PALS, Zetas Plan Joint Reception

PALS planned a joint reception with the Zetas, with December 7 as the tentative date, and made plans for the membership drive at their regular meeting November 2.

Patriotism was the central theme of the program. Juanita Sanders, sophomore, Vancouver, Washington, read "What is Our Flag?" and Merle Pulver, senior, Mechanicsville, Iowa, sang "The Marines' Hymn", accompanied by Bruce Herrick, senior, Dayton, Ohio.

Mary Miller, junior, Dawson, told of the work of the Red Cross in different lands. Robert Tupper, junior of Roanoke, La., gave a talk on patriotism. The group sang "Anchors Aweigh" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

Martha Cox, sophomore, Espanola, New Mex., led the devotions.

O. G. Presents Evening Program

"The Hidden Treasure and the Pearl" was the theme for the evening service at the United Brethren church October 31. The Otterbein Guild took charge, as their part of the program for World Mission Advancement Day. Esther Megill, sophomore of York and president of the O. G., presided.

Jewell Daniel, sophomore of Lockport, N. Y., read the scripture. Pattie Weidler, sophomore of York, sang, "Fade, Fade, Each Earthly Joy".

A play, "Something Big," directed by Irma Galbraith, ex-'46, was presented. Characters were Rev. and Mrs. G. T. Savery; Martha Cox, sophomore of Espanola, New Mexico; Winifred Smith, senior of Enid, Okla.; Ruby Grandon, sophomore of Burrton, Kans.; and Doris Robinson, junior of Hutchinson, Kans.

Juanita Sanders, sophomore of Vancouver, Wash.; Ethel Brooks, sophomore of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Pattie Weidler were members of a trio which sang "I've Found the Pearl of Greatest Price". Wanda Wantz, freshman of Orchard, gave the prayer before the offering.

Mary Miller, junior of Dawson; Antonia Sepulveda, senior of Mayaguez, Puerto Rico; Mary Harris, junior of Nelson; and Jean Hollen, sophomore of Wray, Colo., were ushers.

Dr. Savery Tells Ghost Stories

"There are many old legends in rural England", stated Dr. G. T. Savery, pastor of the college church at a recent Y. M. C. A. meeting.

"People of rural England take spooks, ghosts, and hobgoblins very seriously. There are many strange traditions and the people believe firmly in haunted houses," continued Dr. Savery.

Recalling childhood days, Dr. Savery said that in England it was customary to sit by the fireside in the evening and tell old spooky legends and scary stories of haunted houses. After the evening stories were told, with thoughts of ghosts filling his mind, he was given a candlestick and some matches and sent upstairs to a cold bedroom (everyone slept in an upstairs bedroom) with best wishes for a good night's rest.

Dr. Savery concluded by telling several incidents of English life and customs.

In a previous meeting, Art Lenz, sophomore of Circle, Montana, drew chalk pictures to interpret the hymns: "Nearer My God to

Zetas Display Various Hobbies

Hobbies were the center of interest at the Zeta meeting November 2.

Miss Doris Gilmore, sponsor, reported that "scribbling" novels and poems and harmonizing and arranging music are two of her favorite pastimes. She also told about her collection of dogs, and showed her collection of twenty-six pairs of earrings.

Arthur Lenz, sophomore, Circle, Montana, said that drawing, and collecting butterflies, birds' eggs, and guns were some of his hobbies. He has in his collection of guns a .50 caliber Sharps rifle, which was the second type of gun used by the United States government, and which dates back to 1859. He has also a Frontier Colt and Webely six-shooter, used in Texas in pioneer days. He spent most of his time showing Indian relics and telling their history. Among the relics were a beaded pouch, pieces of pottery, shell beads, skin scrapers, arrow heads, and fossils.

J. Hill Anglin, junior, Amistad, New Mexico, has chemistry as his major interests, but he, as well as his mother and sister, enjoys growing flowers. His sister is now in an inter-state 4-H club contest for home beautification because of the flowers they have grown.

Ruby Grandon, sophomore, Burrton, Kansas, has collections of bottles, trinkets, songs, poems, and napkins. She showed her large collection of napkins.

Esther Megill, sophomore, York, stated that teaching children in Junior Church, astronomy, stamp collecting, and collecting butterflies and leaves were some of her hobbies. She showed her butterfly and moth collection, and a few of her stamps.

Character Indicated By What Is Seen

"One's character is indicated by what he sees," said Dr. Charles Bisset, head of the department of social science, in his talk on "Personality" in formal chapel, October 28. "Race, color, deformities, mentality, position, and reputation are all exterior to the man and not necessary to his personality."

The less a man has of morals or character, the more he has need of Christian character and love, pointed out Dr. Bisset. In quoting the scripture, "As Jesus passed by, he saw a man blind from his birth," Dr. Bisset emphasized "As Jesus passed by, he saw a man." The fact that he was blind was less important to Jesus than that he needed a friend.

"He who believes in his fellowman is well on the way to a belief in God," stated Mr. Bisset. He reminded the group that they that are whole need not a physician, but they who are sick. The highway to heaven begins with the love of a man for a man. "As Jesus passed by, he saw a man."

Dr. Savery Teaches For Prof. Callender

Dr. G. T. Savery, pastor of the college church, has been teaching two of Prof. Edith Callender's English classes during her absence. Prof. Callender is improving and will return soon.

Thee" and "In the Sweet By and By". Merle Pulver, senior of Mechanicsville, Iowa, sang the hymns, accompanied by Bruce Herrick, senior of Dayton, Ohio.

Fall Snow Festival Presents Silver Queen of 1943

Maurine Marvel

Maurine Marvel, junior of Giltner, is the first "Silver Queen" in the history of York College. She reigned over the "Snow Festival" November 8.

Miss Marvel made her appearance by breaking through a white arch made of tissue paper. She was accompanied by a representative from each class. The attendants were: Antonia Sepulveda, senior from Mayaguez, Puerto Rico; Doris Robinson, junior of Hutchinson, Kansas; J. W. Tomlinson, sophomore of Enid, Oklahoma; and Denny Auchard, freshman of Woodston, Kansas.

The gift presented to the queen by the Student Council and the Panther Club was a sterling silver compact which is to be engraved "with the words "Silver Queen, 1943".

Miss Marvel has chosen English as her major. She is vice-president of the junior class and secretary of the International Relations club. She likes poetry, music, and Larry Smith, who is stationed at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Learn The Facts And Be Responsible

"Successful Life" was the topic discussed by Rev. Miller, of the York Christian Church, at the Life Work Recruit meeting, Oct. 25.

"A successful life is made up of small things which combined become great. Little things may change the whole course of a person's life," stated Rev. Miller.

Rev. Miller explained that college teaches us not only to learn facts but also to be responsible for even the small tasks.

Rev. Miller concluded by saying that it requires perseverance, courage, and faith, to overcome obstacles and to accomplish our tasks and thus have a successful life.

The devotions were led by Marjorie Thornton, freshman, Billings, Mont. Bertha Riggs, '41, accompanied by Hazel Morgan, '39, sang "Soft Were Your Hands Dear Jesus".

PROF. SLEE TAKES PART IN DISCUSSION

Prof. Mary Alice Slee, of the education department, will take part in a panel discussion at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Lincoln November 14.

The general theme of the panel discussion is "Widening Horizons". The subject which Prof. Slee is to discuss is "Widening Horizons in International Relations". Miss Slee is the International Chairman for the state organization.

Gospel Teams Represent Recruits

The Life Work Recruits has sponsored several gospel team trips to various churches in the community recently.

J. W. Tomlinson, sophomore of Enid, Oklahoma, preached the evening sermon at the United Brethren Church in Seward, Sunday, October 24. Blanche Leach, junior of Clarks, read the scripture. Margaret Trout Phillips, senior of Culbertson, sang, "I Could Not Do Without Thee," accompanied by Oren Reger, freshman of Julian, who also played variations on "At the Cross," by Butler. Franklin Cody, junior, is pastor of the Seward church.

Arthur Lenz, sophomore of Circle, Montana, made several chalk drawings at the Sunday morning service, October 31, at the Wayland church, while Lydia Garcia, freshman of Chacon, New Mexico, sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Work for the Night is Coming," accompanied by Lorraine Garlock, senior of Trenton, Missouri. Don Hines, sophomore of Yuma, Colorado, and pastor of the church, preached the sermon. The members of the gospel team were guests at the dinner served at noon.

J. W. Tomlinson spoke at the mid-week prayer meeting held at the college church Wednesday evening, November 3. Martha Cox, sophomore of Espanola, New Mexico, read the scripture and offered prayer. Irene Falk, sophomore of Stromsburg, sang "Jesus Is So Wonderful," accompanied by Oren Reger.

Don Hines preached at the Wayland church Thursday, November 4. Thelma Rockhold, sophomore of Salina, Kansas, read "Apple-blossoms," by Kathryn Kimball. Arthur Lenz made a chalk drawing, while Lydia Garcia sang "Follow the Gleam," accompanied by Marjorie Thornton, freshman of Billings, Montana. Lydia Garcia also sang two Spanish numbers, "La Paloma" and "La Golondrina."

Ensign Auchard Visits College

Ensign Lester Auchard, '43, recently graduated from midshipman's school in Northwestern University, was on the campus Friday, October 29, and told the chapel group something about his studies during the summer. Dr. F. C. Von Wicklen, head of the chemistry department, had charge of the remaining part of the chapel period.

"Next to college, midshipman's school is the most fun I've had in my life," stated Ensign Auchard. "The biggest difference is that in college we could 'slack up' once in a while and there you can't 'slack!'"

Navigation, ordinance and gunnery, and seamanship were the three main courses taken in midshipman's school, according to Auchard. Seamanship included everything the other two didn't. "We learned everything from cooking to washing."

In closing, Auchard stated that he could not disclose his orders for the near future but that he was pleased with them and will be able to continue his studies.

Dr. Von Wicklen gave a recipe for beef steak made from yeast, molasses, air, and water in his talk, in which he discussed new chemical discoveries.

The "Snow Festival", a banquet taking the place of the football banquet, was held in the social rooms of the college church November 8. This function was sponsored by the Student Council and the Panther Club.

Howard Harris, junior from Great Falls, Montana, was the toastmaster. Maurine Marvel, junior from Giltner, was crowned the "Silver Queen of 1943". She was presented with a gift from the sponsoring organizations. Lorraine Garlock, senior of Trenton, Mo., who is president of the Student Council, made the presentation.

The program was as follows:

- Crowning The Queen
- Toastmaster—Howard Harris
- "Sing welcome then to the drifting snow".....
- Lorraine Garlock
- Piano Trio—"Hungarian Dance" by Brahms
- Marjorie Thornton, Mary Miller and Oren Reger
- N—"No fruits, no flowers, No leaves, no birds, November".....Bruce Herrick
- Violin Solo—"El Choclo" by Villoldo.....Dorothy Whitacre
- O—"Onion skin very thin, Mild winter coming in; Onion skin thick and tough, Coming winter cold and rough!"
- .....Mrs. Amy Johnson
- Women's Trio—"Snow Adventure" by Elliot.....
- Margaret Trout Phillips, Winifred Smith and Roberta Berglin
- W—"Wind, If winter comes, can spring be far behind".....
- Esther Megill

Y. W. C. A. Has Dedication Day

The new president of the Y. W. C. A., Margaret Trout Phillips, directed the dedication day program November 2.

The general theme was, "The Light of the World". Roberta Berglin, sophomore of Berthoud, Colorado, read a poem. Mrs. Phillips spoke of the "Book of Books" and the strength received from it. Ethel Brooks, sophomore of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, read the scripture, Hebrews 12.

Other new officers are Blanche Leach, junior of Clarks, who is student council representative, and Betty Mae Taylor, sophomore of York, who is vice-president.

AFRICAN PROJECT COMMITTEE HAS CHAPEL PROGRAM

Martha Cox, sophomore, Espanola, New Mex., chairman of the African project of the Life Work Recruits, presided at the chapel exercises November 1.

Lydia Garcia, freshman, Chacon, New Mex., described the geography of Sierra Leone, West Africa, and Robert Tupper, junior, Roanoke, La., told about the United Brethren missionary work which was begun in Sierra Leone in 1856.

Mrs. Evangeline Tracy, sophomore, York, asked the students to make pledges to the missionary work in Africa.

Dr. Doty Explains Great Commission

We have never plumbed to its depth the great commission, "Go ye and make disciples of all nations", according to Dr. E. I. Doty, head of the department of political science, in the formal chapel exercises November 4. We have not yet come to understand it or appreciate it.

"When Jesus said, 'Go ye,' it was an order to attack, not only the hosts of spiritual darkness, but all the hosts of darkness," stated Dr. Doty.

It has been in times of persecution of the church that Christianity has moved forward. Paul said, "Woe is me if I preach not the gospel." If we appreciate that the gospel is essentially good news we will be compelled to drive ourselves to tell it.

Whatever it may be, it's Russ you want to see—for men's clothing.

York College Meets Need College Training for Christian Lay Workers

Medicine

Music

Teaching

Intelligence and righteousness must be coextensive and universally existent in a thoroughly democratic and a completely Christian social order. There are four great agencies through which educational and Christian ideals may be made of vital significance in the lives of the people of our country. The four great agencies of a Christian democracy are: the home, the school, the church, and the community.

1. The home is the center of character building. The family is the basic institution of society in which the latent powers of life are bestowed upon children by their parents and developed through the activities, thought, and atmosphere of the home environment. In order to maintain a Christian civilization there must be Christian parents who bear the responsibilities of Christian home-making and who earnestly endeavor to bring up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. The underlying influences of the home may be expressed in the following familiar words: "The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world".

2. Through our system of public schools opportunities are provided for the universal education of American youth, the development of the moral fiber of each new generation, and the fullest well-rounded development of each pupil as a useful member of society. In our Christian democracy, with its principle of the separation of church and state, there is great need for more teachers and school officers who teach all truth religiously and who live according to Christian standards and ideals. The underlying responsibilities of school authorities may be expressed in the following dictum: "That which you would have in the life of a people you must first put into their schools".

3. The Christian church is the perpetual teacher of truth, righteousness, service, and love; leaving the whole of civilization with its spiritual influence and teachings. The distinctive function of the church is the development of intelligent and efficient Christian lives, consecrated to the extension of the kingdom of God on earth. Competent and consecrated Christian lay leaders, in addition to the minister, are needed in every local church to carry on its work. Men and women who are engaged in the various professions and vocations must also serve as officers, teachers, and group leaders in the church and church school. The underlying purpose of the church is to lead men and women and children to accept and to follow Jesus who said: "I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life".

4. The community is a composite of many strands of interests, occupations, and activities, somewhat loosely and also somewhat closely interwoven into a living fabric of multifarious design. The community includes homes, schools, churches, and many other institutions, activities, and forces which constitute our complex social structure. Merchants and farmers, business and professional men and women, civic and religious leaders, all the citizens of the community in their hours of labor and in their hours of leisure, engage in countless activities which encompass the wide range of human interests. The underlying responsibilities of all communities ought to be well defined and expressed in some such slogan as the following: "By cooperative effort we build here an enlightened and a righteous community".

Trained Christian lay workers are continuously and increasingly needed to extend their cultural and Christian influences through Christian leaders.

The accompanying pictures show seven of those who have graduated during the last few years, looking forward to the careers indicated under their respective pictures. Readers of this article who are more or less familiar with York College will think of a number of other graduates who are now making valuable contributions as Christian lay leaders through their chosen careers.

York College feels the challenge of the present world crisis and sees future needs of the world. As a Christian College of the United Brethren Church it strives to fulfill the twofold function of offering a standard liberal arts course and of being vitally Christian in its teachings, life, and atmosphere. It seeks to be serviceable to both the church and the state. It is for this reason that the members of the faculty teach all truth in their respective departments from the Christian point of view. It is for this reason also that students must complete required courses in religion before they may graduate, and that a "Service Minor in Religion" is offered as an organic part of the college course. As Christian lay workers, young men and young women will be better equipped for service in the home, the church, the school, the community, the nation, and the world, by including the "Service Minor in Religion" in their college education.

Christian lay leaders truly are "the salt of the earth" and "the light of the world". Jesus once said: "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

—DEAN WALTER E. BACHMAN.

The Editor Reflects

Banish Dissatisfaction

There is much dissatisfaction in the world today. Men and women are not satisfied with their jobs, their wages, or any of a number of things. The way the government is run and rationing are two more causes for unrest.

This habit of grumbling seems to take us unaware. The grumbling gremlins put thoughts in our heads that we utter without stopping to think of the harm our words might cause.

There is enough trouble in the world today without looking for more. It is our duty to help build morale by looking for the good and not the bad. This may be one way of doing our part at home.

Recruits Discuss Racial Prejudice

A panel discussion on race prejudice was held at the Life Work Recruit meeting October 18.

Merle Pulver, senior, Mechanicsville, Iowa; Lester Boilesen, senior, Cotesfield; Ethel Brooks, sophomore, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Thelma Rockhold, sophomore, Salina, Kansas; Blanche Leach, junior, Clarks; and Loraine Garlock, senior, Trenton, Missouri; discussed the questions which were later in the evening thrown open for group discussion. Those who took part in the panel discussion agreed that the white race seemed to think itself superior because it has had better opportunities to build a racial culture. One of the questions not entirely agreed upon was whether or not intermarriage is permissible between races. The general attitude seemed to be that it is not fair to the children of mixed race which are the result of intermarriage.

It was agreed that restaurants, hotels, etc. should allow people of other races to patronize them. Other questions discussed were whether or not a Negro, Chinese, or Indian citizen of the United States should be elected as president of our democracy if one were accessible and had the necessary qualifications to hold the office, and whether or not Negroes should be allowed to attend and become members of our northern churches.

It was necessary to close the spirited open discussion which followed because of lack of time.

Friend of College Dies At Home

Mr. Joel M. Roberts, a long-time friend of York College, passed away at his home in South Gate, California, October 29, 1943.

For many years Mr. Roberts served on the executive committee and board of trustees, and his counsel and advice were very valuable to the institution. Because of failing health, Mr. Roberts and his wife moved to California some years ago. Although removed from York, he never lost interest in the college.

Last April, Mr. Roberts sent the college a large copy of the picture, "The Spirit of '76", which he prized very highly. The old gentleman, the central figure in the picture, was a relative of Mr. Robert's mother.

Mr. Roberts kept up a correspondence with the college and often expressed the wish that he and Mrs. Roberts could do more for the institution. Mrs. Roberts has the sympathy of the administration, faculty, and students of the college.

Music Inspires The World

(By Margaret Trout Phillips)

Dean Chas. Amadon

Prof. Eda Rankin

Prof. Gladys Pearson

"Music builds morale. Music inspires our fighting men. Music spurs soldiers on the production front to new goals. Music refreshes all of us, young and old alike, as we move forward in our wartime tasks to inevitable victory."

—Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Music, as well as being inspiring and soothing to us under the strain of the present war conditions, has many other values. It is cultural. It creates a peculiar kind of joy and exultation which are not experienced in any other way.

Music is the universal language. People who enjoy and understand music of foreign countries also have, to a certain extent, an understanding of the people of those countries.

Music is also the language of the emotions. In ages past it was purely emotional but at the present, music which appeals to both the mind and the emotions is considered best.

A well-balanced education is the result of a combination of artistic and scholastic studies; therefore York College has a music department to develop the aesthetic appreciation of its students.

Charles A. Amadon is Dean of the Conservatory of Music. "Dean", genial and encouraging, teaches voice, appreciation, conducting, history, methods, and is the director of the chorus and of the College Church choir.

Miss Eda Rankin, capable piano and organ instructor and teacher of harmony, is also the faithful organist at the College Church.

Miss Gladys Pearson, now on leave of absence for medical treatment, is also a piano teacher, cheerful and helpful in working with her students.

Requirements for a major in this department are 30 hours in the Conservatory, 16 of which must be in the departments of theory and history of music, and 14 in applied music. A minor includes 18 hours, 10 of which are in theory and history and eight in applied music. One graduating with a major in music may either write a thesis or give a recital.

Those who have had a major or a minor in this department are: Mrs. Lloyd Lloyd (Edna Farley), '03, who went to Chicago Musical College and was a piano teacher; Mrs. W. A. Gillam (Martha Dayton), '04, who is now operating a music company with her husband;

Blanche Harritt, '20, teacher in Hastings; Mrs. Pauline Sammis (Pauline Hensley), '25, who did graduate study at Northwestern University and who is teaching voice and piano; Mrs. Theodore Thompson (Rheatha Feaster), '27, who is teaching in Omaha;

Ivan Caldwell, '28, who did post graduate work at Northwestern University and is director of music at Albion; Esther Strickler, '29, who is teaching at Chappell; Hazel Bearss, '30, who taught music at Gresham; Mrs. Ray Hill (Ethel Dixon), '30, who was a teacher before her death;

J. O. Payne, '30, who received his M. A. degree in 1942; S. A. Ramp, '30, who is the music teacher at Stamford; Mrs. Harlon Moore (Neva Brookhart), '31, who taught music; Mrs. Raymond Ruppel (Lois Overmiller), '31; Mrs. Tennis Hoffman (Jeanette Bisset), '32, who taught music;

Mrs. Richard Fruehling (Laura Holm), '32, who taught music and did graduate study at Nebraska University; Lee M. Knolle, '32, who did graduate work in music at the University of South Dakota, and is now the director of Jr. H. S. music in Sioux City;

Milan Lambert, '32, who did graduate work at Nebraska University; Genevieve Rystrom, '32, who received the degree of Master of Music at Northwestern University, and who is now studying voice with Mme. Florence Easton, and Edith Henry, of New York, and is teaching in Erie College at Paynesville, Ohio;

Mrs. Lloyd Kreizinger (Marion Hill), '34, who taught music; Mrs. Raymond Wochner (Eveyn McKain), '34, who taught music; Carl Burhoop, '35, who graduated from the U. S. Navy School of Music, Washington, D. C. and is now a musician in the U. S. Navy; Mrs. Emerson Mead (Lila Elam), '35, who was a teacher;

Thelma Gilmore, '36, who is teaching music at Barneston; Harold Phillips, '36, who taught music and received the degree of Master of Music in Education at Kansas University; Orma! Tack, '36, who taught music and now sings in the Third Church of Christ in Seattle;

Ruth Alleshouse, '37, who taught music; Mrs. Marvin Lauderdale (Irene Hofgard), '37, who taught music; Mrs. Merrill Day (Lorena Estey), '38, who taught music; Mrs. Gerald Wallace (Lucille Heins), '38, who taught music; Creston Klingman, '38, who taught music and is now in the service; Mrs. Albert Webb (La Velle Lease), '38, who taught music; Mrs. Merle Blinn (Bernice Strickler), '38, who taught music;

Mrs. Edwin White (Gladyc Mann), '39, who taught music; Alden Marvel, '39, who did graduate work at Nebraska University and is now in the service; Hazel Emma Morgan, '39, who taught music; Mrs. Russell Dunlop (Dorothy Riggs), '39, who taught music; Esther Thornton, '39, who is teaching piano;

Mrs. Lawrence Deever (Marjorie Cook), '39; Doris Gilmore, '40, who did choir work in Omaha; Gladys Pearson, '40, who is a piano instructor at York College; Bertha Riggs, '41, who taught music and is now studying in Denver; Lodema Frieden, '41, who taught music; Mrs. William McConnell (Marguerite Anderson), '42; James Koontz, '42, who is teaching music; Catherine Woolver, '42, who is teaching music at Valley; Mrs. Henry Hansen (Doris Landon), '42; Fred Novak, '42, who taught music and is now in the service; Jean Mattingly, '42, who is teaching music at Benedict; Esther Johnson, '43, who is teaching music at McCool Jun-tion; Elwyn Phillips, '43, who is in the service.

Students who will graduate this year with music majors are Mrs. Phillips (Margaret Trout) and Bruce Herrick.

An interesting feature of the music department in years past has been the chorus trips. During these trips, the students have had the privilege of singing in many different places and before varied audiences, including the last General Conference. They also saw many interesting things and had delightful experiences. States visited by the chorus were Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, and Indiana.

Due to the war the chorus did not take a trip in 1942. Instead they presented the light opera, "The Waltz Dream," by Strauss, which was the eleventh opera given by the music department. In recent years it has been the custom for the chorus and others from the city of York to present Handel's "Messiah," under the direction of Dean Amadon. Other chorus contributions are made here in York by performances at church and civic programs. Individuals in the music department also contribute to the musical life of York in various ways.

Each student in York College gains something from the music department, whether as a listener or a performer, for music has a contribution to make to everyone.

"Music, that knows no language, race, or creed,

But gives to each according to his need."

Dean Bachman And Rev. Canon Attend Meeting In Omaha

Dean Walter E. Bachman and Rev. M. B. Canon, director of public relations for the college, went to Omaha, November 10, to attend the Annual Conference of Church-Related Colleges of the West Central Area, held under the auspices of the national organization. Dean Bachman took part in a panel discussion. The general theme of the discussion was "Christian Education Strategy For Tomorrow". Dr. Gould Wickey, of Washington, D. ## Determination, Not Luxury Builds Character

"Luxury does not build character or strength. It is the determination of a man to be a man," stated Dr. G. T. Savery, college pastor, in speaking about the "Overcoming Life," in chapel November 5.

Milton's blindness, Beethoven's deafness, Lincoln's lowly origin, and Roosevelt's poor health were examples given by Dr. Savery of difficulties which men have overcome.

"Whenever church life becomes easy," said Dr. Savery, "it nearly always starts to decay."

Robert Louis Stevenson, though dying, was more fully alive than a great many of those who pitied him. We must gather inspiration from our handicaps and find the contribution we can and must make to America, concluded Dr. Savery.

PRESIDENT GOES TO DAYTON

Pres. D. E. Weidler went to Dayton, Ohio, November 5 to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Christian Education of the United Brethren Church. Pres. Weidler expects to return November 14 and to bring his father with him.

Panthers Scuttle Navy Men 57-48

The York College Panthers showed good early season form October 28 by beating a team of ex-Panthers on leave from Minot, N. D., where they are stationed as navy trainees.

The game was a hard fought clean scramble with the score saw-sawing during the first half and York leading 28-26 at the end of the half.

A rough and tumble was staged in the closing minutes of the second half as both teams tried to keep possession of the ball.

A new star was seen in action, namely, Denny Auchard, freshman from Woodston, Kansas. He has proved to be aggressive, a good shot, and an excellent floor man.

Wayne Kaeding, student-coach, was high point man with 26 points. His brother Jim, of the navy, had 25 points while the promising frosh, Auchard, gained 20 points.

They Tramped These Halls

By PROF. J. C. MORGAN

Creston Klingman, '38, formerly instructor in instrumental music at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, is now in the navy training station at Farragut, Idaho.

Niles Shoff, ex-'46, in a recent letter to the college office, writes this paragraph: "I would like to say something about the army's religion. I have found that the biggest percentage of the boys in my battery go to church every Sunday. They also keep faith in their particular type of worship. I think this is why our morale is so high in this particular battery." He hopes it won't be long until he can be back in Y. C. again. His location is Camp Odair, Ore. His mother, Mrs. Jessie Shoff, is a former student of this college.

Everett Green, '36, formerly a teacher in the McCook Junior College, is now an ensign in the navy.

Floyd Taylor, '43, is stationed at Eagle Field, Dos Palos, Calif. He is not far from Tulare where Coach Tonkin and Professor Karraker are teaching.

A/C Robert G. Foster, ex-'41, has reported at Courtland, Ala., to the army air basic flying school for the third stage of training as a cadet.

Norma Harris, '39, and Maxine Hoover, '41, are working in the Umatilla Ordnance Depot at Hermiston, Oregon. Their address is: Box 292, Stanfield, Ore.

The address of Mrs. Sally Rasp Sykes, ex-'40, is 711 East Platte, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dr. Leo Anderson, '32, after serving at St. Paul, Minnesota, is now a surgeon at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. He writes a letter expressing his interest in the various activities of the college. He received his M. D. degree from the University of Nebraska.

We are indebted to Mrs. Dulcie Overmiller, '39, for a number of the items in this column.

In the Armed Service

Lt. Wilbur C. Overmiller, '39, M. C.-U. S. N. R. Department of Pacific, 100 Harrison Street, San Francisco, Calif. Wilbur is in the Marine Medical Corps and is stationed in the south Pacific war area. Mrs. Overmiller, '39, is working in the finance office at Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., and her sister, Sease (Mrs. Gwendolyn Tymczyszyn, ex-'39), is a laboratory technician at the same place.

Cpl. Donald L. Jackson, ex-'39, Med. Section, Hq. & Hq. Sq. S. A. D. W., Box 1912 Seattle, Washington.

Fred Rasp, ex-'38, is a lieutenant (j. g.) in the navy and is stationed on a submarine.

A/C Richard Foulk 16083001, Barracks 1, Class 44-C, Waco Army Air Field, Waco, Texas.

Recent campus visitors were Leroy Webb, ex-'46, Evan Pickrel, ex-'43, and Howard DeBoer, ex-'44.

Wedding

Verlene Witham, ex-'42, to ensign Al Zickmund on October 20 in New York.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Johnston (Mrs. Johnston was Ermina Hoyle, '32) a daughter on July 2. Mrs. Johnston writes of her enjoyment in reading the alumni column and all of the Sandburr.

To Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cook, '39 (Mrs. Cook was Doris Johnson), a son, Gordon Lee. Bernard writes that, judging by appearance, especially the size of his feet, Gordon Lee ought to make the Y. C. football team of 1961.

We have heard that Rex Lutz, '38, a few days after the birth of his son, Garry Dene, on September 17, sent him a football so that the youngster would get the right start in life. Another prospective member of the '61 squad.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Heatherington, '42, announce the birth of a son, Jeffery Scott, on October 13 at Des Moines, Iowa. Mrs. Heatherington was, before her marriage, Miss Geraldine Greene of York.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Michealson a daughter, Andrea Ruth, October 12. Mrs. Michealson was Esther Kamm, ex-'45. They live in Stevensville, Montana.

The Book Mark

By Maybelle A. Taylor

The prediction was made recently that postwar books will be printed on edible paper. The St. Louis Star-Times says, "Good! By eating the pages as we read them, we won't lose our place when we lay the book aside." May we add that now we know what a man of foresight was Sir Francis Bacon when he said, "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested." Then, too, if the noon chimes find a person sans lunch money, he can "g-naw" a corner from Anthon's Anabasis of Xenophon, take a large, juicy bite of Anderson's Hobo, or make the best of his opportunities on whatever volume he happens to be carrying under his arm at the moment. May we suggest, however, that these recommendations be restricted to one's own personal books and that we save the library collection for posterity?

The American Lending Library of College Point, N. Y. gave the following bit of information in its latest catalog:

"The inmates of a certain New York penal institution may avail themselves of the prison library service as they wish. The extent to which the men participate in this informal education is best revealed by the fact that ninety-two per cent of the inmate body enjoy its services, and each inmate reads on an average of sixty-five books per year."

The Christian Science Monitor of October 30 carried this anecdote:

"Eugene Field, the poet, was a great lover of books, but seldom possessed the means to buy the volumes he most cherished. One day a purchaser of an old volume came upon this quaint proof of the poet's unfulfilled desires. It consisted of a slip of paper upon which Field had written this impromptu verse:

'Kind friend, for goodness sake forbear

To buy the book thou findest here,
For when I do obtain the pelf,
I mean to buy the book myself."

The library receives The Christian Science Monitor daily as a gift from Mr. Nat Simmons. Those who are not in the habit of reading it will enjoy making its acquaintance; for the Monitor is outstanding in world affairs, has excellent feature articles, and never fails to tell a few jokes. The Weekly Magazine Section, published each Saturday, is too good to miss. The ensuing paragraph was clipped from the Wilson Library Bulletin:

"The Public Library in Spring Valley reopened after being closed since the flood. All the books in the library were ruined except the Webster's Unabridged which floated down the river on a table and remained dry."

—which reminds me. If you have heard this one, stop me—

The speaker was warming up to his subject. "As Daniel Webster says in his great dictionary—," he began by way of illustration.

"Say!" came a voice from the audience. "It was Noah who wrote the dictionary."

"You are mistaken, my friend," said the speaker, unabashed. "Noah built the ark."

J. A. Foster, teacher at Michigan State, recently proved his domesticity to one English class. To fill the dead-pan silence following the words: "Are there any questions?" he explained in answer to questions about his dirty hands that he had peeled a bushel of peaches the night before.

"Light" Is Theme Of Recruit Meeting

"Light" was the theme of the Life Work Recruit meeting November 1. Mrs. Evangeline Tracy, sophomore, York, made a chalk drawing of a lighthouse on a shore throwing its beams out over the stormy waters to save people from death. The drawing was to illustrate the way in which a Christian may send out the light of God to save sinners.

A quartet composed of Winifred Smith, senior of Enid, Oklahoma, Mrs. Margaret Trout Phillips, senior of Culbertson, Merle Pulver, senior, Mechanicsville, Iowa, and Oren Reger, freshman, Julian, sang "Send the Light" and "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning" while Mrs. Tracy drew the picture.

Ruby Grandon, sophomore, Burton, Kansas, led devotions and read several poems pertaining to the subject of "Light."

Technology hitch-hikers recently got a lift with a lady who surprised them with the following conversation:

"You boys are working hard aren't you?" she asked. They nodded vigorously. "Whom do you have for math?"

"Professor Zeldin," they replied, adding that he was a good teacher.

"Well, you'd better keep working hard—he's a tough marker," she said. Before they could ask her how she knew all about Tech and its faculty, she continued, "You see, I've been married to him for twenty-one years."

The miners' lunch period has been cut to 15 minutes despite the fact that it isn't considered polite to eat and run.
