

"Star Dreams" Is Theme of Annual Spring Banquet

Gene Langseth Is Toastmaster of Star-Studded Program Which 140 Attend

About 140 students and faculty members followed "Star Dreams", the theme of the annual spring banquet, with Gene Langseth, freshman, Albuquerque, N. Mex., as the "Chief Astronomer", Friday evening.

In the program following the dinner, the "North Star" was represented by Larry Smith, senior, York, who played on the piano a medley of tunes about stars. For an encore, Larry Smith and his wife (Maurine Marvel, ex-'45) played a duet. "Little Dipper" was the subject of a toast by Barbara Blanch, freshman, York. "Orion" was the topic of the Iowa quartette composed of Carl Riggs, sophomore, Ames; Max Allen, junior, Washta; and Chuck Bean and Darwin Willis, freshman, Des Moines, who sang "Stout Hearted Men" and "The Winter Song." A toast to the Big Dipper was made by Howard Harris, junior, York. In closing, the "Three Sisters," Pattie Weidler, York; Irene Falk, Stromsburg; and Dollie Anderson Schwindt of York, all seniors, sang "Desert Song" and "Stardust."

Carrying out the theme, the table decorations consisted of a program in the shape of a star, a wagon for a place card, and a star and moon on the nutcups. The background for the head table was a wagon hitched to a group of stars.

The banquet was served by the ladies of the United Brethren church.

Trees And Shrubs Set Out To Give Color To York College Campus

Trees and shrubs recently set out on the campus are designed to add a note of color to the grounds, according to Dr. G. T. Savery, college pastor and member of the college executive committee, who is supervising the planting.

A line of pink rose bushes, Rosa Rugosa, has been set on either side of the walk leading to the Hulitt Hall. The two spirea on either side of the doorway have been replaced by privets, and the other spirea have been trimmed. It is also planned to start Boston ivy over the portico.

East of the Conservatory in front of the poplars transplanted several seasons ago, redbuds have been set out. Also east of the building, pink, lavender, and white lilac bushes have been planted.

The south side of the Administration building will be brightened by pink and white hibiscus, and the west side by Hydrangea paniculata granda flora.

Fifteen pin oaks have been added to the landscape around the Annex, and several dogwoods around the campus.

According to Dr. Savery, this is only the beginning of an intensive planting program, which is proceeding as fast as labor and nursery stock are available.

PALS Honor Ens. George Shaneyfelt In Recent Program

A memorial service for Ens. George Shaneyfelt, ex-'44; and a quiz on birds and historical facts constituted a recent program of the PALS.

Ensign Shaneyfelt completed three years of work at York College. He was active in PALS, in various sports, and in other activities on the campus. In 1942 he joined the Naval Reserve and was called to service in June, 1943.

Shaneyfelt lost his life when the L. S. T. on which he served as Communication Officer was hit and sunk by Jap planes during the invasion of Mindora on Dec. 21, 1944.

In memory of Shaneyfelt, Jane Martin, sophomore, Concordia, Kans., sang "A Song of Peace" by Sibelius; Irene Falk, senior, Stromsburg, gave a brief history of his life; and Roberta Allen, senior, Berthoud, Colo., gave a tribute to him. "The greatest tribute you can make to George," stated Roberta, "is to do your best to live up to the ideals for which he and others have lived and died."

Following the memorial service, Nadine Allen, junior, Delaware, Okla., gave a quiz on birds and history.

Race Relations Discussed At Y.M.C.A.

An open discussion of the race problem was featured at a recent Y. M. C. A. meeting. Denny Auchard presided over the group which discussed "Better Race Relations in the Church and World Peace."

Preceding the open discussion, two panel talks were given by Charles Williams, freshman, Sierre Leone, British West Africa, and Lora Holbrook, junior, Orchard. Charles Williams spoke from the standpoint of a Negro, and mentioned the scars in the minds of the American people. He said the wounds of the American Civil War had been healed but that the scars were still evident.

Lora Holbrook spoke from the standpoint of a veteran and asked why, if whites and blacks got along in the armed forces working together without friction, couldn't that harmony be accomplished in civilian life.

Kenny Hicks led the devotions, using the fifth chapter of Galatians for his scripture.

Histrionic Club Will Present "Come Rain Or Shine" In April

"Come Rain or Shine", a light comedy in three acts, by Marri-jane and Joseph Hayes, was selected by the Histrionic club for their spring production. The play will be presented April 26 at the high school auditorium under the direction of Miss Irene Shipley, Head of the Expression department.

The cast is as follows: Jac Grayson, the girl around whom the story is centered, Irene Falk, senior, Stromsburg; Rosemary March, played by Ruth Auchard, senior, Woodston, Kans.; Mrs. Grayson, by Roberta Allen, senior, Berthoud, Colo.; Irene Holden by Hope Howland, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont.; Agnes Holden, by Marie Harris, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont.; Julia March by Jean Rasp, junior, Shelby; Helen by Betty Jean Schoonover, sophomore, Des Moines, Ia.; Anne Barry by Wanda Wantz, junior, Shelby; Ella Stone by Mary Kathryn Armstrong, senior, Lincoln, Kans.; Mr. Sparks by Iona Shaw, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont.; Don Lyons by Fred Vorce, freshman, Brookfield, Mo.; Glenn Grayson by Merwin Kurtz, freshman, Alton, Kans.; Mr. Grayson by Max Allen, junior, Washta, Ia.; Dick Clements by Kenneth Foster, freshman, York; and Fred by Gaylon Baker, freshman, Merville, Ia.

Irene Falk To Represent Y. C. At N.A.C.C. Meet

Irene Falk, senior, Stromsburg, was elected by the Student Council recently to represent York College students on the panel discussion which is part of the program of the N. A. C. C. meeting to be held at Duchesne College at Omaha, April 5. A student representative was also elected by each class to attend the meeting.

The N. A. C. C. meeting is open to students this year for the first time. Each college has been asked to elect representatives from the student body, but any student who can attend is invited, according to a letter received by Pres. D. E. Weidler from Duchesne. In past years the meeting has been attended only by faculty members of the church colleges. During the war the attendance was limited to executives because of travel difficulties.

The students elected by each class are as follows: freshman, Charles Bean, Des Moines, Ia.; sophomore, Rudolph Rojahn, Stockton, Calif.; junior, Lora Holbrook, York; and senior, Mary Kathryn Armstrong, Lincoln.

The theme of the day will be "Religion and Higher Education". Dr. Jerome Kerwin of the University of Chicago will be the principal speaker. Dr. C. F. Parks will speak on "Public Relations of the Church College."

Church colleges who are members of the Nebraska Association of Church Colleges are Creighton University, Danna, Doane, Duchesne, Hastings, Midland, Nebraska Central, Nebraska Wesleyan University, and York.

The officers of the association are as follows: president, Mother Helen Casey, Duchesne; vice-

York College Students To Be Host To High School Seniors

April 5 To Mark First High School Day In York College History

York College students will play host to high school seniors next Friday, April 5. The occasion, designated as York College High School Day, will be the first event of its kind at York College.

Approximately twenty senior classes, each with a sponser, have been invited, as well as other prospective students. Letters have been sent also to the United Brethren pastors in the college area, asking them to bring interested seniors. A well-organized program of activity and guidance has been planned.

The purpose of the event, according to Pres. D. E. Weidler, will be to contribute to the educational and vocational guidance programs of the various high schools and to acquaint high school seniors with a true picture of college living.

The afternoon activity program will include several musical presentations by the York College singers. "A Dish of China Tea", a play by Elizabeth Neff, as well as several readings, will be presented by the York College dramatic players.

The last event of the day will be a York College intra-mural spring football game. The event will also conclude the spring football practice session, according to Coach R. E. Tonkin.

The morning program will consist of registration of guests, general, and group meetings. At the general assembly, college students will briefly discuss the various college activities on the campus, and at the group meetings, department heads will acquaint high school students with the requirements and opportunities of various fields of endeavor.

The high-light of the day will be the buffet lunch at noon. It is planned to serve the food picnic style on the campus lawn.

Chairman of the program committee is Dean W. E. Bachman, while Pres. D. E. Weidler heads the invitation committee and Miss Zelda Wakelin of the department of modern languages, the lunch committee.

Press Guild Plans Student Publication Banquet, April 30

Plans for a student publications banquet were discussed at the Press Guild meeting held in Dean Charles Amadon's studio, Thursday evening, March 21.

Preceding the business meeting, a program was presented, including a report on Joseph Pulitzer by Norma Jean Anderson, freshman, York, a talk on the responsibilities of a business manager, by Blaine Ronne, junior, York, and a discussion on how to construct news leads, by Marie Harris, sophomore, Great Falls, Montana, president of the Guild.

Members of the Sandburr staff will meet with the members of the Marathon staff at the student publications banquet which will be held at the United Brethren church, April 30. Former members of the Press Guild who live in York or nearby are invited to attend. Honorary and associate members of the Guild will be included.

Zetas Present C. Jacobs-Bond's Musical Numbers

Some of Carrie Jacob Bond's numbers were presented by various member of the organization at a recent Zeta meeting. The program consisted of a solo, "A Cottage in God's Garden" by Mary Anderson, sophomore, Arlington, Colo.; Shirley Kaliff, freshman, McCool, sang, "I've Done My Work"; Marie Harris, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont. read "A Little Pink Rose"; a cello solo, "Just A Wearyin For You", was presented by Eugene Langseth, freshman, Albuquerque, New Mexico; and Miss Maybelle Taylor, college librarian and Zeta adviser, played two selections on the piano, "I Love You Truly" and "When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day."

President, Don Robson, sophomore, Thayer, installed the new members. The devotions of the evening were led by Wayne Schwindt, senior, York.

Jane Martin And Norma Ehler To Head O. G.

Jane Martin, sophomore, Concordia, Kansas, was elected president, and Norma Ehler, freshman, Johnstown, Colo., vice-president, of the Otterbein Guild at their March supper meeting, which marked the close of the W. M. A. year.

Other officers elected are as follows: secretary, Ivalee Mizell, freshman, Dellvale, Kans.; treasurer, Doris Jean Canon, freshman, York; secretary of literature, Wanda Wantz, junior, Shelby; secretary of thank-offering, Harriet Thomas, freshman, Topeka, Kans.; secretary of stewardship, Willa Roberts, freshman, Fairbury; pianist, Eva Evenson, freshman, Goodell, Ia.; and chorister, Iona Shaw, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont. Mrs. A. P. Vannice was re-elected as counselor.

During the business meeting, the love-offering service, which will be printed in the program booklets for next year and which will be used by over 900 Otterbein Guilds, was read. This program was written by a committee from the Otterbein Guild at the request of Miss Ruth Miller, national Otterbein Guild secretary. The committee was made up of Mary Alice Riggs, freshman, Ames, Ia., chairman; Harriet Thomas; Jane Martin; Wilma Murphy, sophomore, Woodston, Kans.; Dollie Schwindt, senior, York.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at York, Nebraska, under the act of March 3, 1879. Accepted for mailing at a special rate of postage provided for in Section 1108, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 24, 1919.

How About It?

Apparently the W.S.S.F. is receiving more attention at other Nebraska colleges than it is at York. This organization is worthy of our consideration and support.

World Student Service Fund drives are being conducted on the university and college campuses throughout the United States. Their purpose is to raise money to provide direct relief for students and professors in war-torn countries around the world.

With the end of the war many of the colleges and universities of Europe reopened. Students have returned to them by the thousands. However, much of their equipment has been removed or destroyed. Textbooks and housing facilities, as well as food and clothing for the students are scarce. During the war many of the students were imprisoned. The majority of the free students were active in some type of resistance efforts. A large percentage of the students need medical attention. Many of them have contracted tuberculosis due to undernourishment and exposure. Their need is great.

W.S.S.F. is not a new organization. It has functioned during the war giving what aid it could. Packages of books were mailed to many of the students in prison camps. One of the fears of students who have received such help during the war is that the W.S.S.F. will curtail or stop their program now that the war is over. Numerous letters of appreciation are on file with the organization. Many of the students in Europe have made contributions from what little they have to aid those even less fortunate than they.

We've been fortunate. Our colleges have never been closed. Our servicemen are returning to schools with the best equipment. We have everything that many of the world's students do not have. Yet in the midst of our plenty we have not contributed enough to meet the York College quota. Some people would say it is our duty to give. Others would call it our privilege. Duty or privilege, it is only reasonable that we give these students every opportunity to learn and to build a peaceful world now that they have been liberated.

Let It Grow! Let It Grow! Let It Grow!

Not very many years ago York College had even less grass on the campus than at the present time. There were some ugly dirt paths across several of the areas, and it didn't take much rain to make them mud paths. Those students who were not here then do not realize how much more attractive the present grass plots are than the dirt paths. Evidently some who were here then have forgotten. At any rate, there is a lot of unnecessary corner cutting that, if continued, could bring back the dirt path days.

It's getting to be the time of year when the grass adds its brightness to nature's announcement of spring. Let's give it a break. Let's not make it necessary to post "Keep Off" signs or fences about the campus. They're not items of beauty, and they don't give much protection anyway.

Let's do it the easy way. Let's stay off the grass and call those extra seconds we spend following the walks a contribution to the Greater York College program.

Courtesy is really nothing more than everyday unselfishness, and as such, need not be studied from a text. But when formal invitations present themselves to be suitably acknowledged, it is comforting to know that there's a reliable text to help you with your answer.

If people are to judge you by your letters, and they usually do, consult "Letter Writing, Social and Business", by Cramp. Here's a wonderful opportunity for a pun, but I'll overlook it. The book gives titles and degrees in common use, forms of address and other useful items.

Lillian Eichler has given us "Book of Etiquette," which deals in part with self-improvement, business and travel etiquette, and for the more eager co-eds, information on the proper planning of a wedding and trousseau.

Emily Post, who has become the criterion of American manners, covers the subject in her book "Etiquette." She tells you what fork to use and even goes so far as to advise the gentlemen in their clothing problems. On this subject she's not as up-to-date as she might be. She tells what shirt to wear but she doesn't tell you where you can get the shirt in the first place.

It seems fitting that sometimes the historian should really be historical, if he deserves the name. Accordingly, since the students are just now occupied in the pleasant task of electing the May Queen for this year, the historian is including in his notes a list of all the previous May Queens. This may be of interest to readers of the Sandburr. The custom began, it seems, in 1914.

Harvey Peters

Sharing the "Seniorities" spotlight this week is Harvey Peters of York. "Harve" is finishing his senior year after having spent three and a half years in the navy.

"I spent most of my time shuttling between New York and Algiers on convoy duty. Now that it is all over, it doesn't seem so bad, but at the time it was monotonous," said Peters when asked about his time in the service.

When Harvey was at Y. C. before he went to the navy, he lettered four years in football, and two years in Basketball and track. He is a member of the York College championship basketball team of 1941-42. He is a member of the Y club and also Zetas.

Harvey's major is history and his minor is sociology. He is practicing teaching at the high school now.

J. Wayne Schwindt

The other senior this week is J. Wayne Schwindt also of York.

Combining Philosophy and Religion as his major, Wayne plans to enter the Evangelical Theological Seminary at Naperville, Ill., after graduation.

"I guess I'm a "jack-of-all-hobbies", said Wayne when asked about his special interests. "Right now my favorites are leathercraft, horticulture, and my pup, 'Pookie', who is of the "Heinz variety."

Wayne has been active in the musical and expression departments during his college years. He was a member of the Chapel Choir.

In the athletic field, Wayne has lettered in 6-man football and basketball. He is now president of the Y Club.

Wayne is a member of Zetas, Y. M. C. A., Life Work Recruits, O. B. N. Fellowship, Student Council, and the Panther Club.

G. I. Impressions

"The London blackouts were truly effective", said Howard DeBoer, junior, York, who spent ten months in England as bombardier on a B-24. "Due to this blackout, I had all kinds of trouble finding a Red Cross club my first night in London."

The English have the novel custom of naming their houses rather than designating them by numbers. Most of the houses are brick or stone and last for generations. They are built close together with no yard space in between, according to DeBoer.

The towns in England usually are built on winding streets which surround some central point such as a cathedral, palace, or other important building.

"The English people live on a cold, damp, wet, foggy, dreary island," DeBoer continued. "In other words, I didn't like the climate."

"Nearly everything was rationed and the rules pertaining to rationing were very strict. When we went into restaurants to order meals we were limited in the amount of money that we could spend," he remarked.

"The English people seem to be as much as 25 years behind us in their farming methods," said DeBoer. "They used one horse carts, walking plows, old steam engines to pull threshing machines, and many more out-dated methods of farming."

That the social customs of Saipan are crude and primitive is the opinion of Burdell Lower, sophomore, York, who spent six months in the air force there.

"The natives were called Chimmoros. Their culture had been kept down by the Japanese who had ruled the island for many years," continued Lower.

The island as a whole was sparsely populated, but the people lived close together in crowded conditions. There were a few villages on the island and they were "off limits" to the military personnel.

"The people had the general appearance of being Japanese," Lower said. "The families were large and the houses were just thatched shacks."

"The climate is tropical, and squalls and rainstorms are frequent," asserted Lower. "However, ten or fifteen minutes later one wouldn't even know that it had rained because it was so hot."

The mail service was good except when they were having raids on Japan.

"I think that modern culture should be introduced to these people," concluded Lower.

Kate Cox, sophomore, Ames, Ia. operates an addressograph recently added to the college equipment in the office. The foot-operated machine is used to address the "Sandburrs", to address envelopes, and to print inner addresses and duplicate copies of addresses.

Game To Be Played High School Day

On April 3, the freshmen will play a 40 minute football game against the upper classmen as one of the features of high school day. This promises to be a very evenly matched game.

The Panthers played their last basketball game of the season March 5, and on March 11, 30 men reported for spring football practice. Coach R. E. Tonkin is sandwiching three weeks of football between the basketball and track seasons. "I believe this practice will be worth the time we spend," said Coach Tonkin. "I'll have more material next fall than I've ever had before," he remarked.

The first week was devoted to fundamentals and conditioning exercises. The second week the men practiced a few plays of the "T" formation. The third week has seen quite a bit of scrimmaging.

Hastings college, N. C. A. C. champions, was defeated at the NAIB tournament in Kansas City by the defending champion Loyola university of the South. Archie Vap scored 19 points in the 76-48 defeat handed them by Loyola.

Nebraska Wesleyan boasts of a new coach. George "Bus" Knight, former University of Nebraska football player, will head the Plainsmen next year.

Wayne, Chadron, and Peru have split honors in the N. I. A. A. this year, while Norfolk and Concordia Junior colleges have tied for top spot in the Nebraska Victory conference.

Aubrey Pettit, Lincoln, Bette Daniels, ex-'49, and Mrs. Alice Daniels, Salina, Kans., were visitors at the Spring Banquet.

Suzy can't figure out whether the WAA girls are attracted by the fresh air and sunshine, or by the propaganda muscles of the football boys ? ? ?

Our "femme fatales" could be dangerous. Some boys in a passing car became so engrossed that they ran into a ditch and it took "all the coach's men" to pull it out again.

"Deej" carried the nick-name "slugger" after hitting all those home-runs in a game of "work-up" at WAA. "Pee Wee" was heard to say after the game, "O my aching hand!"

Wilma Murphy, Mrs. Ruth Auchard and Denny Auchard spent the weekend of March 16 at their homes in Woodston, Kansas.

Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Von Wicklen, Miss Jean Mattingly, and about 20 York College students traveled to Lincoln Tuesday, 19, to attend the "All Girl Orchestra" concert.

Robert Ranard, ex-'49, of Giltner, was on the campus to attend the Spring Banquet.

Party For Coach

The basketball team gave a surprise party for Coach and Mrs. R. E. Tonkin, Wednesday, March 20. Sixteen persons, including friends of the players, assembled at the college library and from there went to the Tonkin residence on Elmer Avenue, where Blaine Ronne, student manager, had previously arranged for an appointment.

The evening was spent playing monopoly and other games. Ice cream and cake were served.

The players presented the Tonkins with a coffee table as a gift from them.

Coach R. E. Tonkin has announced a new athletic conference which was formed on Saturday, March 16, when representatives of five church colleges and four normal schools met at Lincoln.

The schools which are represented in the new nine-team conference are Hastings, Wesleyan, Midland, Doane, and York of the church schools and Chadron, Peru, Kearney, and Wayne of the normal schools.

A team must play at least six games with member schools in order to be eligible for the football championship. Eligibility for the basketball championship requires at least 12 games with conference members and a team must play every other team at least once, but not more than twice.

President D. E. Weidler, Dr. Charles Bisset and Prof. W. J. Karraker along with Coach Tonkin represented York College at the Lincoln meeting. A name has not been selected for the new conference.

Devotions were led by Wanda Miller, freshman, Hoisington, Kans.

Corrections

In the Sandburr printed March 14, it was incorrectly stated that the Senior Girls' Trio sang at Senior Recognition and that the degree for which Cassye Baugh, senior, York, is candidate is an A. B. Mary Kathryn Armstrong, senior, Lincoln, was omitted from the list of practice teachers.

The freshman trio sang "A Heart That's Free" by Robyn at Recognition. Members of the trio are: Barbara Blauch, York; Wanda Miller, Hoisington, Kans.; Mary Donna McCullough, Webster City, Ia. They were accompanied by Marjorie Thornton, junior, Billings, Mont.

Miss Baugh is a candidate for a B. S. degree in Education.

Miss Armstrong is practice teaching at the York High School in the commercial department.

appropriate at this season of Lent to think about the cost of Christian discipleship," said President D. E. Weidler in a recent chapel talk.

President Weidler explained that there are three things necessary for discipleship: to have the resources, to be able, and to be ready. We must answer for ourselves the questions: "What does it cost?" and "Am I able to pay the price?"

The president concluded his talk with these statements made by a group representing the church colleges of America: "A tiny bombload of ethical conviction of the church campuses may make 1946 be known as the year of the atomic education. Just because church colleges are small, their testimony, idealism, and purpose are not useless. They may be the means of bringing peace and the Kingdom of God on earth."

I.R.C. Discusses Egypt's Educational, Economic Problems

"The underlying problems of India and Egypt in acquiring their independence are economic conditions within and their poor educational system" stated Carl Riggs, sophomore, Ames, Iowa, in a recent International Relations Club meeting. The topic of the evening was, "Should India and Egypt have their Independence." The group felt that the two nations named should be privileged to have their independence, but must first overcome these difficulties.

At the next regular meeting, which is April 4, the group will discuss "The United Nations Organization". Marjorie Thornton, junior, Billings, Mont., program chairman for the organization, will appoint the leader for that evening.

everything possible on a small scale, according to Roberta Allen, senior, Berthoud, Colo., editor-in-chief of the publication. Mrs. Allen, accompanied by her associate editor, Ruth Auchard, senior of Woodston, Kans., went to Lincoln last Saturday to confer with the Capital Engraving Co. regarding the book.

The printing is being done by the Jacob North Co. of Lincoln who were secured recently after a local firm decided that shortage of help made it impossible to print the book this year. "With the current shortage of paper and cover materials, the staff is fortunate to have an engraver and a printer who can secure the necessary stock," said Mrs. Allen.

Bills for engraving are being met as they come in, according to Reva Tomlinson, senior of York, business manager, and thus a considerable saving through cash discounts is possible. "We appreciate the fact that most of those who subscribed for a Marathon have paid their pledges on time," she said. "It is saving money for us and making a better book possible." Then she added, "I wish those who haven't paid the entire amount of four dollars would do so at once so that we need not worry any more about the outcome."

The book will have an attractive cover in three colors, according to the editor, and some sections will be printed in two colors. It is expected that the architects' cut of the new building, Middlebrook Hall, will arrive in time to be included. "It is still possible to accept a few more subscriptions if they come in at once," the editor said.

necessity of determining where one dwells so far as his experience is concerned.

"The promises of the Psalms are given only to the person who dwells in the secret place of the Most High," said Dr. Gilliat. "The path to this secret place is grown over with weeds, as many people do not try to find it except when in great need. If the path is well beaten, it will be easy to follow, as people who are accustomed to find their way to God in the light will find Him."

The dangers which we face today are not the same as those faced during the time of the Psalms. Their problems were more of the external nature, while today one of the greatest problems is that of loneliness.

"Blessed is he who has his anchor secure before the storm breaks," stated Dr. Gilliat. "If we live with God, even death will be robbed of the feeling of fear."

Devotions is something we must do day by day. We can not do enough on Sunday for the rest of the week. If one is a Christian, he will pray, because it would be strange to accept food and clothing and never make a response.
