Y.M.-Y.W. Present Aims At First Joint Meeting

Enrollment At York Increased 100% Over Last Fall

With an enrollment over 100% larger than last fall, York college began its 56th year. Sixteen states and one province from West Africa are represented in the student body.

Nebraska has the largest representation and Kansas gains second place over Iowa by a slight margin. Late students are still arriving and it is expected that a student from China will enroll soon.

A heavy majority of men is in evidence. 30% of the student body is composed of veterans while the total male registration comprises 61% of the enrollment.

The freshman class now composes 52% of the total. 21% are in the sophomore class, 17% in the junior class and 10% are seniors. -

The senior class, however, leads the classes in its proportion of men. Its 68% is closely followed by the freshman male majority of 63%. The junior and sophomore classes maintain a close balance with 54% and 57% respectively.

College Students, Faculty Honored At Church Reception

Student body and faculty of York College were guests at the annual reception given by the United Brethren church Thursday evening, Sept. 12. A large number were in attendance.

Rev. G. T. Savery, college pastor and host, introduced the program and extended an invitation to the group to attend the local church.

Theory of Theatre Course Is Given By William White

A new theory course, under the direction of Mr. William White. has been inaugurated in the Expression department. This course will offer practical application of stage rules "to instruct prospective teachers of drama in the school and church," according to Mr. White. The students will study the complete art of play production, including writing, casting, rehearsal, make-up, and back-stage work. They will become familiar with the history and types of drama, and the technical vocabulary of the stage. Practical application will include the building of sets, backdrops, spotlights, and common props.

The Histrionic club will present at least three major productions during the year, the exact plans for which will be released at a later date.

Mr. White graduated from York college in 1942 with an expression major. He was an honor student and was listed among "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. After graduating, he spent two years in the navy teaching speech and English at the naval academy preparatory school, Bainbridge, Maryland. He also has taught at St. Edward.

Upon being discharged from the navy, White spent sometime in New York City reviewing several of the latest productions. During the summer, he was employed by the Fair Players Stock Co., Des Moines, Iowa, acting in "summer stock".

Greetings

TWO

In this, the first issue of the Sandburr, the staff wishes to extend a hearty welcome to the faculty members, upperclassmen, freshmen, and friends. We hope that the Sandburr can serve you at its best by bringing you accurate news and a true concept of student life at York College.

It's A Hard Life

Yes, starting another year of college is a hard life. It is a hard life for faculty members, upperclassmen, and freshmen, but it is worth it.

It is a hard life for the faculty members who have to learn new names and connect them with the many new faces around the campus. They have to instruct classes of twice the number of students that they had last fall. Yet, they can see in their classes potential scientists, artists, diplomats, and ministers. Yes, it is a hard life for faculty members, but it is worth it.

For the upperclassmen it is a hard life. They have to settle down again to the routine of studying. They have to make many decisions in their quest of knowledge. They have to aid cheerfully the freshmen who are new to the life at college. Yet, they see in the future, a better world managed by educated men and women. Yes, it is a hard life for the upperclassmen, but it is worth it.

Life may seem the hardest for the freshmen, who come to a strange campus which may be far from home. They have to adjust themselves to new surroundings. They have to learn to "take it" in Freshman Court and to understand that the Court is another introduction into college life. Yet, they can see that in the future they will appreciate their introduction into college. Yes, it is a hard life for a freshman, but it is worth it.

Have you met York College? Probably most of the new students and many of the old ones know very little about the history of their school.

In 1890, the administration building was constructed, the first building on the campus, classes before that time having been held down town.

About 20 years later, Hulitt Hall was erected through the efforts of Mr. Hulitt of Iowa, who donated $10,000 for this purpose.

The present library building, originally used as a gymnasium, was established about 1912. The balcony with its study booths was then used as an indoor track.

Gay Nineties And Quiz Game Featured At Annual Jolly-Up

"Gilpepsie" and Co. Shades of the gay nineties and echoes of the eith M. The first semester "Jolly-Up" on Sept. 14 was a unique combination of both. Taking for their theme the popular quiz game, Truth or Consequences, the upper-classmen turned the gymnasium into a studio and the audience into contestants. Denny Auchard, junior of Alexander, Kansas, as the suave announcer, introduced the master of ceremonies, Bob Gillespie, junior of Glendale, Calif. Contestants were called from the audience and, as the words "on the air" were illumined, the "broadcast" began. What might have been a girls' trio about fifty years ago, advanced to the microphone to harmonize on the commercial. Wanda Miller, Russell, Kans., Norma Jean Anderson and Barbara Blauch, from York, all sophomores, in costumes complete with bustles and high-topped shoes, praised musically the sponsor's product, Rosenblat's canned, three decker, non-skid sandwiches. No contestant was able to tell the truth; so the amusing consequences occupied most of the show. Merwin Kurtz, sophomore, Alton, Kans., controlled the emotion of the audience with cards labeled "titter", "giggle." aud even "aw shaddup." Doris Jean Canon, sophomore, Philomath, Oregon, as the sponsor's daughter, frequently disrupted the show with her noisy attempts at portraiture. The guest artist for the evening was "Kate Smith," attending college incognito as Dick Riggs, a junior of Ames, Iowa. "Miss Smith" sang the Y. C. version of "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain," in falsetto.

About The Town

"The blasts from the siren located atop the fire station are not for the purpose of summoning another hand for pinochle". declared a local fireman, but from the small siren, one blast summons the police and three the street commissioner.

As for the large siren, it has two purposes; to mark the important hours of the day and to announce a fire. The fire call consists of three blasts during the day and six blasts at night.

"The difference", explained the interviewee, "is that the extra blasts at night serve the volunteer firemen like a wellwound alarm clock.'

Panthers Lose Opener to Kearney Antelopes 16-0

Panthers Fight Fiercely In First 11-Man Game Since 1942: 1000 Fans See Game

Capitalizing on their sixty-six man squad, the Kearney State Antelopes fought the York College Panthers to a 16-0 victory in a long, hard, fierce battle under the Antelope lights last Friday night. The game was the first of the season for both teams and the first 11-man game for the Panthers since 1942. Approximately 1000 fans witnessed the tussle including a nice Panther pep group.

Early in the first quarter, it looked as if York would score. After taking the kickoff, the Panthers punted to the Antelopes who fumbled. Mark Fahring, Panther guard, recovered the fumble on the Kearney 40. After a series of plays, the Panthers were held by a strong Kearney line and lost the ball on downs.

During the second quarter, Wayne Kaeding, Panther end, recovered an Antelope fumble on the Kearney 45. Again the Panther offense bogged down and they were forced to punt.

Late in the third guarter, it again appeared that the Panthers were on a touchdown march. Taking a Kearney kickoff, Auchard, Panther back, took the ball and raced down the sideline to the Antelope 40. A few plays later, Auchard passed to Earl Graff, Panther quarterback, which was good to the 19 yd. line. From there the ball was advanced to the 9 yd. line. On the next play, Kearney intercepted a pass and ran the ball back for a touchdown. Kearney clipped on the play and the ball was brought back to their own 35 where they took over, ending the Panther threat.

The Antelopes did their scoring in the second and third quarters.

Stucker and Peterson, Antelope backs, scored from the 1 yd. and 19 yd. lines on runs. Badura, Antelope halfback, kicked a field goal for three extra points from the 34 yd. line late in the third quarter.

Speece, Auchard, and Vorce, Panther backfield men, gained most of the ground for the Panthers, each making several sensational runs. Cleo Campbell, Panther fullback, got off a series of exceptionally good punts during the night.

It was Kearney's starting backfield, Paul Peterson, Dick Peterson, Badura, and Stucker, who did most of the work for the Antelopes.
