The Spirit of Homecoming

"It certainly is good to be back on the campus of good old Y. C. again." "It's no wonder that my son writes such laudatory letters about York!" "This is what I dreamed of on the battle fronts of Europe." "Boy, look at all the improvements on the campus since I was here last." Such are typical statements of the Homecoming Day visitors—alumni, parents, veterans, and former students.

The veteran says: I fought for freedom—and that includes freedom of education. I fought so that I, and many other men and women, who, like myself, were transferred from their education to war, might come back and take up the thread of education once more. I fought that these threads picked up by the millions of students might twine together to weave a strong protection against ignorance, which breeds hate and war. I am glad that I have a chance to come home.

The alumnus says: Here on this campus I spent the best years of my life. Here I learned, not only formulas and dates out of books, but also appreciation for the beautiful and the divine aspects of life. I also learned to love my fellowman and to abhor deceit and greed. I am glad to be part of this Homecoming.

The parent speaks: My son is acquiring at York College, experiences I never had the chance to have. I am glad that my son can have the educational advantages that I missed. I am glad to be able to come to a Homecoming Celebration and see my son's "other home".

The student speaks: Homecoming! This day makes me dream of the future when I, too, shall be a Homecomer. I shall enter life prepared to fight for existence and success with the arms of education that I have gained here. College Homecoming is a prelude to another Homecoming when I with my fellow students shall take my place among the leaders in industry, politics, education, and religion. I am glad I've had the opportunity to attend a college and prepare myself for the future.

Homecoming is a York College tradition for all to be proud of. Give it your best.

The Veteran's Voice

This land of ours.

Cooperation! Teamwork! Never say die! Help your neighbor! What's a little shortage? We can do without! That was the temperament of the American people in the not too far distant past.

This land where food should be plentiful, where freedoms abound, where we know that love grows not by taking but by giving, where we have just learned that freedom and security can not be bought in ten easy payments, where luxuries are the rule and not the exception, where we live without fear, seems to be no longer ours but belongs to a great number of greedy birds each clamoring for the biggest mouthful.

Strikes slow production, production must meet the demand, demand causes values to change, higher prices cause more strikes for higher wages. Some unscrupulous individuals who have produced in quantity do not put their goods on the market because they wish to create a higher price. They figure they can make more in the black markets or in the foreign markets, anyway. Nevertheless, the cost of living for a person making $3,200 in 1941 has gone up to $4,700 if he expects to live equally as well today. The greed for money has made this land of our a seething, discordant, and discontented mass.

When, in the greatest land of all, are we again going to start working for the common good of all?

History of Homecoming Day

Reveals Growth of Tradition

"Who is the Homecoming Queen this year?" With this question on the lips of practically every student on the campus, the "advance publicity" for the Homecoming Day celebration was started rolling. This publicity has grown in intensity and interest and will be climaxed by the gala event of the Queen's crowning, tomorrow.

Looking back over past Sandburrs, one finds the information in black and white as far back as 1931 when the Homecoming Day festivities were amazingly similar to those of our present day. In that year the Homecoming program featured a football game between the "frosh" and upperclassmen, a pep rally, an alumni luncheon, and the Midland-York football game.

The sports events were not held then as the means of determining whether the victors should give a party for the losers, but were used to determine the end of freshman initiation. If the freshmen won, they were automatically freed from the dread tentacles of the upperclassmen on Thanksgiving Day; while if the upperclassmen were victorious, the initiation continued until Christmas vacation. (Abused freshmen, please note.)

Since the year 1931, the activities have progressed to the present day with only a few changes being made. The men's football game between classes has been replaced by a basketball game with the freshman women opposing the women of the upperclasses.

The year 1935 marked the beginning of a new tradition, the crowning of a Homecoming Queen. This institution has grown until it now high-lights the Homecoming celebration. The queen is elected by the entire student body to reign supreme. A special coronation ceremony is held in her honor. She is attended by representatives of her own choice from each class.

Suzy is so thrilled about Housie's new technique! Imagine doing his winking in technicolor!

Suzy hears that there is added interest in the "libe" recently, ever since "Show Me" Vorce checked Deej out for the week.

As one of the WAA initiates said when an egg was broken gently on her head, "The yolk's on me!"

Homecoming activities were discontinued during the war years and were resumed in 1945 with Ruth Auchard, '46, honored as queen. Although the queens of 1935 and 1936 were sophomores, the nominees have since been limited to members of the junior and senior classes.

This year the festivities offer a well-rounded program of entertainment for student and parent alike. The queen will be crowned, the Panthers will meet Sterling, Kansas, in a night football game, the girls will display their athletic prowess, and the Histrionic club and the music department will have a stellar part.

All in all, Homecoming has been a great day in the past; it promises to be a great day tomorrow, and next year and the years to come point to a greater Homecoming with a greater Y. C. to provide it.

Hi-Lites from Chapel Talks

By LOUIS RACHOW

"The work of character building today is being realized more than ever before," declared the Rev. Mr. Walter Schutz, superintendent of the United Brethren mission in Sierra Leone, West Africa, in a recent chapel address. He is one of a group of crusaders crossing the United States visiting United Brethren churches from coast to coast.

The Rev. Mr. Schutz asserted that the power of God today is the salvation of man as it was in the past. He emphasized the idea that character counts and character comes from God.

Religion is what a man is, what he feels in the presence of his Supreme Being, and what he does in consequence of such a feeling. This was the substance of Prof. Charles Bisset's address at a recent formal chapel. Dr. Bisset is the head of the social science department. He enumerated various types of substitutes for religion, including uncontrolled emotions, paid religion, and religion of creeds.

"Acquire a taste for good books," advised Dr. G. T. Savery, pastor of the college church, in a recent chapel address. "It is the sacred duty to one's mind to start a library of his own," continued Dr. Savery. "Reading good books is like opening doors to wonderful adventures in all realms of life."

Mr. Oral Fox, state field supervisor in the Department of Public Welfare, brought forth some understanding objectives of the professional social welfare service, in a chapel address. He declared that this responsibility is shared by all three levels of government. The functions in Nebraska consist of the assistance of old age, dependent children, the blind, the crippled, and child welfare.

"The substance of our faith in essential values includes our beliefs in God, Jesus Christ, the Bible, the Church, and Man," declared Dean W. E. Bachman in the last formal address. "Add to your faith virtue, to virtue—knowledge, to knowledge—temperance, to temperance—patience, to patience—Godliness, to Godliness—brotherly kindness, and to kindness—love," concluded Dean Bachman.

PANTHER SPORTS

York Falls To Midland

The York Panthers, slumbering in three quarters, awoke with a roar in the fourth, to come within a touchdown of tying Midland, before losing 20 to 14, under York lights.

The York offense was being hampered by fumbles and pass interceptions, while Midland scored on passes to Hosch and Hill, and a 2-yard smash by Hill.

Denny Auchard finally broke the scoring drought on York's side of the ledger, nailing one of Burl Graff's aerials, and outracing the Warrior secondary to score standing up. The try for point was good and York was once more in the ball game, 7-20.

Ross Speece

Another pass play, Schneider to Kaeding, brought Y. C. rooters to their feet as Kaeding pulled one down in the end zone to make it 13-20. Graff booted the point, making the tally 14-20. Panther hopes continued bright as a Warrior fumble was recovered on the Midland 39. A series of desperation passes failed to produce even a first down, and time finally ran out.

Again, sloppy tackling by York men yielded too many first downs and long gains. Fumbles and pass interceptions at crucial moments were costly, and as in previous games, the scoring spark came too late.

Until he was hurt late in the game, Speece did a man-sized job nailing ball-carriers who sifted through the line. His catch of a forward pass also set up the second York touchdown. Although he didn't break into the scoring column, "Tank" Campbell deserves a lot of credit for keeping down the Midland score. Tackling with the gentle ferocity of a pile-driver, he halted many a goal-hound Warrior.

Hastings, Chadron, and York are still looking for their first conference win. The present standings in the conference:

The Panthers couldn't wait until hunting season officially opened on Oct. 19, so they opened it on Friday night, Oct. 18. Their victims were the Chillicothe Ducks which they slaughtered on their own pond. "Tonk" was well pleased with his team's bag. Some of the Panthers did some legal hunting coming back from their three day trek, while some of them still wanted some more football and took in the Kansas-Nebraska game at Lawrence, Kansas, last Saturday.

Midland college has lost their star fullback, Max Bernard, for the rest of the season. Bernard suffered a broken leg in the Midland-Nebr. Wesleyan tilt last week. Wesleyan came out on top 7-6.

A case of tonsillitis kept Bob "Squirt" DeBoer from making the trip to Chillicothe with the rest of the team. Bob plays right

B-Team Drops First Game To Doane 19-0

The Panther B-team dropped a 19-0 victory to the Doane B-squad in their first game of the season October 12 at Crete. They meet again on the York field October 24.

The Tiger Cubs scored by a combination of passes and line plays in the first, second, and fourth quarters. Both teams played clean ball with few penalties given to either side.

Good line work was shown by Wiebe with Johnson and Watson leading the good work in the backfield for York.

Wesleyan B-Squad Stops Panther Cubs

The Panther Cubs lost their second game of the season to the Wesleyan B-squad on the York field October 21 by a score of 19-0.

Wesleyan scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and one in the fourth quarter. All three of their touchdowns were scored on pass plays. The Cubs never threatened seriously to score.

Yates and Wiebe sparked the York line-up, while Johnson and Holtz, 5' 2" midget, were the best ground gainers for Wesleyan.

The Cubs' teamwork was better than in the Doane game, and a definite improvement was shown.

Panthers Flash To a 39-6 Victory Over Chillicothe

Fahring, Dicus, Holbrook Shine For York; Schneider, B. Graff Feature Passing Attack

A Panther team that suddenly found itself, flashed to a 39 to 6 victory over Chillicothe B. C. on the Ducks' home lot. A sparkling passing attack, featuring the flips of Bob Schneider and Burl Graff, aided by a rock-ribbed forward wall, was more than the hapless Ducks' could overcome.

Opening play was slow and ragged, until the first quarter was almost gone. The Panthers started down the trail to victory as Burl Graff faded back and pitched a perfect strike to Denny Auchard who scored. The play went 49 yards to score. The kick was no good. After quick first downs by Campbell and Vorce, the Panthers struck again by air. Don 'Hans' Haberman broke his personal scoring drought on a toss from Graff, scoring from 16 yards out. Again the try for point failed.

The first play from scrimmage in the second half made it 18-0, as Haberman went 67 yards on a beautiful reverse. The kick was good and York led 19-0. Auchard scored again in the period, taking a reverse from Speece, for 49 yards and another T. D. Schneider's kick put the Panthers farther ahead, 26-0.

Holbrook, a converted tackle, next dented the scoring column with a Schneider pass from the 23 yard line. The try for point was smothered.

The next and last Panther scoring play was a honey. Holbrook, who was blocking more punts than Molotov could count, got in the way of a Chillicothe boot, and Gordon Wiebe, playing guard in his first college game, fell on the ball in the end zone. Speece hobbled in, game leg and all, to kick the point and end York's scoring for the night.

With a 39 point lead, the Panthers made the mistake of resting on the oars. In six plays after intercepting a Panther pass, the Ducks had themselves a touchdown, scored from the 1 foot line, by Mullane. The kick was short and the game ended a few minutes later, 39-6.

The Panthers had most of the appearances of a pretty fair ball club. Pass defense was much improved over previous showings, and the line was virtually impregnable. Particularly outstanding in the line were Fahring, who laid some terrific blocks to cut loose men on long runs, and Dicus who played his usual heady game

Mark Fahring

With another taste of victory, the Panthers may make it an interesting ball game for Sterling when the latter plays here Oct. 25 on Homecoming day.

PALS, Open Meeting Has Unique "PALoween" Feature

By Dick Riggs

With many a laugh interspersed with serious thought, the PALS, one of literary societies of the college, held their "PALoween". This opening meeting, held in the PALS' Hall on the night of October 15, was "Invitation Night" for all non-PALS.

The emphasis of the evening was placed, not on joining PALS, but on joining one of the literary societies in order to gain more from college life.

The welcome was given by Clarence Mabon, junior of Phillips, who was attired in ghostly garb.

In a room dimly lighted by candles and jack-o-lanterns, guests and members were seated either on the floor (on newspapers), or on chairs if they arrived early. Everyone had been asked to come attired in school clothes.

The program began on a religious theme, with a talk by Ethel Brooks, junior of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Halloween, which, she explained, is an outgrowth of Christianity. A pantomime entitled, "The Ghost Walks", was presented by members of PALS and directed by Prof. W. C. White of the Dramatic Department.

A competitive spirit was introduced when all present were given a short quiz on the Fine Arts. Three questions were chosen from each phase. The contestants were asked to answer questions regarding drama and literature, to name various pictures and their painters, and to identify selections played from recordings, both of classical and modern music. The co-winners, with thirteen of fifteen correct, were Melvin Thornton, freshman of Billings, Mont. and Barbara Dick, freshman of Seward. While passing their prize, a box of candy, Barbara confided, "I'm going to eat all I want, 'cause confidentially, I don't care if I do get a little plump."

Succeeding the Fine Arts contest was a dramatization of "The Telltale Heart" by Edgar Allen Poe. Again, the players were members and the director, Mr. White. After the presentation, one visitor remarked, "If someone had screamed at the close of that play, I would have dived right out the window".

The meeting closed with refreshments of steaming hot cocoa and sugared doughnuts (served from a broom handle).

"I've had four cups of cocoa but I can't remember how many doughnuts" commented a worried muncher. "Keep eating 'till you get sick. Then you'll know you've had too-many" retorted a sarcastic humorist.

Church Briefs

Dr. Clyde Rolland Booth, state superintendent of the Allied Dry Forces of Nebraska, spoke in the college church on Sunday morning, October 20.

College students to the number of several carloads attended the United Brethren District Youth Rally at Shelby on Sunday, October 20. Rev. Arthur C. Core, superintendent of the Nebraska Conference, was the speaker of the evening.

Faculty and students will have part in the World Mission Advancement Day services on October 27. Miss Irene Shipley, of the Speech Department, will preside at the morning service presented by the Women's Missionary Society and Harford Circle. Supt. Arthur Core will bring the morning message. The high school and college Otterbein Guilds are co-operating in the evening program.

Miss Pearl Wolford, a former student of York College and now a teacher in the United Brethren mission school at Alcalde, New Mexico, and Rev. Walter Schutz, superintendent of the United Brethren missions in Sierra Leone, West Africa, were the speakers at the fall institute at the college church on October 10.

The College Church will be host to the United Christian Youth Movement Fall Retreat on October 24 and 25. Several hundred delegates from all denominations will represent churches from all parts of Nebraska.

Representatives of eight different states assisted Dr. G. T. Savery, College Pastor, in the candle light communion service on October 6, World Communion Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Widdoes, missionaries to the Philippine Islands, were guests in the College Church on Sunday, October 13. "The United Brethren church in the Philippines has tried to meet the needs as they have been found. This is evidenced by our work in medical and educational fields, as well as in evangelistic fields," stated Dr. Widdoes in his address.

Artists Are Among Specimens Zoology Laboratory

Why Lab Assistants Get Gray

By Barbara Blauch

"You were expecting—maybe—Terrence Duren?" sez Bill Meehan, as the lab assistant peers over his shoulder to look at his drawing. Duren was born in Nebraska. Meehan was born in Nebraska. Duren is a well-known artist. Meehan—uh—ah—well, Meehan takes zoology, and if peering intently through a microscope and drawing the zoological specimen you're supposed to see, makes you a Rembrandt, Y. C.'s got a million of 'em! Rembrandts, not specimens.

It seems that two afternoons a week, a group of eager students gather in the "lab" to work and study. Reactions are varied as the mortal remains of a crayfish are unveiled to squeamish eyes. But they learn some remarkable things. Ferinstance—a paramecium isn't twins, and hydras don't give hydraphobia.

And the conversation that takes place:

"Hey! Lookit whut I found in this microscope!"

"What does it look like?"
"It's all lined and—"
"Aw—get your finger out from under the lens!"

Stippling is a process by which a plain white surface receives a delicate smattering of polka-dots. Zoology students become quite adept at this pastime. The rumors that it results in a permanent tremor are not true, but it does give a legitimate excuse for spots before your eyes.

Some kindly class members have formed a league to smuggle cats out of the lab. They've discovered that later there may be a need for a specimen—all bones and no cat. The league has taken for its motto, "Keep all new claws out of our Constitution." I wonder how "fur" it will get 'em.

A few students have decided to follow the course to a science major. Others have come to the conclusion that they'd make a better field than Pasteur. But after all, just because Robert Louis Stevenson wrote "Dr. Jekyll and Formaldehyde" doesn't mean he was a zoologist.

Administration Briefs
