

PANTHERS WIN COLLEGE TOURNAMENT

Fairies, aghast on hearing that only one person on the York College campus believes in fairies, will promise tonight, on one condition, to donate a beautiful building to the Greater York College. This scene will climax the annual sophomore class reception at the college church tonight.

Students and faculty will enter Fairyland over a rainbow-bridge to find the fairy king, Dick Riggs, Ames, Ia., reigning over a gay court. A messenger, Dick Mac-Canon, Des Moines, Ia., will disrupt the peace of the court by bringing from earth the astounding news that the students of York College do not believe in fairies, except for one young woman known to them as the Believer, Norma Jean Anderson of York. In an effort to correct this tragedy, they decide to bring the Believer to Fairyland, and together they will decide to donate a building to York College if only the students and faculty can be persuaded to believe in fairies.

The court will be entertained by the jester, Aully Holst, president of the class, Red Wing, Minn.; counseled by the wise men, Eugene Harnish, Luray, Kans., Harvey Holbrook, Orchard, and Bill Meehan, York; recorded by the scribe, Oren Reger, Amherst, and entertained by the king's attendants, Barbara Blanch, York, Wanda Miller, Russell, Kans., and Mary Alice Riggs, Ames, Ia. The court reporter assigned to earth will be Harriet Thomas, Topeka, Kans. The prologue will be read by Bob Dicus, Lawton, Ia.

Fairy waitresses will serve a banquet to the audience and the court in honor of the Believer. The waitresses will be: Elsie Walker, Santa Cruz, New Mex.; Bonnie Ackland, Ames, Ia.; Sylvia Anderson, York; Doris Jean Canon, Philomath, Ore.; Anna Kamn, Platte Center, Nebr.; Stellarose Lampshire, Lincoln; Ivalee Mizell, Dellvale, Kans.; Dorothy Snell, Muscatine, Ia.; Rita Summers, York.

Committees are as follows: program: Harriet Thomas, Dick Riggs, Vivian Olson, Imperial, Ivalee Mizell, and Mary Alice Riggs; decorations: Bob Dicus, Harvey Holbrook, Barbara Blanch, Milo Lauffer, Marshalltown, Ia., and Eugene Harnish; invitations: Bonnie Ackland and Dick Mac-Canon; refreshments: Wanda Miller, Tom Robson, Thayer, Galen Munsinger, Speed, Kans., and Elsie Walker; properties: Mary Alice Riggs, Ruth Weston, York, Gerald Witham, York; stage and lighting: Leslie Herron, Ames, Ia., Claude McMinn, Salina, Kans., and Oren Reger.

Prof. M. L. Holm Announces Alumni Dinner Committees

Committees to arrange for the alumni dinner on Commencement day, June 4, 1947, have been named by association president, M. L. Holm, as follows:

Program: Miss Mildred Thompson, Mr. Francis Harbert, Miss Irene Shipley, and Mrs. Irene White. Decorations: Mrs. Agnes Bedient, Mrs. Pauline Ashton, Miss Gladys Pearson, and Miss Nell Beards.

Menu: Mrs. Lorraine Sterner, Mrs. Dorothy Stream, and Miss Mary Miller. Nominations and Ballot: Mr. R. E. Caldwell, Mr. Floyd Taylor, and Mrs. Marjorie Denton.

Thornton Reports Marathon Cover Design Accepted

According to Everett Thornton, junior of Billings, Mont., Business Manager of the 1947 Marathon, the cover design for the current book has been accepted by the Craft company and is under order.

215 Marathons have been sold to the student body alone, while faculty and alumni orders are coming in more slowly, according to Sales Manager Blaine Ronne, York.

Pictures for the advertising section are being taken at the present by a local photographer.

Editor Lee Huebert, assistant editor Barbara Blanch, and sophomore class editor, Norma Jean Anderson, spent the day in Lincoln, December 28, 1946, drawing a complete dummy of the Marathon. Many of the pages are already being engraved.

Chinese Student To Arrive At Y. C. Second Semester

John Karutz Tells of Chen's Decision To Come To York

"Allen Chen, whom I met in Kunming, China, last year, will be in America in time to begin the second semester at York College, we hope", said John Karutz, freshman, Stockton, Calif. "Because of difficulties in securing passage from China, Mr. Chen has been detained for several months in his native country."

It was through the influence of Karutz that the Chinese student decided to come to York. The Californian happened to be in China through the courtesy of the Air Transport Command. He left the United States in August, 1944, and traveled by air through South America and across Africa to India where he was stationed for six weeks.

"I arrived at Chengtu, China, on October 13, 1944, after flying the 'hump', said Karutz. The country impressed me as being quite primitive, but very interesting. We were located at one of the four B-29 bases in the area. Although we weren't acquainted then, Aloys Holst, (sophomore, Red Wing, Minn.) was at a field 11 miles away."

At Chengtu, the American met two Californians, Archie Crouch and Mrs. Aimee Millican, through Bishop Alex Maxwell of the Church of England. Mrs. Millican, besides her work in the Church of Christ, conducted a service-men's hospitality house where the soldiers could find board and lodging at any time. A good Christian atmosphere prevailed, and since the climate was mild, outdoor recreation was very popular.

Kaedings Hit 34 Points As York Rips Hastings

Named Outstanding

Jim Kaeding

Jim Kaeding was named outstanding during the York Invitational College Tourney held in York, Jan. 2, 3, and 4. At present he is far out in front in conference scoring with an average of 26 points per game.

Rev. John Shell Is Guest Speaker At Alumni Dinner

Featuring the Rev. John Shell, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, as guest speaker, York College alumni, former students, and friends in the city for the holidays held their annual mid-year dinner at the Evangelical United Brethren church on the evening of Dec. 27. Robert Gale, Jr. '39 of Rochester, N. Y. contributed two vocal selections, and Pres. D. E. Weidler sketched campaign progress.

"If a college has served its purpose well" declared the Rev. Mr. Shell, "the graduate will have a greater faith in God and man. College men and women must assume the leadership in their respective communities."

He pointed out the need of good leadership in government and political circles where honesty is urgently needed because a community is frequently led by the wrong crowd.

"Moral decay is just as deadly to the nation as the atomic bomb", the speaker said, and college graduates should assume responsibility for guarding against it."

Speaking of the necessity for spiritual leadership in every community, he said the church has "many side-line coaches who are unwilling to get into the game and help."

President Weidler announced that the campaign for $350,000 has now passed the $300,000 mark and that the goal is expected to be reached next summer. The raising of $100,000 in York County alone is nearing completion, he said.

Theodore Peterson, director of York Youth Center, acted as chairman for the evening. Other local alumni appointed on committees were: program, Melvin Thompson, Mrs. Hermann Glock, Miss Maybelle Taylor and Mrs. Al Zerwekh; menu and decorations, Misses Ruth Callender and Edith Stephen. Prof. M. L. Holm, registrar of York College, is president of the Alumni Association.

York Quintet Wins by 44-41

Kearney-Midland Wins In Consolation

FINAL STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pts.	O.P.
York	3	0	152	127
Hastings	2	1	141	119
Kearney	2	1	132	138
Midland	2	1	136	120
Wayne	0	3	120	138
Wesleyan	0	3	124	163

The York college Panthers, led by Wayne and Jim Kaeding, won their own college invitational basketball tournament held Jan. 2, 3, and 4, defeating the Hastings college Broncos 44-41, in a game that was outstanding. A large crowd, the largest of the tournament, braved near zero weather and slick streets to watch six teams battle it out at the city auditorium on the last night.

In the consolation games, Kearney whipped Wesleyan, 52-43, and Midland won over Wayne, 48-40.

The Broncos spurred to a 7-1 lead, but the Kaedings started hitting and with 3 1/2 minutes left in the first period, the score stood at 20-20. The half-time score was still a deadlocked 23-all.

Jane Martin Goes To Convention Held In Illinois

"It was wonderful to be among 1200 Christian students from all over the world," said Jane Martin, junior, Concordia, Kansas, on her return from the young people's convention which was held from Dec. 27 to Jan. 3 at Urbana, Ill.

Miss Martin, who represented the York College Christian associations at the National Student Assembly of Christian Associations, was very much impressed by the enormity of this group which is a part of a world-wide organization.

"One of the biggest things we learned," Miss Martin said, "is that the youth of today are really doing something." She went on to explain that the National Student Assembly has joined the International Union of Students, a political organization which sets up the policies for student exchanges and economic justice in all nations.

The representatives divided their time between plenary sessions, Bible classes, special projects, exhibits, a series of talks, and daily worship. On New Year's eve a coloratura soprano presented a concert and the arrival of the New Year was observed by a special communion service.

When asked what personal benefit she had derived from her visit, Miss Martin replied enthusiastically: "It was the best experience I have ever had for making friends! With hundreds of Christian young people there for the same purpose, friendships were made in one week which will last a lifetime."

Christmas Vacation Takes Many Students To Far Away Places

Christmas vacation of York College students were spent in many parts of the United States this year. Three students had to travel as far as Oregon to reach their homes; twelve went to their homes in Montana, eight went to New Mexico and two journeyed to Indiana. A number of other students went to Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Colorado, and Wyoming.

Doris Jean Canon, sophomore, traveled the farthest, over 1,800 miles, to get to her new home in Philomath, Ore. Only last year she lived at York.

Barbara Blauch, sophomore, had to walk all the way across the East Hill park to arrive home for the holidays.

Dick Riggs, sophomore, drove

1,300 miles going to Iowa (this also included little trips around the state). That might have been called "Taking the Long Way Home".

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hartsaw, junior and art instructor respectively, of Ord, who visited relatives and friends at Fulton, Ind., met with misfortune on their return trip. At Hiawatha, Kans., their car struck a snowbank and another car ran into the back of their car. Only slight damage was done to the car.

Martin and Harold Hasenkrug, both freshmen, hitch-hiked 1,200 miles to their home in Great Falls, Mont. "One meets many interesting characters while hitch-hiking," Martin declared, "but hitch-hiking is great sport."

Hi-Lites from Chapel Talks

By LOUIS RACHOW

"The imperative upon every person is that he shall realize the great experience of loving God," declared Pres. D. E. Weidler in the last formal chapel address. "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God" is the divine imperative."

Dr. Weidler continued by saying that to love God is imperative, fundamental, and significant. We must find relationship with God.

"We shall resolve to be obedient to the Heavenly vision," concluded Pres. Weidler.

The debt we owe society arises from what we receive from other persons. This was the substance of Prof. E. I. Doty's first chapel address after vacation. Prof. Doty is head of the political science department.

"No one can possibly realize what we owe society for what we receive," continued Dr. Doty. "Let us begin the new year facing the world with some idea that we owe the world something in return for what we have gained," concluded Prof. Doty.

"The three wise men caught a new vision when they saw the Christ child in the lowly manger," stated Prof. E. I. Doty in a chapel address before vacation.

Dr. Doty declared that times have changed—they must. However life means the same and even more after we have seen our Lord, as it did to the wise men, he concluded.

BOOK LURE

By Barbara Blauch

Biographies again!

At the risk of bringing down the wrath of other states on my head I shall begin with an autobiography of Nebraska's George W. Norris, Fighting Liberal. Here one of America's richest personalities discloses, through the facts of his own life, an insight into America. His background is what we've come to believe characteristic of the self-made man. Born in Ohio, one of a family of eleven children, his education was acquired through self sacrifice and struggle. He tells his own story with simplicity and warmth.

John Dryden, A Study of His Poetry, by Mark Van Doren, has been recognized as the most notable piece of modern criticism of Dryden's poetic work. Dryden, as one of England's leading literary men, is studied by every Y. C. student, and Mark Van Doren is one of America's most distinguished men of letters. He won the Pulitzer Prize in 1940 for his Collected Poems. His work in the field of literary criticism, as well as his poetry is an indication that this book should be a valuable study. If you don't think you will like it, remember—in these days of housing shortage, any Dryden should do.

Alfred Edward Housman, is a series of recollections of Alfred Edward Housman written by close associates of this reticent modern poet. His sister, his brother, and his nephew, relatively speaking, that is, offer intimate glimpses of his life. Seven people reveal their associations with him. Their words, plus some hitherto unpublished Housman verses, and some rare photographs, make this book a real collectors' item.

Here ya' are, Jayhawks—a biography of Vachel Lindsay, by Edgar Lee Masters, who was well-born in Kansas. Both the subject and the biographer are considered representative American poets, and both have explored the soul of our nation for their subject matter. This should be a combination worth investigating.

Herbert V. Prochnow has taken illustrations from great biographies and put them into Great Stories from Great Lives. Most of the character studies were chosen by the biographers themselves, and disclose many views into inspiring lives.

From the Editor's Pen

WE RESOLVE . . .

At the beginning of the new year everyone thinks about making resolutions, and most of them are made to be broken. These resolutions, which are made over and over again, year after year, are usually concerned with petty ideas which touch only the life of the one making them. This year, let us, all of us, student, teacher, and parent, make a few resolutions which will affect us all and benefit the world in general.

We resolve to help bring about world peace by starting at the bottom—living right with our neighbor. We must respect his ideas, his wants, his possessions. As charity starts at home, so can world peace.

We resolve to help bring about political peace by studying both sides of political issues. By knowing both sides of a question, we can make just and fair decisions for ourselves. Political troubles can be quieted when the millions of people in the United States understand them and want to set them right.

We resolve to keep peace on our campus by being faithful and loyal to our collegiate obligations. We must continue to have respect between teacher and student. We must continue to uphold the standards of the organizations to which we belong. We must remember that these are the best years of our lives and we must strive to get the best from them.

We resolve to keep peace within ourselves by being true to the standards which we take as being the highest. We must be self-critical and try to correct our own weak spots. We must live the best we can, and keep faith, and travel onward.

Nadine Allen Receives Book From Finnish Pen Pal

By J. W. Hartsaw

"A book from my pen pal in Helsinki, Finland!" shouted Nadine Allen, senior, Delaware, Okla., when she had opened her Christmas present from Miss Leena Niemela of Finland.

It is a book printed in a language Miss Allen does not know, but as the text is mostly pictures she is truly enjoying it, for they are the universal language all can read.

This book is the work of one of Finland's most noted artists and as one leafs through its pages the printed material, being in a foreign language, does not destroy its message. The picture of a picnic only reminds one of such events in his own life. To see that people beyond the seas enjoy such things just helps us to feel we could be neighbors.

The picture of two boys lying in the shade of a tree, reminds one of other boys that roamed the hills and meadows enjoying the great outdoors. A picture of a boy fishing recalls another boy sitting on an old tree lying across the creek with pole and line waiting for the fish to bite. Yes, as boys, the American and the Finn could have been good friends.

A message is found in every picture and one is impressed with the idea that the people in them are neighbors. Miss Allen says the book gives her a new appreciation of her pen pal. She started this friendship while in high school and the only break in it came as the result of the war. Now, that mail can travel as it should, their pleasant fellowship is being continued.

Expression Notes

Bonnie Ackland of Ames, Ia., and Harriet Thomas of Topeka, Kans., sophomores, presented Christmas readings at the Otterbein circle Dec. 19.

Hope Howland, junior of Mission, Kans., gave the reading, "Is There a Manger Here" at the Baptist-Congregational Guild Dec. 19. At the same meeting, Miss Edith Callender, head of the English department, told the story, "The Sad Shepherd" by Van Dyke.

Cuz they don't wear their sweaters, They sorta' hide behind 'em!

Immortal line, from the poets of Y. C.
"Has my government check come yet?"

Quotables

Quote, Mr. White:
"Never toy with technicalities."

Overheard the other day, "Why don't you take your girl down to the dime store and get her a 'diame-one'".

Poet's Corner

So now vacatin's over—
A short two weeks at best,
And I must hie me back to school
Where I can get some rest!

There was a young girl named
Suzette
Who might have been living yet,
But she tried to caress
A Panther, I guess,
And that there ol' Panther-ette.

I love these Pantherettes!
If you could only find 'em!

PANTHER SPORTS

Midland Quintet Trounced by York

The York Panthers thoroughly trounced the Midland college Warriors 65-44 after overcoming an early seven point lead in a conference game played at York on Jan. 11.

The Panthers got off to a slow start, but at the intermission York was holding a 23-20 lead.

The second half the Kaeding brothers and Jim Conway cut loose to take an early 21 point lead which they maintained until the end of the game.

Jim Kaeding dumped 23 points through the basket and Wayne collected 19. Conway accounted for 13 of York's points.

Cleo Campbell and Don Robson turned in a fine performance on defense. Midland's Hahn was held to 15 points to lead his team's attack.

AROUND THE CONFERENCE

By BLAINE RONNE

Now that football is a reality, basketball is fast and furious in the Nebraska College Conference. Peru's wins over York and Wayne, and Hastings' wins over Doane and Wesleyan give them each three wins to no losses with a tie for number one spot in the conference at present. The highlight game of the week is the Hastings-Peru game Friday. Kearney meets Peru the following evening. At present it looks if York, Peru, and Hastings will be the top three teams battling for the championship. Here is how the conference stacks up at present:

	W	L
Hastings	3	0
York	2	1
Kearney	2	1
Midland	3	2
Doane	1	2
Chadron	0	2
Wayne	0	3
Wesleyan	0	3

York's invitational tourney proved to be a success. Greg McBride of the Omaha World-Herald, who covered the games for his paper, commented, "It was a good tournament. It was a well run newspaper men in attendance the last night included Bill Madden, former Hastings College athlete, of the Hastings Tribune, and Howard Baxter, former Kearney State athlete, of the Kearney Hub.

The Wayne State Teachers team was three men shy during the recent tournament. The men, Jack Baumert, Gene Baumert, and Bill Kropp, had the misfortune of being involved in an auto-train accident and were hospitalized. Wesleyan was also shy their coach and several men who had not yet returned from Oklahoma City where they played a New Year's day bowl game with Pepperdine college.

Panthers Drop Tarkio "Owls" 67-61

Using all ten men in uniform, York dropped the Tarkio "Owls" to the tune of 67-61 Tuesday night.

Starting slowly, York forged ahead to a 31-26 half-time lead. Denny Auchard carried the attack the first half with six field goals as the Kaedings couldn't open the lid on the basket.

York started from the tip-off of the second half and, with 10 minutes gone, led by 19 points. The York reserves were sent into the game and proved themselves by holding the lead against a taller team.

High point honors for the evening went to Stauch of Tarkio who found the hoop for 21 points. Auchard paced York with 19, J. Kaeding had 14, and W. Kaeding 12.

Tournament

Hastings took a 30-27 lead early in the second half, but the Kaedings each dropped in a bucket to put York out ahead 31-30. From that time on the Panthers maintained the lead.

The Kaedings scored 34 of York's 44 points. Jim dropped in 18 and brother Wayne 16. Don McIllece, tall Bronco center who was on the bench most of the second period due to having four fouls, collected 15 points.

Wesleyan Ahead at Half
Francis Peep's scoring in the first half gave Wesleyan a 24-23 advantage over Kearney at the half. Kearney came back early in the second period to go ahead with Dean Nicholson's fielder 26-25.

From then on it was Kearney all the way. Nicholson and Paap shared scoring honors with 12 points each.

Wayne Goes Down
Wayne and Midland fought it out in a game which saw the lead change several times. Wayne was leading 21-19 with three minutes left in the half. The Midland team dropped in three fielders to take a 25-21 margin at the half.

Shortly after the opening of the second period, Elmer Blackbird and Bill Hulsebush started a rally which put Wayne out in front 27-25.

With five minutes remaining in the game, Dick Rankin and Ernie Bunch of Midland found the basket to break a 32-all tie and put the Warriors ahead. They increased their lead to win 48-40.

Hulsebush scored 13 points for Wayne and Rankin had 11, Hahn 10 for Midland.

Peru Upsets York 58-57

Panthers Lose Game By One Point Margin; J. Kaeding Gets 31

After trailing by fourteen points in the first period, the Y. C. Panthers came back with a rush to scare the daylights out of the Peru Bobcats, before losing 58-57 at Peru.

Once again, in the scoring, it was the boy with the fighting heart, Jim Kaeding, who led the way with 31 points. Hotter than the little red wagon, "Jake" was simply unstoppable. His accuracy was uncanny, and he made opponents look silly as he faked them out of position and dribbled in for two-pointers. Brother Wayne tied with Yocum of Peru for runner-up scoring honors with 18 points to his credit.

The game was Horatio Alger come to life. After trailing 10-0, the Panthers finally drew blood on a two-pointer by Auchard. With Conway snaring rebounds, the tide slowly began to turn until at the half, the Panthers had whit-tied Peru's margin to six points.

With four minutes left in the melee, the count was 52-52, anybody's favor. From then on, it was strictly fire-engine basketball, with Peru finally coming out on the long end by a couple of free throws on fouls that few people saw.

The game had gotten away from everyone, including the officials, in the last minute or so, and when the final horn sounded, no one was quite sure of anything except that the scoreboard indicated a Peru victory and that the two teams will meet again, next time at York, on Feb. 4.

Kaeding Tops Tourney Five

Jim Kaeding of York College and Don McIllece of Hastings were named by Greg McBride as top performers in the York College Invitational Basketball tournament held at York Jan. 2, 3, and 4.

Kaeding was high scoring man in the tournament and paced the York team to victory over Hastings in the final game. He was outstanding in the other two games that York played.

McIllece kept the Broncos in the game with his spectacular post shots and fine defensive play.

The all-tourney team picked by McBride:

Forwards—Al Bahe, Wayne, and James Kaeding, York.

Center—Don McIllece, Hastings.

Guards—Wayne Kaeding, York and Bob Lewis, Kearney.

Roll of Honor
Ray Rader, Hastings; Francis Peep, Wesleyan; Larry Walsh, Wayne; Bob Hahn, Midland; Gene Vosseler, Midland; Carl Cornelius, Kearney; Bill Speak, Hastings; James Conway, York.

Jim Kaeding had a 20-point per game average during the tournament. Leading scorers:

Lewis, Kearney	9	4	22

Panthers Win Over Wayne College Five

The Wayne State Teachers college quintet gave the York Panthers a rough time in a Nebraska college conference game played at the city auditorium Dec. 20, and it was not until the final minutes of play that York forged ahead to win 61-50.

Jim Kaeding dropped in the first basket with only five seconds gone in the first period. Bill Hulsebush of Wayne tied the score. Then Denny Auchard sank three baskets and York led 8-2.

The Panthers built up a 25-12 lead, but Wayne started hitting and were trailing by five points, 31-26, at the half.

It was Jim Kaeding who kept York in the lead during the second half. The Wayne quintet fought furiously and were close onto the heels of the Panthers. Wayne Kaeding, who had been unable to hit during most of the game, came through with three field goals near the end of the final period to stretch York's lead and cinch the win.

Jim Kaeding with 24 points, Cleo Campbell and Denny Auchard each with 10 points, were high scorers for York. Larry Walsh, Wayne forward, scored 15 points for the Teachers while Bill Kropp and Bill Hulsebush each had nine.

The Panthers did not play as smooth a game as they usually do. Their passing and teamwork was far below par.

The college "B" team defeated the Henderson town team 52-18, in a preliminary game.

Music of Foster Presented At PALS

In an original production entitled, "Songs of Stephen Foster", "The PALS Men", a male quartet, presented a half-hour program, which was followed by movies shown by J. W. Hartsaw, junior, of Ord, at the January 9 meeting of the PALS. The program was given in the college chapel for convenience of staging.

At the center of the stage in front of the drawn curtains, stood an easel, upon which drawings two by three feet, done in black and white, were placed preceding each quartet number. The drawing was done by Bill Johnson, freshman of Merville, Ia.

The only light in the chapel was a large spotlight, operated by Prof. William C. White of the expression department. A different color was used for each drawing.

To one side of the easel stood Clarence Mabon, junior of Phillips, who narrated the story over a public address system.

Background music for Mabon's narrations consisted of Stephen Foster selections, softly played by the quartet's accompanist, Harold Holton, freshman, Chariton, Ia.

Following the story of each picture, "The PALS' Men" sang the song about which the drawing and the story centered. The quartet, composed of top tenor, Dick Riggs, sophomore, Ames, Ia.; lead tenor, Milton Snow, freshman, Des Moines, Ia.; baritone, Bill Johnson, freshman, Merville, Ia.; and bass, Merl Riggs, freshman, Merna, also sang "The PALS' Song" after the final number of their Foster program.

Immediately following the musical program, Mr. Hartsaw showed movies taken by himself. These included scenes of Homecoming guests and of the campus, and in the last reel were pictures of the PALS' float in the Homecoming parade and also of the "PALS' bomber" airplane, which flew over the campus at the first of the year as an advertising stunt for the PALS.

President Weidler Called To New York

President D. E. Weidler was called east in December by the death of his sister, Miss Edna Weidler, of Frewsburg, N. Y.

Funeral services were conducted by her pastor in the Frewsburg Evangelical United Brethren church, of which she was an active member, December 11. Burial was near Hagerstown, Md. December 12.

She is survived by her father, Dr. Z. A. Weidler; three brothers, Dr. R. M. Weidler of Frewsburg, N. Y.; Dr. D. E. Weidler, president of York College, and Bishop V. O. Weidler of Kansas City, Mo. and a sister, Mrs. John Lehman, of Portland, Ore.

"I was impressed by the spirit of our men in China," declared John Karutz. "At the dedication of one Chinese chapel where services were held in both English and the native tongue, the American soldiers present donated over 5,000 Chinese dollars."

As Mr. Karutz was already a licensed minister, he served as an acting chaplain at several air bases. He expressed a great interest in the Christian Chinese who attended the services.

"I met Allen Cuen at the China Inland Mission at Kunming, where I visited en route to southern China. This mission was under the charge of the Rev. William Tyler of Canada, who has recently been a visitor at York College. Allen expressed a desire to come to America to college. He had requested admittance to an eastern college and I offered to help him if he couldn't get in there."

John Karutz had never been to York then, but he knew of York College through the Rev. M. B. Canon, Philomath, Oregon, former director of public relations at York College, who had contacted Mrs. Karutz.

"Mr. Canon corresponded with me while I was overseas" he said, "and I received the Sandburr regularly. When I had returned to the United States, Allen wrote that the eastern college had its capacity enrollment and could not accept his application. Sight unseen, then, I recommended York College," said Karutz.

Allen Chen, who speaks good English, was accepted at York, but due to a delay in obtaining a visa at Kunming he missed the boat at Shanghai. He was forced by labor strikes to detour to Hong Kong. Since this is British territory, he had to acquire another visa and a second telegram from Pres. D. E. Weidler proving his acceptance. He is now probably en route to America and hopes to arrive in time to begin the second semester.

Article By Staff Member Appears In 4-H Magazine

Louis Rachow, junior of Strang, is the author of an article published in the November issue of the NATIONAL 4-H CLUB NEWS magazine on "The Importance of 4-H Clubs." In appreciation for his interest in 4-H work he was awarded a beautiful patriotic flag set.

Rachow has been the leader of a club for two years and is interested in promoting the work of 4-H organizations.

Pres. Weidler Elected Honorary President of Longfellow Society

The International Longfellow Society has elected President D. E. Weidler an honorary president of its organization.

The membership of this society is made up of a thousand women's clubs and men of distinction from all parts of the world who plan to develop a Longfellow National Park at Portland, Me. and promote a Centennial Anniversary of the poem, "Evangeline", this year.

In the park will be found the birthplace of Longfellow, a replica of that of Thomas Brackett Reed and the log cabin built by the first two white men to occupy the present site of the city of Portland. In the words of Edwin Markham, it will be "a shrine and a place of pilgrimage."

Zeta Pledges Initiated

Zeta pledges were received into the society during a candlelighting initiation ceremony at the last meeting.

After the initiation, Norma Jean Anderson, sophomore, York, program chairman, introduced the following program: reading, "He Apologized", by Betty Jean Schoonover, junior, Des Moines, Ia.; piano solo, Chopin's "Scherzo in C#" by Marjorie Thornton, senior, Billings, Mont.; vocal solo, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" by Lee Huebert, senior, York; and a reading, "As the Herons Fly" by Jean Rasp, junior, Shelby.

Devotions for the evening were given by Les Herron, sophomore, Ames, Ia.

District C. E. Rally Held In York Sunday

A district Christian Endeavor Rally will be held at the Evangelical United Brethren church beginning at 4:30 p. m. January 19.

College students participating in the program are Ethel Brooks, junior, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nadine Allen, senior, Coffeyville, Kans., and the Melody Men. Marjorie Thornton, senior, Billings, Mont., will lead a discussion on "The New Church Youth Movement" for the evening's Christian Endeavor.
