

Posthumous Combat Insignia Awarded To Lt. Les Auchard

"The Commander Submarines, Seventh Fleet, has the honor to award the Submarine Combat Insignia and to commend in absentia Frederick L. Auchard, Lt. (j.g.), U. S. N. R." Those are the opening lines of a communication received from the Navy Department by Ruth (Wiren) Auchard, Woodston, Kansas, York College senior.

Lt. j.g.) Les Auchard

The citation and insignia are another honor received by Lt. "Les" Auchard who was graduated from York College in June of 1943. As a student he had held the majority of offices, and received all the honors offered men by campus activities.

This particular citation and insignia is one especially prized by all submariners. Upon hearing that Lt. Auchard was listed as missing, and feeling that "Les" deserved such an award, a friend had previously forwarded his own similar award to Mrs. Auchard. The recognition of the friend has been supplemented by that of the Navy Department.

The citation received with the emblem reads as follows: "The U. S. S. Lagarto on an offensive patrol in confined and heavily patrolled enemy waters near French Indo-China failed to return as scheduled. There is no information regarding the number of successful attacks delivered against the enemy during this patrol but it is known that the Lagarto was in contact with and attacking a strongly escorted radar equipped convoy on May second and third, 1945. It is believed she was conducting bold and aggressive attacks up until the time she was declared missing.

"As a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Lagarto, his exemplary devotion to duty contributed greatly to the success of this ship against the enemy. The Commander Submarines, Seventh Fleet, forwards this commendation in recognition of his splendid performance of duty, which is in keeping with the highest traditions of the Naval Service." The citation was signed by James Fife, Rear Admiral, U. S. Navy.

At the present time Lt. Auchard is listed as Missing in Action.

Peace Depends On U. S. And China Says Dr. Liang

The question of a third World War will be determined by the kind of China that will emerge from the recent war and by the kind of relationship that will exist between the United States and China, according to Dr. Hubert Liang, native Chinese, executive secretary of the National Y. M. C. A.

Speaking in chapel recently, the lecturer, sponsored by the York Rotary Club, outlined the present conditions in China as influenced by 4500 years of background.

"In order to become strong," Dr. Liang asserted, "China needs equal recognition by the other powers, and she must have her industries reconstructed." He also stated, "You don't know what real inflation is until you have lived in China."

The speaker reminded his listeners that China is old and through hundreds of years has accumulated both good and bad points. The struggle between communism and nationalism was the beginning of the present condition in China, he said. During the inflation, according to Dr. Liang, China escaped total economic collapse only because she made use of her agricultural advantages, and because she built up a strong barter system whereby the people cooperate in trading their products with one another.

This, however, does not solve the problem in overcoming the present political and economic conditions, he said. "The western world must take China seriously," declared Dr. Liang. A heavy responsibility rests on the American people today, according to Dr. Liang, if the peace is to be maintained and future wars averted.

"Aviation Spreads Civilization" Declares Rotary Speaker Maher

"Aviation spreads civilization," declared Frank Maher, air industry publicist and airport planning consultant, in the first of four lectures presented by the York Rotary club in cooperation with the Rotary Institute of International Understanding, at the Methodist church. A number of York college students were in attendance.

Maher suggested that scholarships in the form of world travel tours for high school graduates would be a splendid method of spreading American democracy to other points of the world.

"Use of the air lanes by processors and manufacturers will make great strides in the future," said Maher. "Thousands of salesmen will be using air lines to get over their territories in the next few years."

Maher pointed out that the future of air transportation is in its earliest stage and warned against a national lethargy in the United States in the development and production of new types of aircraft. He said Great Britain and Russia have continued the production of war planes, while this country has discontinued such production.

"Toast To A Paper" Is Theme of Annual Press Guild Supper

"Toasts to a Newspaper," was the theme for the annual Press Guild waffle supper held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Morgan.

Second semester officers, including several re-elections are as follows: president, Marie Harris; vice-president, Mary Katherine Armstrong; secretary, Wanda Wantz; treasurer, Mary Olson, sophomore, Imperial; Librarian, Louis Rachow, junior, York; and social chairman, Harriet Thomas.

Gospel Teams Travel To Kansas

Two gospel teams held services in the United Brethren churches at Maize, Kans., and at Ridgeland and Marquette on a recent Sunday according to reports given at the last meeting of Life Work Recruits.

Another feature of the meeting was a Bible quiz led by Charles Bean, freshman of Des Moines, Ia.

One gospel team went to Ridgeland and Marquette where Dr. J. C. Morgan, professor of classical languages, is pastor. The team consisted of the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schwindt, seniors, York; Marjorie Thornton, junior, Billings, Mont.; Wanda Miller, freshman, Hoisington, Kans.; Willa Roberts, freshman, Fairbury; and Glen Richard, freshman, York.

The other gospel team went to Maize, Kans., where Rev. Clayton Lehman, ex-'40, is pastor. The team consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reger, sophomore and freshman, York; Iona Shaw, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont.; Leslie Herron, freshman, Ames, Ia.; Esther Megill, senior, Elmhurst, Ill.; Virginia Switzer, freshman, Wichita, Kans., and Ivallee Mizell, freshman, Dellvale, Kans.

Devotions, "Value of knowing your Bible", was led by Carl Riggs,

Jasmine Ingraham Installed Y. W. C. A. Head At Banquet

Eunice Stauffer, Retiring President, Inducts New Officers And Cabinet

"Babes in the Woods" was the theme carried out at the Y. W. C. A. banquet Friday evening when Jasmine Ingraham, sophomore, Sewal, Ia., was installed as the new president along with her new cabinet by the retiring president, Eunice Stauffer, senior, Meadow Grove.

Candles lighted by Bonnie Lou Ackland, freshman, Ames, Ia., and Mary Alice Riggs, freshman, Ames, Ia., and organ music played by Mrs. Ruth Auchard, senior, Woodston, Kans., formed an impressive background for the installation service.

Other officers and cabinet members are: vice president, Norma Jean Anderson, freshman, York; secretary, Mary Donna McCollough, freshman, Webster City, Ia.; treasurer, Lois Anderson, junior, Billings, Mont.; District Conference representative, Marjorie Thornton, junior, Billings, Mont.; student council representative, Marie Peters, freshman, Henderson; finance chairman, Harriet Thomas, freshman, Topeka, Kans.; program chairman, Wanda Miller, freshman, Hois-

After the dinner, the toastmistress, Eunice Stauffer, introduced Wanda Wantz and Miss Shipley who gave toasts on "Babes" and "In the Woods".

Committee heads were: banquet, Pattie Weidler, senior, York; program, Betty Taylor, senior, York; decoration, Irene Falk, senior, Stromsburg; tickets, Mrs. Dollie Schwindt, senior, York. The meal was served by the United Brethren Otterbein Circle.

Lois Shaneyfelt Elected Treasurer of Student Council

Items of business transacted by the Student Council at their last meeting included choice of a theme for the annual spring banquet and the election of Lois Shaneyfelt, sophomore of Central City, as their treasurer to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Gordon Reynolds (Roumaine Holt, ex-'46) at the time of her marriage, Feb. 1.

The spring banquet has been an annual event ever since a student council organization of about ten years ago decided that the vernal equinox should be celebrated with new print dresses and spring suits about a festal board. Mrs. Dollie Schwindt, senior of York, chairman of the program committee, refuses to reveal the theme of the program at this time. The banquet date has been announced as March 22.

Rev. Douglas Speaks At Formal Chapel

"The church has spent too much time majoring in minors," said the Rev. Stine Douglas, '43 at formal chapel last week.

The Rev. Mr. Douglas explained that our goal today is to rebuild the world with Christ. We need to reason together with God and one another. To continue Christ's mission of making a better world, we must cooperate with and understand all nations.

Mr. Douglas was a graduate of the class of '43 of York College. He was active in the organizations on the campus, and a member of the Sandburr staff.

He has just finished his work at Bonebrake Theological Seminary, and is to be the pastor of the United Brethren Church at Great

"Leap Week-End" Starts Today

York College will observe a "Big Sadie Hawkins Race" Feb. 28-March 2. The Y. W. C. A. last week planned the "leap week end" for the last week in February. During these few days the tables will be turned, the "gals" will do the dating, escorting, the treating, the two-timing, and the paying.

The following is the list of rules set up and approved by the Dean:

1. Leap Week begins Thursday, Feb. 28, at 12:00 a. m. and ends Saturday night, March 2, at 12:15 a. m.
2. Women show all courtesies to men that they expect men to show to them.
3. Women are to pay all the expenses, which are to be conservative.
4. No dates may be made by telephone or mail.
5. Men's rules on hours will be same as the dormitory rules.
6. For late hours, women must get permission from the Dean of Women.
7. Women must not accept dates from men throughout Leap Week.
8. Women must have no more than one date with the same man.
9. The week end will be climaxed with a Sadie Hawkins' Party Saturday night, March 2.
10. Men and women should have a good time and keep up York College standards.

Pres. Weidler Gives Talk At Hastings

How About It?

We ridicule the ostrich because, according to report he hides his head in the sand when he is in danger. "How foolish!" we say. Now if we would not be justified in defending the action of the ostrich, would we be justified in defending the attitude of many college students toward current events?

Most of the students would be unable to answer such questions as: What was the Supreme Court's decision concerning Yamashita's appeal? At the present time what country is presenting its case at the Nuremburg war crimes trial? What effect will President Truman's new food policy have on the American public? What major labor strikes are still not settled? Yet any of the above questions can be answered with information gleaned from headline reading alone, headlines that have appeared in daily papers within the last few weeks.

Why should a large percentage of the students know little or nothing of state, national, or world affairs? Is it fair to build a background of past history without including some knowledge of present day events? We think of college study as preparation for future service. But how can we serve properly when we do not know what actions and thoughts have held the public attention during our college days?

This question is especially pertinent today. World policies are being reshaped, the infant United Nations Organization is still gasping for its first real breath, and the problem of atomic energy threatens to be a shadow rather than a light over the world. On the national front, capital-labor deadlocks are demanding new governmental policies. These events are important! In fifty years they will be the subject matter of college textbooks. How can we afford to miss that information now?

The ostrich buries his head to avoid facing an issue. The college student doesn't even know the issue exists. Who's worse off?

G. I. Impressions

Probably never before in the history of the American college have there been so many undergraduates who have visited foreign lands and contacted other races and nationalities in their own native environment. Impressions thus received, whether or not they may be biased by unusual circumstances, may well, nevertheless, influence international relations in the future. Hence this column will present views of ex-servicemen who have returned to our campus. (Editor's note.)

"Those people are basically just like us; the essential difference is their language", stated Marvin Garlock, sophomore, Trenton, Mo. "They are influenced by the fact that the war was fought in their own countries. This is the reason for so much filth. The French and Italians were in my opinion the dirtiest but the French had had to suffer two armies, first the German and then ours."

"In analyzing Germany" the ex-serviceman continued, "I would divide the country into two parts. The northern part was more hard hit and filthy, while the people in the southern section were cleaner. In southern Germany, however, I saw women pulling wagons and carrying packs while the men walked along beside them."

Garlock left York in January, '43, and served in the Infantry. He was with the Task Force that went through the Brenner Pass mountains make the most beautiful scenery there is, it's good to be home again," he concluded.

After being in Germany, France, Luxembourg, and England, Glen Shaneyfelt, sophomore, Central City, remarked, "The German girls are the best looking in Europe". In general the standard of living in Europe is lower than that in America. Because of the lack of machines, much of the work is done by hand. The French seem to me to have the lowest standard of living. The natives of Europe in general know more English than we know of their languages." In contrasting the people of the various countries, he said, "The English take life seriously and aren't so jolly; the French are gay and untidy. The German people as a whole are content that the war is over. In Luxembourg, the standard of living is most comparable to ours."

Glen Shaneyfelt returned to the campus this semester and was elected president of his class. He spent 11 months overseas with the armored forces. During his stay overseas he visited the Cathedral at Rheims, the Dachau concentration camp and Berchtesgaden, Hitler's hideout and lookout.

"There are essentially three classes of people in England: low, middle, and high," according to Richard Van Pelt, sophomore, York, who spent six months with the air forces based in England. "If a person is born in one class, there is no possible way of his upon the Historian, letters received from alumni, two letters in particular, one from Mr. Bart Blanc, '27, and the other from Mr. Vicente Colon, '34. Each of these letters expresses a deep interest in the work and progress of the College. It is very easy for a graduate to become so interested in his own affairs that he forgets the Old School. But that does not seem to be true of Y. C. alumni, at least not of many of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanc are now living at San Leandro, Calif., where Mr. Blanc works in a metal prefabrication shop. He is assistant foreman at the shop in the welding department. They own their home and have had a great deal of satisfaction in planning the lawn to their liking. But the most important news in their letter is that of the arrival of Ronald Edward, February 2. The other members of the family are Robert and Richard. Mrs. Blanc was formerly Miss Madge McClelland, ex-'28.

Mr. Vicente Colon, '34, is teach-mer Nebraskans, including the superintendent, Reuben E. Johnson who is a good friend of Ted Peterson, '31, William Thompson, '26, Theodore Thompson, '28, and Marvin Hersey, '32. Mrs. Colon (formerly Miss Lorene Mann, ex-'35) is recreational director at the local F. H. A. project. They read the Sandburr with great eagerness.

Miss Winnie Smith, '44, was voted the Endeavorer of the Year of Omaha.

Mrs. Jennie Johns Vannice, '13, visited in York February 10.

Miss Carolee Fogo, ex-'32, is employed in a very large department store at Madison, Wisconsin.

Lt. (j.g.) Jack Myers, U. S. N. R., ex-'44, has received his discharge. He served fourteen months in the Pacific.

Weddings:

Mrs. Bette Crum Dahlstedt, ex-'42, and Mr. Richard M. Crandall, January 26, at Des Moines, Iowa. They will reside at Denver, Colorado.

AD LIBS FROM THE LIBRARY

Remember that quotation from Longfellow, "Lives of great men all remind us, We can make our lives sublime . . ."? And the quotation that says "Truth is stranger than fiction"? What I'm leading up to (as if you didn't know) is the splendid store of biographies in our library.

Chelsea Fraser has given us "Famous American Flyers", and here we find Amelia Earhart the only feminine member of the clique which begins with the Wright brothers, who lived up to their name, and ends with Jimmy Doolittle, who didn't.

"I Married Adventure" by Osa Johnson, is an interesting tale of exploration and excitement that is faintly reminiscent of those stories you read with such fervor when you were in grade school. Many of the illustrations are unusual animal photographs. (Note to the Jayhawkers: The tale be-

"People who argue that science and religion contradict each other are my pet peeves," said Esther, "and my favorite pastimes are playing basketball and eating ice cream."

Esther has served as Botany Laboratory Assistant and also has supervised Bible Schools for the college in the summers. She hopes to do this work again next summer. She is also supervisor of the Junior Church at the United Brethren Church at York.

Student Opinion

On our campus we have no sororities. How fortunate we are that this is true! We may consider our college a democratic college, where there are no financial barriers, no social barriers, and no racial barriers.

On campuses where the Greek letter societies rule with a firm, unyielding hand, one will always find snobbery, contention, and heartbreak. I say that there is snobbery for I have seen fine girls treated in a most humiliating manner because they were supposedly not attractive enough nor wealthy enough to add to the vanity of a social sorority. I say that there is contention because I have heard the Greek faction deliberately scheming to swing campus elections from the non-affiliated students by means of "dirty" politics. I say that there is heartbreak for I have seen too many young faces saddened by the news that they have not been invited to join a sorority.

These sororities take up the matter of perfection in manners, personal attractiveness, and popularity. But in their concern for sophistication, they forget that making others feel at ease is much more important than using the correct fork for one's salad.

They do not realize that all of their make-up tricks and expensive clothing cannot give them the true beauty which comes only from the kindness and generosity of the loving heart. It does not seem to occur to them that the goal toward which one should strive is to be not popular, but lovable.

Let us remember that we, as students in a Christian College, have a splendid opportunity to develop in ourselves admirable qualities which will make our lives fuller and more useful. We have no Greek letter societies to breed strife and unhappiness on our campus. We must guard zealously against the false sense of values on which such organizations are based; and take care that we do not allow our petty jealousies and our intolerance to blind us to the truth of things.

Panthers Take Lead At First of Game To Defeat Tigers At City Auditorium

Taking the lead in the first few seconds of the game, the York college Panthers won their second NCAC conference game by defeating the Doane College Tigers 49-37. The game was played at the city auditorium on Friday night, Feb. 22.

The Panthers scored on the first play of the game with Robson making the first two points. The Tigers were held scoreless for the first few minutes and at the end of ten minutes, York was leading 15-5. At the halftime, the Panthers were still ten points ahead, 28-18.

During the second half, Coach Tonkin substituted freely as the Panthers went on to win 49-37. The Tigers couldn't seem to hit the basket nor stop York's fast break. Auchard's and Robson's speed seemed to bother the Tigers both on the offense and defense.

Auchard dropped in five field goals and three free throws for 13 points for high scoring honors. Else had 8 points to score high for the Tigers.

Warriors Take Locals In Fast, Rough Game

The York college Panthers were defeated 58-36 by the Midland college Warriors in a fast moving, rough game, Feb. 15, on the Midland court.

The Warriors were red hot the first half and built up a 33-16 half-time lead. The second half the Panthers cut into the Midland lead and with only five minutes to play were trailing by nine points.

During the last five minutes the Warriors again turned loose steam and scored a number of points giving them an easy win.

Glen Shaneyfelt sank 13 points to win high scoring honors. Kruger of Midland had 12, followed by Sager with 11.

Norfolk Junior College Rallies To Play Fast Half

Playing a fast second half, the Norfolk Junior College team nosed out the York college panthers by a score of 54-51, on Monday, Feb. 11.

The Panthers were ahead 26-25, at the end of the first half, but just couldn't keep up the pace.

The game was rough with 38 fouls being called. It was at the free throw line that hard luck hit the York quintet. They missed 13 free throws. Any four of these would have won the game.

Hannon was high man for York with 14 points and Dobney for Norfolk with 18.

Last Friday night was the first time that the Panthers have ever defeated the Doane Tigers in basketball twice in the same season.

The funny papers have nothing on the Panthers, because they also have a Mutt & Jeff. Big 6' 7" "Mutt" Dick and little 5' 10" "Jeff" Luby.

Jake had a "5 o'clock shadow" last Friday night after the game. It seems that he got hold of a new towel which had been freshly stenciled YC and was trying to dry his face on the stenciled end.

It is no wonder that Holbrook can handle "the ole apple" in a basketball game and that he has such long limbs, because he was raised around Orchard.

It seemed that the refs at the Milford and Doane games could have found use for roller skates. Both Harris and Ehler found themselves taking in the game sitting down.

WAA Girls Swim At Youth Center

The swimming facilities of the York Youth Center, "Club 17", are now being enjoyed by the WAA girls on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 8:30 to 9:30. The only requirement is the 50¢ membership fee of the Youth Center and the furnishing of suits and towels. The girls may also take advantage of the other recreational activities offered by the "Club", such as games in the gym, ping-pong, table-games, and juke-box music. They may also buy refreshments in the "snack-shack".

"We girls wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Ted Peterson and the Youth Center directors for supplying this physical outlet for us," said Imogene Bland, senior, Shelby, who is president of the W. A. A. "I feel sure that the girls appreciate this access to the Youth Center."

The site of the first United Brethren college west of the Mississippi river was visited by President D. E. Weidler on his recent trip to Dayton, O. The former Shueyville College, founded in 1856, is located near Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The president spent Sunday and Monday, Feb. 10 and 11, with Rev. and Mrs. Lyle K. Anderson, '40, pastor of the United Brethren church at Cedar Rapids.

At Dayton, O., the president gave a report of York College to the church Board of Administration which met Wednesday and Thursday for the last time before the merger of the United Brethren and Evangelical churches.

Dr. A. P. Vannice, superintendent of Nebraska Conference and Mrs. Vannice also attended the Dayton meeting. Mrs. Vannice reports a side trip to Lebanon, Ohio, the site of Otterbein Home, where she had a short visit with Miss Edith Cone, former York College librarian, and her mother, Mrs. Anna Cone, now residents of the Home. She brings greetings from them to York friends, and also greetings from Dr. J. R. Overmiller, superintendent of the Home, and Mrs. Overmiller, and from Rev. W. H. Cobe, 15, farm supervisor, and Mrs. Mary Bucy Cobe, '15. Dr. Overmiller was president of York College from 1928 to 1938.

Dr. Bisset Speaks At Chapel Service On Building Character

Heredity, environment, and the will within make life what it is, declared Dr. Charles Bisset, professor of sociology, in a formal chapel talk recently.

"Our supreme purpose in life is to build our characters. Our goal should be quality rather than quantity," stated Dr. Bisset. "It is the service rendered that makes life worthwhile."

He also pointed out that while some people have the same environment and background, their lives are different because of the choices they have made. It is the will within that governs the life.

"Yesterday was only a dream; tomorrow a vision. Look forward to today and make it worthwhile," he concluded.

"To become great, seek not greatness, but service," declared Rev. M. B. Canon, director of public relations, at a recent Y. M. C. A. meeting in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Lincoln is remembered for his ideals and is the ideal of America today. He is recognized because of the innate characteristics of his soul, the Rev. Mr. Canon said. As long as the people remember him for his ideals, this nation can look forward with hope and optimism because Lincoln stood for something that is respected and held high in America today.

"No one goes higher than his ideals," continued Mr. Canon. "We must keep our ideals to help others that follow, and if we choose Jesus Christ as our ideal we need not fear the future. No finer tribute is paid to man than to be an ideal of someone."

Devotions were led by Robert Vance, senior of Republic, Kans. He used as his theme, Psalm 119, emphasizing, "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee."

Pres. Weidler Presents Scottish Bible To Chapel

A Scottish Bible, nearly a century old, was made an official part of the chapel equipment, by President D. E. Weidler at a recent chapel session.

The Bible was presented to York College by the Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Miller of Gladbrook, Iowa.

The Millers are former missionaries to Sierra Leone, B. W. A., and are the parents of Lt. Col. John Miller, M. D., a former Professor of Biology at York College from 1927 to 1930.

The Bible was given to the Millers by their second cousin whom they visited in Edinburgh, Scotland, on their return to America on furlough in 1908. It was originally purchased as a family Bible, according to the book plate.

1st. Lt. Carl G. Bedient, '40, of Bradshaw, who participated in the parade of the 82nd Airborne in New York City, January 12, has returned to York to rejoin his wife the former Agnes Drake, '42. He served with the 101st Airborne Division until it was deactivated December 1, '45. With the 506th Parachute Infantry of the 101st, Bedient was in the spearhead of the Normandy Invasion where he was taken prisoner June 6, 1944. Smoke and clouds obscured the landing point causing him and his men to be landed about 15 miles away from the target. They were captured as they were trying to rejoin their outfit.

Bedient was held a prisoner at Aflag 64 near Bromberg, Poland, until January 21, 1945 when he was released by the Russians.

"After we were released I traveled back through Poland, Russia, Turkey, Egypt, and Italy. In Italy I contacted my brother, Owen", Bedient said.

Later he rejoined his unit and took part in the action in Central Germany in April. They captured Goering at his castle near Bruck about the 9th of May.

"Here we had opportunity to browse through the treasures confiscated by the Germans from other countries," Bedient said with a gleam in his eye. On V-E Day he was at Hitler's hideout at Berchtesgaden.

When asked about his plans for the future Bedient said, "I haven't any, but I'm not ready for another war." He is on terminal leave until he gets his discharge March 15. When Lt. Bedient docked in New York, his brother, the Rev. Marlin Bedient, '40, who lives in Connecticut was there to meet him. The lieutenant was given a twelve hour pass which he spent with his brother.

That World Brotherhood can be reached only through the kingdom of God, was the idea brought out at a recent joint meeting of the Christian associations which was in charge of the returned veterans.

Denny Auchard, sophomore of Woodston, Kans. announced the following program: a quartet number, "My Country is the World," by Rudy Rojahn, sophomore of Stockton, Calif.; Paul Reger, sophomore of Julian; Carl Riggs, sophomore of Ames, Ia., and Lora Holbrook, sophomore of Orchard; three short talks on "World Brotherhood as We Have Seen It," by Carl Riggs, Aloys Holst, freshman of Red Wing, Minn., and Clarence Mahon, junior of Phillips, and prayer by William McMinn, freshman of York.

Devotions were led by Rudy Rojahn using as his scripture, Psalm 133.
