Faculty Members Entertain Students At Annual Reception

The one act play, "Thank God the Table Is Set", by based on the perversity of women and the stubbornness of men, was one of the features of the annual Faculty Reception held Friday night at the college church.

Also included on the program were: a welcome by President D. E. Weidler; the solos, "Trumpeter's Song" and "Kashmiri" by Dean Charles Amadon of Hulitt Conservatory, and two numbers, the "Adagio Movement from Beethoven's Pathetique Sonata, and Liebestraum, by a string trio. The members of the string trio were Mrs. Lee Clarke, former college violin instructor; Mrs. George Carlson, (Doris White '40) and Mrs. Robert Seigel, (Dorothy Foster, ex-'44).

The all-faculty cast of the play consisted of Coach R. E. Tonkin as Heinrich; Mrs. R. E. Tonkin, (Lucile Stoskopf, ex-'38) as Elizabeth, his sweetheart; Rev. M. B. Canon as Albert; Miss Jean Mattingly as his bride of three months; Mrs. J. C. Morgan as Katrina and Dr. Noll as her "old man". The play was translated from the German script by Miss Wakelin, head of the foreign language department.

After the program, light refreshments were served by faculty members.

One-Act Comedy To Be Presented At Chapel, May 17

M.; Alberta Loth, freshman, Des Moines, Ia.; Mary Donna McCollough, freshman, Webster City, Ia.

LeRoy Webb Visits

LeRoy Webb, T. M. 2/c, ex-'46, Dubois, was on the campus recently visiting his sister, Margaret, junior. Webb has served a three and a half year "hitch" in the navy and has signed up for two more years. He has seen action in the South Pacific and other theatres of war. "I re-enlisted so I could see China and Europe," said Webb.

"Flower Follies Of '46" Is Theme Of Annual Junior-Senior Banquet

Howard DeBoer Is Toastmaster Of Affair Held May 2 At The College Church

"Flower Follies of '46" was the theme of the program and decorations when the junior class entertained the seniors at the annual junior-senior banquet last Thursday evening. The event was held at the United Brethren Church.

"Jack in the Pulpit" (Howard) DeBoer acted as master of ceremonies. His remarks were interspersed with the dropping of silverware by other speakers.

"While strolling Thru the Park" was sung by the guests led by "Johnny Jump Up" (Max) Allen. "Pansy" (Pattie) Weidler spoke on "For-get-me-nots", giving a brief history of the class of 1946.

"Orchids" were offered to several seniors by "Dan DeLion" (Clarence) Mabon, after which "Hyacinth" (Lois) Anderson and "Hydrangea" (Marjorie) Thornton played a two piano duet, "Le Matin" by Chaminade.

"Buttercup" (Larry) Smith gave a novelty piano number entitled "Daffy Dills" inspired by Wordsworth's "I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud".

"Poppy" (Prof. R. E.) Tonkin compared the class of 1946 to the "Red Rose", the class flower. In conclusion, "Johnny Jump Up" Allen sang the verses of "When You Wore A Tulip", with all the guests singing the chorus.

The menu consisted of creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, carrots and beans, salad, coffee, rolls, ice cream and cake.

The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers and May baskets. The May basket theme was carried out in the nut cups and program. Red roses were used as center-pieces.

York B. P. W. Club Honors College Senior Women

The senior college women were honored at a formal reception given April 26 by the local Business and Professional Women's club in the dining room at the city auditorium. Girls of the high school senior class were also guests.

The program consisted of a piano duet, "Prelude", Chopin, by Lynn Cormican and Joyce Schneider of the high school; a reading, "With the Photographer", by Kathleen Barry, high school; vocal solo, Bob Schneider, accompanied by Marcia Jones, both of the high school; three vocal selections by the college freshman trio, Wanda Miller, Hoisington, Kans., Barbara Blauch, York, and Miss Mary Donna McCollough, Webster City, Ia.; a reading by Ruth Nettleton, an expression student of Miss Irene Shipley; and a piano solo, "Prelude in C Minor", Rachmaninoff, by Frances Wochter.

Music was furnished by a string trio while refreshments of ice cream, cake, and coffee were served.

Judy Leaming Visits

Miss Judy Ann Leaming, 3, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Vaughn Leaming of Kansas City, Mo., is in York visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris (Doris Robinson, ex-'44.) Rev. Vaughn Leaming graduated from York college in 1941 and his wife, Letha Robinson Leaming, attended Y. C. in 1941. Mr. Harris is now a junior.

Alpha Psi Omega To Initiate Five At Banquet, May 11

Celebrating the eighth anniversary of the Eta Kappa cast of the National Alpha Psi Omega, that organization will hold its annual banquet and initiation at the college church, May 11, according to the president, Irene Falk, senior, Stromsburg.

Five neophytes will be initiated preceding the banquet. New members include: Roberta Allen, senior, of Berthoud, Colo.; Norma Jean Anderson and Barbara Blauch, freshmen of York; Merwin Kurtz, freshman of Alton, Kans.; Fred Vorce, freshman of Brookfield, Mo.

Genetics Students Compile Family History Charts

Students of the genetics class under Dr. W. C. Noll, professor of biological sciences, have been busy questioning relatives and writing letters to parents, grandparents, aunts, and uncles for information to record on their family hereditary charts which were due last week.

A few points which the students were required to learn from various members of their families were nationality, temperament, stature, complexion, disease, talent, and education.

"It was lots of fun," stated one of the students. "I learned more about my grandparents and great-grandparents than I ever knew before."

Another student was heard to say that she thoroughly enjoyed making the charts. "We even learned about the shape of the nose, the distance between the eyes, and the color of the hair of many of our ancestors," she said. Questionnaires were sent to relatives in various parts of the United States. One student even wrote overseas for information.

DUREN GIVES EXHIBIT

"Jean", a portrait of Jean Rasp, sophomore of Shelby, was one of the paintings featured at an art exhibit presented in York recently by Terence R. Duren, prominent Nebraska artist of Shelby. The portrait, painted in 1945, was loaned for the exhibit by Mr. and Mrs. John Rasp of Shelby.

How About It?

A cartoon in a recent daily shows an oversized character eating at a table heaped with food. At his side is a waste can full of food scraps. At his feet is a newspaper with headlines telling of the present campaign asking the American public to save food. The character pauses between bites to answer the plea for voluntary rationing with an uninterested "Who? Me?" The caption below the cartoon reads: "No, not you; it means the other fellow."

Another column tells of an incident that happened in San Francisco. A large group of bobby soxers had gathered before daylight at a theater where Frank Sinatra was to sing. In San Francisco there is a curfew law for minors from 11 p. m. until daylight, so the youngsters were picked up by the authorities and taken to juvenile court where their parents had to call for them. Many of the parents were enraged because their children had been detained. One of them made the statement: "That law is meant for criminals. My daughter isn't a criminal." The daughter added: "That law doesn't apply to people of our class."

There are large numbers of people who reason in that manner. We've all met people who are in favor of O. P. A. price ceilings when they go out to buy something, but do not feel obliged to observe the same ceilings when they are on the selling end of the deal. We all know people who "pass the buck", "fix traffic tickets," or devise some other set of trouble standards. Probably none of us are entirely guiltless of such acts.

What is the cause of such social irresponsibility? Is it the fact that everyone feels that he is the "exception" to the rule? Has our democratic atmosphere stressed individualism to the point that selfishness overblances our duty to society? Is it lack of insight regarding our own personal motives? Is it failure to view the many aspects of problems and the consequences which inevitably follow certain types of decisions? Or is it a lack of social understanding? Just what is the cause of such social irresponsibility?

They Tramped These Halls

By J. C. MORGAN

The Rev. and Mrs. Merl H. Blinn, '38, of Harlem, Montana, were visitors on the campus and with York friends recently. They attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of the Rev. Mr. Blinn's parents at Chanute, Kansas. Mrs. Blinn, who will be remembered as Bernice Strickler, '38, is prominent in musical circles in Harlem, and the Rev. Mr. Blinn is Youth Director for Montana Conference. Their children, Nita Lou, Johnny, and Vera B., accompanied them on their trip.

Births:

Born to Rev. and Mrs. Edward D. Auchard, '41, a daughter, Wilma JoAnne, April 14, at St.

Louis, Mo.

To Mr. and Mrs. Al Zerwekh a son, William David, April 17, at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Weddings:

Miss Ruth Virginia Howard to Dr. S. Stanley Snyder, '41, April 6, at Jamestown, New York.

Sympathy:

To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Parris of Aurora in the passing of their son, Earl H. Parris, ex-'45. He served two years and three months in the Army Air Corps and made fifty missions over Germany. He won several service decorations including the Presidential Citation with oak leaf cluster.

G. I. Impressions

"Everything the Australians describe is 'Bloody' this and 'Bloody' that", said Gene Harnish, freshman, Luray, Kansas, who was in the service "3 years, 10 months, 10 days, 3 hours and 5 minutes," according to his reckoning.

The homes were built up off the ground on stilts to make them cooler and also as a precaution against floods.

"Everything closed on Saturday noon in Australia for preparation for Sunday, although few go to church", continued Harnish. "Their English was hard to understand because of the heavy British accent", he asserted.

Harnish spent two years in Port Moresby, New Guinea. Referring to that experience, he said, "About every full moon we'd have an air-raid; maybe three or four in one night. That would keep us up all night."

"On D-Day we went into the Philippines. We saw a lot of Jap planes crashing into our ships, and a lot of dead bodies of our men floating in the water. Twelve men in our outfit received purple hearts because they were bombed while we were fixing air-strips, continued Harnish.

"Manila was a nice place, but the bridges and buildings were all bombed. They used the carts pulled by horses for taxis and one of them broke down with three or four of us when a wheel came off", he added.

"I was in Okinawa just a week after the war was over. We went swimming a lot on the swell beaches they had there," concluded Harnish.

AD LIBS FROM THE LIBRARY

Here's another plan for peace, this time a federation of the countries of central Europe from the Mediterranean to the Baltic, and lying between Russia and Germany. This idea unites eleven nations whose combined resources and population would make their collaboration with other nations more effective, and serve to eliminate the danger of war from this source. Or so Peter Jorden, author of "Central Union of Europe," believes, and he supports his belief convincingly in this book. The book contains more than 25 maps, which will be a great aid to the reader. Henry IV of France proposed a council of 15 nations in 1603, so the idea is not original, but this is a later version. Why don't you see what Mr. Jorden has to say?

"Ten Years in Japan" has been compiled from the diaries and private and official papers of Joseph C. Grew, who was our ambassador to Japan from 1932 to 1942. This book is truly history in the making, and the events during this time played a vital part in our lives. Mr. Grew has told of the Japanese situation and the intrigue and conflict of the decade which blossomed out into a war.

Have you ever heard of Elihu Thomson? His biographer, David O. Woodbury, calls him the "guiding spirit of the electrical age" in the book "Beloved Scientist," which, in addition to being a biography, traces the history of the electrical industry and its founders. This industry has had a great deal to do with this high living standard in which we Americans take such pride, and Thomson was one of the pillars of its development.

The autobiography, "A Mind That Found Itself," by Clifford W. Beers, has been called the most absorbing story since De Quincey. This statement was made by W. L. Cross, former governor of Connecticut and editor of the Yale Review. The De Quincey book to which he referred was the famed "Confessions of an English Opium Eater." The mysteries of the human mind are many and fascinating, and when a man who has suffered a mental illness, recovers and tells of his experiences, it makes a remarkable narrative. The book reads like fiction but emphatically is not fiction.

A Kansan once again takes the limelight as we present "William Allen White of Emporia," by Frank C. Clough, a biography of the country editor, who gained national fame.

So you're disgusted with humanity and you're sure that mankind is going to the dogs—but fast. Well, just look at us a few thousand years ago! In the book, "Mankind So Far", by William Howells, you can read not only of the physical development of man, but the growth of his brain. So if any of you men are interested in the drag-'em around-by-the-hair technique, which is probably one of the main reasons feather bobs were invented, consult this highly readable account of our remote ancestry.

Miss Stauffer Honors Guests At Her Home

GOES TO CONCORDIA

Jane Martin, sophomore, spent last week-end at home in Concordia, Kans.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING, THE FAMILY GOES TO COLLEGE

"Did you tell Shaney?" someone is heard to ask.

"Was I supposed to tell her?" "Oh, no! not her. I mean Curley."

This is just one of the complications that often arise as a result of having ten pairs of students from the same families on the campus.

Both Glen and Lois Shaneyfelt, who are from Central City, are interested in sports. When "Curley" covered the basketball court in ten strides last season, he was amply supported from the bleachers by sister Lois. Lois, too, contributed her share to the basketball world in the W. A. A. tournaments. When asked how she liked the situation, Lois said, "It's just plenty swell to have a brother around."

The last name and the home town seem to be the only thing that Harvey and Lora Holbrook have in common. Harvey sings bass, and Lora sings tenor. Harvey is single, and Lora is married. These two "Holys" from Orchard are good examples of brothers that look as much alike as peas . . . and carrots.

"Well, someone has to show the brains in the family," grinned Carl Riggs when asked about the advantages of going to school with a sister. Mary Alice and Carl are from Ames, Iowa. Mary Alice is a freshman and very active in the campus organizations. Carl is a sophomore and likewise active.

Pep is one of the noticeable traits of the Anderson sisters from Arlington, Colorado. These two girls, who look enough alike to be sisters, have a keen sense of humor. Mary commented after looking around to see if Beth was present, "Having a sister for a roommate is very nice 'cause you can scold her without hurting anyone's feelings."

Two little "senoritas" from New Mexico brighten up the life at the Annex. One might be fooled by size. Big sister, Naomi

Marcella and Bill Walker seem to be different in many respects. Bill is the quiet, protective type, and Marcella is the quite protected type. Bill's future lies in the field of law and Marcella's . . . (?) Although they don't seem to be much alike, they both wear glasses.

Cupid often interferes with family names, and for that reason Max Allen and Reva Tomlinson haven't answered to the same surname this year. Both of these juniors from Washta, Iowa, are active in the organizations on the campus. The advantage of having a sister in college was plainly stated this way by Max: "It's nice because I get to read twice as many letters from home and don't have to write so often."

Freshman English Composition just wouldn't be "English Comp." if it weren't for the Reger family. John and Paul Reger, brothers from Julian, often make things complicated. Myra Reger, Paul's wife, is the silent partner. These blond brothers who have such serious looking faces will be found on closer acquaintance to have a subtle sense of humor. They both plan to enter the ministry.

Just because he likes to "shoot" people doesn't mean that Leland Summers is murderous at heart. His weapon is the harmless (at times) camera. He and his sister, Rita, are products of the local community. Rita is interested in sports.

"When you are as far away from home as I am, it's nice, once in a while, to see a face of someone you're related to," said Marie Harris about her brother Howard. These two students hail from Great Falls, Montana. One unique tie binds these two — Howard works in the funeral parlor down town and Marie works in the Sandburr "Morgue".

No Sleep, Babes, No Sleep!

By Suzy The Snoop

"Who's pulling the covers?" This is only one of the plaintive feminine cries which rang through Miss Wakelin's quiet (?) home when about 20 WAA girls lodged there for their annual slumber party on May 3.

Everyone brought her own blankets and the make-shift beds were sprawled throughout three rooms. When everything quieted down to a gentle roar, and the girls were all set for the night, the lights were turned out and ghost stories were told by several of the more sadistic members of the organization.

After this period of chills, thrills, and blood-curdling screams, intended to lull one into peaceful slumber, someone with romantic tendencies turned on the lights and began to play records on Miss Wakelin's phonograph.

Naturally, a song-fest followed, and it was in the wee hours of the morning when someone remembered that this was supposed to be a slumber party. So everyone conformed to the soft lines of the floor and went to sleep, with gentle echoes of "Barb kicked me!", "Quit shovin'!" "Oh-hum!" and the chiming of the cuckoo clock penetrating the stillness.

Then, sooner than Morpheus could wink his eye, some eager-beaver was running around, jerking the covers off everyone and yelling, "Get up, lazy-bones; it's six o'clock!" Each WAA girl, one eye half open, crawled out of her cozy nest, ate breakfast, thanked Miss Wakelin for being such a grand hostess and good sport, gathered up her belongings, staggered home, and went to bed!

Seward And Ong Win Class A And B Trophies At York College Invitational Track Meet

Wooters Of Broken Bow Is Outstanding Performer, Winning Four Firsts, One Second

HOW THEY FINISHED

Class A—Seward 55, York 30; Broken Bow 27, Central City 23; Geneva 7, Aurora 1.

Class B—Ong 27, Ravenna 19; St. Bonaventure (Columbus) 16-1-2; Hartington 15 1-2, St. Joseph's (York) 13 7-10, Davenport 12; Concordia (Seward) 10, McCool 8 1-2, Phillips 6 2-5, Cordova 6; Polk 5 1-2, Friend 2 7-10, Giltner 1 1-2, Carleton 1. Beaver Crossing and Benedict failed to score.

Seward and Ong high schools each had another trophy to add to their collections after winning the Class A and Class B divisions of the York College Invitational Track and Field meet held April 27 on the Panther oval. Twenty-two schools competed against a brisk south wind.

Frank Wooters of Broken Bow was the outstanding performer of the day scoring 23 of his team's 27 points. Wooters won firsts in the high jump, shot put, 100 yd. dash, and 440 yd. dash. He won a second in the broad jump, lacking a half-inch of winning the first spot.

Dick Wight of Ong won the high and low hurdles and the broad jump to help his team win the Class B championship. Wight's teammate, Willis Johnson, leaped 10' 9" to turn in the best performance in the pole vault for the day.

All field events and the preliminary track events were completed in the morning. The track finals were completed in the afternoon. Medals were given to the four winners of each event.

A number of track fans were on hand during the afternoon performance. Greg McBride, sports writer for the Omaha World-Herald, covered the event for his paper. None of the previous meet records were broken.

Seniors Skip Monday

Monday, May 6, the senior class of York College took their annual "skip-day" and went to Omaha to spend the day. Prof. W. J. Karraker, sponsor of the class, and Mrs. Karraker accompanied the group.

Y. C. Places Third In Triangular Meet At Kearney, May 1

York College placed third in a triangular meet with Kearney and Hastings at Kearney last Wednesday, May 1. The Kearney team won the meet scoring 73 points to Hastings' 69 and York's 29.

A driving rain and wind made the meet disagreeable for the trackmen. The Panthers complained about the poor startings they received. Auchard, Panther century dash man, was left on his starting blocks as a result of poor starting.

Points were scored by York as follows:

Dean, seconds in 100 yd. dash and low hurdles and third in 220 yd. dash.

Jameson, first in two mile run and second in mile run.

Auchard, first in 220 and third in broad jump.

Ruybalid, third in two mile and fourth in mile.

Holbrook, fourth in 440 yd. dash.

York ran third in both the 880 and mile relays.

York Wins Track Meet Held Here

York College won the first track meet of the season, here on Thursday, April 25, with York, Midland, and Wesleyan participating. York scored 91 points, Midland 65, and Wesleyan 13.

York made a good showing in both the field and track events, scoring 23 1-2 points in the field.

Jameson, Ruybalid, and Barela, finished first, second, and third, for York in the two mile run when the Midland and Wesleyan runners dropped out before the finish.

Gene Kruger of Midland was high man at the meet with 20 points, followed by Auchard of York with 16. Dale Sager was third with 15 more for Midland.

'Consecration' Used As Recruit Theme

A reconsecration and candle-lighting service constituted a recent program of the Life Work Recruits. The theme, "Consecration", with other phases developed, was also used by a gospel team representing the Recruits at the United Brethren churches in Woodston and Alton, Kans., last Sunday.

In the Recruits program scripture readings, prayers, and hymns were interspersed and were followed by a short talk by Fred Vorce, freshman, Brookfield, Mo.

Using as the basis for his remarks, "Go ye, therefore, into all the world and preach the gospel," Vorce stated, "We must dedicate our lives to the end that others may dedicate their lives to Christ."

At the close of the meeting, the members reconsecrated their lives to God as they lighted candles, formed a circle, and sang "Jesus Calls Us."

The gospel team to Kansas consisted of the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. Claude McMinn, freshmen, Salina, Kans.; Mary Donna McCollough, freshman, Webster City, Ia.; Norma Ruth Ehler, freshman, Johnstown, Colo.; Reuben Ruybalid, sophomore, Antonito, Colo.; and Merwin Kurtz, freshman, Alton, Kans.

Talks on the consecration of one's life, talents, and time were given by McMinn, Kurtz, and Ruybalid. The hymn, "Our Best", was sung by Miss Ehler, Miss McCollough, Kurtz, and Ruybalid.

Miss McCollough also sang, "Prayer Perfect".

Devotions were led by Mrs. McMinn.

DR. MORGAN TALKS OF "SPIRITUAL CLOUDS" AT FORMAL CHAPEL

"Clouds in the Spiritual World" was the topic discussed by Dr. J. C. Morgan of the Classical Languages department, in formal chapel last Thursday. Dr. Morgan explained the value of the different clouds such as: hope and promise, guidance and direction, faith, incense, witnessing, and the nearness of the Divine. A cloud received Christ at Ascension. Dr. Morgan said, "If we have the right attitude toward God, the cloud between Christ and us will be thin."

Y. M. - Y. W. Group Hears Comic Debate

RESOLVED: "That two can live more cheaply together than two can live apart," was the topic for debate in a recent joint meeting of the Christian associations. Denny Auchard, president of the Y. M. C. A., Woodston, Kans., presided.

Those participating were: Max Allen, junior of Washta, Ia., and Kenneth Hicks, junior of Iola, Kans.; Alyois Holst, freshman of Red Wing, Minn., and J. W. Tomlinson, senior of York.

Even though both sides presented interesting view points on the subject, no final decision was made.

"Knowledge Of God Is Important Goal", Says Dr. Montgomery

"To know God is the most important goal of your life," stated Dr. W. R. Montgomery, director of Adult Work and member of the Board of Christian Education, of Dayton, Ohio, who was a guest speaker at chapel recently. Dr. Montgomery explained that not only must man have a "Knowledge about God," but also "acquaintance with God." He concluded his talk by giving a challenge to Christians to build a sanctuary for God in their own lives, and then to take Him to the hearts of all people.

O. B. N. TO HAVE PICNIC

The Otterbein-Boehm-Newcomer picnic will be held on the evening of May 16, according to Max Allen, president, junior of Washta, Ia. The wives and girl friends of the members are to be guests. These plans were formulated at a recent meeting.

At this same meeting, a discussion on the "order of worship" was led by Paul Reger, sophomore of Julian.

"Know Yourself" Is Y.W. C. A. Theme

"Know Yourself" was the theme presented by the program chairman, Wanda Miller, freshman, Hoisington, Kans. in a recent Y. W. C. A. meeting.

Ivalee Mizell, freshman, Clayton, Kans. played a piano prelude after which Miss Miller gave the devotional lesson centered around the Beatitudes.

Harriet Thomas, freshman, Topeka, Kans., conducted a quiz on knowing oneself. The program was closed by the reading of a poem, "If For Girls", by Jean Rasp, sophomore, Shelby.
