basketball, especially, received support from town fans as well as from York College students and faculty. Track ranks next in popularity, followed by tennis.

"Sports Diary" Gives Game Accounts

The Panther Sports Diary is now in popular demand on the Y. C. campus. The diaries are a game to game account of all the football and basketball games played during the 1942-43 seasons. The accounts are written in the first person and have proven to be very interesting. The football notations were written by former editor of the Sandburr, DuWayne Grimes. The basketball accounts were written by Coach R. E. Tonkin.

The diaries contain snaps of the complete football squad of '42, and each member has a summary of his achievements and abilities beside his photo. The basketball squad not only has similar accounts but also a large photo of their championship squad which attended the Kansas City National Small College Invitational Tournament. Lester Auchard was in charge of the business details and reported that fifty copies went like hot-cakes. It is the first time that some memorable literary attempt has been made to preserve an account of the Panthers' sports.

Y Club Initiates Are Holbrook, Bott

Harvey Holbrook and LeRoy Bott were the victims of the Y Club initiation on May 20, at a picnic held on the Blue river. Officers for next year were elected during the business meeting.

After playing softball for the major part of the evening, the initiates were the recipients of the usual torture involved in being admitted to the Y Club.

Later, some of the men went fishing, and even caught some bullheads. This activity was curtailed, however, when it was discovered that the food committee had forgotten the wieners.

The group then piled into the bus and journeyed back to town for the meat and after cooking it in the "con" kitchen, they went to the gym where they ate a belated meal and played volleyball.

Officers for the coming year will be: president, Earl Graff; vice president, Clifford Hartman; secretary-treasurer, LeRoy Bott; sergeant-at-arms, James Kaeding; Student Council representative, George Shaneyfelt.

The following day was annual Y Club Day then all "civilian" men had to wear hats and tip their headpieces to Y Club members. Disobedience resulted in spats. However, three Y Club members also endured the paddle because of their negligence concerning food the night before. The ill-fated food committee was composed of Cliff Hartman, Daryl Severin, and Jim Conway.

In charge of initiation were Ross Speece, Ester Auchard, and George Shaneyfelt. Coach R. E. Tonkin and the Severin supervised recreation.

Webb and Taylor Place In 220 In Wisconsin Meet

Louis Webb and Floyd Taylor, ex-sprinters for York College, recently placed third and fourth in the 220 yd. dash, respectively, in a track meet between the University of Wisconsin, the Wisconsin State Teachers' College, another college that wasn't mentioned in Taylor's letter. Webb and Taylor were called into the Army Air Force just before track season, are now attending Wisconsin State Teachers' College as members of an Army Air Corps unit.

According to Taylor's letter, he was handicapped in placing fourth in the 220 yd. dash. He says: "I got out there just as they were going to run the 220. The coach asked me to run, so I was dumb enough to do it. I told him I would if he would find me some shoes. I didn't have time to change clothes or warm up, but I still salvaged a fourth out of it."

Grimes, Smith, Tabor, Receive 1943 Journalism Awards

DuWayne Grimes

Eloise Tabor

Larry Smith

DuWayne Grimes, Larry Smith, and Eloise Tabor have been announced by Press Guild officials as the 1943 winners of the three journalism awards bestowed annually upon deserving journalists.

Grimes and Miss Tabor, both seniors, received awards last year, which were gold Press Guild pins bearing an interlocking "Y" and "C" and a quill. This year they will receive guards for the pins bearing the numbers "43." Since awards are made only to juniors and seniors, this was the first year in which Smith, who is a junior, has been eligible to receive an award.

Grimes was editor of the Sand-burr for two and one-half years, his editorial duties having been ended when he was called into the army in March. Smith is also in the service, having been called to active duty with the Army Air Force in February. Smith was sports editor of the Burr during his junior year. Miss Tabor, who took over the duties of the editorship in March, will also be in the service if her application for the WAVES is accepted.

W. S. S. F. Is Explained In Chapel

The World Student Service Fund was explained to the students in a recent chapel program sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Margaret Gaston, junior of Oklahoma City, Okla., said that the organization began in China in 1937 to help the Chinese students and has since expanded to include other countries. Don Hines, freshman of Yuma, Colo., explained that the fund is used only for the relief of students in war-torn countries.

"Life" Is Subject Of Chapel Talk By Dr. Bisset

Examples of man reproducing nature, such as making a synthetic grain of wheat, except for the life of the kernel, were given by Dr. Charles Bisset in a formal chapel speech recently as he enlarged upon the subject of "Life."

"Man has no control over origin. He may maintain, destroy, or control life, but he cannot create it," he said. To conclude the physical aspect, he said "man has a right to live as long as he is useful."

Concerning the social life, Dr. Bisset said that life may be likened unto a tree which gives and takes. Man may destroy the physical, but life is eternal. From moral, physical, and spiritual deaths, life is brought forth.

"Life is immaterial and is measured in quality, not quantity. God doesn't want loafers in heaven, and the useless life waiting for an eternal crown is a cosmic burlesque," he added.

Man begins to feel immortal when he begins to do God's will, according to the speaker. The value of man's life is measured by service rendered. A person is remembered for what he is and does. "Do you want your life to continue with you through eternity?" he asked in closing.

FACULTY PARTY TOMORROW NIGHT

The other members of the committee are professors Pearson, Doty, Noll, and Feemster.

Many thanks to the students of York College for their liberal patronage during the school year.

We wish you success and happiness.

Annual Mother-Daughter Banquet In United Brethren Church

Candle-light Forms Background For Consecration Service

As a climax to this year's meetings of Life Work Recruits, President D. E. Weidler conducted a candle-light consecration service May 19.

At the close of Dr. Weidler's talk, each member present was given a candle which he lighted from a larger candle. Each one told how his experience in Recruits this year has helped him to live a better Christian life. The group formed a circle of light and pronounced the Mizpah benediction in closing.

Among the occasions crowding the calendar of college students, and faculty, was the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet held Friday, May 21, in the social hall of the First United Brethren Church.

The banquet and the program which followed were sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society, Hartford Circle, and Otterbein Guild of the college church.

Those representing the college on the program were Mrs. J. C. Morgan and Mrs. F. C. Von Wicklen, faculty wives, and Miss Mary Alice Slee, head of the department of education. Mrs. Morgan presided over the program, Mrs. Von Wicklen presented a toast to mothers, and Miss Slee read the story, "The Barnacle Goose."
