Dr. Gerald Kennedy, Lincoln, Speaks Religious Emphasis Week

Minister Of The Lincoln St. Paul's Methodist Church To Be Here Nov. 12

Dr. Gerald Kennedy

Dr. Gerald Kennedy, minister of the St. Paul's Methodist church in Lincoln and lecturer in religion at Nebraska Wesleyan, will be the speaker during Religious Emphasis Week, November 12-16.

The meetings will be held at the Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. on November 12, 13, 15, and 16. Dr. Kennedy will also speak in the college chapel on Tuesday, November 13, and Friday, November 16. He will speak during the high school convocations on Monday and Thursday.

Dr. Kennedy was minister at Collinsville, Conn., 1932-1936; pastor at the Calvary Methodist Church in St. Jose, Calif., 1936-1940; pastor at Palo Alto, Calif., 1940-1942; and has been the minister at St. Paul's Methodist church in Lincoln since 1942. He has also been director of the Wesley Foundation at Stanford University and acting Professor of Homiletics at the Pacific School of Religion.

The titles of Dr. Kennedy's evening messages will be as follows: Monday, "Salvation by Imagination"; Tuesday, "Hunger for Affirmation"; Thursday, "Indistinct Trumpet"; and Friday, "Vision of Greatness".

Dr. Kennedy can be heard over KFAB from 1:30-2:00 every Sunday afternoon on the Methodist Hour, and from 7:15-7:30 Wednesday evenings over KFOR, when he is in charge of a program entitled "Adventures Among the Book Shelves".

The college chorus, under the direction of Dean Charles Amadon, will furnish music for the evening services. Religious Emphasis Week is being held under the auspices of the York Ministerial Alliance.

Dr. Doty Discusses Chinese Political Future at I. R. C.

That the Chinese political set-up is facing a brighter future is the belief of Dr. E. I. Doty, professor of history, who spoke at a recent International Relations club meeting. His idea is that imperialism will be somewhat broken, and that nationalism and communism will find common agreement. Dr. Doty is a former missionary to China.

Four members and two visitors were present at the monthly meeting. The club promises many interesting programs this year, using outside speakers and discussions on World Problems, according to Roumaine Holt, junior of Kansas City, Kans., president of the organization. There is also a possibility that the old tradition of an International Relations Student Conference may be revived this spring, and members are eagerly looking forward to this possibility, it is reported.

Introducing

Charles Williams

"The weather was so chilly over in Chicago where I spent precisely 45 minutes," said Charles Williams, latest freshman to arrive on the Y. C. campus, "that when I spoke, I was taken aback to see steam proceeding out of my mouth."

Williams has just arrived from his home in Sierra Leone, West Africa. He is enrolled as a freshman and is planning to study medicine in the United States for seven years and to return to his native land as a doctor and a native Christian worker.

Charles Williams was born in the small town of Sembehu in the British protectorate of Sierra Leone where his father was the native pastor. In 1936, he completed his high school education at the Albert Academy where President D. E. Weidler served several years. He taught school one year. He then completed seven years in a mission hospital as a registered nurse.

Speaking of his late arrival, Williams said, "I would have come earlier but I had to stay for several months awaiting a chance to get a passage on a ship. I got the chance at last but I had to work on board so as to help defray expenses incurred by traveling. I worked as a care-taker of nearly 400 animals brought over by Warren Buck. These included monkeys, snakes, snails, African porcupines, baboons and chimpanzees. I worked very hard. One stormy day I was almost swept away by a billow. My leg was bruised and it became quite sore. Having sailed for eighteen days, I saw America for the first time. I was thankful to God for this privilege of traveling and reaching safety. I had a rather trying time in Balti-

Roberta Allen, Reva Tomlinson Are Elected Editor and Business Manager

Yearbook To Picture Graduating Classes Since 1942 and Y. C. Gold Star Men And Servicemen

Roberta Berglin Allen

Seniors and juniors in joint business session recently voted to return to the traditional practice of publishing a Marathon in the even-numbered year of each biennium. Roberta Berglin Allen, senior of Berthoud, Colo., and Reva Allen Tomlinson, junior of York, were elected editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively. It was also decided to make the book an all-college project and invite the lower classes to cooperate.

The book, which was not pub-

Reva Allen Tomlinson

lished during the war because of seriously reduced enrollment, may not this year reach the usual size, it was learned, as the enrollment has not yet returned to the normal figure. But it will be as attractive as it is possible to make it with the resources at hand, according to the editor, and the size of the book will depend upon the number of advance sales that can be made to students, faculty, and alumni, she explained.

While the staff appointments have not all been made at this date, it was learned that some of those chosen to share the responsibility are Ruth Auchard, senior of Woodston, Kans.; Eunice Stauffer, senior of Meadow Grove; Irene Falk, senior of Stromsburg; Wanda Wantz, junior of Shelby; Alden Sears, sophomore of York; Denny Auchard of Woodston, Kans., who will be a sophomore by next semester, and Harriet Thomas of Topeka, Kans., and Wanda Miller of Hoisington, Kans., both freshmen.

Plans for the book are progressing under the direction of Miss Edith Callender, head of the English department and member of the faculty committee on publicity.

Space will be devoted to the servicemen who have represented York College in the war, especially the fifteen gold star men, and recent classes graduating when no Marathon was being issued will have their place, it is reported.

"Bill" DeVriendt of the Capital Engraving Co., Lincoln, was on the campus last week conferring with the staff about plans for the book.

Dr. Weidler Attends Meetings In East

President D. E. Weidler left York on Thursday, Nov. 1 to spend 19 days in visiting various places in the east. During this time he is attending a series of meetings of the Board of Christian Education of which he has been a member for seventeen years.

Leaving York College last Thursday afternoon, he arrived at Otterbein College at Westerville, Ohio, on Saturday where he attended the inauguration of the Rev. J. Gordon Howard, Dayton, Ohio, as president of the college, and remained for the Homecoming program. Sunday, Nov. 4, he spent at Columbus, Ohio, going from there to Jamestown, New York, to visit his sister. He will return to his former home in Indianapolis, Indiana, next Sunday.

From Indianapolis he will proceed to Dayton, Ohio, to attend the meetings of the Board of Christian Education, which will be held on Nov. 12, 13, and 14. Pres. Weidler will call on Miss Edith Cone, a former York college librarian, her mother, Mrs. Anna Cone, and Mrs. Eben Bailey, Chase county, Nebr., a the Otterbein more, Maryland. With a bruised and swollen left ankle I had to push my way by hopping and jerking gait, through busy streets full of people of a description.

The stores were so attractive that in spite of the pain I was suffering, I could not help but stand for a while and gaze into show glasses. Alone I left Baltimore for Philadelphia and from there I went to Camden, N. J. At 1:10 a. m. I left for Chicago. From Chicago I came to Lincoln and then to York.

"The food and language here both seemed to be a little strange to me at first, but now, I feel that I am well in thring. Being in Rome, I do as the Romans do."

Home at Lebanon, Ohio, on Nov. 15. He will also see Supt. J. R. Overmiller, former president of York college, and Mrs. Overmiller now in charge of the Home, and the Rev. W. H. Cobe, '15, director of the Home Farm and Mrs. Cobe, (Mary Bucy, '15). Mrs. Bailey, and her husband recently contributed $30,000 to York College and are two of our most generous supporters. The president will conclude his trip at St. Louis, Missouri, where he will spend Sunday, Nov. 18, with Rev. Edward Auchard, '41. He will return to York on Nov. 19.

Traveling Secretary of WSSF Tells of Student Relief Need

Miss Doris G. Greaves, traveling secretary of the World Student Service Fund, spoke at a recent joint meeting of the Christian Associations. Examples of places needing and receiving Student Relief and each individual's part in this program formed the content of her speech.

Miss Greaves has a B. A. in Speech from Macalester college and is completing her work for an M. A. in religious education from Chicago Theological Seminary. Her academic record throughout has been excellent.

A bulletin sent out by the W. S. S. F. headquarters says: "At both Macalester and Chicago Theological Seminary, Miss Greaves was active in extra-curricular work. President of the Y. W. C. A. at Macalester, co-chairman of Y. W. C. A. area conference, a frequent speaker before young people's conferences, and active organizer of W. S. S. F. campaigns, Miss Greaves is admirably equipped for her present work with the World Student Service Fund."

In her speech, Miss Greaves cited examples of many students who have benefited from the W. S. S. F. She stressed the importance of this organization to keep them studying and declared that it is up to every student of every college to increase this fund as much as possible to help students in neighboring countries continue their education.

"It is undeniable," Miss Greaves said "that our civilization must learn or perish. It is a privilege of W. S. S. F. and those who support it to help students to learn."

The Editor Says:

This Is Our Responsibility

Next week we start the annual campus campaign to secure money for the World Student Service Fund. Students and faculty members will be asked to donate to this cause. We shall all have these questions in the back of our minds: "Why am I donating this money? How will it help a college or university student of another land? How great is their need for this money?"

This money that students in the United States donate to this cause helps to buy books and other supplies for students in Russia, China, France, and other countries where war has made life so complicated. This money also helps to do things for individual students. It does the small things that larger service organizations cannot do. The need for this help is very great. These students, as well as the rest of the people in these ravaged lands, have gone through years of war and are now facing the hardest winter since the war began. They have suffered greatly physically, mentally, and spiritually. They need our help.

We in America stand for Freedom: Freedom from want. Let us help to realize this fond dream of universal freedom by helping to free the spirits of students of war-torn lands from want.

It has been suggested that we sacrifice the cost of one day's education at our college to this cause. We who are in America and have so much to share with others realize that we can do this. Freely ye have received, freely give.

I listen to the agony of God—

I who am fed,
Who never yet went hungry for a day,
I see the dead,
The children starved for lack of bread
I see, and try to pray.

I listen to the agony of God—

I who am warm,
Who never yet have lacked a sheltering home,
In dull alarm,
The dispossessed of hut and farm
Aimless and "transient" roam...

I listen to the agony of God—

But know full well
That not until I share their bitter cry—
Earth's pain and hell—
Can God within my spirit dwell
To bring His Kingdom night.

—Georgia Harkness

Among the Book Shelves

By Barbara Blanch

Many books in our library deal with international politics and by reading them we'd all get valuable information about this world and its citizens, our neighbors. All but the first of the books discussed here are to be found on the International Relations Club bookshelves.

One of the best comments on this subject is "An Intelligent American's Guide to the Peace", but don't let the title keep you from reading it. Its editor, Sumner Welles, has taken each nation individually and written of it under these headings: "International Origin," "Land and People," "Economy," "History," and "Stakes in the Peace." In this inclusive book, the facts are presented with directness and frank simplicity, by one of our leading contemporary statesmen.

Owen Lattimore, recipient of two medals for his research in international problems, has published a series of lectures in a group of four books. The last of these, "America and Asia", is especially timely. The author is well qualified to speak and write about Asia, for he was American Political Adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and has served in an advisory capacity in many Asiatic-American matters.

"Japan Since 1931, Political and Social Development," is a study on Japan today, prepared by Hugh Borton, assistant professor of Japanese at Columbia University. In this book, motives are advanced for Japan's actions during recent years, and suggestions are made for the future. These ideas are not just the opinions of one man, but have been examined by many authorities of all nationalities before publication.

Sir B. Pares is an Englishman who has made an extensive study of Russia and written many books on the subject. One of the latest of these books is "Russia and the Peace". He discusses what he terms our "fear" of Russia, revival of Russian patriotism, "How to make a new war" and the Russian solution of the race problem, which although impractical for the U. S., is proof of Russian advancement. The last chapter in the book is entitled "Russia and the Peace". What could be more timely?

They Tramped These Halls

By J. C. MORGAN

In a letter dated August 9, Dr. Rufino Macagba, ex-'24 tells something of his experiences in the army and of the war in the Philippines:

"I was called to the army on Nov. 16, 1942 and commissioned as a First Lieut. I was promoted to Captain on March 9, 1945. I am now the Senior Surgeon and Chief of the Surgical Service of our hospital. At one time we had over two thousand patients. We have about 1700 now. There are eighteen doctors in my department.

My house and a chapel adjacent to it and a 'bodega' in which we stored our hospital equipment were burned to the ground. We lost practically everything. Thank God, our lives were saved! Many families including our pastor, wife, and children were murdered by the Japs. You cannot imagine how we suffered at their hands. But in spite of it all God has been so kind of us in saving our lives."

He writes that he has many pleasant memories of York, of friends among the faculty and students of the college, and among the businessmen on the square, and memories of events on the campus, in particular, Dean Amadon's chapel talk on "Spoonology".

His address is:

Among former students recently released from the service are Lt. Floyd Taylor, '43; Lt. Warren Noble, ex-'46; Lt. Paul Reger, ex-'46, and Flt/O Rod Monismith, ex-'43.

Sergeant Melvin A. Thompson, '34, who recently received his discharge from the army, has been selected as York County Veteran's Service officer. His duties will be to counsel with returning veterans and advise them as to their rights and privileges and other matters relating to servicemen. Sgt. Thompson has been in the service since 1942 and spent 19 months in Italy.

Ruth Auchard

"I hate anything that crawls," exclaimed Ruth Auchard, Woodston, Kans., with an expressive shrug of her shoulders. Petite, blue-eyed, with honey-colored hair, "Rut" as she is affectionately called, was seated in Miss Mattingly's apartment acting as hostess of Hulitt Hall for an evening when your inquiring reporter found her.

Ruth's interests are many and varied. Her major is English. She has been appointed Copy Editor for the Yearbook. She also is interested in music. She presented a piano recital in her sophomore year. "I like to play the organ, too," she exclaimed, "although I am such an amateur at it."

Ruth has a phobia for tasting things. "I have the almost compelling desire to taste anything with a sweet smell like furniture polish or perfume, to say nothing about creme shampoo and spot remover."

If Ruth is ever seen or heard crawling around the "Con" in the middle of the night, it is because of the cramp she gets in her toe. "When I was a little girl I could never climb trees because I would always get a cramp in my toe," she laughingly said.

Ruth is active in many organizations. She is on the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, is president of the College Women's Sunday School class, pianist for C. E., and student council representative for Alpha Psi Omega. During Freshman Court days this year she was clerk of the court. Ruth was also Homecoming Queen this year.

EXPRESSION NOTES

The play, "For Whom The Telephone Rings", was presented at the United Brethren Church for the "family night" October 26. The cast included Norma Jean Anderson, freshman, York; Barbara Blanch, freshman, York; Elsie Walker, freshman, Santa Cruz, N. Mex.; Blaine Ronne, York, and Max Allen, junior, Washta, Iowa.

An evening program of one-act plays is to be presented by the Expression department near the first of December. Work has already been started by the Histrionic club on choral reading.

A number of college students attended the Sunday school party held under the auspices of the Board of Education at the college church October 27. The expression department of the college presented a play, and other students took part in the program.

The play, "For Whom The Telephone Rings", was given under the direction of Miss Irene Shipley, head of the expression department. Pattie Weidler, senior, York, sang a solo, and Marjorie Thornton, junior, Billings, Mont., played a piano solo. A motion picture was shown by Francis Harbert, '29.

A play, "The Bond Between" by Mac Howley Barry and a reading, "Atta Boy" by Stephen Leacock were presented by the Histrionic club at the County Convention of Federated Women's Club, under the direction of Miss Irene Shipley, head of the Speech department.

The cast of the drama is as follows: Irene Falk, senior of Stromsburg, as Mrs. Haledon; Hope Howland, sophomore of Great Falls, Mont., as Janet Haledon; Ruth Sanchez, sophomore of Holman, N. M., as Brigg; and Abelina Cruz, sophomore of Santa Fe, N. M., as Mrs. Carson.

Hope Howland was the reader.

Nuggets From Chapel Talks

By Mary Kathryn Armstrong

Joseph Alden, mayor of York and editor of The York Republican, spoke in chapel recently. He stressed the necessity of an upheaval of universal prejudices as a step toward universal peace. Mr. Alden defined a citizen as "one who settles down to his duties and is willing to endure sacrifices for future America. There will never be peace until God is recognized as a Supreme Being," he concluded.

The eloquence of the unspoken word as one force of evangelism was discussed by the Rev. M. B. Canon, Director of Public Relations, at a recent formal chapel address. "If we depend upon the spoken word and do not back it up by friendliness, we can not have evangelism," said Mr. Canon. "It is a matter of living like Jesus in every compartment of life. It is also a matter of virtue, as we must live morally in the way Jesus would have us do."

Theodore Peterson, '31, who is in charge of the local Youth Center, addressed the chapel audience recently. He emphasized the need for moral education as well as that for physical and mental. The world can be free from want and from fear only through living by the standards of Christendom. It must be learned by the human race that there is a firm foundation and that it "must establish its faith upon this solid rock and steadily pull upstream for peace."

"My neighbor and I" with reference to sameness of ambition, hope, fear, willingness, and aspirations was discussed by Dr. Earl I Doty in the last formal chapel program. "Christianity is not a leveller, but it puts us into a position to realize that we are all of a common level of need for repentance," said Dr. Doty. "One reason for the failure to be neighborly is due to a 'certain otherness,' that is, a feeling of social stratum."

Mail Box

The following letter has been received from Pvt. Donald Light, a freshman last year:
Dear Faculty and Students of York College:

When September rolled around this year I was ready to go to college again, but due to the complication of being on the other side of the world I decided it was quite impossible. Even though it is impossible for me to attend York, my thoughts are with you constantly.

I must say I am getting a real education, though it is not with the aid of books and professors. It is learning how to live with and like the people of a different race than our own. It is my great privilege to be stationed on the largest of the Philippine Islands, Luzon. I am about 150 miles north of Manila in the middle of the island. We live in a small native village and have many contacts with the natives. The group to which I have been assigned is a small group of engineers that have the job of pumping petroleum to various places where it is used by the Air Corps and their trucks.

Being a small unit, we do not have a chaplain, so we must find a way to worship God. In the village there is a small Catholic church and a very kind priest. Generally the natives do not like to have the G. I. at their gatherings, but knowing we have no chaplain, they welcome us whole-heartedly to their small church.

The Filipino people as a whole are a very contented people. If a family with from 4 to 8 children have a couple of rice paddies, a dozen or so banana and coconut trees, they are a very peaceable family and never cause any trouble. Of course there are exceptions as there are in America.

The Filipinos come every morning and clean up our living quarters and twice a week the women come and do our laundry.

The Filipinos govern themselves very well in their own communities. Each one is ready to share with anyone else what he has. You will find that true much more among the younger generation.

After every meal, if there is any food left, it is given to the children who are suffering from the lack of proper diet.

The pan is set on the steps and there is one grand rush. Perhaps you will see one of the larger children with it all, or with more than the others. Then they go into the shade of the banana trees and each one gets his share of the food from the smallest to the largest. If one tries to get more than his share, he is properly dealt with and leaves without any.

I hope this little bit shows you just a little about the Philippines. If I were to tell you all, I would be visiting a very long time. Perhaps when I return to college I'll be able to give you a clearer picture of them. I am sure if any one of you were in my place you would learn to love each one. I would be glad to hear from any of the students or the faculty.

Yours truly,

AUCHARD DISCUSSES PHYSICAL FITNESS AT Y. M. MEETING

Discussions on the Y. M. C. A. triangle, which consists of the physical, mental, and spiritual sides of life, are being held at regular Y. M. C. A. meetings. At a recent meeting the discussion on physical fitness was led by Denny Auchard, freshman, Woodston, Kans., and Don Robson, sophomore, Thayer.

Auchard, taking the navy physical program phase of physical training, related some of his experiences while a preliminary cadet and later during his basic training.

Robson, taking the student's viewpoint of physical fitness, enumerated the advantages of being able to participate in athletics. He stated that it is a relaxation to get out to the gymnasium to spend an enjoyable two or more hours in training.

"While a preliminary cadet, my training was specifically made up of calisthenics and minor sports, such as swimming, boxing, wrestling, and judo. After my basic training and after I had gone back to the academy, running an obstacle course was the next phase of our physical training program. All of this training was pretty hard but a few sidelights of humor helped to make it interesting," said Auchard.

Robson declared that timing, co-operation, and coordination come from physical fitness, and to expect a reward from the physical side of Y. M. C. A., one must live a Christian life.

Devotions were led by Wayne Schwandt, senior, La Crosse, Kans.

Mrs. Margaret Turpin, mother of Mrs. Leslie Herron, freshman, Ames, Ia., visited the campus recently.

Mrs. J. C. Morgan, teacher of the Young Women's Sunday school class at the College church, talked to the Life Work Recruits, Oct. 29, on the subject, "Brotherhood". She used as her text, Matthew 5:23, 24.

Mary Olson, sophomore, Imperial, led devotions.

Panther Club members should be credited with securing bus transportation to the game at Seward last Saturday night. The number of tickets necessary to charter the bus were sold by Marilyn Miller, junior, Byron, Neb.; Elaine Goodwin, Shickley; Bette Daniels, freshman, Salina, Kans.; and Max Allen, Washta, Iowa.

The Rev. Samuel Lee, '36, and Mrs. Lee, (Byrdine Wilcox, ex-'37) of Horton, Kans., are publishing a parish magazine named "The Presbyterian Plummet". Local news and advertisements, church notices and features of religious interest appear on its pages.

AS I SEE IT

By Blaine Ronne

During several football games, I couldn't help noticing the spirit and good sportsmanship displayed by the Panthers. More than once I have seen a member of the Panther squad help an opponent up and slap him on the back congratulating him on his playing. It didn't make any difference whether they were losing or winning, the attitude was the same among the squad. Even though you didn't always win, Panthers, I congratulate you for the spirit and sportsmanship which you displayed.

After the Concordia-York game last Oct. 27, Coach Meyer of Concordia came into the Panther dressing room and remarked to me. "That was like hitting a brick wall. I don't see how you could have gotten such a team in six weeks."

"I've dreamed of doing that ever since I was a little kid," Rudy Rojahn said to me coming home on the bus the other night from Concordia. What Rudy was referring to was the two extra points that he kicked. Besides that, he played a whale of a game. His dream came true again last Friday when he kicked two more extra points. You did a mighty fine job, Rudy.

The Panthers didn't appreciate a good playing field until after they had played on the Concordia field. East Hill Park, with its brilliant lighting and solid green turf, is rated as one of the best athletic parks in the state.

Some of the other N. C. A. C. teams have had trouble winning this season. Midland lost its fifth straight game to Nebraska Wesleyan on Oct. 26, when the Plainsmen defeated the Warriors 13-7.

Doane college made their Homecoming a perfect one, too, as the Tigers defeated the Kearney State Teachers 18-12. This was the first defeat of the season for the Antelopes. The contest was played on Oct. 26, under the lights on Simon Field on the Doane campus.

York Defeated By Concordia In Rough Game

Playing their third game of six-man football this season, the York College Panthers were defeated 20-8 by the Concordia Teachers of Seward in a bruising game played on the Concordia field October 27.

The Panthers seemed to be off for a touchdown after taking the kick-off. On the first play, Auchard threw a 35 yard pass to Townsend who caught the ball on the Concordia 40 and carried the ball to the 23 yard line before being brought down. Three more plays carried the ball to the 8 yard line. On the fourth down, the ball was fumbled and Concordia recovered, stopping the touchdown drive.

The Panthers threatened to score in the second quarter when Auchard took a Concordia kick-off on his own 5 and raced down the sideline being stopped on the Concordia 10 yard line. Several plays later, a bad center took the ball back to the 15 where it was lost on downs, stopping another goal line threat.

York scored their lone touchdown in the third quarter after two Auchard to Hannon passes carried the ball to the Bulldogs' 15. Auchard scored on the following play on an end run. Rojahn drop kicked the extra points.

Concordia did their scoring in the first, second, and fourth quarters with Fuchs and Meyer doing the bulk of the work for the Bulldogs. Their first touchdown was scored on a pass and the other two on line plunges.

The Panthers played a good defensive game and did some brilliant passing and running, although their offense did bog down twice keeping them from reaching pay dirt.

Some of the members of the team suffered minor injuries but were ready for action on Friday. Rhoades was the only member of the starting line-up to play the entire game. Rudy Rojahn, despite a foot injury, played a good game and picked the extra points.

The starting lineup:
York                      Concordia
Rhoades                  RE                  Scheer
Jorn                        LE                  Senske
Townsend                C                  Hillman
Walker                    QB                  Fuchs
Robson                    HB                  Meyer
Auchard                  FB                  Buis

York substitutes: — Hannon, Schwindt, and Rojahn. Concordia substitutes: — Cloeter and Ohlmann.

Panthers Lose Last Game Of Season to Bulldogs

Concordia Downs York 50-8 In 6-Man Football Game At East Hill Park

Playing their last six-man football for the season, the York College Panthers were downed 50-8 by the powerful Concordia Teachers Bulldogs last Friday night in a game played on the home field.

The Panthers couldn't get to clicking and were playing far below par. The Bulldogs were taking advantage of this and ran the score up to 24-0 during the first half.

Late in the third quarter, Auchard intercepted a Concordia pass on the Bulldogs' 30 and carried the ball to the three yard line before being brought down. On the next play, Robson carried the ball around right end to score the only Panther touchdown. Rudy Rojahn added two more points for York when he drop-kicked the extra points.

The only other Panther threat was also in the third quarter when Auchard faded back and threw a 40 yard pass into the waiting arms of Jorn who caught the pigskin on the Concordia 35 and sidestepped his way to the 15 before being smothered by a host of Bulldog tacklers. Auchard lost five yards on the next play, but gained ten on the next. Two more downs found the ball on the Concordia 5 with the ball in their possession.

The Bulldogs scored their touchdowns by both passing and running. Meyer scored four for his team, Hillman two, and Scheer and Cloeter each one. The Bulldogs were penalized several times for clipping and unnecessary roughness which cost them considerable yardage.

The Panthers were still suffering from injuries received in the Concordia-York game a week before. In spite of this, they put up a good fight, but lacked the needed spark to set them off. Starting line-up:

York		Concordia
Rhoades	RE	Senske
Schwindt	C	Hillman
Jorn	LE	Scheer
Walker	QB	Fuchs
Robson	HB	Meyer
Auchard	FB	Buis

York Substitutes: — Hannon, Moomey, Townsend, Rojahn, Tomlinson, Martinez, Foster, Ruybalid, Battreall, Jokerst, and Kurtz. Concordia Substitutes: — Ohlmann, Cloeter, Huelle, Schnell, Nitschke, Firnhaber, and Oppel.

WAA Sportstuff

By Susie The Snoop

Last Saturday afternoon four York College girls tried their luck at 2-man football. "Bert" Loth and Milly Hibner were pitched against Margaret Fitchett and Peg Ford. The team of Loth and Hibner proved to be the better as it made two touchdowns. Hibner shone during the game as the best tackle. "Fitch" received the only injury as she cut her knee.

"Rut" Auchard has volunteered her services as nurse to the girls' football teams. I'm sure that her work will be greatly appreciated and she will be busy!

All this recent interest in football among the girls just tends to prove that women are entering into all phases of American life. I can hardly wait to see an 11-woman football game.

There are rumors of a basketball tournament among girls' teams made up of all the girls from one state. There will be a team from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, and others. Montana and Colorado may have to team up to represent the mighty west.

Then there was a certain frosh gal, whose initials are Shirley Kaliff, who said at a skate, "I seem to be doing more skidding than skating."
